HOMECOMING TRIUMPH PLEASES ALL

Pi Omega Pi Holds First Meeting

The Gamma Chi chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national business education fraternity, held its first called meeting of the quarter October 18. Bobby Cranford, chapter president, was the presiding officer.

Nine pledged business administration and business education students for the fraternity were placed before the chapter for membership.

Those being pledged were: Robert Lee Hickey, Jr., Sparta; Martha Moorehead, Mulberry; Hazel Passons, Daylight; Mary Cook, Tullahoma; Catherine Ray, Manchester; Donald Morton, Daisy; Ray LeFevor, Lebanon; Aubrey Adcock, Unnionville; and Mary Lynn Wilks, Murfreesboro.

Membership in Pi Omega Pi is based on scholarship. Students of business administration and business education with "B" average in their major, and a C+ in other college courses are eligible. The student must have been in college residence for at least five quarters.

Middle Tennessee's Gamma Chi chapter will again sponsor the Rutherford County typing contest in 1957. The project, which is of great benefit to both school and community, will be a contest among the county's first and second year high school typists.

Jarman Arnold was appointed as ber will receive an expense paid trip to the convention.

December 10 was selected as a tentative date for pledged members to be initiated into the fraternity this quarter. The annual dinner-initiation will be held in February.

Chapter officers for 1956-57 are Bobby Cranford, president; Jarman Arnold, vice-president; Paul Delk, treasurer; Sue Richardson, secretary; Thomas Stroud, historian; Bob Brooks, reporter; and Miss Elaine Stepp, sponsor.

Chairman to receive applications by the members to attend the National Pi Omega Pi Convention at Chicago, Illinois.

Dr. Martin Speaks At Kiwanis Club Convention

Dr. Robert Martin, a member of the international committee for Circle K Clubs of Kiwanis international spoke twice at the recent Kentucky-Tennessee district meeting in Chattanooga.

Dr. Martin, professor of economics at MTSC, and Robert Abernathy represented the Murfreesboro club at the convention. Dr. Martin spoke before the Board of Directors and also before the convention in general assembly.

Debate Teams To Attend Tourney

MTSC debate teams will attend an Inter-collegiate Debate Tournament to be held at Western Kentucky in Bowling Green one day tournament November 17. Teams from Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and other states in the Ohio valley region will participate.

Each team will debate three times during the day. There is no limit to the number of teams that may be sent by a school. Members of teams to attend from MTSC have not been chosen. Lane Boutwell, sponsor of the group, stated that as many teams that have prepared may go.

The question to be debated is: Resolved: that the United States should discontinue direct aid to foreign countries.

Cases for the teams are being drawn up now. To prepare cases members of the squad read material pertaining to the subject to be debated. Group discussion results in the choice of strong points for both negative and affirmative teams. This tentative outline has been turned over to a committee composed of Jean Adamson, Bill Davis, Joe Reed, and Bill Sugg. The committee draws a draft which is given to each member of the teams. Individual debaters have the right to add points of their own to the original case.

Mr. Eddie Agee is shown presenting the Homecoming Queen, Miss Barbara Harrington, with flowers before the Murray game.

Middle Tennessee State College started the Homecoming day off with the annual Homecoming parade. The gaily decorated floats moved through Murfreesboro led by the Queen's float.

Murray was delivered by a stork, they ate drank and were merry until 2:00 p.m. on Jones Field where the Raiders buried them seven feet under, with a fabulous score of 39 to 7.

The morning parade was led by the M. T. S. C. marching band. The floats that were in the parade were: Senior, Junior, Sophomore, Freshman, Drama Club, F. T. A., Chemistry Club, O. V. C. Independents, Circle K, Track and Sabre, Nathan Bedford Forrest Club, Ag. Club, Home Economics Club, P. E.

Club, Speech Arts, Vet's Club, and the Industrial Arts Club.

The Ag club float won first place. This float was decorated with chickens on their nest. All the chickens represented a member of the football team.

The second prizes went to the Chemistry Club. This float had some chemical formulas worked out and two professors were mixing and boiling the chemicals.

Rutledge Hall won the first prize in the dormitory decorations.

Sloan's Maneuver History Released

If you think this is hell you ought to have been on Tennessee maneuvers in 1943," a wounded GI coming out of Munda told a reporter in 1945.

It is the heat and the cold, the fun and the pathos, the toil and the temper that Gene H. Sloan, a public relations director for Middle Tennessee State College, managed to catch in one little volume, illustrated with 168 choice pictures. The book, "With Second Army, Somewhere in Tennessee" is being released by the Yearbook House in a lithographed edition November 3.

Sloan was a reporter for the Nashville Banner during the 1941-1945 maneuver period. "He tramped, lived and wrote with and about the foot soldier in the unglamorous past time of learning to be a soldier." He was described in one article as "knowing more enlisted men and having more clippings in scrapbooks of soldiers all over America than any reporter in the United States."

His book contains the autographed pictures of generals, the views of troops as they appeared in the interminable recapture of Oak's Cross Roads and Hunters Point. . . . photographs of the same troops under fire in Europe and Asia. His stories, written in the historic present are vivid, entertaining, fascinating.

Included in the book is a story of the earliest maneuver of the area, "On the Trail of the Moccasin" written by Hugh Walker, editorial writer for the Nashville Tennessean and another chapter by Mrs. M. S. Howard, a Red Cross worker with in the "combat zone of Second Army."

In addition of official Signal Corp photographs the book contains the best of many private collections of professional and amateur photographers living at Tullahoma, Lebanon, Nashville, Cookeville and Gallatin.

CHARACTERS CAST FOR SABRINA

Mr. Biff Moore, director of the Buchanan Players has announced the cast for the forthcoming production of Sabrina Fair. The play is a comedy in four acts by Samuel Taylor.

Anne Shafner, a freshman from Fayetteville, has the part of Sabrina Fairchild. Anne was active in dramatics in high school and has done numerous dramatic readings.

Dot Young has been cast in the role of Julia. Dot, also a freshman from Fayetteville, has been active in dramatics. Dot worked as a disc jockey during the summer.

The role of Maude Larrabee is taken by Jeanne Holland, a senior from South Pittsburg. Jeanne is a transfer student from Berry College where she portrayed Mrs. Manningham in "Angel Street." While at MTSC Jeanne has appeared in "Romeo and Juliet" and is a member of Alpha Psi Omega.

James McBride, a snior from Murfreesboro, is cast as the elder Larrabee. James has appeared in "Romeo and Juliet" and "Caine Mutiny Court Martial." He has designed the sets for numerous plays and is a member of Alpha Psi Omega.

David, the younger member of the Larrabee family, is played by Marshall McKissick, a senior from Jasper. Marshall has appeared in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" and "Romeo and Juliet." He is a member of Alpha Psi Omega.

David's ex-wife, Gretchen, is being played by Mary Eleanor Dooly. Mary Eleanor is a freshman from Columbia where she appeared in one and three act plays. She also did production work.

Margaret, the maid, is being portrayed by Margie Johnson, a freshman from Oak Ridge. Margaret was active in dramatics in high school.

Fairchild, Sabrina's father, is being played by Keith Stevens who is doing graduate work at MTSC. Keith is a past president of the Buchanan Players and had appeared in "Bell, Book and Candle." He is a member of Alpha Psi Omega.

Bruce Hancock is appearing as a young man in the play. Bruce is a Junior from Oak Ridge. White at MTSC, he had appeared in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" and "Romeo and Juliet." Bruce also is a member of Alpha Psi Omega.

Jo Russell, a senior from Nashville, is cast as a young woman. Jo has appeared in "George Washington Slept Here" and is a member of Alpha Psi Omega.

Also cast as a young woman in the play is June Tabor. June is a freshman from Crossville. While in high school, she was active in dramatics.

Pat Patterson, another young man in the cast is a sophomore from Nashville. Pat was associated with the Vanderbilt Theatre and has had radio experience.

DArnold Barnette, a senior from Jasper, is portraying Paul D'Argenson. DeArnold has appeared in "George Washington Slept Here,"

"Caine Mutiny Court Martial" and "Romeo and Juliet." DeArnold is a member of Alpha Psi Omega and is the president of the Buchanan players.

Engineering Club Names Officers

The Engineering Society of MTSC named officers at the October 25 meeting. Officers elected were: president, Franklin C. Mason, Beech Grove; vice-president, John Younger, Nashville; secretary, Baxter Cook, Murfreesboro; treasurer, Jackie Goff, Murfreesboro; Sgt. at Arms, Lillard Brown. Co-sponsors are Dr. Douglas Shields and Mr. John Wade.

The next meeting of the Society will be held on November 8 at 11:15 a.m. in Room 309 of the administration building. Dr. Howard Kirksey will be the guest speaker. All pre-engineering students especially freshmen are urged to be present.

EDITORIAL

Enthusiasm plays a major role in every successful task, and it was evident that when the Big Blue met the "mighty" Commodores that enthusiasm was definitely there. I am talking about enthusiasm on the field. The so-called free press in Nashville, Tennessee, seemed to be quite taken back when it was evident that the Big Blue rolled over Vandy in most every respect except score. It is our feeling that this 1956 edition of our football team is to be highly commended and praised. We went in the game the underdog and came out with a moral victory. Some paper in Nashville said, "There is no substitute for victory." Was this paper trying to get around the fact that the Blue Raiders rolled off the field with an actual victory? Why should they defend the fact that they beat us 23-13? Or, are they afraid that people will take their heads out of the sand, look at the facts, and say MTSC beat the "mighty" Commodores. Several staunch Vanderbilt students were seen on our side yelling for us after the half, and many Vanderbilt students made the comment that we had won a victory.

We would like to take this opportunity to tell our fine team many words of gratitude and praise. Boys, we are very proud of you. We know that we have a terrifically great team and can promise you tremendous amounts of support the remainder of the season.

Let us give you a line or two from Vandy's fight song which reads in essence this, "Down the field with blood to yield. If need be, save the shield. If victory's won, when battles done, Then Vandy's name will rise in fame." Vanderbilt Commodores claim that they won a victory; then why should they defend their fame as they seem to be doing so vigorously.

But I think that all must admit that no matter what the final score was that Saturday night, the MTSC flying Blue Raiders came out very definitely the victor.

We would also like to commend the MTSC marching band and the fine work that they did at the Vandy game. It takes a lot of time and much preparation for such a half-time show. We commend you.

We, the members of the SIDELINES staff would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to one of the greatest men that we know. A man who has patience, a man who has character, and certainly a man who has high Christian ideals. He has been the guiding light in the organization of the paper staff. He has helped us in every way possible. The following may sound like a tripe, juvenile expression; but if there ever was a "good Joe," this man it is.

Mr. Gene Sloan, we salute you. Not only for the work that you have done on the paper and the yearbook, but also the fine job of public relations that you are doing for this school.

Thanks again, Mr. Sloan, for being a great "guy."

On Thursday, November 1, a bon-fire rally was held behind Smith Hall as a prologue to the Homecoming game which was played November 3. Several people were present, but not near enough. It was gratifying to see the Police Department of the City of Murfreesboro as part of the crowd. Those who were there showed enthusiasm because the enthusiastic ones were the only ones who attended. Many more could have been at this pep rally who were not there. We are not harping on school spirit for we strongly feel that pep rallies do not in essence constitute school spirit, but we do feel that this is part of it—Let's get out and support our team. BEAT EAST TENNESSEE.

Letters to the Editor

Some of the people here at Middle Tennessee State College have the table manners of a barbarian. They eat like hogs slopping themselves at the trough. They chew their food with their mouths wide open and if the notion strikes them to talk, a mouth full of food means nothing. Most of these people always take one or two slow eaters with them; then they (the hogs) inhale their food and act as a garbage can for what the other man leaves. The awful thing about it is that they think it is funny.

These acts, of course, don't apply to every student, but it only takes a few bad examples (and there are many more (Continued On Page 7))

Carl Grigg Attends Democratic Con.

At least one Middle Tennessee State College student had an interesting first hand view of the Democratic National Convention in Chicago this summer.

He is Carr Grigg, 929 Montrose Avenue, Nashville, a sophomore at MTSC who served as page for the Tennessee delegation in the mid-summer political convention.

At present Carr is interested in forming a Stevenson-Kefauver young student movement on the campus for the final week drive on behalf of the Democratic ticket.

"College Democratic Clubs have been formed extensively throughout the State," Mr. Grigg stated, "and I hope the one on this campus really helps get out the vote. I am interested now in the grass roots organizational functions in an effort to help interest more young people who should be preparing to assume the duties of future government leaders."

In describing his experience at the Democratic National Convention this summer Mr. Grigg told a Sidelines reporter:

"The Democratic Convention was an education within itself. The array of political big-wigs on the Convention floor and in the hotel lobbies were as common as the flobbers in May. To see the many mechanical operations such as TV (Continued on Page 10)

The Men Who Watch Over Us At Night

There are three people on this campus whom we see but maybe do not know their names. They contribute greatly to the proper functioning of this campus.

They are Mr. C. O. Vance, Mr. Gablep Loge Adkerson, and Mr. Gleeves Smotherman. Their duty is to check all buildings, lock doors, turn out lights, and take care of the over crowded parking areas.

Mr. Vance begins work at 7 a.m. and goes off at 3 p.m. Mr. Adkerson comes on at 3 p.m. and works until 11 p.m. At this time Mr. Smotherman comes on and has duty until 7 a.m.

Mr. Vance began working here on July 9, 1951. Prior to this time, he worked at Central State Hospital in Nashville.

Mr. Adkerson has worked here since September 1, 1954. Before coming here, he worked seven years as farm supervisor at the Clover Bottom Home for the Feeble Minded at Donelson, Tennessee. When Mr. Adkerson was asked his opinion of the students here on campus, he stated, "I think we have a good bunch of boys and girls here on campus, and they always obey readily when you ask them to do something." The boys and girls give us less trouble now than when I first began work here. I would put our school up against any of them on good behavior."

He also stated that the Police officials give our students a very good name.

When Mr. Vance was asked the same question he said that the students here were very nice and he believes the most trouble he has encountered on campus was the trouble between a group of students from a certain other school when they paid us a friendly little visit during a certain basketball game.

Our other campus official is Mr. Gleeves Smotherman who began working here the same days as Mr. Vance. It was impossible to contact Mr. Smotherman personally due to his work shift of 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

Maybe by the time the next issue of the SIDELINES comes out, I will have figured out a way to sneak out of the dormitory after 11 p.m. and get an interview with Mr. Smotherman.

REWARD FOR TARTAN

Miss Mary Hall will reward the person finding a Scotch plaid stole which was lost on the campus last week. Miss Hall values the tartan shawl as the only souvenir of Scotland she obtained on a European tour a few years ago.

CAMPUS CAPERS

Rutledge Ramblings

As the time for Homecoming drew near, the rustle of taffeta, lace and net grew louder behind the closed doors at Rutledge. Speaking of evening wear, the beautiful dress worn by our Freshman attendant, Carmine Alexander, drew oohs and aahs at the Homecoming dance Saturday night. The dress was of white net, featuring dainty ruffles at the top of the bodice and throughout the skirt. Surely Carmine was among the most beautiful at the dance.

While the elections are top news, we have done some electioneering ourselves. Shirley Pigg, of Petersburg, has been elected song-leader, and Ann Shepard, of Lewisburg, has been elected pianist with Barbara Luff of Waverly, as her alternate.

We have also heard, by the grapevine, that June Taburn, Fay Vanetta, Helen Wilson, Carol Hanes, Glendel Bryson, Martha Roach, and Frances McBroom have been working on the decorations with Mary Jo Teeters serving as chairman.

Jean Blair's guest for the weekend was Reba Ayers of Nashville. For the Homecoming weekend, guests were Betty Pemberton of Chattanooga, visiting her sister, Patsy; and Sally Smith of Columbia, visiting Shirley Shwler. Bye for now.

Lying Lyons

Aw shucks!! The excitement of homecoming has all died away and we are getting into the grind of things again.

Many thanks to Lynda Williamson and her committee of Lou Couch, Barbara Cope, Gayle Seay, Amy Ledford, Margaret Ogden, Frances Jackson, and Helen Carter, who did such a fine job on our dorm display.

Nancy Willis, sophomore attendant, was a swell representation in her white gown. You really looked sharp, Nancy.

Never heard so much hustling and bustling of evening dresses as Saturday night. Some lucky characters welcomed the statement, "Orchids to you, My Lady."

Just so you won't think we are conceited—All the floats were most attractive this year.

We extend our sincere sympathy to Onis Mansfield, whose father died last week.

We have saved the best until last, and it's a deep secret!! Lyon Hall will soon be the proud owners of a new television. We sincerely thank President Smith for his contribution.

Just because there are no more home games, let's not let our school spirit lag. Let's keep it the way it was last Saturday.

NOTE: Mrs. Patterson had a slight accident last week. You should have seen her face! Help us keep an eye on her, it could be hard to get along without a house mother.

Frances Smith

Monohan Moans

Hello everybody! Here we are at homecoming time again. Everyone at Monohan is working like a bunch of beavers on the dorm decorations. We really are going to have a "sharp" dorm.

Congratulations to Jeanne Cloer who became Mrs. Frank Metcalf last weekend. Lots of good luck to you Jeanne.

Last night at house meeting, the gals decided to buy a television set for the recreation room. Bet we won't miss Elvis Presley the next time he comes on television.

Sems Marie Monks was fortunate enough to visit her sister in Birmingham, Alabama last weekend.

Congratulations to Joyce Staley who celebrated her twenty-first birthday last week.

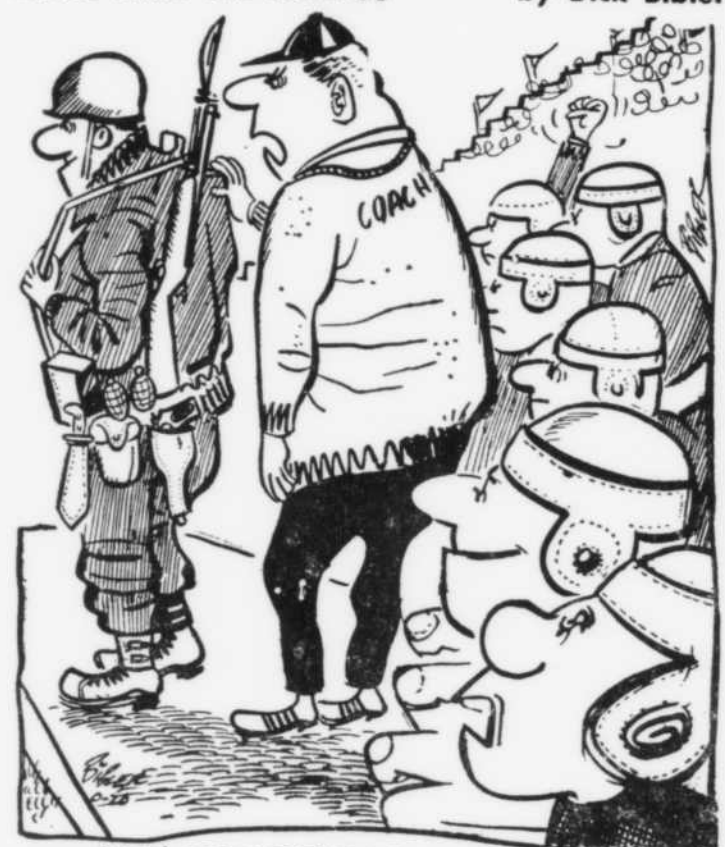

Congratulations to Barbara Harrington, our homecoming queen, and the attendants from Monohan, Catherine Ray and Anita Grayson.

Everyone have a wonderful homecoming.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Miss Barlow Is To Speak to BSU

In cooperation with the Foreign Missions Board in Richmond, Virginia, the B.S.U. on our campus will be having a special missionary emphasis during the week of November 12. Miss Hannah Barlow, Southern Baptist missionary to Japan now on furlough, and former classmate of the present student director, will be here to speak and show slides of her work at B.S.U. meeting on November 14. She will be available also for Noonday Devotions and individual conferences on November 14 and 15.

Miss Barlow, a native of Virginia, received the bachelor of arts degree from Westhampton College of the University of Richmond and the master of religious education degree from what is now Carver School of Missions and Social Work in Louisville, Kentucky.

Before going to the foreign field, she taught in a Virginia high school, did summer mission work under the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board in New Mexico, and served as a camp and mission worker for the Virginia Woman's Missionary Union.

Miss Barlow was appointed to Japan in 1951. After language study in Tokyo, she moved to Kokura where she has been engaged in young people's work.

It is hoped that persons of all denominations will take advantage of the opportunity to hear her.

Poole Is Appointed Advisory Group Chairman

The first meeting of the Advisory Committee of the Rutherford County Department of Public Welfare was held Tuesday night, October 23, at the James K. Polk Hotel. Doctor Francis Deiter was elected chairman of the committee, Mr. Tillman Haynes, vice chairman and Mrs. Thelma Wood as secretary. Mr. F. W. Poole was appointed program chairman. Future meetings will be on the 3rd Tuesday evening of each month.

FFA Awards High Degree to Parsley

James Larry Parsley, senior at MTSC, was one of the sixteen Future Farmers of America members from Tennessee which were honored at the 29th annual FFA National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, October 15-18. They were awarded the organization's highest degree, that of American Farmer.

Each degree winner received a certificate and gold key from the FFA organization, and a $100 check from the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc.

Larry owns his own farm of 106 acres, which he values at $8,580.00. His total labor income is $6,262.07 for his dairy cattle, calves, hogs, small grain, corn, cotton, hay, oats, alfalfa, beans, and milo.

Larry has participated in all activities of the FFA since high school and is now continuing in college. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Parsley, Murfreesboro.

Politics Play Big Part On Campus

Politics are much in the pattern at MTSC on election eve.

The Young Democrats in a Thursday meeting planned a get-out-the-vote campaign and enlisted a group of volunteers who worked at the Murfreesboro polls in passing out literature on election day.

Since Murfreesboro registration procedure bars students from voting locally, plans were made to help those who had not voted by absentee ballot to get time off to go home to vote.

Meantime the Training School, concluding one of the most meaningful units of study for the year, brought their investigation of the processes of government to a dramatic close with a full scale political rally in Assembly last Wednesday. It was followed by mock election Tuesday. Fifth graders and above registered 176 students for the mock election.

The campaign efforts Wednesday found seventh and eighth grade students in history, civics and current events staging a rally in the Training School auditorium. Each party had two speakers present the merits of the two major political parties. Following these speeches a demonstration parade, including a "donkey" on wheels and a costumed "elephant" and other original creations, was held.

Three committees, Get-out-the-Vote, of Janet Daniel, Nancy Adams, Bill Smith and Ricky Boutwell; a Democratic committee of Sam Dotson, Flossie White, Matt Murphy and Glenna Martindale; a Republican committee of Kay Laster, Jean Jarrett, Buddy Wiser, Tom Arnette and Johnny Jones, were responsible for the rally. Speakers for the rally included David Kenney, Flossie White, Sam Dotson, Janet Daniels, Margaret Neil Givan, Bill Smith, Kay Laster, Tom Arnette and Buddy Wiser.

JULIE ANDREWS says:

"Verily, a Professor 'Iggins among magazines!"

Julie Andrews, twenty-one-year-old British girl, plays Eliza Doolittle in the sensational Broadway success "My Fair Lady"—a musical adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion."

Q. Miss Andrews, had you ever been away from your family before you arrived in this country two years ago?

A. Never, and I still become dreadfully homesick. But I do talk with them several times a week.

Q. By phone?

A. No—by phonograph. We talk into recording machines, and airmail the records. They are so clear I can even hear my brothers arguing in the background about whose turn is next. It is as if we were all in one room.

Q. You never exchange the usual kind of letter?

A. Very seldom, I'm afraid. But we post back and forth bits of particular interest—like newspaper reviews, and favorite articles from The Reader's Digest.

Q. Just the Digest?

A. Oh, no, there are others sometimes—but the Digest is our magazine. Mummy and Daddy have always read it, and I began when I was twelve, playing music halls. I had to miss school, and my teaching governess went through every issue with me on the run. It was part of my lessons.

Q. Do you still read it on the run?

A. Oh, yes—waiting for assignments, waiting for buses, even waiting for curtain cues. I hope I never have to be without it. When I wish to be amused, the Digest amuses me; and when I need to be scolded or instructed, I can always find an article that talks to me like—

Q. Like a Dutch uncle?

A. No, much more delightfully—more like Professor 'Iggins in "My Fair Lady" showing a new world to Eliza Doolittle.

In November Reader's Digest don't miss:

CONDENSATION FROM FORTHCOMING BOOK: "THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY." The all but incredible story of Nazi fighter pilot Franz von Werra—how he broke out of a British prison camp, audaciously attempted to steal a plane . . . and finally did escape.

REBELLION AT POZNAN. Here are eyewitness accounts of the June uprisings that may be a preview of the eventual end of the Communist empire.

TWO-EDGED DAGGER OF YUSOF HUSSEIN. Eerie experiences of a British officer in the Red-infested jungles of Malaya.

THE ANDREA DORIA'S UNTOLD STORY. Heart-rending drama of Dr. Peterson's futile 5-hour struggle to save his wife—pinned under wreckage in their state-room—as the giant liner slowly sank.

ARE YOU A BORE? I. A. R. Wylie shows ways we unwittingly bore others, and how to make yourself more interesting.

WHY THERE CANNOT BE ANOTHER WAR. Pulitzer Prize-winner William L. Laurence tells why, in the awesome light of an exploding H-bomb, one thing stands clear: thermonuclear war means certain suicide to the aggressor.

Raiders Outplay Vandy For 58 Minutes; Lose 23-13

Middle Tennessee State gave Vanderbilt's Commodores a big scare at Dudley Field October 27 before bowing to the SEC team 23-13. The inspired Raiders led on two occasions during the first half, 6-0 and 13-7.

A crowd estimated at 16,000 was on their feet throughout the game cheering the two teams. Many of the spectators were giving the three touchdowns underdog Raiders support every time they carried the ball.

Buck Rolman, right halfback for the Big Blue, scored both of MTSC's touchdowns. The Lynchburg senior gave the Raiders a 6-0 lead when he ripped for 42 yards in the opening period. Sidney Corban's try-for-extra-point was wide to the left.

Vanderbilt halfback Phil "Chief" King put the Commodores ahead at the end of the first period with a 31 yard gallop. The Vandy score was set up by a bad snap from center on a MTSC punt attempt. King added the extra point.

Middle Tennessee did not waste any time to regain the lead in the second quarter. Corban took a Vanderbilt punt and returned it to the host's 45 yard stripe. Fullback Terry Sweeney and right halfback Tillman Harris advanced the ball to the Vandy 30. On fourth down and seven, Corban flipped a first down pass to left end Jerry Hurst at the Vandy 11.

Commodore tackle Pat Swann was guilty of "piling on" after Corban had completed a one yard pass to Terry Sweeney. The penalty moved the ball to the Vandy one. After two attempts by Corban, the field general handed the ball to Rolman who went the final yard for the score. Corban's extra point attempt was good.

King electrified the crowd in the fading minutes of the half when he took a Corban punt at his own seven yard line and returned it 93 yards to deadlock the score. Jimmy Travis added the extra point to give Vandy a 14-13 lead at half-time.

The third quarter was scoreless. Middle Tennessee showed a great defensive stand after the Commodores had run a fumble to the five yard line for a first down. Quarterback Boyce Smith picked up 2 yards on the next play, but King could break the Raider forward wall for only one yard in the next three attempts.

Vandy scored their other nine points with two minutes remaining in the game. End Harold Brown broke through to spill Corban in the end zone for a safety. Jim Butler scored the last Vandy touchdown with 18 seconds remaining in the game.

One of the highlights of the game was the punting of Sidney Corban. The Springfield senior punted nine times for an average of 42.4 yards per kick. One of his punts pulled MTSC out of a hole, going 74 yards from the line of scrimmage.

Jerry Hurst went 58 minutes at the end position for MTSC.

Raiders Trample Murray State In Homecoming

The old grads returned to Jones Field last Saturday to see Middle Tennessee's gridders rout Murray State 39-7 in their annual homecoming game. The Raiders turned in their best offensive show of the season with 456 yards gained.

Coach Charles "Bubba" Murphy used every man on the roster. The six Raider touchdowns were scored by the same number of men.

Buck Rolman, who scored both of the Raider touchdowns against Vanderbilt a week earlier, got the Raiders going with a 67 yard touchdown jaunt with the game six minutes and 20 seconds old. The Lynchburg flash staged a beautiful run after taking the pitchout from quarterback Sidney Corban.

Murray came roaring back with a score 20 seconds before the end of the first quarter. After recovering a MTSC fumble on the Raider 40, Jack Morris bulldozed over from the one yard line 10 plays later.

Jerry Kemp scored the second Raider touchdown on a three yard plunge. His reception of a Jimmy Dunlap pass good for 27 yards set up the score.

Middle Tennessee went to the air for their next touchdown. Don Plonk and Jerry DeLucca had forced Murray to punt with two straight losses issued to Thoroughbred backs. Corban took over and directed a RRaider drive to the Murray 20. Dunlap replaced Corban at quarterback and flipped a 20 yard aerial to hobbling G. E. McCormack for the score.

After halftime intermission, the Thoroughbreds took the kickoff and drove to the Raider 14 in 11 plays. Don Plonk fell on a ere tripping fumble on the next play to stop the assault. Corban punted the Raiders out of the hole three plays later.

Murray gambled on a fourth down pass on their own 43 to start the Raider third quarter scoring. Ronnie Phillips faked a punt, then attempted an aerial to end Don Heine. The alert Raiders knocked the pass down and took over.

Tillman Harris turned in the second longest run of the day with a 56 yard touchdown jaunt. The Sparta halfback was the leading ground gainer for the day with 83 yards in 7 tries.

Nicky Coutras recovered a Murray fumble on the Racer 39 to pave the way to the fifth touchdown for the Big Blue. The Raiders used five plays to march to the 15, then Corban took the ball on a keep play and went for the score.

Corban found Bobby Locke to be a perfect target for the final scoring of the homecoming tilt. Taking over the ball on downs at their own 4 two minutes after their fifth touchdown, Corban tossed a 34 yards aerial to Locke. Rolman carried for nine yards, then Corban flipped a 17 yarder to Locke for the tally.

Most of the fourth quarter was played by the subs. Murray had two threats in the final period getting to the Raider 15 and 4 yard lines. They found the Raider reserves pretty tough with their backs to the wall, and lost the ball on both occasions.

The win put Middle Tennessee as the only undefeated team in the OVC. It was Murray's first conference loss in four games.

MTSC Given Excellent Coverage by Nashville Papers, Radio and TV

Middle Tennessee State was given exceptional space and fine radio and television coverage of the Vanderbilt game last week.

Both Raymond Johnson of the Nashville TENNESSEAN and Fred Russell of the Nashville BANNER devoted the entire space in their columns to the Raiders. Mr. Russell covered the growth of the college, the work of the band and the great contribution that the school had made to the coaching fields in Middle Tennessee.

Johnny DuVal, former SIDELINES staff member, wrote daily feature stories about Raider progress in the BANNER as did Johnny Havlicek in the TENNESSEAN. John Bibb of the Tennessean did an exceptionally good Sunday game coverage story while Edgar Allen presented the Vanderbilt side in the Monday afternoon BANNER.

Radio and television coverage began early in the week. The Nashville stations scheduled appearances that took Bob Brooks and Gene Sloan of the publicity staff and Coach Joe Black Hayes of the coaching staff to Nashville. The climax of this coverage came Friday night preceding the game in which Larry Munson interviewed Coach Charles Murphy on his Sports Roundup.

Coach Art Guepe and Larry Munson were most complimentary of Raider play in the Sunday movie record of the game.

The column of Fred Russell carried considerable information of historical value to MTSC students and alumni. The major portion of it is reproduced below.

Mr. Johnson's column was in the form of an interview with Coach Murphy. He reviewed the history of the six transfer students (Joe Bruce (Texas Tech; Harold Greer, Georgia Tech; Terry Sweeney, U-T; Jerry DeLucca (U-T; Jerry Hurst, U-T, and Don Plonk Vanderbilt), giving the background of their decision to leave larger schools.

Murphy pointed out that MTSC had a better line this year than in several years, that Sid Corban's kicking was better and that Terry Sweeney was an improved runner. He must have foreseen the fine 74 yard kick and the fine 23-13 score.

Mr. Russell's column follows:

By FRED RUSSELL

MTSC — And Dr. Q. M. S.

Middle Tennessee State College won't have to worry about any lack of cheering at Dudley Field Saturday night. In addition to the students planning the trip from Murfreesboro, there are more than 2,000 MTSC alumni in Nashville and Davidson County.

That's more than any school—except Vanderbilt.

During the past decade Middle Tennessee has mushroomed faster than a suburban housing project. Enrollment for the fall quarter this year exceeded 2,000. In the post-war period eleven permanent buildings have been erected on the campus in addition to temporary student apartments and an agriculture center.

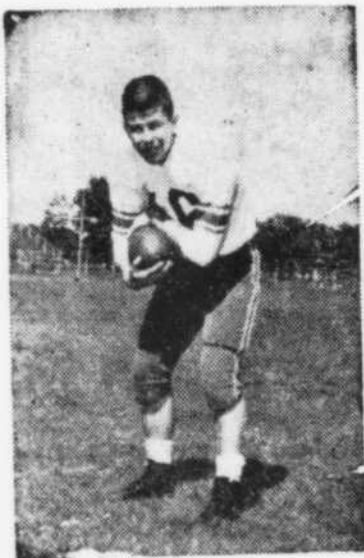

Most of the credit for this phenomenal growth must go to Dr. Q. M. Smith president of the college since 1938. Scholarly leadership and careful planning have characterized the widening services he has promoted. There will be no more loyal supporter of the Raiders Saturday night than Smith—president of the first class, editor of the first school paper, member of the first debating team and first football team at the old Middle Tennessee Normal.

Officials at the Murfreesboro college attribute much of the success of the overall athletic program to this sympathetic administration. They point out the fine balance and harmony prevailing on the coaching staff where MTSC, Vanderbilt and Tennessee alumni work together in recruiting, conditioning and inspiring the boys, who until the past few years were area products. This year's team has a more cosmopolitan (Continued on Page 8)

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Players of the week in MTSC's recent game with Vanderbilt were Jerry Hurst as the outstanding line-man, and Sidney Corban and Buck Rolman tied as the backs of the week.

Sports writers, coaches, radio announcers, and scouts schosed Hurst for his play at right end for the Big Blue. The 6-7, 23-pounder from San Diego, Calif., played 58 minutes against the Commodores.

BUCK ROLMAN

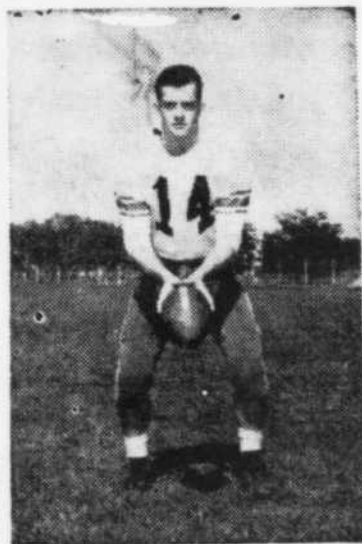

Playing a great game on offense and defense, Hurst caught two passes in MTSC's scoring drives. He made it pretty tough on Vandy backs who came around his end.

Corban did a fine job at his quarterback position directing the Raider attack. He completed three passes for 37 yards, and did a good job on defense. The Springfield senior punted five times for an average of 42.4 yards per kick. One of his boots went 74 yards from the line of scrimmage to pull the Raiders out of their end zone.

Rolman was the leading ground gainer for the Big Blue with 52 yards in 1 tries. He scored both of the Raider touchdowns, one being a 42 yard twister through the Vandy line. He also completed a 13 yards pass for his night's work.

J. HURST

SID CORBARN

A tramp applied at the back door of a farm house and asked for help.

Tramp—Madam, would you help a poor man out of his troubles?

Farmer's Wife—Certainly, would you rather be shot or hit with an ax?

"Coke does something for you, doesn't it."

You feel so new and fresh and good—all over—when you pause for Coca-Cola. It's sparkling with quick refreshment... and it's so pure and wholesome—naturally friendly to your figure. Let it do things—good things—for you.

Along The Sidelines

Bob Brooks

Middle Tennessee's football gridders turned in two of the finest football games ever performed by a Raider team in their games with Vanderbilt and Murray State recently.

Coach Murphy's OVC powerhouse gave the Commodores a game that will long be remembered by Raider and Commodore fans. At halftime, the fired-up team from Murfreesboro led Vandy in most everything but the score. Halftime statistics were as follows:

MTSC		Vandy
10	First Downs	2
112	Net Yards Rushing	55
64	Net Yards Passing	0
176	Total Net Yards	55
9	Passes Attempted	4
5	Passes Completed	0
36.5	Punting Average	51.2
4	Yards Punts Returned	99
0	Fumbles Lost	0
52	Yards Penalized	23

Sidney Corban's punting and Buck Rolman's running were great, but the line play of Big Blue was probably as good as any performed on Dudley Field this season. All the boys in the front wall gave it their very best. Jerry Hurst, Jerry DeLucca, Ben Hurt, Harold Greer, Ralph Massey, and the entire squad, did a real good job.

Massey was in on three of the tackles that stopped Vandy when the host team had a first down on the MTSC five yard line. Phil King's three attempts and Boyce Smith's one try could penetrate the Raider line but three yards in the four attempts.

Middle Tennessee had only 10 men on the field when Vandy scored their first touchdown. After Vandy had taken over the ball on a bad center, Jimmy Ray gained four yards. On the next play, King went through where the linebacker would have been for a 31 yards score. When the teams lined up for the extra point, it was realized that there was no line-backer.

Buck Rolman's 67 yard touchdown run against Murray was the longest run of the season for the Raiders. Tillman Harris followed Buck with a 56 yard TD jaunt to better the previous longest play for 1956, Jerry Kemp's 55 yard tally against Austin Peay.

Terry Sweeney and Tillman Harris are the leading ground gainers for Middle Tennessee with seven games of the season already in the record books. Sweeney has carried 62 times to roll up 339 yards, averaging 5.5 yards per try.

Harris has an average of 6.9 yards per carry in 49 attempts. The Sparta halfback has gound out 336 yards. Sweeney has carried 62 times to roll up 339 yards, averaging 5.5 yards per try. Corban and Jimmy Dunlap as the top boys. Corban has tossed for 281 yards in 14 completions. His 35 aerial attempts include six scoring passes.

Dunlap has completed 26 of 44 aerals for 273 yards and three touchdowns. He hit the target on seven of eight throws against Murray last Saturday.

In total offense, Corban again takes the spotlight. His 67 yards rushing, added to his passing totals, give the Springfield senior a nine yard advantage over Sweeney's total of 339.

Jerry Hurst is the leading pass-receiver with 9 snags. The 6-8, 230-pound right end has picked up 117 yards with his catches. Bobby Locke has gained 92 yards in six receptions for second place. Locke has been on the receiving end of two touchdown throws.

Corban added .3 yards to his punting average against Murray. His 37.3 yard average in 27 kicks was good enough to be ranked 16th in the nation's small college statistics last week.

In scoring, Buck Rolman is tops with 30 points. Jerry Kemp has scored four touchdowns for runner-up honors.

Team totals show that the Raiders have outgained their opponents 1445 to 1045 yards on the ground. MTSC has completed 42 of 86 passes for 575 yards to lead their opponents in the aerial show. The opposition has hit on 20 of 71 attempts for 364 yards.

Middle Tennessee can win the VSAC championship with a victory over East Tennessee next Saturday. It will be the 10th meeting of the two state schools. The Raiders have won seven games, the Bucs taking two.

In 1954, the last time the Raiders played at Johnson City, the Buccaneers defeated MTSC 30-6. MTSC won last year on Jones Field by a 20-7 count.

They are reported to have a good squad this season. They showed some of their power with wins over Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee Tech recently.

than just a few) by which people will judge the entire school. It would be different if, under other circumstances, but these people are college students, supposedly the above-average and future leaders of America.

To the Editor:

As you know, a new rule has been passed this year obviating the old rule that girls wearing blue jeans on the campus. This rule has caused a great disturbance among the girls. I am quite certain that the majority of the student body of Middle Tennessee State College does not object to girls wearing blue jeans on and around the campus.

Reasons for making this rule have been explained to all the girls, but, as others, fail to see its significance.

This problem could be solved by allowing the girls to wear blue jeans to the lunchroom and to the recreation room as they have done in past years.

To the Editor:

Have you noticed the parking situation behind Smith Hall here on the MTSC campus?

If you come in late some night, there is not a place where you can legally park. If you park on the grass behind the dormitory, you can be well assured that the campus policeman will have a ticket waiting to greet you the next morning.

You could park behind Jones Hall and take the chance of breaking a leg as you come by the new library construction, or drowning on a rainy night. This seems to be the administration's answer to the problem.

There is ample room behind Smith Hall where the parking area could be enlarged with little cost and little difficulty to the administration.

This is a serious problem and needs immediate attention. I cannot afford to pay a dollar every time I cannot find a place to park, and I know the majority of the other car owners cannot either.

To the Editor:

On many occasions, the great expense of books at this school has been brought to my attention.

Students that are going to school on the G. I. Bill, such as I am, and students that are working hard to finance their way through school realize this expense more than the others. Naturally, we have to expect some expense, but when we buy an expensive book and use it three months, I do not think it should lose half of its value.

Other state supported schools have solved this problem, and it seems that the students of this school should get the same privilege. Austin Peay State College students obtain their books by putting a deposit on them at the beginning of the quarter. If the students have not lost or mutilated their books in any way, the books are turned in at the end of the quarter and the students get their deposit refunded, minus a small handling charge.

I am sure a great many students on this campus would appreciate it very much if this subject were presented to the proper authorities.

Dr. Himes Will Read Paper at Agronomy Meet

Dr. Himes, professor of agronomy will give a paper titled "The Chelating Ability of Soil Organic Matter" at the American Agronomy Society meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio on November 14.

Big news from the barn this week in the "Farmers Frolic" planned for December 6. The Frolic is the beginning of annual affair which will be sponsored jointly by the Agricultural Club and the Home Economics Club.

Highlight of this year's frolic will be crowning of the Agricultural Club Queen and at this time three lovely young ladies, Jane Clark, Jean Bridges and Mable Sublett are vying for the crown.

Larry Parsley, our president, received the Future Farmers of America's coveted American Farmer degree at the National convention in Kansas City last week.

Most of the aggies have been busy working on the club float. The theme of this year's float was Laying for Murray.

All Ag Club members are requested to leave any news for this column in Box 17.

Home Ec Club Installs Members

The home economics club met Monday, October 15, at 6 p.m., in the drawing room of the home economics department. The meeting was called to order by the club president, Polly Troxler. The devotion was given by Earlene Woodall and Nancy Ford led in prayer. There was an open discussion on the plans for a float at homecoming and Martha Whitehurst was put in charge of the plans. The club voted to help take part in the coming year with some of the Agriculture boys' projects.

Then the program was turned over to the president, Polly Troxler, who was in charge of installing the new members, with Betty Osteen second vice-president.

The officers for this year are: President, Polly Troxler; First Vice President, Anita Turner; Second Vice President, Betty Osteen; Secretary, Earlene Woodall; Treasurer, Betty McClain; Scrapbook Chairman, Ada Blankenship; Publicity Chairman, Isabell Scales.

Those participating in the initiation were: Ruthe Walkup, Pauline Powell, Sue Shirley, Faye Vannatta, Shirley, Bowlin, Jean Boucher, Jane Clark, Sue Steagall, Nancy Bagwell, Shirley Bishop, and Ann Pulliam.

After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by everyone. The color scheme for the occasion was fall colors and Halloween decorations. The refreshments served were spiced cake and cider. The next meeting will be November 5. Mr. L. D. Lawrence of Nashville, will give a demonstration about aluminum products.

Ford, Mrs. Evans Are Hurt in Auto Wreck

Coach Frank Ford of Lebanon High School and Mrs. Hugh Evans, a member of the Lebanon faculty, were slightly injured when automobile in which they were en route to Saturday classes at Middle Tennessee State College was involved in a collision by a Chevrolet sedan driven by C. Burnett of Smyrna near Walter Hill Saturday morning.

Both Mr. Ford and Mrs. Evans suffered cuts and bruises but were able to continue to the college where they are graduate students. Other occupants of Mrs. Evans car were not injured. Mr. Ford was driving and stated that the driver of the approaching car struck them midway across the narrow bridge just west of Walter Hill on the detour off highway 231. Mr. Burnett sustained facial cuts and was taken to the hospital.

Ad Receives Many Good Comments

(Following is a copy of an advertisement of the Exchange Store, College Station, Texas. Publishers who have seen this ad have commented favorably about it.)

"In considering the cost of a college education students are often prone to place undue emphasis upon the cost of text books. Yet a recent survey of college expenses indicates text books represent less than 3% of the total cost of a four year course in college.

"To a college student text books are 'tools of the trade.' A carpenter, a brick mason, an automobile mechanic, a radio and television repairman, a skilled surgeon, and all other categories of craftsmen and professional men own and cherish 'tools of the trade.' Without these craftsmen and professional men would be 'babes in the woods.'

"You and/or your parents will spend up to $5,000 on your college education. Three percent of $5,000 adds up to $150. That $150 represents one of the best investments of your entire college career. To save any part of $150 do you want to be a 'babe in the woods' during your four years in college?

"When you own your own copy of each required text in the courses you pursue you can annotate important facts on the margins. Years later you may have occasion to refer to your personal notes and the factual printed matter therein. To you, in your professional career, that text book becomes a valuable reference guide.

"When you have completed a course, evaluate its usefulness and that of its basic text book. If the text book has possibilities of assisting you in your professional career, place it in your personal library. If it holds no promise of assistance carry it down to your favorite book store and offer it for sale. Your book dealer will pay you its full market value and make it available for another Aggie who will replace you in that course next year.

"The writing, publishing and distribution of text books is an expensive operation, and potential sales are limited to a very small percentage of American consumers. Contrary to the common opinion of laymen, nobody gets rich in the process. First, the author—usually a professor—puts in many hours and considerable expense preparing his manuscript. In most cases his basic philosophy is that of sharing his knowledge rather than one of commercial gain. Second, the publisher who accepts the manuscript, assumes a calculated risk. Some books click and show a margin of profit to author and publisher. Many others fall flat upon their faces commercially."

Director John Colbert is bringing the 72-piece MTSC band to the Vanderbilt game. He has added two novelties as regular components of the marching band. A six-man herald trumpet section and a twin kettle drum arrangement will be a part of the show.

The Raider band moves in traditional 120-step cadence and specializes in pregame and halftime entertainment.

Nashvillians Neil and Margaret Wright made great strides with the MTSC band after assuming direction of the music department ten years ago, introducing the then new Swiss flag twirlers to supplement the majorette section.

An Incongruous Blue

According to Dean N. C. Beasley, who has followed MTSC athletic fortunes for 30 years, the rather unusual sobriquet "Raider" is of comparatively recent origin. With the expanding curriculum and services of a "state college" the old nickname of "Teachers" became less descriptive. Gene Sarver, a student at the college in the late 1930's, submitted the winning title for the MTSC athletic teams in a contest sponsored by the Murfreesboro Daily News Journal.

The name commemorates two dashing Confederate cavalymen—General Nathan Bedford Forrest (for whom the ROTC building on the campus is named) and General John Hunt Morgan. These intrepid leaders operated around Murfreesboro on frequent occasions during the War Between the States.

The Rebel yell, the band playing "Dixie," undergraduates wearing replicas of Forrest's broad brimmed campaign hat and waving Confederate battle flags are all a part of the Raider pageantry which will be on display Saturday night.

But no one has been able to explain the incongruity of Rebel Raiders wearing BLUE uniforms!

Maker Of Coaches

Robert Abernathy, alumni secretary and director of field services, joins other officials of the college in pointing out the tremendous contribution MTSC has made to the sports picture in this area.

Jess Neely, P. V. Overall and Rupe Smith became great as senior college stars and later as successful college coaches.

During the "middle period" of her athletic history, Middle Tennessee State Teachers College contributed to Mid-State athletics such outstanding coaches as C. L. Cummins, Kenneth Miles, B. H. Thompson, O. L. Freeman, Ed Hessey, John Dixon, Reeves Derryberry, Julian Crocker, John (Dutch) Uhlman, Elijah Harris, Richard Osteen, Charles Kerr, Charles Holt, and Doyle Smith—most of whom are still active in Tennessee education circles, largely in the field of administration. Two others, Henry Hackman and John Bass, made major achievements in the training of athletes before their death.

Of a little later period and still active in coaching are Lee Pate, Murfreesboro, Central, and Brownlow Sharp of Lewisburg. In this same group are Charles Murphy, Charles Greer, and Elbert Patty of the Raiders' current staff. The fabulous Shirley Majors of Huntland is a former MTSC student, but did not play football there.

Included in this remarkable group are such men as Hilary Martin and Angelo Varallo, East; Henry Nance and Hale Harris, Hillsboro; Louis Davidson and Dan Thweatt, Madison; Garland Russell and Gerald Johnson, Central; Dave Adamson, Du Pont; Paul Burgess, Goodlettsville; Herschel Moore, Litton; Joe Morgan, Ryan; Joe Davis, Donelson; Jim Kennedy, West; George Frost, Antioch; Paul Jones, Bellevue, and Jimmy Jackson, Joelton.

Head coaches in the area include Ralph Spangler, Ashland City; J. B. Akin, BGA; Bill Lawson and Billy Gunn, CMA; John Springer, Centerville; Tom Sparkman, Chapel Hill; Jack Deere, Fayetteville; Leonard Staggs, Lawrenceburg; Bernard Burgess, Lynnville; Ed Sullivan, Lynchburg; Joe Nunley, McMinnville; Lee Pate, Murfreesboro; Carl Cooper, Petersburg; Jim Lane, Smithville; Dean Holland, Smyrna; Dee Harris, Watertown; Guy Buchanan, Waynesboro; Grady Palmer, White House, and Robert Harris, Woodbury.

Dr. Burkett Now Teaching In Syria

Dr. Eva Burkett, graduate of MTSC and former head of the department of English, is now teaching in Syria, one of the tense spots in the Near East crisis. Dr. Burkett, who left MTSC to go to Drake University, has since then been with the government as a teacher in Japan.

In a recent letter to Miss Elizabeth Schardt Miss Burkett discloses some of the incident to her journey to Syria in the letters, excerpts of which are printed below.

"I left New York on August 24 on the American ship S. S. Exeter. Most of the passengers were Fulbright people going to the Middle East. Because of the Suez situation we left this ship at Genoa and took a Turkish ship for Piraeus. We stayed in Athens for three weeks. On Monday, October 1, we left Piraeus on the M.S. Lydia.

"We spent two days in Barcelona, one in Marseilles, and a day and a night in Genoa. From Marseilles we went to Arles and Avignon. Our guide was a woman who had worked with the Underground during the war and had been cited by General Eisenhower and an English general.

"The art shops in Athens were fascinating. I bought hand woven material, a few plates, and a hand woven sofa pillow cover and a bag made of goats hair. The weaving is done at Delphi. During the first two weeks we were in Athens we attended classes in Greek, but the last week we had nothing officially to do. We had a trip to Corinth and Mycenae where we saw the evacuated tombs of Agamemnon and Clytemnestra, and to Delphi, in addition to trips around Athens. The Athens Festival was going on. I saw Medea, Antigone and Oedipus Rex in the restored theater of Herodius Atticus on the Acropolis. They were perfectly thrilling, especially the choruses. I had never realized just how important the chorus is in the ancient tragedies. The emotion of the main character tended to the bombastic, contrary to my previous idea of the Greek drama. In the last scene of Oedipus, Oedipus came out with blood streaming from his eyes and hands."

Reading Classes Aid Many Students

By Jo Russell

Many of the students on the MTSC campus are taking a voluntary class to improve their speed and comprehension in reading. The class is offered free at this college student should read in the neighborhood of one thousand words a minute, but the actual reading ability of college students everywhere is on the seventh grade level. This means that they only read about six hundred and fifty words a minute.

The reading class was established on this campus two years ago. During this time many students have improved their reading speed by one hundred and fifty words a minute and their comprehension by twenty five per cent.

When a student first enters the class his vision is checked and recommendations are made to correct difficulties. Next their reading and vocabulary are tested. Usually an intelligence test is given and the hearing is checked.

After these tests are given the people are put into groups. These groups take exercises to increase visual perceptual span.

The Tachistoscopes is one of the machines used in the reading class. The Tachistoscope is a projector with a timer. A series of numbers is flashed on the wall for an instant and the students learn to see the numbers and remember them. Later the group sees content material in the same manner. The students then apply these methods to anything they are reading. Many students have taken this course two or three times and made marked improvement each time.

Mr. Martin's assistants in teaching the reading classes are Elaine Wakefield and James McBride.

CHARLES E. CLOUSE
DAVID H. DOUGLAS

The U. S. Navy's Officer Candidate School graduated its 28th class October 12 in ceremonies aboard the naval station. The Honorable Albert Pratt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Personnel and Reserve Forces, spoke to the 835 new officers and presented the honor graduates with their certificates.

Among the graduates was Ensign Charles E. Clouse, Manchester, a 1955 B.S. degree graduate of MTSC and Ensign David H. Douglas, Nashville, Tennessee, who received the B.S. degree in business administration in 1956 at MTSC.

To earn this commission these two and their classmates had to successfully complete a seventeen-week, intense course of study and military indoctrination, which covered such subjects as navigation, engineering, seamanship, military justice, and naval weapons. Having done so, the class members will now report to their respective ships and stations in the fleet and shore establishments of the Navy. Some will report first to further training which will be relative to their duties, then on to their permanent duty stations.

Varsity Choir Starts On Opera

As we spotlight the Music Department this week, we find that an event of recent importance is the selection of the Varsity Choir for this year. One of the most important projects of the group is a grand opera which is all ready in rehearsal.

The opera that has been selected for this year's presentation is "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart. The principals that have been selected are: Jane Leech as Sussanna; Jerry Williamson as Figaro; Patsy Johnson—a countess; Ed Baldwin—a count; Peggy Jernigan as Cherubino; Dorothy Hicks as Marcellina; Donald Sain as Basilio; Wayne Tipps as Don Curzio; Joe Mills as Antonio; Dorothy Hicks as Barbara; and Shirley Dean Freedle as Dr. Bartolo.

The chorus will be comprised of the following: Anita Grayson, Marilyn Parker, Dorothy Wakefield, Charolett Free, and Sherry Chumbley—Sopranos; Linda Williamson, Carolyn Smoot, Maxine Matheny, Emily Elrod — Contralto; Jack Smith, Walter Anderson, Dick Turner, and James Martin—Tenors; Jim Triplett, John McDonald and Billy Smith—Basses.

The opera is a joint production of the Music and Drama Departments with art sketches contributed by the Art Department.

Mrs. Briney's Work Is Published

"What Makes the Classroom Tick," is the title of an article written by Mrs. Andreana Briney which will appear in the November issue of "Audio Visual Instruction."

In the article Mrs. Briney, an instructor in the MTSC Training school develops three phases of classroom environment, i.e., people, activities and materials. In the article she attempts to answer the question of the editor of official publication of Audio-Visual Division of the NEA, "What can the classroom teacher do with less than ideal equipment." Mrs. Briney has attempted to answer the question with practical illustrations drawn from her experience and that of others at the Training school. The article will be illustrated with pictures made by Dr. Bealer Smotherman of the MTSC audio-visual division.

Mrs. Briney is president of the Tennessee Association of Classroom Teachers and was recently appointed to a three year term on the Citizenship Committee of the National Educational Association.

In December she will attend a meeting of this committee in Washington, D. C. to lay plans to encourage state associations to enlarge the citizenship activities of teachers.

Miss Kellogg and Mr. Martin to Wed

Congratulations to Miss Marilyn Kellogg, Nashville, and Mr. Don Martin, Shelbyville, whose marriage will take place Sunday, November 11, 1956.

Miss Kellogg was honored with a bridal shower given by Misses Joyce Watson and Helen Carter on Thursday, October 25. Some of the guests were Misses Lois Harlan, Ellen Hoge, Marilyn Caruthers, Mary Ruth Osborne, Ann Loftin, Lynn Loftin, Rebecca Swafford, Cissy Pickard, Betty Woodlum, Judy Oakley, Margaret Ogden, Elaine Wakefield, Pinky Parker, Nancy Houchin, Mrs. Bass, and Mrs. Kellogg.

After several games were played, each person was given a piece of paper and a pencil. The lights were turned out and everyone had to draw a picture of their idea of the bridegroom. Some of the results were hilarious. Refreshments were served later in the evening.

Engagement of Miss Youree Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Youree of Woodbury, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Ruth of Woodbury and Waverly, to James Edwin Willhite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bell Willhite of Martin. Miss Youree is a graduate of Central High School, Woodbury and Middle Tennessee State College, Murfreesboro, where she held membership in the Tau Omicron Society and was elected Miss Home Economics in her senior year. At present she is Assistant Home Demonstration Agent in Humphreys County. Mr. Willhite is a graduate of Waverly High School and is now in the United States Navy stationed on Kwajalein Island. The wedding will take place in the early spring.

Pace Heads Bohannon Music Club Production

The Frances Bohannon Music club will sponsor the seventh production of Handel's The Messiah this year under the direction of Kenneth L. Pace, widely experienced conductor of choral and orchestral groups.

"The Messiah" will be presented on Sunday afternoon, December 16, at the First Presbyterian church.

During his past three years as a faculty member at Middle Tennessee State college, Mr. Pace has become well-known in Murfreesboro for his work in orchestral and choral groups. He is presently conducting the MTSC orchestra and the choirs of the Central Christian church.

Mr. Pace's varied musical experience as a conductor or festival music groups, orchestra, professional and college bands has made him an outstanding addition to musical and educational circles here.

In the past, he has been a faculty member in the music departments of Cornell college at Mt. Vernon, Iowa; North Illinois State Teachers; at DeKalb, Colorado and

Beaux-Arts Club Has Very Active Program Ahead

By Peggy Harrison

The Beaux-Arts Club was first officially organized on April 9, 1956. Plans were then made for a program that would expand as the growth of the club demanded it. Its members endeavor to be of service to the college in many ways. Posters, programs, place cards, and other things are made when needed. The club endeavors to promote better posters and displays used on our campus. They are willing to act as art advisors to any organization that needs help.

It is hoped that at sometime during the year the Club will have an interesting speaker for its own

Teachers Exams To Be Held Soon

The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given at 200 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 9, 1957.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression, and Non-verbal Reasoning; and one or two of eleven Optional Examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teacher Examinations and which of the Optional Examinations to select.

A Bulletin of Information (in which an application is inserted) describing registration procedure and containing sample test questions may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey. Completed applications, accompanied by proper examination fees, will be accepted by the TES office November and December, and in January so long as they are received before January 11, 1957.

the College of Education at Greeley and Sioux Falls college, South Dakota.

"The Messiah" is a baroque oratorio which Mr. Pace has enjoyed singing as well as conducting. His church choir directing began when he was in high school and has been continued regularly since that time.

From the interest already displayed, it is expected that the choral group will be larger than usual. Eight rehearsals are planned and the club wishes to stress that all voices, untrained as well as trained, are desired and that everyone is cordially invited to participate in this community project.

members and the entire student body.

In promoting school activities, the club, through its lending program, brings to our campus, exhibitions from various schools. The entire school and townspeople are invited to attend these. Mr. Rubens, faculty advisor, is a member of the Tennessee Art League whose exhibition will be an annual affair here at this college. Through the use of these exhibitions and other activities mentioned, the club wishes to help bring about a better art education program in the public schools.

The club, presided over by Robert Mangle, is open to anyone who is interested in art. It is not restricted to art students. The club will attempt to instill on aesthetic appreciation of art in addition to teaching some of the methods involved, such as work in the graphic and plastic arts. At present the club has about eighteen members. The constitution has been adopted, the charter will soon be approved. The members extend a cordial invitation for anyone interested, to come to the meeting, held every second and fourth Mondays, in the Industrial Arts Building.

Sharpe's Article Is In "Business Education Forum"

"A Few Essentials for Teaching Shorthand and Transcription Successfully" written by Hollis Sharpe, a member of the business administration department faculty at Middle Tennessee State College appears in the October number of "Business Education Forum," the official publication of the United States Business Education Association.

"Few things promote success in teaching shorthand more than interest and enthusiasm on the part of the teacher," writes Mr. Sharpe is pointing out that short hand teaching requires the meaningful presentation of material."

In his article Mr. Sharpe outlines some methods that have been found successful in building speed, testing and transcription.

Mr. Sharpe pointed out that it is essential that individual differences be recognized and that dictation be provided to suit the progress of each individual. He emphasized the necessity for high school students being given an opportunity for transcription even where only one year of shorthand is offered.

Mademoiselle's Art Contest

Mademoiselle's third annual Art Contest is now under way.

The two winners will interpret the magazine's 1957 College Fiction Contest and will receive $500 each for publication of their work. The closest runners-up will receive honorable mention and their entries will be kept on file for possible future commissions by Mademoiselle. Winners and honorable mentions will be announced in the August 1957 College issue.

If you're a woman in college or art school and submit your entries before your twenty-sixth birthday, you are eligible to compete. Submit enough work to show your ability—at least five samples in any medium: line drawings, oils or water colors, collages, anything. Mademoiselle will accept photographs of originals, either color transparencies or black and white glossies. This is not a commercial art contest; Mademoiselle is not looking for fashion illustration or advertising layouts, but for imaginative, original work in whatever medium or style you work best.

Do You Know This Student?

Do you know who this is? He is five feet, seven inches tall, twenty-six years old, has blond hair, brown eyes, and weighs 170 pounds. He is married and has two children, a two-year old boy and a four-months old daughter. His wife's name is Dene, and she is from Lewisburg.

He hails from Kansas City, Missouri, but has been in school here for two years. A member of the Naval Air Force, he was stationed at San Diego, served in Japan, Korea, and New Foundland, and also on the USS Princeton.

Onr mystery man is majoring in Industrial Arts and minoring in Speech (this is a clue). Another big clue is his hobby, which is improving his English.

Alright, if you haven't guessed it by now, this should do it. He works approximately 35 hours a week as an announcer and platter man at WGNS.

Well, this is the last clue. His program is called "Overton's Open House" and is heard every night from six until ten o'clock.

You know by now that Joe Overton is the man. Joe carries 16 hours of work here at school along with his radio work. When Joe says he is a busy man, I believe him. However, when you enjoy your work as Joe does, the time flies; and I ask you, is there any better way to spend your time than spinning good records?

Joe, keep the good records coming our way; and we will keep listening.

It's time to sign off for now.

Lt. Don Hodges Dies In Crash

Death in the service of his country came Monday to First Lt. Donald N. Hodges, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hodges of Lebanon, as he crashed in a B-26 light bomber a short distance from Hunter Air Force Base, Savannah, Georgia October 31.

Lt. Hodges and the two other occupants of the plane, 2nd Lt. Berel Carlson, 21, Flushing, New York, and 2nd Lt. David J. Paul, 27, Cleveland, Ohio, who were also killed were on temporary duty at the Georgia base from the Second Two Target Squadron, Mitchell Field, New York.

The pilot successfully attempted to miss a school building as the bomber dove toward the ground, and crashed to earth between Pembroke and Blythe, Georgia, about 100 yards from the school, which was occupied by over 200 children.

Lt. Hodges is a 1950 graduate of Lebanon High School. While attending Middle Tennessee State College at Murfreesboro he worked 24 hours a day—attending classes in the morning, working at the Lebanon airport after school, and serving night duty with the Lebanon Fire department. He entered the Air Force in August, 1953.

Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, Wayne and George Hodges Jr., and a sister, Mrs. Virginia Bogress, Dayton, Ohio.

Three Books Are Received by Paper

Ballantine Books have recently sent THE SIDELINES review copies of three recent releases: "The World of Li'l Abner," by Al Capp; "The Big Ball of Wax" by Shepherd Mead, and the "Wild Reader," edited by B. W. Shirecliff.

Like all the Ballantine books (101 Fifth Avenue, New York 3, N. Y.) which sell for 35 cents, these three volumes are cleverly illustrated and give the reader some whimsical humor.

"The Wild Reader," an original, attempts to collapse whole libraries into clever paradoxes. There is the Thurber item called The Bateman Comes Home in which the whole genre of 538 Southern Novels are well comprehended and compromised.

Perelman has distilled the essence of two thousand tough detective novels into a high voltage episode called "Farewell, My Lovely Appetizer."

Then there are equally talented tid-bits from John Lardner, William Lederer, John Crosby, Ogden Nash, T. H. Whitet and others with such intriguing titles as "Beware of Hasty Marriages," "Advice to Young Men On How to Get Into the Army" (profusely illustrated by the author) and "The Skippers Pink Panties."

How to Succeed with Women is the sub-title of The Big Ball of Wax a fantastic story of tomorrow's happy world.

The World of Li'l Abner explains Al Capp's philosophy of burlesque and is complete with the cartoon story of how little Abner was actually cabined, cribed and confined by Daisy May—all in pictures.

Death Claims Two

Death has recently claimed two outstanding MTSC alumni. Paul B. Andrews, 49, postmaster at Sparta, and Dr. Fred D. Arnold, economics professor at Auburn were both active in campus work while students here.

Mr. Andrews, who graduated in 1939, was for ten years a coach and principal in White county schools, serving three years as city superintendent in Sparta. He was a Navy veteran and had been a member of the Board of Stewards of the Methodist church.

Dr. Andrews attended MTSC three years, received his B.S. and M.S. at Peabody College and his Ph.D. at North Carolina. A native of Wartrace Mr. Andrews funeral services were conducted at Blanche.

MTSC Students . . .

cameras, reporters and commentators, was very fascinating.

"The inside political deals were history in the making as the results reached the convention floor. In caucus rooms politicians were making decisions vital to the future government of our country."

"I was fortunate enough to attend the Tennessee caucus and to be appointed as a convention delegate to represent the Tennessee delegation. I was able to be on the convention floor most of the time due to this assignment, which gave me an insight to the proceedings as they were actually being formed."

"Tennessee was definitely in the limelight as three prominent Tennesseans were aspirants for places on the national ticket. After much work, Senator Kefauver landed the VP spot for which he is covering thousands of miles campaigning. Senator Gore sprang up on the last minute as aVP candidate but received only nominal support, mostly Southern."

"However, the most outstanding thing to me was the exotic keynote address which was masterminded and delivered by our own Governor, Frank Clement. During the daytime in Chicago, I worked in the Tennessee headquarters and was fortunate enough to see and talk to the Governor once or twice before and after his address and I found that he was never too busy to stop and say "hello" to his friends."

"After the keynote address, thousands of telegrams poured into the headquarters in praise of the man that held the convention arena and millions of TV viewers spellbound for some fifty minutes. He's a fine man and an inspiration to all."

"All in all, Chicago was fun, educational and inspiring. I met a lot of nice people, among whom are Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Washington's reporter, Betty Beale and TV's Betty Furness. (Mrs. Roosevelt was a very cordial person, Betty Beale was always busy, and Betty Furness was always in a hurry to change her clothes for the next commercial.)"

"I feel that I'm a real lucky person—I have a lot of things to be thankful for and a lot of people to thank—and thanks to you, J.C.C. Thanks a lot."

Kappa Delta Pi Elects Members

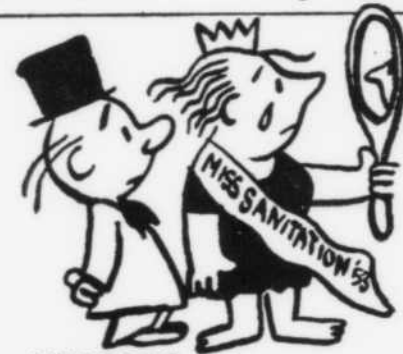

On November 1, at 10:45 a.m. the Theta Omicron Chapter of the Kappa Delta, a national educational society, held a meeting for the purpose of electing new members. These members are selected from the upper fifth of the Education Department of MTSC.

Twenty five new members are taken into the organization each half year. An installation service will be held in the evening of December 3. New members for this half year are Sara Miles, Jo Ann Auqua, Mayo Leath, Katherine Russell, Cleo Brisby, Mary M. Hopkins, Louise Burgess, Carremave Manley, Margaret Louise Miller, Robert Holt, Raymond Norvelle, Lee Covington, Lois Telford, Catherine Ray, Bobby Ray Davis, Willie Doolley, Hilda Key, Carl Barnes, Clyde Bennett, Virginia Derryberry, Mary Lynn Wilkes, Nora Lee Denney, Ray Lafever, Martha Whitehurst, Hazel Passons, and Mary Ann Hollery.

One of the projects for this year will be the Kappa Delta Pi roll of honor of Freshman and Sophomore students who make the Dean's List. These names will be placed on a certificate and mailed to each of the students home town.

Officers for 1956-57 are President, Sue Richardson; Vice President, Eldred Tucker; Secretary, Marjorie Grayson; Treasurer, Anne Tittsworth; and Historian-Reporter, Jimmy-McBride. Homer Pittard, (an instructor of Education here at MTSC), serves as sponsor for the group. Other members are Mrs. Billy Medlock, Carolyn Smoot, Oleen Underwood, and Inez Sandusky.
