A man collapsed from an apparent heart attack on the Murphy Center track level yesterday at approximately 1:55 p.m. and was pronounced dead at 8:09 p.m. by the Murfreesboro Medical Center.

His name, age and address were not verified at press time.

The man was identified as being in his 60's by witnesses. Officials were unable to give any detailed information

Witnesses said he had a heart condition and walked three miles a day at the track.

"He had a surgical slit," Dave Prichett, one of the two students who administered CPR before the abmulance arrived, said. "The officer said he had heart trouble."

A student's statements and police reports of the occurrence conflicted

According to Stuart Miller, assistant director of the Miss MTSU Pageant, Campus Security was slow to respond. However, Campus Security, the Murtheesboro Police Department and the Rutherford County Ambulance Service reported prompt response.

"I called Campus Security and told them there was a medical emergency on the track level," Miller said They called back and talked to a secretary here."

"They [security] should have called an ambulance. That's why it took ten minutes [for help to arrive "We [may] have just watched a man die," he said 'Campus Security showed up after the city police," Miller said. According to Miller, two women, who also walked the track regularly and had heart conditions themselves, were concerned with the timeliness of emergency help.

"One of the coaches came down here and said a man had passed out," Prichett said. "He didn't have a pulse, so I just gave him CPR.

"We never got a pulse," he said. "The EMT's [Emergency Medical Technicians] gave him shock treatment, a jugular needle and started giving IV's.

At 2:03 or 2:04 p.m., Lane said, the ambulance arrived.

"They were right behind me," he said.

The ambulance service reported a different time of arrival.

The ambulance was dispatched at 1:58 p.m. and arrived at 1:59 p.m., Paramedic Supervisor Mike Yeager said, adding that Campus Security was on the scene at the time of arrival.

City police arrived at 2:03 p.m. "Basically we were just called to assist," Officer Sanders Watson said.

Miller said he was concerned after-the-fact that only two students knew how to administer CPR.

"I didn't know what to do. I'm going to have to learn [CPR]," he said.

"We were just lucky someone knew what to do.

In an emergency situation, Lane said, one should call 2424 (security) immediately.

Lane also stressed the impor-

Weeks wins national title; to meet Reagan

From Staff Reports

Terry Weeks, a Central Middle School social studies teacher, is the 1988 National Teacher of the Year.

Weeks will meet with President Reagan Thursday in a ceremony at the Oval Office.

He is also to appear on "Good Morning America" next week.

Weeks' award will take him out of the classroom and around the country and world as a spokesman for all teachers.

He plans to deliver three messages: education, reform and environment as an impact on education.

Thirty-seven-year-old Weeks is a 1972 MTSU alumni with a master's of education in curriculum and instruction.

However, upon graduating from MTSU, Teacher of the Year Weeks could not find a job.

He spent two years substituting in county schools when Central Middle School principal Thomas Tenpenny called him in 1976 with a job offer the day before school started

Weeks was initially inspired to teach by a power which hung on one of his elementary school class room walls

It sported a qoute by Abroham Lincoln, "I will study and get ready, and perhaps my chance will come."

A provision prohibiting student publications editors from holding a position of authority" in student government was part of a package approved yesterday by the Student Publications Committee.

Revised operating papers for Student Pulications, covering Sidelines, Sidelines Advertising Policies, Collage and the Student Publications Committee itself, were passed unamimously during the meeting. Revisions for Midlander were considered, but a vote was delayed until a proposal to create a business manager possition for the yearbook can be considered. Concern over current Sidelines Editor-in-Chief Tony Stinnett's run for ASB President was one of the factors leading to the conflict of interest clause, Student Publications Adviser Jackie Solomon said.

"I had already intended to add a conflict of interest statement to the papers," Solomon said, "but what happened with Tony made the situation more pressing."

"Editors-in-chief and editors of student publications shall not simultaneously run for or hold a position of authority with the Associated Student Body," according to the revised operating papers.

"Position of authority means ASB president, speaker of the House of Representatives, speaker of the Senate, senator, any position appointed by the president, or members of the student court or election commission.

Other changes approved included clauses describing student publications at MTSU as "forums or media of expression for ideas," and as independant publications guaranteed First Amendment freedom," according to the papers.

MTSU's Collage won three awards and Midlander picked up one from among 13,578 college entries nationwide in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association's 5th Annual Gold Circle Awards program.

Collage Editor Hugh Shelton won First Place for Best Typography, Logos and Endmarks with his work on Collage Fall 1987, beating the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, who placed second in the competition.

"First Place won by Hugh Shelton is an indication of the Spring Collage that will be coming out soon," Student Publications Coordinator Jackie Solomon said.

"I think the Spring [Collage] will amaze and astound people," she said

Jim Ridley, a junior English/mass communications major, placed third in Best Poem with "Bad Magic," which appeared in Collage Fall 1987.

"I was proud of that award," Solomon said. "I selected that entry and I knew it could win and that it incentive," she said. could compete with any other college entry

"Jim Ridley is really a talented writer," Solomon said.

Collage Spring 1987 took Third Place for Best Cover Design. The cover was designed by Vince Buwalda, a senior sculpture major.

Student Publications Chairperson Charisse Gendron praised the "grass roots involvement" of Collage

"It's [Collage] a great outlet for creativity," Gendron said. "But it must get more incentive in order to stay alive.

Forum holds debate on political spending

By SEAN STEPHENSON Senior Staff Writer

A public forum debate on the topic of political spending was held Wednesday night by the MTSU Campus Forum to honor the bicentennial celebration of the U.S. Constitution.

Marla Deaton, a public relations major, and Victor Vale, a finance major, went head-to-head over the proposed Constitutional amendment that would "allow the Congress to enact laws regulating the amounts of contributions and expenditures intended to affect elections to federal, state, and local offices.

"We need an amendment that would allow Congress to make laws to limit campaign expenditures," Deaton said. "The millions that are spent on political campaigns lead to corruption in the political system that is dependent on large contributions. Voters would be no more educated by a campaign that spends $100 million than a campaign that spends $100,000."

Vale opposed this by saying, "We are here to discuss the intent by Congress to circumvent the Supreme Court and to discuss the intent by Congress to destroy the separation of power in our government as put into our Constitution by our founding fathers.

After Deaton and Vale made their views clear, the floor was then Gendron told the committee.

Hazelwood School District v Kuhlmeier, a case recently heard by the Supreme Court, gives school administrators control over content in school papers. While the Supreme Court's decision did not say university papers are covered, concern has arisen over the possible precedentset by the case.

One of the reasons the court sided with the administration in the Hazelwood case is that their operating papers didn't clearly define their purpose, Solomon said. Inserting this type of language clarifies the position of student publications in relation to the university administration. The job description for Student Publications Coordinator was also changed. The position, formerly called Student Publications Advisor, was moved from the control of the Mass Communications Department to a full-time administrative position last year. Meetings of the committee would be closed for discussion of personnel matters and votes on candidates for editorships according to the policy revisions. While the entire package was passed without dissention, this section was passed 3 to 1, over the objections of committee member Jerry Osborne. The revised operating papers must now be approved by Vice President for Student Affairs Robert LaLance Jr. and MTSU President Sun I-gra.

"Something must be done about campaign spending," Political Science Professor Thomas Vandervort said. "There's too much spending going on and too much corruption involved in politics. We hear everyday about politicians becoming corrupt by the process. If they are not corrupted when they start out, in order to get elected, they must become corrupt.

Again the floor was open to public debate

"I would like to make some statements both ways," Mark Davanport, an international relations major, said. "I kind of agree with the idea that maybe somewhere there is a limit as far as mnoney that can be spent. But I have serious problems with giving the Federal government any more power. The government can already do anything they want with the people of this country."

The debate ended around 8 p.m. with the final outcome being three persons for a Constitional amendment and 12 persons against one.

Though the turn-out was not what was expected, Dr. James Brooks, chairman of the speech and theater department, said it was a "quality crowd."

Brazilian student talks about life in America

By JILL McWHORTER Staff Writer

You sit in a crowded, noisy room. A professor enters and rapidly begins reading a list of names. You hear something souding like your name, and you hesitantly speak a word of acknowledgement. You feel stares and hear whispers, none progresses. You struggle to keep is just not enough.

There is no one to ask for help. You see no familiar faces. Confusion, loneliness, fear - these may be your only companions.

Pongracz Sennyey, a wirey, 22year-old with glasses, brown hair, and a toothy grin, is no stranger to this scenario.

Sennyey commutes 30 minutes every day to MTSU from Bell Buckle, humming along to Beethoven's finest played on his favorite classical radio station.

That short drive is nothing compared to the journey he made from his true home, Sao Paulo, Brazil.

In January 1986, Sennvey came of which you understand. Class to the United States to live with his grandparents in Bell Buckle. He up, but your grasp of the language came because he saw no future in Brazil. He was unhappy with his studies in business management at a university in Sau Paulo; he was unhappy with what he saw as a swiftly failing economy and a corrupt government in Brazil. When his father offered him the opportunity to come to the United States to study, he jumped at the chance.

Tim Cope®Staff

Pongracz Sennyey

Sennyey attended Motlow Community College in the summer after he arrived in the states. Then, in the fall of 1986, he registered for classes at MTSU

Here, this foreign student, now majoring in history, faced his toughest challenge - mastering the English language.

Sennyey calls the English language peculiar and cites an example: "Extensive use of prepostitions is characteristic of the language. Sometimes the prepositions are used without objects. You must memorize each individual case. In a health class I was taking, the instructor handed out questions. One question began, 'You go out with someone, and at a restaurant, this person lights up...' I looked at this and said, 'What in the hell is lights up?'

Sennyey solved this dilemma by asking a girl - not just any girl, but a "very pretty" girl - what it meant. He claims her eves got huge, but she politely pantomimed lighting a cigarette to answer his question Sennvey has not always been lucky enough to have a pretty girl help him out.

"I had to learn to be as creative as possible to fill in the blanks when I didn't understand what was going on," he admits.

Sennyey spent much of his time alone in the library. As he describes it. "I was a hermit. The library was my refuge. Library, library, library, library!!" For almost a year, all his free time was spent studying or flipping through magazines on his greatest passion, airplanes.

Sennyey now has a close circle of friends, and he is just as likely to be spotted playing a fierce game of "anything goes" ping-pong in the gameroom, as he is to be found buried up to his ears in books in the library.

George Wood, Sennyey's most frequent and feared ping-pong opponent, refers to Sennyey as an "objective, intelligent, honest and car#### ing person."

Amy Wilson, a senior psychology major, is most impressed by Sennyey's high sense of morals.

"He once told George and me that if you're around people with lower values, then you should try to bring them up to your level instead of going down to theirs. That's pretty good advice, I think," Wilson said.

How did Sennyey gain friends like these and break out of the isolation of the library?

"I risked it! It's tough. My salvation was having to do a group project in the classroom. I had no option but to speak. I made my first friendships that way," explains Sennyey.

It's not uncommon to see Sennyey hastily scratching down a new word in his ever-present calendar/ planner book for future reference. (He always writes with another "permanent fixture," a fountain pen that he refers to as "my mechanism.")

"It took me a year and a half to be confident in my ability to communicate. I've learned that there are huge challenges that with dedication, I can overcome," says Sennvev

After remaining in the United States for five years, he plans to apply for citizenship. His immediate family, still living in Brazil, wants to come to America as soon as his father's import/export company is thriving and visas can be obtained.

"I miss my family very much," says Sennyey. "We're very close, but I'm glad I'm here. After I graduate, I plan to teach history. Here, I would be able to make a living teaching. In Brazil having a teaching career would like begging for starvation."

Sennyey is looking forward to a promising future in America. He's left confusion, loneliness and fear behind in a cloud of dust. His future is growing brighter every day with his mastery of the English language, and new challanges are ready and waiting to be conquered.

He realizes there are other foreign students on the MTSU campus who may be having difficulties forming relationships.

"I would say to foreign students, 'Fight for it!' You have to overcome yourself, get some courage and open your mouth," advises Sennyey.

He says it's not easy to talk when your words don't sound the same as other people's. He has entertained many of his classes with his accent and speech patterns. He once confused his entire geology class with an odd pronunciation of "Chile".

"I see that people are just controlling themselves at times not to burst out in laughter. I don't care. I've never had anyone laugh at me to be mean; I've never seen that at all," comments Sennyey.

While he has never faced the sting of cruel laughter, Sennyey has found it extrmely hard to pursue love in the United States.

"Interpersonal manners are very different here than in Brazil. In Brazil, you kiss a girl on the cheek two or three times even if you've just met her. Here, that would be a great scandal. Thank God, I never tried to kiss anyone when I came here," sighs a relieved Sennyey.

American customs weren't the only things that baffled him, however. Many technological devices were mysteries to him when he came to the states.

In bathrooms, he could never quite figure out how to dry his hands.

There was this bloody machine on the wall that made this horrifing noise, and I didn't know what to do, how to shut it up or anything!" exclaims Sennyey.

Then there were the devilish Coke machines. Due to Brazil's poor economy, coins are not used. They depreciate in value so quickly, they are useless. Thus, Sennyey had never seen a Coke machine, or any other vending machine for that matter.

He was confused, to say the least. He could never determine which slot was intended for the money. Of course, the first machine ate his money, and he never knew if he had done something wrong or not.

Sennyey has overcome a number of small challenges in his brief time in the States; he has also overcome his toughest challenge - the language. Although he is still learning daily, he has already gained a rich vocabulary that could rival any poet's.

Ron Messier, director of the honors program and a professor who taught Sennyey in 1986, is impressed with his progress.

"Pongracz has done remarkably well with the language. Even when he first came here, he hardly ever made spelling mistakes, because he would always look the words up. His construction of sentences was different. Those problems steadily became fewer and fewer," observed Messier.

Messier says Sennyey's incredible enthusiasm and his desire to do things right - making whatever effort needed to do it - are the things that make him remarkable.

To those who live in glass houses

David Robinson Presbyterian Student Fellowship

Why do we love scandals so much? What gives the lives of Jim Bakker, Gary Hart or Jimmy Swaggart so much appeal? Apart from the fact that we live in a culture which thrives on the sensational, I think we enjoy these scandals because they give us a chance to throw stones Humans have always loved throwing stones. I can remember as a kid throwing rocks into rivers and lakes for hours and hours. As adults, we just learn more sophisticated ways of stone throwing.

The old saying, "sticks and stones will break my bones but words will never hurt me," is a bold-faced lie. Words have always had more power to inflict pain than mere rocks. And that's what stone throwing is all about - power.

We all feel powerless in certain harm

We fear being exposed. We fear death, the death of failure, shame, embarrassment or humiliation. That's why it's so appealing to us when someone else falls, especially a powerful celebrity figure such as Bakker, Hart or Swaggart.

Like living in a glass house and throwing stones, fear and power go together. Throwing words of condemnation and mockery at others is one way we deal with our own fears and boost our own power. We raise ourselves up by putting others down.

The only problem with stone throwing is that "what goes 'round comes 'round."

As a senior in college, I was living in the basement of a sorority house at the University of Washington in Seattle. While there, I worked as a cook assistant with four others.

One night we were talking in our room when we heard some frat guys talking out on the sidewalk. Suddenly, there was broken glass flying cure, invulnerable to danger or words of sarcasm at others, but how awful it feels when those same rocks break into our secure, cozy glass house.

> "He who lives in glass houses should not throw stones." Or as Jesus put it, "Let him who is without sin throw the first stone." (John 8:7.)

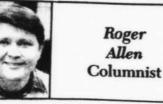

> In Jesus' day, if you were caught committing adultery, they wouldn't put you on the 6 o'clock news. They'd put you to death by stoning.

We've always loved throwing stones. And we've always needed to be loved, accepted and forgiven.

As Jesus said to the woman who had been caught in the act of adultery, "Where are they, those men who were going to stone you? Has anyone condemned you? Then neither do I condemn you. Go now and leave your life of sin."

To those of you who are stonethrowers at heart, may the personal failings and scandals of the Bakkers, Harts and Swaggarts in this world be a reminder of how great is our need for love, acceptance and forgiveness, and an incentive to return

Jackson must answer questions surrounding his presidential race

The Rev. Jessie Jackson has made more inroads in the American political process than most commentators and analysts believed possible six months ago.

Beyond the black vote, which Jackson has gained approximately 85 percent in every state in which he has campaigned, he is carrying a sizeable number of white voters as well.

After his tremendous showing in Super Tuesday, many observers predicted Jackson would go the way of Al Gore Jr. and be satisfied with that one day of constituent glory.

However, after Jackson defeated Gore and Mike Dukakis in Michigan, it seems that he has a real chance at the Democratic nomina-

It's a long road to Atlanta this summer, but because Jackson is gaining so much popular support it certain questions which, for some reason, the national media has not asked in any persistent fashion.

The first que 'ion is this, Jessie, why have you refused to deal with the obvious church/state question that your candidacy raises?

Given the fact that you are still an ordained minister; that you actively and unashamedly use the power of the pulpit to raise both money and votes; that your entire political coalition has been based on your popularity as a preacher (primarily to the black community), and that you seem to have no intention of changing or rectifying any of these situations, how can you possibly ask the majority of the American people for their votes?

Next question, Jessie, why do you have no problem at all with the fact that your candidacy has been built on the racial biases of black voters?

It is indeed an ironic twist in history that the Democratic Party has produced both the white, Southern, Dixiecrats of the 1940s, who had close ties to the Ku Klux Klan and the 1980s presidential candiis time for him to begin answering dacy of Jessie Jackson, a black man, a Southerner and a Democratic Party hopeful who has used race as a means of gaining political power.

When will the issue of race finally become a non-issue and allow for the color-blind America which is so long overdue?

Final question, Jessie, if you are elected president, will you continue with the far left agenda that we have all come to know you by or will you actually begin to make an effort to be the president of all Americans?

Unsanctioned conferences with Fidel Castro and Daniel Ortega may be in keeping with House Speaker Jim Wright's vision of a unified America, but how can Jackson, as a presidential candidate, justify such actions?

As president would Jackson defend the Constitution and thereby defend the America which it protects or will he make close friends with every Soviet-backed country in this hemisphere as his past record seems to indicate?

Jessie, you've got a lot of explaining to do. LETTERS TO

THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

It is funny how even though we are all constantly reminded of weighty world problems and beset with burdensome personal troubles it is often the little irritations that distract and bother us the most.

Consider my own personal little irritation. It is just a single sentence .. It is constantly before me but the irritation it causes does not diminish.

The sentence reads as follows: "MTSU is an equal opportunity, non-racially identifiable, educational institution which does not discriminate against the handicannated against.

The phrase "non-racially identifiable" is certainly not great prose. I get a mental picture of all the students, faculty and staff wearing masks to conceal their race.

Finally, why use 17 words when five will do? Doesn't "MTSU is an equal opportunity institution" say it all and imply even more?

My next problem with this sentence is that it appears on almost every piece of paper the university uses. Stationary, programs, catalogs tickets and newsletters all bear this messy sentence order to increase its black enrollment. I don't believe it is possible to recruit and keep track of minority students without identifying who is and who is not part of a minority group. Minority students have an office and administrator to see to any special needs and problems and that is not being "racially non-identifiable.

Then there is the question of equal opportunity for employment. The fact is that the university practices reverse discrimination against white males in its hiring. (Maybe that is why the sentence does no appear on job announcements.) So that's my problem, a poorly written sentence that appears on everything the university puts out and which is not even true. If our university needs to make a public statement concerning racism, sexism, discrimination, etc. we should at least do it in good, clean English. I would also suggest that such a statement be a true reflection of our struggle for equal opportunity and not some ridiculous disclaimer.

Well, boys and girls, I have something of true value to pass along today.

As many of you know, I have been coming down on Smith Hall a lot this year. I made some people mad and I made some sing my praises. However, I have good news to report.

Smith Hall has increased the security in the building tenfold by changing the locks on all the doors.

I am truly proud of the housing staff and administration. This is a costly process. The students and residents appreciate their consideration for our safety and security. I also would like to mention that the housing staff at Smith Hall had to put up with a lot of complaints from residents needing new keys. Gary Haverson had his dinner interupted by a resident looking for a new key. I won't mention any names, but I am sorry, sir.

Why would students complain about the increase of security? Most of it is laziness, some of it had to do with ignorance.

I heard one student get mad because the staff didn't tell him they were changing the locks. I don't think it makes a difference.

What does make a difference is the fact that housing is listening to the residents and the paper. I am not saying I had anything to do with this. In fact, I know I didn't. But, something was done in a spot that this paper had an eye on. And, journalistic ego aside, that makes all of us look good.

I am writing this piece because the students need to know more than the scandals

I don't like to hear people say that all I ever write are complaints and whines. I feel I owe this to the Smith Hall staff and to the residents that live there.

I feel more secure with my belongings and I now have a shiny new key on my ring. The fire extinguisher near my door is charged and the alarm system is on.

Perhaps I can keep my VCR, now

Why does this sentence bother me so much? Well, first is the very poor use of the English language. There is, for instance, the redundancy.

To have to say that the university is an "educational institution" seems pretty ridiculous.

It is a principle of legal and technical writing that specifically excludes those items not specified. Thus the phrase "which does not discriminate against the handicapped" may make the handicapped feel more secure, but it implies that there is some group that is discrimi-

This leads me to my last problem with this sentence. Is it really a true statement? Some of it is and some of it is not.

I do believe we generally offer equal opportunity to faculty, staff and students. But there are exceptions.

As the lights dimmed to start "Johnny Be Good," I basically knew what I was going to see. This was going to be a movie with a lot of #### surprised.

The movie centers around Johnny Walker (Anthony Michael Hall) who is the best high school quarterback in the nation. This claim is made in the movie by having Johnny break just about every record in the book for high school quarterbacks. Of course, he breaks all of these records in the championship game in his senior year.

So far, about 20 minutes of the movie has elapsed. For those movie goers who hate the sports action scenes, this is it for the entire picture. The rest of the movie deals with the recruiting of Johnny, Johnny getting caught up in a conflict between going to a big name university and to the local university with his girlfriend, played by newcomer Uma Thurman, and finally Johnny realizing he's being a real jerk and coming back down to earth.

The recruiting falls into the classical definition of stereotyping. There are coaches hanging out in Johnny's front yard, boosters trying to buy him off and agents ready to make deals. Of course, none of these people are concerned about the rules they are breaking and are stunned when they get caught in the end.

I realize I've been very critical

I have been fortunate enough to have two such ex- Hunter, Coming Home, Apocalypse periences: visiting the Vietnam Vet- Now, Platoon, and Full Metal Jackerans Memorial in Washington, D.C. and watching the made-for-Home Box Office special Dear nothing has moved me like the jux-America: Letters from Vietnam.

Dear America is powerful because of its absolute authenticity. It is both a chronology of the war of a real firefight; you see fear in a and a telling of the personal stories 19-year-old soldier's face as he fires of some of the men and women who served in it. Although there is some supplementary narration, the bulk of the program involves actors (who never appear on screen) reading letters to parents, friends, wives, lovers, against a backdrop of news footage, home movies, photographs, and the music of the time. Amazingly, none of the images were staged. The imagery is unforgettable, especially to a person like me, born in 1960. My knowledge of the war was a child's; I remember hearing body counts on the news, seeing pictures of bleeding men in fatigues in a jungle setting. No one in my For many Americans, Vietnam is family went; in fact, I was 22 before many of Hollywood's versions of Vietnam, including The Deer et, and have read Stanley Karnow's Vietnam and seen the PBS version, taposition of images in Dear America.

> In one section there is footage on his "invisible enemy." In another part a man writes about trying to identify the body of a friend, who has terrible facial injuries. The image on the screen is a blurry photograph of the dead man, taken some weeks earlier. The camera moves in closer and closer on his face as the story of his death is told. There is a home movie of a "party"; a nurse is writing about how the men just came in from the field, where they had no baths or clean clothes for weeks. In the movie, they are drinking beer and cooking steaks, behaving like normal 19year-olds. One of them is photographed standing naked in a doorway with a brew in hand and a grin on his face. I had to wonder where he ended up.

I was astounded by the eloquence of the letters, written in some cases by people who didn't even graduate from high school. I have never so deeply appreciated the beauty of ordinary speech used in the expression of heartfelt emotions. That people in such circumstances could write about the fear of death, patriotism, love, homesickness, the deaths of others, their own attitudes about the war, filth, violence, religion and compas-of this picture so far, so I'll get to some of the good things it offers. The one thing that sticks out is that with all of the stereotyping in the movie, Johnny's girlfriend was not the kind of girlfriend you would expect Johnny to have. She's not a tall bleach blonde with legs that don't stop. Thurman is down-toearth girl with quiet good looks. Thurman is surprisingly realistic and does an excellent job playing the dedicated girlfriend.

In addition, even though the recruiters and boosters are stereotyped, they are funny and offer several laughs.

Geo Gash, played by Robert Downey, Jr. is excellent as Johnny's sidekick, but very out of place as his back quarterback. His performance compensated for this casting flaw.

As an added attraction to the show, Howard Cosell and Jim McMahan appeared in cameo roles.

I give this movie two and one half stars soley because of the laughs it provides and there are several. As for the plot, it's so loosely put together that the viewer will have to fill in the gaps. Luckily, the plot is so common that this is no difficult task.

Messerly leads MTSU past Peay

By D. BRIAN CONLEY Senior Staff Writer

Mike Messerly provided three RBI's, including a towering tworun homer, and Scott Duff pitched a complete game victory as the Blue Raiders downed Austin Peay 6-3 Wednesday in Ohio Valley Conference baseball action.

Duff, 2-2, struck out six and allowed the Governors just five hits and two earned runs in the contest to put the Blue Raiders in a first place tie with Tennessee Tech for the OVC lead.

"The club came out to play," said first-year baseball coach Steve Peterson. "Scott Duff pitched a heck of a game. He was out of gas in the ninth, but I didn't want to bring Dave Richardson in."

"Dick Martin and Jay Owens both had big hits," Peterson added.

MTSU moved to 16-17-1 overall and 9-4 in the OVC Southern Division. Peay dropped to 13-17 and 5-8

Blue Raider right fielder Mike Young reached first base in the first on an error by Jimmy Waggoner and advanced to second on a Chris Whitehead single. Governor left fielder Kelly Lewis committed an error allowing designated hitter George Zimmerman to reach base. Messerly then hit a sacrifice fly to score Young.

After two scoreless innings the Blue Raider defense coughed up a run. Waggoner singled up the middle to begin the fourth and was caught in a rundown following a great pick off move by Duff.

However, shortstop Ed Pye dropped the throw by Messerly allowing Waggoner to reach second. Melvin Biankowski advanced Waggoner to third and reached first himself when Messerly dropped a throw.

Pitcher Cary Dunn, forced to hit after catcher Rob Dirks broke his hand during a play at the plate in the second, struck out on three consecutive fouled bunts.

Ken Hatfield then singled to left to score Waggoner and tie the game. But Duff got the next two Governors out to end the inning.

The Blue Raiders countered in their half of the fourth with three MTSU's only wins came at the number four and six singles positions.

Despite the loss, MTSU head coach Dale Short was able to see some positive aspects.

"I feel a lot better," Short said. "We lost to them 9-0 when we played them at their place."

MTSU's first victory of the day came at the number four singles position. Chris King, a junior from Marietta, Ga. and the Blue Raider captain, won in two sets, 6-4, 6-4.

"Chris is playing very well," Short said. "He has a good chance of winning the conference tournament at number four singles."

Freshman Chris Coffee was the only other MTSU winner, capturing a 6-3, 6-2 victory at number six singles.

Aside from the two wins, the victory. Blue Raiders struggled through their first three singles positions. Nick Sheumack dropped a 6-2, 6-1 match at number one singles, but faced an opponent ranked among top 300 players in the world. At number two singles, Ilmar Mutli lost 6-2, 6-4.

"He's struggling right now," Short said. "We hope to get him The MTSU men's tennis team back on track because he's the only senior on the team and we'll need Tennessee-Chattanooga Tuesday his leadership heading into the OVC tournament."

"He probably has the most talent on the team," Short said. "He's got the best credentials, he's just in a bit of a slump."

In the closest contested match of the day, Jeff Raper lost in three sets, 4-6, 6-4, 7-6 at number five singles. Raper had three matchpoint opportunities but couldn't pull out the win.

"Jeff has improved more than anyone on the team," Short said. 'With a little bit of confidence he'll probably win the OVC at number five."

UT-Chattanooga finished by taking two doubles matches from the Blue Raiders to round out the 6-2

Ruggers face Vandy, blank Colonels

Staff reports

The MTSU rugby club will play the Vanderbilt rugby club, reigning Mid-South conference champions, at the Vanderbilt rugby field in Nashville tomorrow at 1 p.m.

The Moosemen upped their season record to 2-4 with a 19-0 win over the Eastern Kentucky University rugby club last Saturday at the rugby field by Murphy Center.

Forwards Tony Neely and Zeke Duncan scored trys in the victory, and center Eric Raney ran one in for the backs.

Rookie wing Mickey Waldrop went three of four on penalty kicks and conversion attempts, accounting for seven points.

MTSU will be sorely tested this week by a Vanderbilt squad that has dropped only one game to a college team in the past two seasons.

Vandy relies on its strong pack, which boasts four All Mid-South forwards, to pound and wear down its opponents.

MTSU will counter with its strong backline which features All Mid-South players Chip Finley and Rainey (two trys, three assists), second season players Todd Jones (two trys), Mike O'Neill (one assist) and Ryan Reid (one try, two assists), and rookie sensation Danny Deal, who has three trys and one assist in his first four games.

Fleet-of-foot rookies Mike Lewis, Doug Corn and Waldrop, along with second season players Sean Keasler, Mike Williams and Spencer Woodall provide depth for the unit.

The MTSU pack is anchored by All Mid-South forwards Neely and Duncan and second year players David Greer and Conley Brown.

Rookies Stephen Brophy (190 lbs.), Tony Smith (240 lbs.), and second year player Dave LaFontaine (220 lbs.) have added-some much needed size, and rookies Bruce Thornton, Shane Moore, Tim Sikes, along with utility-man Macey Agee - who has started in three different positions so far this year - round out the core.

"Vandy is our biggest rival and I think we have a good chance of beating them this year," MTSU coach Mark Williams said. "It will just come down to who wants it more.'

MTSU dropped two games to the Commodores last season, a fight-marred 10-0 decision in the Mid-South tournament in September and a frustrating 30-6 loss here last November.

injury-plagued MTSU The women's tennis team lost their Ohio Valley Conference opener Tuesday; a 9-0 setback at the hands of perennial powerhouse Murray State at the MTSU tennis courts.

Hampered by injuries, the ladies were forced to default three matches.

Julie Laughlin, MTSU's number one singles player, is currently in a cast with torn ligaments in her ankle, forcing her to default her singles match.

At number five singles, freshman Bunny Donnelly (daughter of MTSU head football coach Boots Donnelly) was able to finish her. singles match, but couldn't compete in her doubles match because of an injured knee.

Donnelly underwent knee surgery over Christmas, and according to head coach Sandy Neal, it is questionable whether she will be able to play anymore this semester

Despite the loss, Neal was pleased with the way her team responded to the adversity.

"I was very pleased," Neal said. "Our girls had to move up in the playing order because Julie was out, and some of the matches were still close."

With the absence of Laughlin, Jennifer Rey moved to number one singles, Lynn Dillard played in the number two position, Jenny Herring played number three singles, Lianne Beck moved up to number four and Donnelly to fifth.

Murray State is the defending OVC champion and has returned every player from last season's outstanding team.

"We would all have to play at our very best to beat Murray," Neal said, "but they're not unbeatable. We played some close matches with them.'

Neal said that it would be difficult to sum up her team's conference chances because of the injury situation. Both Laughlin and Donnelly remain questionable.

"It's hard to say because we have so many with unsure injuries," Neal said. "Depending on the injuries, we could be competitive."

Win or lose, Neal is proud of her team and the things they have accomplished.

"This team has worked harder than any team I've ever had," she said. "They have worked hard both on and off the court."

One area in which the ladies have worked hard has been in the weight room. MTSU strength coach E.J "Doc" Kreis, according to Neal, has been "very helpful" in developing a weight program for the lady netters.

MTSU was slated to host Western Kentucky on Wednesday, but the Hilltopper netters cancelled the trip because of bad weather.

MTSU will continue their OVC schedule when they travel to Morehead State and Eastern Kentucky this weekend. Included in the trip is a match with the University of Cincinnati today at 2 p.m. in Richmond, Ky. The ladies will then come home to host Tennessee State on Monday at 2 p.m.

"We would love to see some folks come out and watch them play," Neal said. "It's a tough time for the girls with the injury situation and they could use some support."

football game B.F. Goodrich to sponsor spring

By TONY STINNETT Editor in Chief

For the second straight year B.F. Goodrich will sponsor the annual Blue-White spring football game to be held April 16 at Horace Jones Field at 2 p.m.

Last year marked the first time that a corporate dealer sponsored an MTSU spring game. The B.F. Goodrich tire company, pleased with the success of last year's game, decided to sponsor the annual event for the 1988 spring game.

"The press coverage that last year's event generated was very pleasing to the people from B.F. Goodrich," Larry Counts, president of the Blue Raider Athletic Association said. "We were also very successful in selling their products at LCAR [Larry Counts Auto Repair] and that was also a big factor in getting them to sponsor this year's game."

B.F. Goodrich made no hesitations in sponsoring this year's game. Last year it took the corporation two weeks to approve the sponsorship. This season the decision was made in two days. Counts is optimistic that B.F. Goodrich may sponsor the spring game for years to come. "The bottom line for keeping a corporate sponsorship is selling their products," Counts said. "We were able to sell a lot of B.F. Goodrich tires last spring. If I keep selling the tires I would like to think that B.F. Goodrich would continue to sponsor the Blue-White game," Counts said.

Counts came up with the idea of a corporate sponsor last spring and it has paid off for the MTSU athletic department. A lot of excitement was generated over last year's spring game. A crowd of over 6,000 was expected but due to inclement weather, a crowd of just over 1,000 turned out.

However, more than 4,000 tickets were sold and MTSU athletics still benefited.

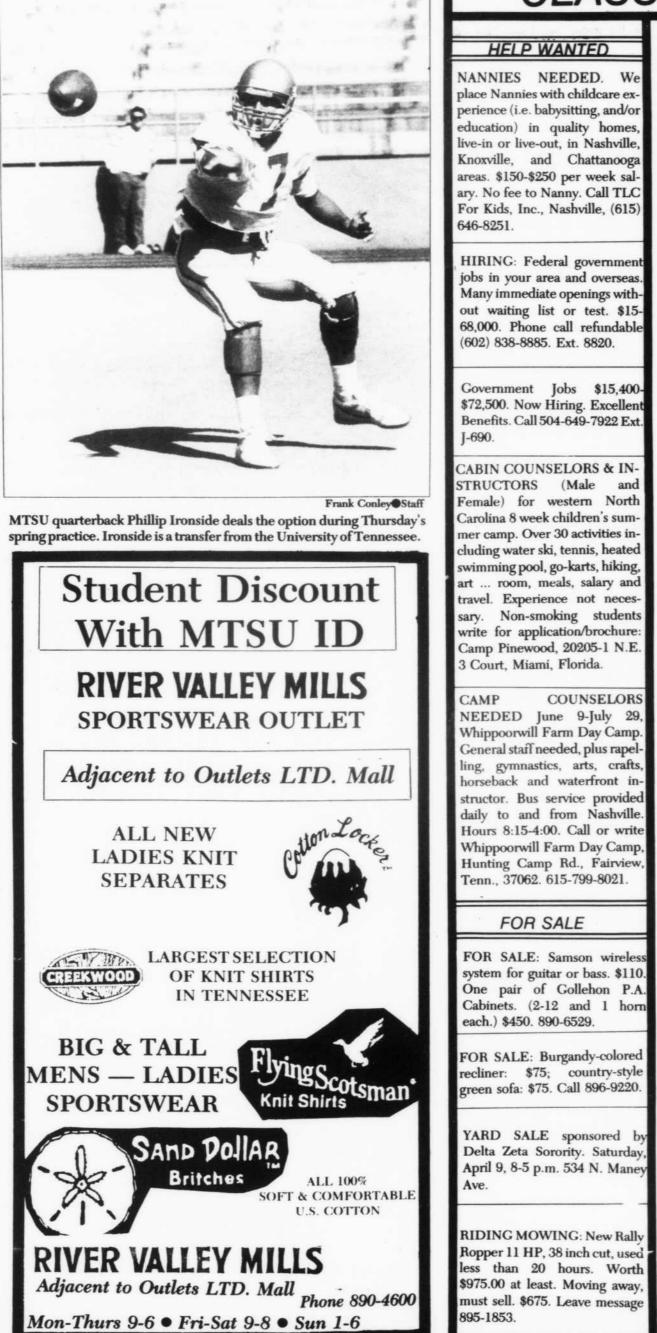

"I would like to see 6,000-10,000 fans turn out for this year's spring game," Counts said. "For a spring game that is quite a bit. I have been to Ohio Valley Conference football games at MTSU over the years that haven't drawn as many as 6,000."

In addition to the B.F. Goodrich Blue-White football game there will also be a barbecue competition on Friday, April 15 beginning at 6 p.m. At 8 p.m. the "World's Largest Disco Party" will begin. The world famous Leisure Brothers will be the highlight of the party. On game day, there will be a barbecue judging from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. At 10 a.m. fans will have a chance to meet MTSU athletes who have joined the pro ranks after leaving MTSU.

becue supper will be held. Tickets for the Blue-White game can be purchased at local banks, LCAR, the MTSU ticket office and

Graham wins golf tourney

Staff reports

The MTSU golf team competed in the Alexander City Jr. College Tournament last weekend at Still Waters Resort, Ala., finishing secand in the university division.

<sup>31</sup> cuniversity division was made up of nine teams and there was a junior college division, comprised of 14 teams.

Blue Raider Ron Graham, a senior from Nashville's Father Ryan high school, won the individual title in the university division, shooting an even par 216. Graham's three day scores were 76-

Ron's younger brother, Steve, a freshman, shot a 70 on the final day of play.

The Blue Raiders as a team shot a 289 on the last day, one shot over par. The performance was the team's best in several years, according to MTSU coach Walt Rogers. "We've been struggling, but we're getting better," Rogers said. "I'm always optimistic."

Jeff Cook, a sophomore from Chattanooga, also turned in a strong performance for the Blue Raiders.

Next week, MTSU will compete in the Morehead Eagle Classic at Kentucky Dam State Park. The Blue Raiders will compete along with six other OVC teams.

Comportant Memo: Next week, April 11-15, is SEE YOUR ADVISOR WEEK. This is your opportunity to get whatever advice and help you need to get squared away for the summer sessions and the fall semester. Mid-semester is his- tory, spring break has come and gone, and finals are not far away; why not do a little planning now and have more time later to enjoy the summer sunshine? The Summer Class Schedule which includes Ses- sion 1 (Intersession) and all summer sessions is available for pick-up on the first floor of the Cope Administration Building. Below are the course list- ings for the fall semester. Probably you know the courses you need, and if you don't, your advisor will	449 IND RELAT LEGISLATON 456 FINANCIAL MKT & INST 457 MICROECONOMICS 542 LABOR & HUMAN RES EC 544 INTERNATIONAL ECON 549 IND REGL LEGISLATION 556 FINANCIAL MKT & INST 600 ECONOMIC ANALYSIS 611 ADV MACROECONOMICS 647 SEM EC GROWTH & DEV 651 LABOR EC & IMOUS REL 662 RESEARCH METH ECON FINANCE 243 PERSONAL FINANCE 345 INVESTMENTS 347 MONEY AND BANKING 349 BUSINESS FINANCE 360 COMPUTER APPL IN E & 300 COMM & FIN FUTNES 421 FINANCIAL MKT & INST 556 FINANCIAL MKT & INST 567 FINANCE 350 GENERAL INSURANCE 350 GENERAL INSURANCE 3511 ELEM METH L ARTS 3113 ELEM METH L ARTS 3114 ELEM METH L ARTS 3115 ELEM METH SCIENCE 3110 ELEM METH	100 INTRO TO EARTH SCI 201 PHYSICAL GEOLOGY 302 OPT MINERALOGY 402 GEOMORPHIC REGIONS O 502 GEOMORPHIC REGIONS O 502 GEOMORPHIC REGIONS O HEALTH, PHYSICAL EDUCATION, RECREATION AND SAFETY HEALTH 231 COMM & PUBLIC HEALTH 310 EFFECTIVE LIVING 311 PERSONAL HEALTH 330 FST AID SAFETY ED 427 CURRENT HEALTH ISSUE 430 THE SCH HEALTH PROG 434 WELL-HLTH LIFE STYLE PHYSICAL EDUCATION ACTIVITY 100 TEAM GAMES & CON 101 FOLK & SQ DANCE 102 SOCIAL DANCE 103 ADAPTIVE PHYSICAL ED 105 ADAPTIVE PHYSICAL ED 105 BOWLING 110 KARATE 111 CASTING & FISH TECH 112 BACKPACKING & HIKING 114 GYMASTICS 115 BEGINNING BADMINTON 116 BEGINNING ARCHERY 117 RACQUETBALL 118 BEG AEROBICS 119 AEROBIC DANCE 120 WI TRAINING 121 BASKETBALL 123 TEAM HANDBALL 201 MODERN DANCE 202 GOLF 203 TUMB & TRAMP 204 SWIMMING (BEGINNERS) 205 ADAPTIVE PHYSICAL ED 206 ADAPTIVE PHYSICAL ED 207 INTERMED SUMMING 209 INTERMEDIATE TENNIS 210 HANDBALL 211 MASTEN 212 SCUBA DIVING 214 ADV LIFE SAVING	353L   LEGIN MONT PRODUCTIONS     623   CLINICAL MUTRITION     623   CLINICAL MUTRITION     624   CLINICAL MUTRITION     625   CLINICAL DIETETICS     INDUSTRIAL STUDIES   INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION     402   JOB ANALYSIS     403   COURSE CONST IND ED     404   ORG & MGMT OF IND ED     405   ORG & MGAT OF ADV CO     W0005   PLASTICS & CONST     213   W000 I     315   INTRO TO CONST     356   INTRO TO CONST     355   INTRO TO CONST     356   INTRO TO BAGING     824   WELDING     325   INSPECTION & GAGING     826   MFG PROCESSES & MATL     395   INSPECTION & GAGING     826   MFG PROCESSES & MATL     395   INSPECTION & GAGING     831   BASIC MACHINE SHOP     324   WELDING     325   INSPECTION & GAGING     845   ARCHITECTURA L DRAMING I     431   COMPUTER AID DRAFIN     432   COMPUTER AID DRAFIN     433	464   TECH OF RECORDING     465   ADV TECH OF RIM     470   LEGAL PROB REC INDUS     4A1   TOPICS IN RIM     470   IND FROBS IN N C     MATHENATICS   IND FROBS IN N C     MATHENATICS   IIO     110   CONCEPTS OF ARITH     121   ALGEBRA S TRIG     122   CALC & ANAL GEOM I     141   COLLEGE ALGEBRA     141   COLLEGE ALGEBRA     141   COLLEGE ALGEBRA     141   COLLEGE ALGEBRA     142   CALC & ANAL GEOM I     142   CALC & ANAL GEOM I     142   CALC & ANAL GEOM II     221   CALC & ANAL GEOM III     2221   CALC & ANAL GEOM III     223   MATH FOR GEN STUDIES     300   MATH FOR GEN STUDIES     301   CONCEPTS OF MATH     312   ELEMENTS LINEAR ALG     313   APPL STAT I     323   DIFF EQUATIONS     344   MGMT CALCULUS I     451   ANUMERICAL ANALYSIS I     452   NUMBER TACT ALGEBRA I     460   THEORY	520   PHOBLENS IN GOVI     521   INTERNATIONAL REL     523   POLITICAL THEORY     524   AMER FOREIGN POLICY     525   PUBLIC ADMIN     528   STATE AND LOCAL GOVE     530   COMP EUROPEAN GOVT     531   COMP EUROPEAN GOVT     532   PUBLIC OPN & PROP     537   AMER CONST LAW     626   ROGS IN POL SCI     PSYCHOLOGY   141     141   GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY     142   PERSONALITY     218   THINKING INTEL AND C     219   BRAIN & BEHAVIOR     221   PSYCH SOC BEHAVIOR     222   CHILD PSYCHOLOGY     332   IND & PERSONNEL PSY     333   ABNORMAL PSY     332   IND & PERSONNEL PSY     339   RESEARCH IN PSY     300   SEM GEN-EXPERIMENTAL     4018   PSYCH LAB     4017   PSYCH LABS     4018   PSYCH LABS     4017   PSYCH LABS     4018   PSYCH LABS     4019   RESIDENT HALL COUNSE <t< th=""></t<>
