Former Student Returns From Peace Corp Tour

MTSU has participated in the federal government's relatively new Peace Corps program through many of the college's previous students. Peace Corps workers of the past as well as the future find their way to the college campus.

A former MTSU student has returned to the college this semester to compile work on his B.S. degree after spending two years working with the Peace Corps.

Hal Hardin, 23 of Hendersonville, served in Columbia, South America for around two years with the Corps. After receiving his training at the University of Washington, Hal began work instructing a destitute village toward rehabilitation. Along with his primary job of serving the village, Hal spent much of his time teaching school.

He has found that the hardest task after returning is assimilating into the American culture again. Hal stated, "Adjusting to the people around me, this way of life, and studying are my primary goals now."

Norman Miller Dies In Weekend Accident

Norman Miller, 19, Knoxville, a freshman at MTSU, was killed Saturday night when struck by a car on Highway 70 just outside the city limits near Lebanon. Miller was the fourth MTSU student to die under tragic circumstances during the school term. He was the son of W. B. Miller of Knoxville and a transfer student from Tennessee Wesleyan College.

Injured were Elmus Clyde Fite III, 18, Murfreesboro and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fite. He has multiple compounds of both legs and head injuries and continues in critical condition, and Jeffrey S. Henry, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Henry of 1703 Elrod Street in Murfreesboro and a sophomore at MTSU. Henry has a broken leg and is listed in fair condition. Malcom Ed Gresham, 1330 Dianne Street, escaped injury in the accident. James Byars, 21, a Tennessee Tech student was also injured.

The boys were returning from Cookeville where they had attended the Regional Basketball Tournament finals when they were attracted by an overturned car and boat along Highway 70.

The youths had stopped to render assistance to persons in the overturned car and were about five feet off of the highway, according to witnesses, when a car driven by Joseph Ash, 30, Lebanon tree surgeon crashed into the group. Ash has been charged with second degree murder, according to Baxter Key, Attorney General.

Graveside services for Norman Miller were conducted at 2 o'clock on Monday at Greenwood Cemetery.

Davis Rifles Earn Invitation To Annual Festival

The excellent performance of the "Sam Davis Rifles" in the Crewe of Grela Mardi Gras Parade on February 27 received the high praise of Mardi Gras officials and earned a standing invitation for an annual return engagement.

The Drill Team, the pride of the MTSU ROTC Department, was an Army entry in the parade sponsored by the Gretna, La., Army Recruiter's Office. In addition to receiving high praise, the team won, as an Army entry, the trophy for the best military performance. Also competing for this trophy were regular Air Force precision drill units and Naval units.

The Drill Team Commander, Cadet Paul Landers, assisted by Cadet Edward Alexander, put the team through the paces on the seven-mile parade route to the Queen's reviewing stand. Approaching the reviewing stand singing the MTSU cadence, climaxed by a "perfect" rifle throw, a five-minute precision drill exhibition was performed for the Parade Queen and judges.

The trophy for the best military performance was awarded to the "Sam Davis Rifles" and the Army recruiter by Mayor White of Gretna at the Crewes of Grela Carnival Ball on Saturday night, February 27th.

SPRING HOLIDAYS

Spring holidays for MTSU will be observed Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 15-17 according to the announcement made last week by Dean Howard Kirksey. Also April 9 will be observed as a holiday for faculty and students who wish to attend the Tennessee Education Association meeting in Nashville. Classes will meet on Saturday, April 10.

Business Club Seeks National Frat Recognition

Psi Kappa Alpha Club has been organized at Middle Tennessee State with the plan to eventually affiliate with Alpha Kappa Psi, national fraternity for men students in accounting and business administration.

James Douthitt, a national officer in Alpha Kappa Psi and a member of the MTSU faculty in the school of business and industry, is sponsor of the new club. Between 50 and 60 eligible students have applied for membership.

In an organizational meeting Tim Shannon of Greenbrier was elected president. Charles Minton, Nashville, was named vice-president. Other officers are Jerry Walker, Watertown, treasurer; Hank Holderfield, Nashville, master of ritual; Don Hoover, Nashville, director of public relations; Billy Harmon, Manchester, w ar d e r, and Don Thornberry, Nashville, chaplain.

The Business Education department already has a national educational fraternity, Pi Omega Pi, on campus.

Lets Buy A Tooth

Little did John Furgess, MTSU student, know that he would receive a punch in the face when, in a most gentlemanly manner, he attempted to retrieve the Raider's hat at the Tennessee Tech basketball game in Cookeville several weeks ago. Even moreso, little did he know this display of school spirit was going to cost him the loss of a front tooth. Nevertheless, it did.

It looks as if John, in an endeavor to preserve an MTSU tradition, will now have to sacrifice for the sake of standing up for his fellow students. That is, unless we as a student body express to him our appreciation for his actions.

The friendliness our campus is so well known for now has a chance to prove its merit. Various clubs and organizations on campus have expressed to John a desire to help him out with the finances of a new tooth which have been estimated at $150. Now the student body also has a chance to help.

A jar for donations of any amount will be placed in the lobby of the SUB tomorrow (Wednesday) for the purpose of paying for the cost of the tooth. Student leaders are asking those interested in helping their fellow students to please give.

This is the real spirit of Middle Tennessee State University.

A Lady Pioneer In Education Dies

One of the nation's most distinguished educators and a pioneer both in the area of health and physical education and among women in administration died at the age of 95 in a Murfreesboro Rest Home last week.

Miss Jeanette Moore King was the author of the bill that established at least one high school in each county in Tennessee. She was served as one of the first superintendents of education in Tennessee and was appointed as the first director of physical education, health, and sanitation at the old Middle Tennessee Normal (now MTSU) by President R. L. Jones. She later taught at Peabody College and in Alabama.

She began her teaching career in 1887 in the Pima Indian Reservation in Arizona and closed it on the Cherokee Reservation some 20 years ago.

Miss King's career as a pioneer in women's education is the theme of "Light From Many Candles", a book by Lucille Rogers.

The daughter of the late Charles H. and Ann Wood King she was educated at the University of Nashville, Peabody College, Columbia University, and studied under the famed Dr. Dudley Sargent at Harvard University.

MTSU Forensic Team Concludes Its Most Successful Season

The Middle Tennessee State University forensic team has concluded one of the most successful seasons in history and is now aiding the university in preparation for the State Speech Tournament to be held March 27.

The squad and individual speakers added seven trophies to the display case in the Dramatic Arts Building. Contributing to the hardware collection were the members of the debate squad which finished the season with a 69-46 over-all record, including first place wins at the Western Kentucky, Carson Newman and Tennessee Wesleyan Invitational tournaments, a second place at the MTSU tournament and third at the Southern invitational at Birmingham. The teams of Eichelberger and Marshall and Freeman and Cioffi were defeated in five rounds of debate in one tournament. Meyillan Judd won the third best judge of debate in a tournament. Jackson and Eichelberger made up the top team in the Tennessee Meslyan meet. Miss Judd and Miss Marshall have been winners in individual events.

June Graduate Passes CPA Test

David Leon Hudgins a June, 1964, graduate of Middle Tennessee State College successfully passed all subjects on the November, 1964 examination for certificate for a Certified Public Accountant. Mr. Hudgins will not be able to receive his certificate, however, until he completes two years experience in the accounting field.

E. W. Midgett, head of the business education department at Middle Tennessee State University, said that Mr. Hudgins' accomplishment was unique in that many accountants do not attempt the rigid examination until after several years of experience.

In letters to Middle Tennessee State faculty members in accounting and law Mr. Hudgins stated, "I feel that the credit for this achievement goes to the fine quality of instruction which I received from the staff of the department."

Mr. Hudgins is a graduate of the Lawrence County High School May, 1959, and graduated from MTSC with a major in accounting and a minor in economics. He is employed by the Tennessee Public Service Commission in Nashville.

... And All That Jazz

by Creed Crowder

Editor's Note: Creed Crowder is heard Monday through Saturday nights from 10:05 until Midnight with "... And All That Jazz" on WMTS-FM, 96.3 megacycles in Murfreesboro.

Several excellent jazz albums were released this past week so I'll devote this issue's column to a review of them. By the way, the column title might denote that the stories are always about jazz. Just as the hip '60's expression, "and all that jazz," has come to mean a potluck variety of things, so this column deals with the wide variety of music and its makers, including, not exclusively, jazz.

A new lp was just waxed by the George Shearing Quintet entitled "Out of the Woods." The name comes from the fact that woodwinds are prominent on the recording, backing the quintet's high style.

Stan Kenton, a giant of this era in music, has brilliantly and sensitively arranged the great works of Wagner to fit the modern world of music. The Capitol album is called "Kenton Plays Wagner." Kenton's new neophonic orchestra has just completed its second repertory concert in Los Angeles.

The Encyclopedia of Jazz series has just issued a new volume of VeeJay records. It concentrates on the outstanding saxophonists of the 1960's. Narrations is by Leonard Feather, the nation's foremost writer and critic of jazz.

"The Eric Dolphy and Booker Little Memorial Album" is a fine memorial tribute to these two late jazz greats. Dolphy died recently in France. The influence of the two was the greatest in the New York and Los Angeles areas.

Jazz genius Thelonious Monk has a new outing on Columbia. It's called "Monk," and he gives his touch to other than Monk compositions for a change. This album may get acceptance more readily than his others.

Eddie Harris, a very smooth, commercial saxophonist, gives his adaption to such excellent music as "People," "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face," "From Russia with Love," etc. in the album "Cool Sax from Hollywood to Broadway." Harris is best remembered for his jazz interpretation of "Exodus" when the song was at its popularity height.

Incidentally, the campus bookstore will be happy to order any album which you might want to add to your collection.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Associated Student Body carried four Trailway buses to Cookeville for the game with Tennessee Tech this season. As has been the case for years, we were required to sit underneath the balcony. At least two-thirds of our students could not see the scoreboard for this reason. Other students were scattered into small groups in the Tech stands. Although we didn't approve of this, we felt that they had the authority to place us where they wished in their gymnasium.

March 1, however, the Raiders played Tennessee Tech on our home floor in Murfreesboro. A large crowd was expected so it was determined that the seats on the stage would be needed. On the afternoon of the game, it was understood by business managers of the athletic department, Dean of Students, captain of the cheerleaders, and myself that Tech students would occupy the stage. I was astonished when I saw that our students were required to sit on the stage, while Tennessee Tech occupied the best seats in the gymnasium.

We can expect to be treated as second rate students on other campuses, but not on our own. I feel that it is my duty to notify all concerned that our students disapproved of this incident. We suffered a humiliation in the presence of our rivals that we should never have been required to suffer at any time on our campus.

Jerry Owens
President
Associated Student Body

Dear Editor:

The ASB is the official student government body of MTSU. Its duty is to serve, inform, and assist the students. The biggest problem, many times, is to inform the students. Many times the student is not aware that their Senators and Representatives perform some service.

Near the end of the Fall Semester, the idea was brought up in the Senate to investigate the idea of an ASB Travel Board. A committee was appointed of myself and Steve Jackson, Senators of the junior class, to look into this. We found that there was an expressed need for such an item and proceeded accordingly. We purchased the materials but that's all. The real work lay in the building and painting of the board.

George Juliano, a Senator of Sophomore Class, and Mike Crosswhite, Representative of I.A. Club, were responsible for these functions. George painted, Mike built, and the finished product is a credit to them and the university.

The ASB urges you to use the Travel Board whenever necessary. It is located in the North end of the basement hall of the SUB.

Of Speeches and Silence

by Bill Lewis

The University of California, on its showcase campus at Berkeley, has been the scene during the last few months of student rebellion, demonstrations and riots. The members of the campus Free Speech Movement, led by one Mario Savio, a student, at one time surrounded a police car sent to stop their demonstrations and held its occupants hostage for 32 hours. These same students, joined by thousands of other non-member students and faculty members, staged a boycott of classes which almost brought the process of education on this giant campus to a screeching halt. As a result, the prestigious University of California found itself in the ridiculous position of bargaining with a pack of student rebels while the whole nation looked on.

During this same period of time, MTSU came close to providing, on a proportionately smaller scale, a similar spectacle. At this campus, however, the discontentment was settled a few weeks ago with so little fanfare that a majority of the student body and faculty may never have been aware that a conflict existed. Why? What difference is there between student-administration arguments in mid-state California and similar arguments in mid-state Tennessee?

In the beginning, the leaders at U.C. were seeking the right to hold political meetings, to debate among the student body, and to solicit funds for off-campus "real" politics on University property; i.e., on the campus. The leaders at MTSC were seeking the right to hold literary meetings, to solicit works of creative writing from the students, and to publish a literary magazine on the College campus. In both cases the protagonists merely wanted the school to approve the action and step aside.

Again, in both cases, the argument soon resolved itself to an essential problem: the students felt alienated—they felt that the administration not only didn't care about their feelings, but that it was only vaguely aware of their existence. To the administration, these students felt, the student body was just that: a body, to be dealt with impersonally and collectively.

In California, the students learned that they were only too correct: the school had grown so large, so automated, that the officials were far more concerned with the over-all view—with fund-raising, with boosting the school's national image, with construction, etc. Their attitude seemed to be: "You're only 30 students out of 27,000—we can't be bothered with your problems." At MTSC, however, the students found that although our administration has its hands full of these same concerns, it is willing, sometimes reluctantly, to set aside time for the students—individually as well as collectively. Even 4 students out of MTSC's 4,000 were heard, and L'Enfant is now a school-sponsored publication.

Flash-on Shots

by Rita McWhorter

Middle Tennessee is often plagued with rainy weather and especially at this time of the year. With the frequent "wet" weather reports, college students are interested in what to wear on those dreaded days.

Mary Jo Gill, a sophomore from Nashville, models what to wear to fight the elements and be smartly dressed. This ensemble is called a rain dress. It is water repellent and a perfect answer to the problem of what to wear on those dreary days. A large rounded collar may be raised slightly in the back. Gold buttons add that extra attraction and may give that dressed up appearance if needed. The waist line may be brought in with a tie belt.

Special attention should be given to the rain scarf featured with the dress. This is very popular with young girls today, especially ones with the longer hair styles, because it helps protect hair from wind as well as rain. The scarf is the bikini cut and may be worn with casual and campus wear.

Alan Parker, a junior from Pulaski, models the ideal look in rainwear for the man on campus. This coat is split raglan. It is full length which is more acceptable than the ¾ length. The color is tan which is good to blend with a variety of colors.

In selecting a raincoat check for wrinkle-resistant fabrics and water repellent finishes.

Mary Jo's rain dress is courtesy of "The Cotton Patch". Alan's rain coat is from "Piggs and Parsons." Both stores are located in the Jackson Heights Shopping Center.

Mary Jo Gill and Alan Parker display the proper attire for protection from Middle Tennessee's rainy weather.

RAIDERS MAULED BY BUCS

The Raiders fell before E.T.S.U. 106-74 March 1 with Tommy Woods playing the best game of his young career for East Tennessee by ripping the cords for 29 points and capturing 28 rebounds.

Although the Raiders are making no excuses for defeat, they were not at full strength for the East Tennessee game. As some of you may have noticed, Billy Martin, the Raider's leading scorer, did not score at all. Billy, who started the game against the wishes of Coach Bill Stokes, became violently ill soon after the game started with what appeared to be intestinal flu. Dan Midgett also showed signs of having the flu bug. Both boys complained of being sick before the game, but were ready and willing to play regardless.

The Raiders were led by Jack Sutter, who blistered the nets for 27 points. Sutter was one of the hottest scorers in the OVC in the final few games, raising his scoring average by almost three points per game. Let's hope that his hot streak carries over into next season. Sutter was followed in scoring by Mike Milholland with 11 points. Although Mike scored only eleven points, Coach Stokes called this one of Milholland's best games of the season. Phil Meadows, filling in for the ailing Billy Martin, added 10 points to the Raider cause.

The Raiders connected on 30 of 84 attempts from the field for one of their coldest nights of the season. The Bucs, meanwhile, were hitting 45 of 105 field attempts. The big factor in the outcome of game, however, was rebounding. The Bucs grabbed off 85 to the Raiders 45.

RAIDERS LOSE TO TECH

The Golden Eagles of Tennessee Tech, battled to a hard fought 87-79 victory over the Blue Raiders, March 3.

The game saw the Raiders down by 14 points at half time, then battling to a one-point lead on a 6-foot jump shot by Mike Milholland with 7:23 showing on the clock. It was at this point that the Eagles again pulled away from the battle weary Raiders.

For starters Billy Martin, Jim Spencer, Mike Milholland, and Dan Midgett, this was the last game that they played for the Blue Raiders. These boys put forth their best effort to close out their college basketball career even in a losing cause to Tech. If victory could have been won, it would undoubtedly have been one of the high points of their college career. This was also the last game of a Blue Raider for flashy Phil Meadows. Meadows, a starter until sidelined mid-way through the season with a hand injury, played many fine games for the Raiders.

In this battle royal, Billy Martin once again, and for the last time, led the scoring with 20 points. Martin, although still hampered by intestinal flu, played not only a fine offensive game, but had perhaps his best rebounding game of the season as he led the Raiders with 12 rebounds. Mike Milholland and Jim Spencer added heavily to the Raiders cause by pitching in 17 points each.

Dan Midgett and Jack Sutter added 10 points each to the Raiders' effort.

Tech was led by Tom Kirby who had 17 points, most of these coming in the second half. He was followed by Ron Filipek and Charles Wood with 15 points each, but it was Dave Pratt hitting a lay-up with 3:30 remaining that put the Golden Eagles ahead 77-75 for keeps.

TRACK SEASON OPENS

The Raider track team made its first showing of the indoor track season Saturday, February 28, by placing fourth in the J. C. Indoor Track Carnival at Memphis. The Raiders finished with 24 points. This put them with 1/2 of a point finishing third place. South East Missouri finished with 24 1/2 points.

The big man for the Raiders was Brian Oldfield, who broke a meet, as well as an MTSU record with a total of 54 feet, 5 and 1/2 inches.

In very stiff competition, the Raiders finished third in both the mile relay and two mile relay. Others who placed high for the Raiders were Junior Ward, who finished third in the broad jump, and Paul Anderson who was edged for first place by a step in the 880 run.

WITH THE FRESHMAN

The Louisville Courier has just recently rated the OVC freshman basketball teams for this season. The Raiders ended up in a tie for fourth place with the Western Kentucky Hilltoppers. Although the Raiders did not place anyone on the All-OVC freshman team, they did place three boys on the honorable mention list. They are: Tom Pile 6'7", Fred Woody 6'6", and Bill Swain 6'6". With these three boys playing the front line, the Baby Raiders fielded the tallest freshman basketball team in the OVC.

The All-OVC freshman team is composed of Hilson, TPI; Poole, Murray; Smith, Western; Jordan, Morehead; and Smith of Eastern. All but Jordon of Morehead are Negroes.

The top four freshman team in the OVC are TPI, Murray, Eastern, with the Baby Raiders and Western tied for fourth.

THIS AND THAT

Eastern Kentucky's Maroons will represent the OVC in the NCAA Tournament this year. Eastern opened tournament play against the Blue Demons of DePaul University who upended the Raiders 89-68 early in the season. The winner of the Eastern-DePaul game will play SEC Champions Vanderbilt.

Western Kentucky has accepted a bid to play in the National Invitational Tournament to be held in New York City. The OVC is one of the two conferences in the nation with teams in both the major post-season basketball tournaments, the NCAA and the NIT.

Coach Stokes rates DePaul, Eastern Kentucky's opponent in the NCAA, the best team the Raiders faced all season. He also rates DePaul's Jesse Nash as one of the best players the Blues faced this past season. However, Nash did not play against Eastern in the NCAA Tournament due to the fact he met with that enjoyable fate of graduation in January.

Trickey Replaces Stokes As Head Basketball Coach At MTSU

Dr. Bill Stokes was relieved of his duties as head basketball coach at Middle Tennessee State effective March 4, according to Dr. Quill E. Cope. Dr. Cope in concurring with a recommendation made by the Athletic Committee stated, "We have encouraged Dr. Stokes to remain in the department of health and physical education as associate professor where his scholarship and fine teaching ability can contribute much to the effectiveness of our graduate program as we attain University status".

Dr. Cope said that he was affirming a second recommendation of the Athletic Committee and that of Athletic Director Charles Murphy, that Kenneth Trickey, assistant basketball coach, be named as head basketball coach. Dr. Cope indicated that Trickey would be consulted in choosing his assistant.

The action followed the most disconcerting basketball season in recent years. The team finished the season Wednesday night with a 6 to 18 won-lost record following the Tennessee Tech game. However, Dr. Cope emphasized that the team had demonstrated phases of the potential it possessed on occasion. The season record in the Ohio Valley Conference was 4 wins and 10 losses.

Dr. Stokes was selected to succeed Eddie Diddle three years ago when Mr. Diddle resigned. He had served as Mr. Diddle's assistant and as basketball coach. In his first year as head coach, with only eight eligible players, Stokes compiled a 9-15 record. Last year he had the first winning season for MTSU in some years with an 11-10 season.

Mr. Trickey is a native of Cairo, Illinois and received the B.S. degree in physical education from MTSC in 1955. While a guard on the MTSC squad, he was on the All-VSAC team for four years, and the All-OVC team during his sophomore and junior years. He was a member of the first MTSU track team.

He was a captain of the 1954 basketball team, coached by Charles Greer, which won the VSAC championship and represented Tennessee in the TIAA tournament at Kansas City.

Following graduation, he went to Culver Military Academy (Indiana) as assistant basketball coach. After two years service with the United States Army, he was discharged with the rank of First Lieutenant. While serving as Special Service Officer at Fort Knox, he played on the Fort basketball team which placed second in the All-Army tournament. After his Army service, he played professional basketball with the Washington Generals.

Mr. Trickey was head basketball coach for one year at Tullahoma High School.

The events planned are Barrel Racing and Goat Hair Pulling for girls and Bareback Riding, Bull Riding, Steer Wrestling, and Calf Roping for boys. Prizes will be awarded to the top three winners of each event.

See any rodeo club member for more information.

Gen. Snyder Views Raider Demonstration

Wednesday, February 24th, dawned as something special for the Forrest Raiders. The Raiders were up at 5:45 a. m. and at the gym practicing for a demonstration for Major Gen. Howard Snyder, XII Corps Commander, United States Army. Gen. Snyder was at Middle Tenn. State to inspect the facilities and while he was present the Forrest Raiders had the chance to show off their achievements to the General.

Some of the activities General Snyder viewed were static displays of mountaineering equipment, special types of knots used in mountain work, survival shelters, traps and snares, and field equipment layouts.

Perhaps the more dramatic activities were the rappel from the rafters of Memorial Gym by seven Raiders. These were Raiders Moore, McLaughlin, Gerbman, Forrester, Williams, DePriest, and Lord. The alpine traverse by Raiders Steelman, Carleton, and Bodkin was a point of interest, especially the last few feet where the going got rough.

Hand-to-hand combat by Raiders Furgess and Fuqua impressed General Snyder because of the amount of realism displayed by both Raiders.

Pugil Sticks, or bayonet drill the easy way, were wielded by Raiders Sikes and Jones who by far outdid themselves in mock combat.

The Raider Commander, Raider Ogles, displayed the fine art of the prussic, or how to get to the top of a sheer cliff without trying to find the easy way.

Intramural News

by BOB BARNES

In the other game, the Campus Crips led by Russell Ayers downed the Good Jelly Stompers coached by Bill Few in a real close game.

Last night's games, March 8, saw the Gators and the Campus Crips tangle to earn the right to play the Ramblers in the loser's bracket championship game. The winner of the loser bracket championship will earn the right to play the Insignificants for the intramural championship.

"The Visit" Scheduled As First Theatre Drama

by Bill Lewis

Friedrich Duerrenmatt's "The Visit," winner of the New York Drama Critics Circle's "Best Foreign Play of the Year" award for 1958, is the next play scheduled for production at MTSU. The play, which will be presented Wednesday and Thursday, March 24th and 25th, was described by the New York HERALD TRIBUNE as "A stinging theatrical life . . . the flesh crawls. The play moves of its own astonishing power."

Duerrenmatt's tragicomedy will serve as an experiment in two ways. It will be the first drama presented in the new theatre, and the first experimental, or avant-grade work staged by the MTSU Theatre.

The plot of "The Visit" is basically simple and immediately comprehensible — the wealthiest woman in the world, Madam Claire Zachanassian (Meyllan Judd), returns to her hometown, Guellen "the most poverty-stricken, desolate dump on the Venice-Stockholm line to obtain justice from the man who once ruined her, Alfred III (Doug Vaughn). The relatively unadorned and direct story line gives the play an aura of classical drama. It also serves as a device to let a more important aspect of the play take the limelight — the style.

Although this play could not exist without Madam Zachanassian and III, the central character is really the town — the whole town. The play is concerned with how Guellen builds, little by little, from temptation to guilt to rationalization. Duerrenmatt has, expressionistically, set up inner experience as the only reality. He enthrones the irrational.

Directly related to this style is the manner in which the MTSU Theatre will stage the play. Mrs. Dorethe Tucker, director, calls the theatre's treatment "frankly presentational." Mr. Robert Jones, technical director, says that the play will resemble "a living newspaper. There will be a 'flash' and that scene will be acted out . . . then, somewhere else on this 'front-page' stage there will be another 'flash' or 'headline'" and another scene or story will unfold." Mr. Jones goes on to say that the theatre's professional-quality lighting equipment will pick out these scenes in the same way that Hollywood's cameras select the elements of a scene.

The characterization of the town as an individual, the terrifying second meaning of the panther hunt, the stylized, automata-like movements of the lesser characters, the integration of scenery and action and many other aspects of this production are new to theatre at MTSU. It promises to be an exciting evening. As in the past, tickets will be available in the basement of the Student Union Building one week before the show. Student reservations are free with an I.D. card.

Collegiate Council Sponsors Free Movie

The MTSU chapter of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations is bringing to our campus, at the expense of a $50 rental fee, a feature-length film to deal with the idea and purposes of the United Nations. In sequences filmed in Italy, Haiti, Sweden and Canada, the film shows how man's abilities have been put to use and how his powers have been applied. With music by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, this ninety-minute, Eastman-color movie should be most interesting to both students and faculty members. There will be no admission charge or requests of any sort. This is an educational service brought to MTSU for an entertaining evening on Thursday, March 11, beginning at 7:30 in room 304 of the SUB.
