The meeting was called by L. B. the committee and principal of Clarksville high school; and J. C. Mitchell, superintendent of Murfreesboro city schools, who is secretary-treasurer of the association.

Concerning the event Ed Cherry, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event, stated, This is not a contest, but a festival. There is no winner-it's just like playing a round of golf against par. The bands play and the judges deicde on the band which they think should receive top honors."

Hidden Dictaphone In Congress Chamber Gives Evidence

Justice Sam Smith Only Member To Escape Impeachment

In a circular seven feet long Boots Little charged all officers of the Associated Student Body with malfeasance, misdemeaners, and mumps. He recommended that all the officers be impeached for these reasons. An exception to his sweepng purge demand was Chief Justice Sam Smith. Little exonerates him from all charges, but insists on nis removal because of the contaminating influence of the rest of the Supreme Court on so high a nioral character.

With definite and undefeatable evidence he proved every charge made. Katherine Brown's drunken babble after imbibing three quarts of rum at a WCTU social is recorded on Little's dictaphone. Also recorded is a confession from Margaret Wysong stating that she can not and never could write. John Bragg beat Little to the punch by going to jail before he could be impeached. Little had intended to prove detectives found it a much simpler matter to find he could subtract. Jessie Waller's obvious lack of aterest in all Senate proceedings is mentioned in Little's bill of sale. Among the items of evidence v hich prove this point are dictaphone recordings of Mr. Waller's mellifluous snores, a beautiful specimen being produced during Leon Bibb's third from the last speech.

As a contrast to the slender Waller's nonchalant disinterest in the proceedings, Leon Bibb and Jimmy Kennon spend entirely too much charges. This making a club of the senate chamber has got to stop. after all, even solons should eat.

Note-The "Side-Lines" is grateful to the "Miami Hurricane", edited by Murfreesboroan Charles Franklin, for the substance of this and adjoinin garticles. We are sorry to have contaminated this story with local names.

Sara Smotherman and Maud Holthouse have disgraced Congress in Little's well-informed opinion, when they staged that knock-down dragout hair-pulling battle all aver the floor at the last meeting.

Oh yes, another exception to the ouster order was one Lewis Lockhart, who, unfortunately, committed suicide last week, just in time to miss the bust-up. Lockhart was meditating on the possibilities of putting a dictaphone in the grating by the library arch when the temptation became too great for him and he jumped himself. In a note left behind he explained that he had been reading Miss Marie Farmer's interview with the congressman and suddenly realized that he was so un-American he had better

Little submitted photostat copies, however, of the mid-term examinations in every subject and business cards of all Council members, and the clerk suggesting that copies of exam questions as well as pedigreed foreign language poines might be had from them at the cheapest rates.

There were a few senators and other debris left over when Littie had finished his tirade. Rutherford and all of the others were arraigned on general principles, which is almost as good a place to be arraigned on as a desert.

The only Senator not covered in one of Little's regular allegory was

A Thing Can Rock Along Just So Long Then Something Ought To Be Done

Why Doesn't Somebody

Tell Us These Things

Fo rthe past few years, with the increase of the State Teachers College graduates in the field of education, there has been a definite need of more concentrated organization of the alumni group. First note of progress in this line was the announcement of Miss Glera Tenpenny of Orlando, Fla., that the STC grads in that state have organized themselves into a club to meet yearly at the state teachers convention.

In round numbers there are 1.500 people eligible for membership to the graduate association of this school. Yet it is astounding, even unbelievable-and every STC-an should be ashamed of the fact-that the Alumni Association has an enrollment of not over 240. That figure is the number of "Side-Lines" that are mailed by the Association to its members. And adding insult to injury is the fact that approximately 130 of this number are members of the 1939 senior class who automatically become members of the association for one year following graduation.

For all the interest taken in the group, as compared to its potentialities, it might as well close shop and go home.

First of all a full time man should have a thorough knowledge of the school and its graduates. Also essential would be a knowledge of the Tennessee school system and of the trends of education. Then he could go into the field and contact the alumni. He could talk over with them their school problems and lend a suggestion here and there. It would be a valuable service for the school to render to its former students. It would be the same service that the large corporations find so helpful today; that of having a field representative contact their members in the service and giving them additional information to what they re-

The immediate action, however, on the part of any designated man would be the organization of the association into a working group, a group that would give to each member some benefit. Through his personal contact he could greatly increase the active list. Then adding more impetus, the best work that he could undertake would be the organization of STC clubs in the different counties of Middle Tennessee where our graduates are most

The purpose of these clubs could be to further the education of their members and to conduct round tables on their immediate teaching problems. They would report regularly to the central alumni office and receive, in turn, weekly, semi-weekly or monthly bulletins from the secretary concerning the activities of all the clubs and of any objectives the clubs might undertake or of any

As for graduating seniors, let them pay up for say, five years in advance at the same time of their payment for a diploma. This would in five years time put the membership at a round figure of 800. And that is a greater figure than is even dreamed of today.

picks his racing cars for speed his cigarettes for slow burning

HERE THEY COME in a hurricane of flying dirt and squirting oil. You can almost hear the high whine of the motors and the shriek of brakes and burning tires as they streak into the sharp unbanked curves. They may call 'em "midget racers," but there's speed to burn underneath those toy-like hoods. Leading the pack in the picture above is Bob Swanson, Pacific Coast champ. In a split second these racers may be climbing each other's hoods, hurdling, somersaulting, flying through fences. Bob Swanson likes a slower pace in his off-time. Fishes a lot. Smokes Camels a lot. He explains: "I don't like overheating in my cigarette any more than I like it in a racing motor. I stick to Camels. I know they're slower-burning...milder and cooler."

Slower-Burning Camels Give the Extras

WITH BOB SWANSON, it's always a slow-burning Camel. "That slower burning makes a big difference," says Bob. "Camels are milder-easier on my throat. They don't bother my nerves. And they never tire my taste. They give an extra amount of smoking, too." Yes, speed is fine in the right place, but millions have learned that in cigarettes the coveted extras of coolness, mildness, and full, rich flavor go with slow-burning Camels.
