"Annual Grant Of $110,000," Says Rumor

STC Will Get No Hike, But Receive Set Fund Yearly

State Board Approves Three Buildings Of Smith's List

Q. M. Smith's request for an appropriation of $137,000 for the school term of 1939-40, it was learned yesterday. Instead, from a reliable source, comes the information that make an annual grant of $110,000 without any impoundage.

Before this bit of news reached the campus it was expected that $27,000 hike in the budget. Under Gordan. the new plan, which is now in the hands of Governor Prentice Cooper, reports that she is well pleased Peake, Allene Moran; chauffeur, the school administrators will be certain of their help from the state, whole cast is working hard to make instead of the catch-as-catch-can it a success on Thursday night. plan in past years.

President Smith stated Monday that the board has approved three of the five buildings set out in his report to the board two weeks ago. Of the five, the men's dormitory and the educational building failed to impress the state bigwigs.

Approved were the Health Building, Student Activity Building and Ed Bell Reads

The board's o.k. is not a signal to start construction. It is merely a statement that STC should have these buildings. The final say lies with the state legislature. Sometime during their current session, the construction program of the Tennessee Educational Association will be brought up.

In this program, the TEA is asking for money for public school building. Should the assembly pass the bill, the three teachers colleges will each receive around $200,000.

To Writers Club

To Former STCan

On Thursday evening, January 19, Ed Bell, noted young Murfreesboro novelist, spoke to the Writers' Club and approximately one hundred guests in Room 69 of the Administration Building.

Mr. Bell said nothing about the ethereal theories of literature. On the other hand, he left the impression that his numerous short stories and his two novels, "Tommy Lee Feathers" and "Fish on the Stteple," have been well received because their language and their characters were human rather than idealistic.

Mr. Bell, formerly editor of the Side-Lines, is one of the few from STC who have distinguished themselves. He is at present employed as a feature writer on the staff of The Rutherford Courier.

Lack Of Politics Fails To Put Out Torrid Voting Session

Bedford County Rules In Soph Class, Three "Get In"

The election of the first congress of the Associated Student Body of the State Teachers College was held on Tuesday morning, January 24. The lack of politics and party cliques in no way checked colorful orations and torrid voting in the formation of this body, which will have a powerful voice in the activities of the students "from now on." The vote was conducted by classes in the usual maner with the standing vote being final.

As set out in the constitution of the student union, which was ratified on Tuesday, Jaunary 17, the Senior Class chose four congressmen, the Junior Class four, three for the Sophomore Class and two for the Freshman Class.

The following were elected "by the people" as their representatives for the remainder of the school

Freshmen Jean Thaxton, Manchester; Louis Lockhart, Sparta.

Evidence of a strong Bedford county clique, not thought to be political, is seen in the Sophomore class. All three candidates hail from that section. Murfreesboro and Shelbyville tied with representation according to towns. Two were marked up for each.

Louis Lockhard is the representative of the strong NYA group in the Freshman class.

In their first meeting, which is scheduled for Tuesday, January 31, at 10:00 a. m., the members of the body will decide upon their reguformer by Alvin Hawkins and the lar meeting dates. They will meet twice a month as set out in the constituiton. Special sessions may be called by the proper officials.

Problems For Congress

Contrary to popular thought on the campus, those students elected to the Student Congress have not been the recipients of solely an honor. It is quite possible that the legislators' duties will be the most difficult of any members of the student government. Many problems confront the student government which should be acted upon as soon as possible.

We Humbly Bow

The editorial staff of the "Side-Lines" takes this opportunity to make humble apology to the individual who was so kind as to remind us that what we needed was a person who could write, namely, himself. Not only was the paper written in grammar school language, he inferred, but it showed the touch of someone who was a cross between an idiot and an imbecile. Next, he took much time to display his wide command of the mother tongue by quoting unrelated passages and using unnecessary, stilted words, much in the manner of an adolescent boy asking you to feel the first blossomings of fuzz on his face in an federal hospital being built in Mureffort to convince you that he is of shaving age.

We had thought, until we were informed otherwise, that good writing consisted of saying a thing as simply and briefly as possible. Now we know better. In the future we will see that the Jones Hall Entered as second class mail matter, October 7, reporter does not say, "John Doe thumbed his way home and enjoyed the scenery." Instead, he will write, "The impecunious John Doe resorted to his superior manal appendage in securing a gharry to his natal domicile and ecstatically perused the picturesqueness of the kaleidoscopic panorama."

During the past two years there has been an increasing demand for the library to be kept open at night. Numerous students have expressed themselves as favoring the move. Several faculty members are contractors are bringing all their also in sympathy with the students.

Also in addition to this quite a few students work during the day to work with all union men from and can hardly find sufficient time for library work.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION RU-MORED AT LOCAL HOSPITAL PROJECT

Rumors have been circulating with increasing speed that all is not as well as it might be at the new freesboro. In the contracts which were let out for the construction of the hospital it was stated that all unskilled labor would be first obtained from Rutherford County as it was needed. Several of these contracts were given to Davidson County contractors for construction work to be done as they bid the most satisfactorily.

The rub comes, however, in the fact that local labor is being ignored to a great extent when such labor is needed. Instead of local men getting jobs which should be given to them rightfully as the contracts called for, certain of the own labor from Davidson County. This is hurting both the Rutherford County men who need the work so badly and likewise the town as a whole which would have received the benefit of wages being spent in this county.

Lack of a union organization in this county is the main reason for this rumored unfairness to local labor. The men that have obtained work from this county have had to take out union cards to enable them Davidson County. Prancing about with his military erectness, Mr. Davies continued his story. The Imperial Singers have made three previous tours of America and in March, 1929 appeared in Murfreesboro at the Training School. They have appeared in vocal concerts from Vermont to California since last October, traveling the 22,000 miles by special bus. A return trip are certainly giving it. Doris Hall to the United States is planned for the coming fall after they have spent the summer in Wales.

The "i-tems" on the program were announced by Mr. Davies in his clear sea-captain voice and with appropriate humorous asides. His hands, encircled at the wrists by frills, directed both the pianist and singers with quick decisive strokes or with tender rhythmic motions. "Only an artist," he said, "can render a simple song." In this connection he mentioned a comment made by the Honorable Lloyd George: "I have been familiar with these yours is indeed satisfied with the songs all my life, bu I have never really heard them before tonight."

The last number, "Ar Hyd Y Nos," sung in Welsh, was given, Mr. Davies stated, by special request of His Majesty, the King of England, at the last appearance of the singers in London.

Mr. Ellis P. Roberts, a native Welshman who is now a citizen of initial union dues so they can work Murfreesboro, when contacted, spoke of the musical ability of the Welsh people. > Bricks and Tiles Long Used Bricks and tiles were made in Virginia as early as 1612, and William Penn reported "Divers Brickerys going on" in his section as early as 1685. These reports would indicate that most of the early brick houses in this country were built of bricks made here and not from bricks brought over from the old country, as some narratives would have us believe.
