Hood Seeks Funds From MTSU Alumni

More than 8,200 MTSU alumni will receive a special plea from John Hood, Director of Development for the University, during the next ten days. This appeal by the Board of Trustees of the Loan, Scholarship and Development Foundation is for $50,000 that is needed before June 30, 1966 to supplement State appropriations for the next fiscal year.

According to Mr. Hood, all living alumni of the University are urged to "Get in the Picture" to meet a four-fold goal of support for the loans and scholarship program, the University library, faculty recognition and the establishment of a reserve fund. "Gifts from alumni and friends - each giving in proportion to his means and dedication - will help the University bridge the gap separating adequacy and excellence during this trying period of transition from college to University status," Mr. Hood emphasized.

Budgetary allocations to the four areas tapped for emphasis will be made on July 1, Mr. Hood pointed out, thus "putting the gifts into immediate action".

The Loan, Scholarship, and Development Foundation, established in 1962 has already enabled many students to continue a college education that governmental and other plans do not cover. Currently, about $100,000 is being used for loan purpose.

Military Ball Dated April 1

The annual Military Ball sponsored by the MTSU Track and Sabre Club will be held April 1, from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. in Alumni Memorial Gymnasium. Dress for the evening will be formal.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Lee Castle-Jimmy Dorsey Band. Tickets for the ball will be seven dollars per couple if the individual is not a member of the Track and Sabre Club. Club members will be admitted upon presentation of their membership cards and are allowed to wear their uniforms.

Membership in the Track and Sabre Club is still open. Military Science students should contact their company commanders after drill or come to the ticket booth to be set up near the supply room after drill each week. Membership cards are five dollars.

Miss Cathy Edwards, 1966 ROTC Queen, and her court will preside over the ball. The court consists of Miss Linda Lou Richardson of Columbia, Miss Ellen Goode of Nashville, and Miss Carolyn Crouch of Madison.

Dr. Parks Named To Head Intern Committee

At the request of Congressman Joe Evins, Dr. Norman L. Parks has accepted the chairmanship of the Summer Congressional Intern Committee for the Fourth Congressional District.

The first interns under the new program authorized by Congress will be appointed for the summer of 1966. The purpose of the program is to give students of government first-hand experience in congressional or administrative offices in Washington. A longer range goal if the program is to interest able young collegians in professional careers in the federal service.

The stipend for the three-months program will be $900. For the first year at least two interns will gain experience in the office of Congressman Evins. Others may be placed with the Civil Aeronautics Board. Though formal standards have not yet been set, Dr. Parks assumes that juniors, seniors, and graduate students will be considered. It will be an advantage if the student has taken the Federal Service Entrance Examination.

Dr. Parks has asked the following to serve on the committee: Dr. Arthur B. Duggan, Professor of Political Science, University of the South; Dr. Paul Stephenson, Professor of Political Science, Tennessee Technological University; and President Ernest Stockton, Cumberland College.

Keathley Lists Aid Programs

Under the provisions of the Federal Higher Education Act of 1965, almost anyone who will do so can finance his training for either the professions or skills at MTSU, according to Dr. Belt Keathley, Director of Loans, Scholarships and Student Aid at Middle Tennessee State University.

With the announcement that the National Defense Student Loan Program would terminate during June of this year, Dr. Keathley, along with colleagues from other state colleges and universities, has wired the representatives in Congress to continue the Loan Program as it has operated in the past.

However, Dr. Keathley explained that the Federal Higher Education Act in 1965 is designed to assist students regardless of their financial background. The act provides aid for those with a family income of less than $3,200 and up to those whose family income is not in excess of $15,000 a year.

Briefly, the provisions of the act, according to Dr. Keathley, provide for students as follows:

This program is designed for students from families whose income does not exceed $3,200 per year, in which families there is not more than one dependant child. The income may rise in graduated steps for each child in the family beyond the first until the maximum of $6,000 in income is reached by a family with seven dependent children. The Work-Study Program provides jobs on the campus at a rate of pay which will produce a substantial part of the student's expenses. The number of hours a student may work in any week in which classes meet is fifteen. During the Summer Session, some of the Work-Study students are chosen to work forty hours a week. These may not take classes while on the 40-hour schedule.

GRANTS

The Federal Government will provide grants to those students whose families have the most difficult time assisting them. These grants may not exceed one-half the assistance the student receives from other sources, excluding the Work-Study Program. In no case may a grant exceed $800.00.

Students Urged To Express Themselves

In the past few weeks, I have been very gratified to see so many students express their opinions in the SIDELINES on topics of current interest. I feel that such an open and thorough airing of opinions is vital in any attempt to solve problems, real or imaginary, in the minds of our students. Even though I am pleased by this response by so many people in taking advantage of an opportunity to express themselves publicly, I still feel that in some cases the desire to speak was not directed toward a readily definable subject.

In this particular case I am referring to the several articles on various phases of student government. I shall reserve any comments I may have to make on the fraternity issue until a later date.

As any good logician or mathematician will tell you, the first step in solving any problem must be to define exactly what the problem is. Some of those who have started a crusade to save the student government have gone ahead and provided answers without having bothered to decide what problem it is they are off to conquer. Others have said that the ASB doesn't need saving and have defended it on general principles from attacks which have yet to be launched.

It would seem to me that a good point of departure would be to decide exactly what a student government is intended to do. This question is one of the points at which opinion begins to vary and consequently is one to which each person must return before he can safely branch off into particulars. I do not intend to answer this question because, since it is a matter of opinion, each person must answer it for himself. Nevertheless, it is to be hoped that the view expressed by one of our contributors is not widespread.

It would seem to some that all the ASB is good for is to provide the hottest entertainment going. Heaven forbid if this is the case! I will proceed with the assumption that most of our students come to college with some other goal in mind than to be entertained. This is not to say that having fun is not a part of college life, but the importance of parties, shows, and other fun-time festivals should not be overstressed — especially in the realm of student government. To list accomplishments made by having entertaining events available for the students to enjoy as the major effort of a whole administration is to insult the intelligence of the student body. These things are a great compliment to the Social

THE STUDENT'S VIEW

By Paul Womack

The pursuit of political office and the benefits to be gained from winning such a position form a motivating factor in the lives of many people. The American governmental system is built on this factor as it is the people who elect leaders from a field of candidates. On a similar scale we find that student governments are organized with this same factor — the pursuit of political power. For this reason this column concerns itself this week with student politics at several schools around the country.

At Dumbwallace University an interesting study of campus politics may be found. The student body president at this school is George Flowers. President Flowers is a vibrant person and a powerful orator. He won his election last year with the help of Kappa Kappa Kappa — KKK — when he vowed to stand in the door of the KKK Frat house if the President of the School ever came around for inspection. After winning office, the test case came when the President of the University desired entrance into the house. The issue at stake involved the rights of students as interpreted by the School Administration, and the emotions of all concerned ran high. Flowers stood in the doorway and blocked the President's entry. Only after a company of students from the ROTC Department arrived to enforce order was the President then allowed to enter. Now, at election time, Flowers is ready to graduate but wishes still to wage the fight against Administrative domination. Having been accepted to the graduate school at Dumbwallace, we find that Flowers is backing his girlfriend in the race with the hopes that if she wins that he can control the student government from behind the scenes.

At Guanno College, their student President was deposed in a small revolt last week. He had driven to another school in order to mediate a dispute between that school and its archrival. Imagine his surprise when he reached his destination and found himself retired from public service. It is possible that this just might set a precedent for events like this to occur on the international level.

On this campus, we also find the pursuit of power is a prime vocation of many students. This writer, being in an ASB Senatorial position, has been involved in some of the "smoke-filled" room discussions that have taken place; consequently, this writer knows more than he would like to. This year the ASB Congress has been in the process of writing a new constitution. It was imperative that this document be completed before ASB nominations as quite a number of our most experienced and potential candidates would be affected by that archaic constitution we now have. It is quite possible that politics had something to do with this new constitution not yet being completed, but the student government has yet to complete action on this document and we find, therefore, that several candidates for office who have been quite active in student affairs since their arrival on campus almost three years ago will not be able to qualify for office. It would be impossible for this writer to draw the line between what was conscientious duty in this matter and

From The Desk Of The ASB President

In two days, on March 10, nominations will be held for candidates for the 1966-67 term of ASB President, Speaker of the House, Speaker of the Senate, and next year's Soph., Junior, and Senior Senators. From these nominees the students will select the students they wish to represent them for next year. After the nominations these people are open game for your questions — talk to them, find out what they want to do, make sure that they DESERVE YOUR SUPPORT AND VOTE. If you are not just a "griper" or a "good time Charlie" then show it by selecting the candidate of your choice and working for him. This year be an activist in the formation of next year's ASB Government. Earn your right to gripe.

There are copies of the election campaign regulations available in the ASB Office for all candidates. The ASB Election Commission will be the judge of all complaints concerning the elections (and ignorance of the election laws will not be considered an excuse).

Unless the line-cutting problem we now have "clears up," the ASB will have to take some positive action. We realize that those

LaRoche To Speak To Pre-Law Society

Mr. Richard LaRoche, prominent Murfreesboro attorney, will address the MTSU Pre-Law Club at its regular meeting Thursday, March 10. His topic for discussion will be courses and problems one will face in his first year of law school. Mr. LaRoche is a graduate of Vanderbilt University and is a partner in the law firm of Stegall and LaRoche which is located in Murfreesboro.

The meeting will be held in room 326 of Old Main and will begin at 4 p.m. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Let's give the rest of the students a break (and not in line).

CYD's Report Activities

BY CAROLYN KIRKHAM

With the upcoming Democratic primary here in Tennessee, the College Young Democrats are making plans for supporting, individually, the candidates of their choice.

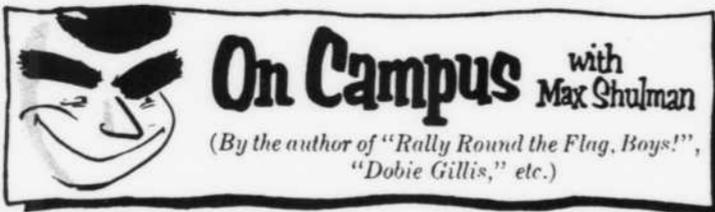

Mrs. Gene Bolin, club sponsor; Fisk Minton, current president; Bill Rutherford, immediate past president; and Beth Hudson, secretary; recently attended a Fund Raising Dinner in Nashville. Vice-President Hubert Humphrey was the speaker for the meeting.

The club is functioning as an open forum for any and all prospective candidates who wish to state their views and positions. Among those who have taken advantage of this opportunity are U. S. Senator Ross Bass, Nashville attorney John J. Hooker, Jr., and state Senator Frank Gorrell.

The club reaffirms that it will take no position in the primary in the interest of unity, but the individual members will, of course, be active in the various campaigns.

WAKE ME WHEN IT'S OVER

The trouble with early morning classes is that you're too sleepy. At late morning classes you're too hungry. At early afternoon classes you're too logy. At late afternoon classes you're too hungry again. The fact is—and we might as well face it—there is no good time of day to take a class.

What shall we do then? Abandon our colleges to the ivy? I say no! I say America did not become the hope of mankind and the world's largest producer of butterfats and tallows by running away from a fight!

If you're always too hungry or too sleepy for class, then let's hold classes when you're not too hungry or sleepy: namely, while you're eating or sleeping.

Classes while eating are a simple matter. Just have a lecturer lecture while the eaters eat. But watch out for noisy foods. I mean who can hear a lecturer lecture when everybody is crunching celery or matzo or like that? Serve quiet stuff—like anchovy paste on a doughnut, or steaming bowls of lamb fat.

Now let us turn to the problem of learning while sleeping. First, can it be done?

Yes, it can. Psychologists have proved that the brain is definitely able to assimilate information during sleep. Take, for instance, a recent experiment conducted by a leading Eastern university (Stanford). A small tape recorder was placed under the pillow of the subject, a freshman named Wrobert Wright. When Wrobert was fast asleep, the recorder was turned on. Softly, all through the night, it repeated three statements in Wrobert's slumbering ear:

1. Herbert Spencer lived to the age of 109 and is called "The Founder of English Eclectic Philosophy."
2. The banana plant is not a tree but a large perennial herb.
3. The Archduke Ferdinand was assassinated in 1914 at Sarajevo by a young nationalist named Mjilas Cvetnik, who has been called "The Trigger of World War I."

When Wrobert awoke in the morning, the psychologists said to him, "Herbert Spencer lived to the age of 109. What is he called?"

Wrobert promptly answered, "Perennial Herb."

Next they asked him, "What has Mjilas Cvetnik been called?"

Wrobert replied, "Perennial Serb."

Finally they said, "Is the banana plant a tree?"

"To be honest," said Wrobert, "I don't know too much about bananas. But if you gents want any information about razor blades, I'm your man."

"Well," said the psychologists, "can you tell us a blade that shaves closely and cleanly without nicking, pricking, scratching, scraping, scoring, gouging, grinding, flaying or flensing?"

"Yes, I can," said Wrobert. "Personna® Stainless Steel Blades. Not only does Personna give you a true luxury shave, but it gives you heaps and gobs and bushels and barrels of true luxury shaves—each one nearly as truly luxurious as the first."

"Land's sake!" said the psychologists.

"Moreover," said Wrobert, "Personna is available not only in the Double Edge style blade, but also in the Injector style blade."

"Great balls of fire!" said the psychologists.

"So why don't you rush to your dealer and get some Personnas at once?" said Wrobert.

"We will," said the psychologists, twinkling, "but there is something we have to do first."

Whereupon they awarded Wrobert an honorary L.L.B. (Lover of Luxury Blades) degree, and then, linking arms, they sang and danced and bobbed for apples till the campfire had turned to embers.

Closer Views Of Junior Class

A Senior View: "Poortrait"

Junior senator's defunct who used to ride a praise smooth-silver tongue and break onetwothreefourfive electionsjustlikethat

Quil it WAS a handsome class and what i want to know is how do you like your blueeyed boys Mister Constituent

I hope the readers of this article will forgive the aborted use of E. E. Cummings' poem, as a spring board into a subject which has caused this writer much distress. It seems that there is a strange phenomenon which has enveloped the Junior class. With the regularity of Dean Hampton's scheduled dorm meetings, the Junior class meets to nominate a new senator. Oh, don't get me wrong; I'm not opposed to frequent caucuses for the betterment of "democracy". In fact, the Juniors may have something, i.e., with more nominations more people get to take an active part in politics. However, mere congressional participation does not approach the complex duties of a senator, as many will attest. It involves responsibility, maturity, initiative, imagination, and a grade point average high enough to stay in office. I don't believe this is asking too much of the serious minded candidates. Or is it?

A casual observation seems to indicate that the absence of any one of the above mentioned variables could be the cause of the problem. Thus, it becomes incumbent upon the Junior Class to take more than a casual look at their potential leaders, and then make their choices wisely and with due respect to the office.

Letter From Jr. Pres.

To the Editor:

Unity may be defined as: "working for one cause." However, unity is a difficult thing to achieve. It is discussed by many people, but few understand how it works.

It has been said of our class that it lacks this thing called unity. I doubt that this is TRUE! Our class, the Junior Class, is not disunited in its goal. Our goal is to make M.T.S.U. better — to make student government better — and to be useful to the student body and to Juniors, in particular.

I do feel that we HAVE made student government better! For one thing our class certainly has the most experienced voters on campus. The Junior Class has cleaned its own door step—it has had an internal cleaning—one that, although it started in my class, will spread.

The Junior Class has labored under what some may term the "burden of honesty." However, I feel that it is no burden, nor responsibility, but rather a chance, an opportunity, to eliminate the petty politics from class government and A.S.B. government.

In the March 1st edition of this paper, Senator Black had a column or article in which he took about three running starts at the waters of truth, and chickened out every time. He stated that A.S.B. government had done big things. He hinted that he would list these. All he could come up with was big bonfires, big pep rallies, big fun nights, big name entertainment, and pep bands for the ball games. Well, Senator these are the things that A.S.B. government is criticized for — not that they are not appreciated — but they are not the product of a responsible government, but of a good social director.

Now, he asks the students to tell him exactly what to do. Well Senator, it certainly is one heck of a temptation to do just that.

The Junior Class is open to inspection by anyone — our officers, our goals, our means of achieving them, and our accomplishments.

Also, in the last edition was a letter by Justice Freeman. I felt that he had something to say—that he dealt with fact. However, I feel that it could better have been said on Monday night, January 17, at 6:00 p.m. It would have reached its audience at that time.

I can only wonder about the other classes. Could they pass such an inspection as the Junior Class welcomes. I wonder, too, if the people who joke about the "cleaning" that has taken place in our class are not, in reality, afraid that the "cleaning process" may spread to their class.

And finally, I will concern myself with President Wakeley's letter. As a Junior, Mr. President, and only on my own behalf, I accept your apology. However, I find your explanation lacking and unacceptable. I think that the corrective action needed to prevent a recurrence lies in other hands. I hope the Junior Class will show the way to A.S.B. by undertaking that obligation.

There is a cleaning process spreading on this campus—a disease to some — a disease known to man as honesty; there is no cure.

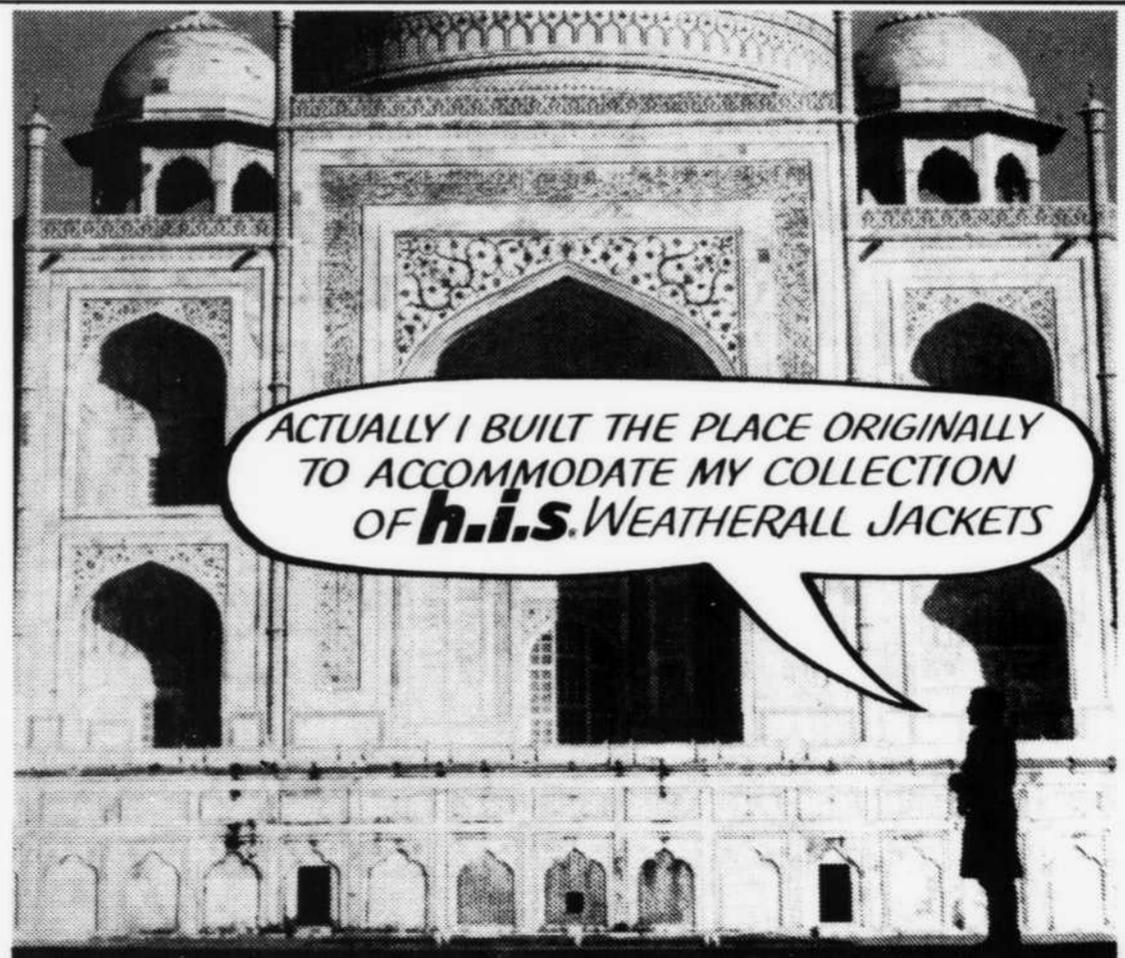

With every good wish for better government I am sincerely,

Tom Foster,
President, Junior Class

Juniors Defended

I, too, "am a Junior, and I, accordingly, am not without blame" for the problems that have confronted the Junior class. But I do not feel that the Class of '67 will go down in history as the "unknown Class of '67"! Furthermore I do not feel that the Junior Class has been brought to its knees by the personal gains of a "select few." To say this is to disregard the successes and the many accomplishments that the Junior Class has made. Can anyone truthfully say that an unconcerned class is capable of assembling a unified float such as the one which captured 1st place in this year's Homecoming Parade? If the "silent" popular opin-what was politically imperative, for the two are often intertwined and inseparable. However, such is not the point we would like to make. The issue is that some of us in positions of leadership in the Student Government have failed in a most vital matter, and having failed we should admit to such. This writer, for one, admits such.

use on college expenses. These loans will draw interest not to exceed 6% and will fall due after graduation, at which time the graduate, while working, will repay his loan to the bank over a long period of time. The interest on such loans will be paid by the Government while the student is in school, and will subsidize 3% of the loan thereafter.

Middle Tennessee State University will package the three forms of aid described above, together with its own campus work program in such a manner that the neediest student could have provided for him all his college expenses in one package. Less needy students could have their families' efforts aided by one or more of those aid programs, while more affluent families could resort to the Guaranteed Loan.

Not enough aid is available for all who apply, so the most needy and worthy cases will be cared for first at MTSU. The committee which makes the award and loans will find it difficult to provide aid for the family whose standard of living is so high there is nothing left for college expenses. On the other hand, a fairly high income family which has had long term illnesses, hospital expenses, and such drains on income, could qualify for aid.

ion is such that many ideas and suggestions have gone unheeded, is this not the fault of those who have failed to voice these opinions or who have not taken an active part in class activities. Looking closely, can we not find this same problem present in other elections as well as in campus-wide activities sponsored by our Associated Student Body?

Although the Junior class has been confronted with numerous circumstances beyond their control, these officers were elected and installed in good faith, their own faith and the faith of you who elected them to the respective offices. Only a few of these may have sought office for personal gains or ambitions, because it certainly cannot be said that the Junior class is lacking interested and experienced leaders. Tom Foster has done a commendable job in leading our class through a year of active participation in campus-wide Associated Student Body activities.

Releasing anxieties and frustrations by beating on old cars was a "smashing" method of raising money. Who can overlook the outstanding leadership so dependably shown by Wilson Bomar who has well represented the Junior Class in the ASB Senate.

I now challenge you to take a second look at what the Junior Class has done this year and to await more upcoming spring activities such as the Junior-Senior Prom, Holiday Week-end, the Gruesome - Twosome contest, and Junior Week all to be sponsored by the Junior Class.

Committee and represent a successful effort, but when they are stressed above other matters in reference to an entire student government or to a legislative body, the whole idea fades into shades of the ridiculous.

Another question which must come near the first in attempting to solve problems of student government - student body relations is that of apathy. This problem has been referred to often in recent letters in one way or another. Others have attempted to find where the blame for this situation lies. This seems to me to be slightly irrelevant at this point. Even if the answer could be determined, what difference does it make? The fact exists that there is apathy and something must be done about it. The problem of where it all started is like trying to determine "which came first, the chicken or the egg?"

Still others choose to speak in vague generalities. Saying "I believe in good student government" or "I hope we can settle the differences which divide us" means absolutely nothing. It would behoove us first to decide what we believe good student government is and give concrete examples to back up that belief. We must also decide what differences there are which divide us and why they exist.

In seeking answers to the questions which have been posed in the past few weeks, I hope that the SIDELINES can be instrumental in presenting opinions, ideas, and facts to the students for their consideration. Perhaps in so doing an interest can be rekindled in those who might have felt that their opinions would not be welcomed or that it wouldn't do them any good to express their ideas anyway. I would like very much to hear what some of our other students think on these subjects or about any other problems which would bear a good discussion. Why not write a 'letter to the editor' or speak to your elected ASB officials about them?

As most of you no doubt have noticed the SIDELINES bears the name of the "VOICE OF MTSU," but did you ever stop to think that there can be no voice unless there is someone who will speak? Why not let that somebody be you? — you're no ventriloquist's dummy, so why not speak for yourself!

On Thursday, March 10, the junior class will once again go to the polls to elect a new Senator to fill a position which has now been vacant for quite a while. The class met recently to hold renominations after the last election's results were contested. The same students who were on the ballot in the contested election were again nominated. Candidates are Nelda Mantooth and Paul Landers with a vacancy on the ballot for a write-in candidate. The polls will be open from 8 to 4 o'clock and juniors are strongly urged to turn out and vote!

Excerpts From Smoker Classification Manual

By WILLIAM JOHN ALLOWAY
Of the countless types of smokers, there are four predominate types which make their habitat the campus of M.T.S.U. One of the more easily recognizable types is the "Red-cheeked, Tar-stained Sneak" which customarily is found haunting the rooms and halls of Old Main. With his fuming instrument cleverly cupped in his right palm, the "Sneak" may be seen furtively puffing upon his "fag" in a dark corner under cover of his jacket where he cleverly exhales the resulting vapors through his cable stitched sweater which effectively disperses the tell-tale smoke.

The next type is the "Tight-lipped, Butt-floor Stamper" whose "modus operandi" is to hold the cigarette rigidly between the middle and index fingers by its "butt" and inhale and exhale without apparently moving lips or chest. This projects the image of a Nazi, SS officer inspecting his troops, which is considerably heightened by the symbolic significance of ruthlessly crushing the butt under the heel and permanently into the floor.

The "Quivering, Yellow-toothed Quaker" usually produces mild convulsions (technically known as "nicotine fits") which are alleviated by smoking and are notably similar to epileptic seizures, except mouth-foaming is replaced by a hacking cough. If a "fag" is not administered, the individual will soon go into a cataleptic trance from which there is no awakening.

Similar to the above-mentioned types, is the "Long-stemmed, Ivory-holdered Vamp" which can frequently be observed in the "T" room holding court for the adoring masses. Her style is quite similar to that of the B-grade Movie stereotype of the "Exotic, Russian Countess in Exile", though not quite so polished a performance is given.

Frisbee Game Rained Out

The MTSU - Vandy Frisbee game was postponed Saturday because of rain and high prevailing winds from the Northeast which made it impossible to play the game. The game, which may prove to be a decisive one for the Southeastern Conference, will be played on Vandy's Frisbee field this coming Saturday, if the turf dries in time and if the South Paddock golden posts, which were struck by lightning, can be repaired by game time. If MTSU wins over Vandy, they will have five straight wins to their credit, and with two other remaining games:

Hayes Lists Big Track Schedule

Coach Dean Hayes has released the most attractive track and field schedule ever slated for MTSU. The Blue Raiders will meet some of the nation's toughest competition this season. Dual matches include Tennessee Tech, Austin Peay, Western Kentucky, Vanderbilt, and Tennessee A&I. The thinclads will also participate in such outstanding events as the Florida Relays, Kentucky Relays, Piedmont Relays, Memphis Relays, Kansas Relays, Indiana Relays, Drake Relays, TIAC, Ohio Valley Conference Championships, and three NCAA meets.

Whaley To Be Assistant Coach In '66

Gary Whaley, a former stand-out end for MTSU's football team, has been named an assistant football coach for next year. The Sevierville native will work with the offensive line and defensive ends for the Blue Raiders. Whaley won four football letters with the Raiders from 1960-63. Although small (165 lb.) for a defensive end during his playing days, he was considered one of the best in the Ohio Valley Conference. His twin brother Larry was a halfback for the Bluemen during the same period and is now coaching in Atlanta.

For the past two seasons Gary has been a graduate assistant on the Raider staff, coaching the defensive ends.

Coach Charles "Bubber" Murphy, Ohio Valley Conference "Coach of the Year" in 1965, said of Whaley, "We feel he will be an excellent addition to our staff. He knows our system, and has been a big help to us for the past two years as a graduate assistant. Gary is a fundamentalist and hard worker."

Whaley will be an instructor in the department of health and physical education in addition to his coaching assignment. His new duties begin next fall.

Murphy's other members of the football coaching staff are Joe Black Hayes (defensive line), Terry Sweeney (defensive backfield), and Don Lear (offensive backfield).

Coach Buck Bouldin and John Prevost were among the elite group participating in the Southern Mens' Indoor Tennis Tournament at Sewanee over the weekend.

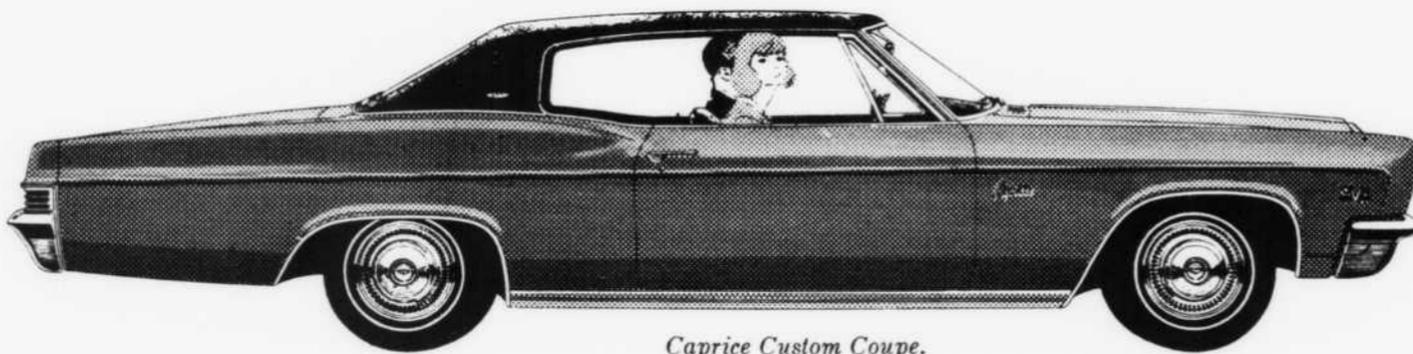

The Blue Raider golf team has decided to play in the LSU Invitational Tournament this season rather than the All-America Tourney at Houston. This will be the Raiders' first appearance at LSU. Coach E. K. Patty, whose Raiders won the NCAA College Division Championship in 1965, will enter a freshman and varsity team at LSU.

Although the track and field indoor season has been in progress for better than a month, the MTSU tennis team will be the first to officially open the Spring sports program. The netters meet the University of the South at Sewanee next Monday, March 14.

Coach Charles "Bubber" Murphy's Spring football drills will begin at a later date this year than ever before. The gridders will take the field on March 28 for the 20-days of workouts.

They're Off And Running

by Cheryl Allen

Some people tend to think that just because basketball season is over that things will get dull around here. Nothing could be further from the truth. We are about to be thrust into the midst of a season that is more rigorous than basketball and dirtier than football — campaign season. There will be several profound changes which will occur during the weeks of elections.

First of all, many people will have literally green complexions. These are the ones who wanted to run for office but whom nobody nominated. As the campaigning progresses, these persons gradually disappear and turn into fine campaign managers.

The usually tidy, unlittered campus of MTSU will become a haven for signs, banners, and posters. There will be clever signs, corny signs, and informative signs, each designed to get the "right" guy into office. Every door, bulletin board, and tree in the immediate vicinity of campus will be adorned with some slogan or another.

Speaking of slogans, never are there so many wise guys around as there are during election time. EVERYBODY has a winning slogan . . . ignorant though it may be. (The nominee must use all slogans submitted or else think of all the support he would lose.)

As posters are painted and speeches are written and rehearsed, everyone awaits the final results. Exhausting efforts are put forth by all people concerned. I wonder if one can letter in politics?

SCU Meeting Hosts Mormon Missionaries

By DAVID MATHIS

Last Wednesday night two Mormon missionaries, Elders Cannon and Eldrickson, had charge of the Student Christian Union meeting. A very informative film was presented on the "Mormon Pavilion at the World's Fair."

Following the film the two missionaries attempted to explain the doctrines of their religion to the MTSU students present. After the discussion, which involved the Mormons' history from Joseph Smith to the present-day form of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, a question-answer period was held.

The questions along with the previous discussion brought forth many interesting beliefs of the Mormon religion. The BOOK OF MORMON was completely discussed with emphasis on its composition and beliefs. Many students acquired this book and pamphlets at the meeting for further study. If one so desired, a personal visit from Cannon and Eldrickson would be extended.

When Joseph Smith was fourteen years old, he began to ponder on which church he should join. After retiring to the seclusion of a wooded area, he "saw two personages, whose brightness and glory defied all description, standing in the air saying 'This is My Beloved Son, Hear Him!'" Smith learned that he should not join any of the present churches for "they were all wrong".

Later the angel Moroni appeared to Smith relating the presence of a lost book written upon gold plates which is now known as the BOOK OF MORMON. Thus with this vision and this book began the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Many "Mormon" beliefs were presented in relation to and/or in opposition to other Christian religions present. A few of these ideas include baptism by total immersion, baptism for the dead by the living, salvation after death, use of the Bible in the "Mormon" church supported by the BOOK OF MORMON, and eternal marriage. This faith also has fasting for the poor in order that all men should be equal in material wealth and believes that "Adam fell that men might be" and "men are, that they might have joy".

The Latter-day Saints are a practical and happy people. The SCU is very fortunate to have had these men to explain their religious beliefs and thus broaden our scope of understanding on the subject of religions. The Cumberland Presbyterian Church Group sponsored this program on the "Mormon" faith.

Coeds Observe Home Ec Week March 6-12

The Tennessee Home Economics Association has declared March 6-12 as Home Economics Week. During this week, the attention will be focused on happenings in the field of Home Economics. Home Economists, home economics students, and others interested in this field of study will be observing the week in various ways.

The MTSU Home Economics Chapter observed Home Economics Week by presenting a spring fashion show Monday night, March 7. The fashion show featured the latest spring fashions from Goldsteins Department Store. Mrs. David Baker, fashion co-ordinator at Goldsteins was the narrator for the program. The fashions were modeled by members of the campus organization. Those co-eds who served as models were: Martha Lunn, Kay Meeks, Emily Nicholson, Mary Dodd Mifflin, and Brenda Sue Womack. Among the styles of fashion modeled were: swim suits, shorts and slack sets, campus wear and street wear.

After the fashion show, each chapter member was given a copy of the new constitution for consideration.

Staceys Hold Reunion At MTSU

It is a family affair for the Hugh Stacey family of Lewisburg at MTSU. Four brothers — Hugh Jr., Dwight, Kenneth and Ray — are currently enrolled at the University.

There have been families who had more children attend the school, in one instance as many as seven, but it is believed the Staceys set a record when Ray enrolled as a freshman industrial arts major this year, joining seniors Kenneth, in industrial management, Hugh, a biology major and Dwight, a pre-pharmacy junior.

Kenneth, who is married to the former Betty Bivens of Lewisburg and Hugh, whose wife was Betty Elaine Adair of Lynnville, live in an off-campus housing development.

All of the young men are graduates of Lewisburg high school where they were outstanding athletes.

The faculty recital of Milton Ryan, violinist, will be held on Friday evening, March 11, at 8 o'clock at the Women's Club auditorium, 221 East College Street, in Murfreesboro.

John Prevost, a sophomore from Hollywood, Fla., has been re-elected captain of the 1966 Blue Raiders' tennis team. Prevost played the number one position for Middle Tennessee State University in 1965 and led his team to a 11-4 record.
