

MTSC, "The Friendly School"

By Bill Kerley

Every school year begins the same with new faces and new leaderships. Every club, every organ of student government...

The machine of student government, and that word is not used in the political sense, has been overhauled and reoled during the past summer.

Most machines have built into them some type of gauge which by some scale registers or makes known the proficiency of the machine's operation.

Middle Tennessee State College, in a way, is like Milton Berle. Milton Berle is known as Mr. Television while MTSC is known as the "friendly college".

This past weekend seemed to be a success on our campus. Friday night at 7:30 was the time for an informal dance sponsored by the Associated Student Body of MTSC.

Friday night at 7:30 was the time for an informal dance sponsored by the Associated Student Body of MTSC.

One only has to stand in the hallways of the Administration building between classes or in any dormitory at night to realize that our students are capable of making "one heckuva racket".

This will undoubtedly come as a surprise to any spectator who frequents Raider football games at Jones Field.

One doesn't have to throw coke bottles or yell "rip 'em up, team 'em up, give 'em _____ Raiders" on every close decision to show your enthusiasm; but a good lusty school yell under organized leadership is always in good taste and appreciated by the team.

We have a fine school consisting of wonderful students, faculty, and administration made up of the most wonderful people in the world. We have an excellent football team.

Fellow vets, I was sitting in the lunch room the other day and was approached about an article for and about veterans. We also thought up the idea of introducing the vets in each of these articles.

In case you don't recognize him by his picture, he is Paul Couch, a Junior at MTSC. He has a long and interesting record with the US service.

He received his discharge September 1954. Salt air seemed to stir his blood again. He went to the Gulf and signed on a Danish Sailing Schooner, The S. S. Bucha-

He received his discharge in 1946 and for two months served on the merchant ships again going to Africa.

In the next issues we will journey into the service record of another veteran in an endeavor to stimulate an interest among the veterans on the campus.

Want To Reduce?

Try U. S. History Under Dr. Baldwin

Steps to Baldwin

By Deane Rhoades

All students graduating from this college are required to take American History or perhaps a geography course. Have you ever stopped to think (if you are one of the percentage taking Dr. Baldwin's history class) how many steps you have to take to get to the "roost."

Some people would like to walk 2 miles. It would do them good! But take me, for instance, I am one of those persons one might consider slender.

Therefore, our plea to Dr. Baldwin is "Come down, come down from your ivory tower."

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first and we hope the last of a series of undoubtedly some of the best work ever turned out by this great world renown writer. The letters in this article are authentic and come from the students of Middle Tennessee State College.

Dear Mr. Hallsnooper,

Two years ago I sent my boy friend, Often Pellis, out to get me an ice cream cone from the lunchroom at MTSC, as of yet, he hasn't returned. What should I do?

Lonesome, Chanut Blewis

Dear Miss Blewis,

Wait no longer... send our for another ice cream cone.

Euclid Hallsnooper

Dear Mr. Hallsnooper, I have been wondering for quite some time whether it is correct to eat chicken with the fingers or not. Am I correct in doing this?

Wondering, Mrs. Feathers

Dear Mrs. Feathers, I have been told that this practice is not correct. One should eat the chicken and then eat the fingers.

MONOHAN MOANS

Hello Everybody! It's good to be back to see all our ole friends and all the new faces.

Congratulations to our new dorm officers: Catherine Ray, president; Joan Startup, vice-president; and Shirley Pogue, secretary-treasurer.

Jane Panter played hostess to several gals last week end at her home. Seen having loads of fun were Shirley Evans, Sue St. John, Anita Grayson, Mary Ann Holly, Jean Cloer, and Jean Ervin.

Jo Ann Winderling is being honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower October 10. The hostesses are Mary Lynn Wilks, Martha Whitehurst, and Anita Grayson. Jo Ann is marrying Lynn Banks October 21 in Chattanooga.

Seems as if Monohan is the only girls dorm to have an ex-G.I. Madge E. Smith, formerly of Kansas, was in the Army four years. She's attending MTSC under the G.I. Bill.

RUTLEDGE RUMBLINGS

Whew! Freshman Week is over and the skirt lines of the girls at Rutledge Hall have dropped back to their normal length.

Francis Reynolds Plans Naval Air Pre-flight Work

The Information and Recruiting Office at the Memphis, Tenn., Naval Air Reserve Training Unit today announced the selection of Mr. Francis Aaron Reynolds of Rural Route # 3, Gallatin, Tennessee, for Naval flight training as an Aviation Officer Candidate.

Francis A. Reynolds, age 22, is a 1952 graduate of the Gallatin High School and a 1956 graduate of Middle Tennessee State College.

In September 1952 he enrolled at Middle Tennessee State College, where for four years he continued his formal education, majoring in physical education and health. He graduated from Middle Tenn. State with his B.S. degree this past August. At State he played varsity football for four years (quarter back); varsity baseball for two years and was a member of the "T" Club. As a quarter back with State he was named as an All Conference quarter back.

Following the selection of applicants at the Memphis office they are returned to civilian life to await final approval of their selection and to await orders to active duty for flight training.

Upon Mr. Reynolds' reporting to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., he will begin 16 weeks of Pre-flight schooling.

Last but not least, we want to greet the former Miss CAROLYN RILEY. She is now the wife of Lt. Milton Rice, of the U. S. Air Force.

As a last request, we wish that all the girls of Rutledge who want to get their parties, etc. in the news, would please leave such information in either Boxes 73 or 259.

Fink Thinks Fine Fellows Feel Fervent Fall Fanfare

By G. I. Fink

School spirit seems to have improved this past week with Western over the previous game with Austin Peay. To review you with past events the scores were 38-20 and 7-6 in favor of the M.T.S.C. Raiders.

One of the most inspiring boosts to school spirit at M.T.S.C. was the large turn-out of fans and Raider followers at Western last week.

Keep up the good work cats!! Don't forget to leave suitcases at dorms this week, because the Raiders are fighting Morehead here on Jones Field Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

We need a big cheering section for the Morehead game.

Congratulations "Wink" and lots of success this year as Senior class president. Congrats are also in order for Charles Riley, Junior class president, Leland Hewley, sophomore president and Dirk Arnold, freshman president.

Regarding homecoming, you Cats better be getting some suggestions ready for that big parade which is only a short three weeks off. We will play host to Murray State College here on Jones Field for Homecoming and we want to make this the biggest and best ever!

Saw Ben Pridemore's team on top of the bus leaving for Western. What'samatter Ben?? No room inside? Joe Buchanan and Sam Cheek made it to the game on that 50¢ worth of gas. Jack Smith is improving his quality of coffee in the lunch room. Practice makes perfect????

Our band has picked up some new members; keep up the good work. We love "Dixie" loud and clear.

Saw Mary Alice, Nancy, Jo-an and Peggy in the Rec. room. Same ole gang. Just another year older.

Saw another new cook in the lunch room, sure miss Earnest. I guess Elvis Presley made another million this week. Wonderful Success! Record of the week—Buchanan and Goodman "On Trial."

Joke of week—Did you hear about the traveling salesman that uh uh?? Well so much for that! In case you want the rest I'll be in my office (lunch room) next week, between the hours of 11 and 12 each night.

How is fun night going with the new records we have? Also we have some cute cheerleaders don't you think?? P.S. Pete you are a nice boy too. Keep up the good work.

So long for now. See you next time.

Along The Sidelines

By Bob Brooks

Middle Tennessee State has another athlete who has received National rating. Jimmy Dunlap, alternating quarterback with Sidney Corban for the 1956 Raiders, was ranked 15th among the nation's small college players in the latest NCAA statistics.

Dunlap had completed 14 of 21 attempts when the statistics were released October 5. Only three of the players had a better percentage than his .667, but the ratings are based on the total number of completions.

Jere Stripling of Murray State is the only other Ohio Valley Conference player listed on the rating. The Thoroughbred quarterback, who will face the Raiders at the Homecoming game November 3, was ranked as the fourth best punter in small college circles. He has kicked eight times in two games for an average of 44.1 yards per boot.

Coach Ed Diddle, Jr.'s basketball hopes for the coming season received a jolt last week when Bobby Hatcher dropped out of school. Hatcher, 6-6 guard-forward who transferred from the University of Tennessee, was expected to boost the squad this year. He was a regular on the Vol quintet last year.

Hatcher quit school Monday to join the Marine Corps for two years. He said he planned to return to Middle Tennessee after his military service.

Doc Tant, a member of the Raider OVC, VSAC, and TIAC championship golf team last Spring, is going to be a manager on the basketball squad this year. Maybe some of his hole-in-one luck will rub off on the cagers. Doc will long be remembered for the two aces he shot this year in conference competition.

It was good to see and hear the Raider boosters that followed the team to Bowling Green recently. The Middle Tennessee cheering section was making as much noise as the host Western Kentucky rooters were.

Many former MTSC athletes have been seen at Raider road games this season. Tommy Griffith and Spud Chandler took time off from their Marine Corps duties at Quantico to attend the Morris Harvey game. Chandler donned coveralls and jumped right into his old job of taping with Gene Smith. He sat on the rain soaked bench with the players throughout the game. Griffith had a dryer seat in the press box.

"Hot" Reynolds, Doug Shrader, and "Bull" Haley were seen at the Western Kentucky game.

Shrader dropped by the college last week to bid farewell before going into the service. He was to join Uncle Sam's forces as a second lieutenant October 8.

Doug said he had really enjoyed his summer in pro-baseball. He played for Class D teams at Michigan City, Indiana, and later with the Hastings, Nebraska nine.

The former Raider basketball and baseball star hit .311 in his first season of baseball. He played the outfield, but hung up a 1-0 pitching record in his only hurling assignment. After he serves his short six months of Army service, Doug will report to Sanford, Florida for Spring training with the New York Giants.

Terry Sweeney leads the Raider rushing leaders after four games. The grid captain has carried the ball 31 times for 168 yards. Tillman Harris is close behind with 157 yards in 21 tries.

In the passing department, Sidney Corban has completed eight tosses in 19 attempts for 156 yards and five touchdowns. Jimmy Dunlap's 14 of 23 aeriels for 129 yards and two touchdowns leads the "completion" column.

Raiders Spot Eastern 13 Points, Then Surge Back On Corban's Passing 26-19

Middle Tennessee State spotted Eastern Kentucky two touchdowns in the first 10 minutes of play Saturday night, and then roared back to take a 26-19 victory over their OVC rival. The accurate passing of quarterback Sidney Corban accounted for three of the four Raider touchdowns.

Eastern jumped to a 6-0 lead in the first period after recovering a MTSC fumble on the Raider 30 yard line. John Sebest plunged from the two for the score. Two minutes and 30 seconds later, Dave Bishop intercepted a Raider pitch-out and raced 68 yards for another Maroon TD.

Middle Tennessee fought back with a touchdown six plays after Sidney Corban returned a punt 36 yards to the Maroon 30 yard stripe. A 17 yard aerial from Corban to Buck Rolman made the score 13-6 with 10:20 remaining in the first half.

Tackle Ralph Massey recovered an Eastern fumble on the Maroon 10 yard line to set up the second Raider TD. Tillman Harris raced around the right end two plays later for the tally. Terry Sweeney

Ag Club Elects Parsley Leader, Plans Program

Ten new members were initiated into the Agriculture club Wednesday night. Also included on the night's program were: a brief talk by the president of the ASB, Johnny Bass, plus the election of a reporter, appointment of a project chairman, a brief talk about Middle Tennessee Agricultural scholarship foundation by Dr. C. N. Stark, and a discussion of the events planned for the year.

Bill Davis, a junior from Lawrence County was elected to serve as club reporter and publicity director for the year. Officers elected previously are: Larry Parsley of Murfreesboro, president; Howard Hatcher of Allisona, vice president; Charles Smith of Murfreesboro, secretary; and David Whitworth of Columbia, S. C.; treasurer. Dr. C. N. Stark, Dr. Frank Himes, Dr. Clarence Chesnut, Mr. B. B. Gracy, Jr., and Mr. Eddie Thomason serve the club as advisors with Mr. Thomason doing double duty as club sponsor.

President Larry Parsley appointed Billy Philpott to the important position of project chairman. A great deal of the Agricultural Club's chances for recognition rests upon the shoulder of the project chairman and in Billy Philpott we are assured of a man who can do the job.

ASB President Johnny Bass, in his address, congratulated the club on its past efforts and praised the Agriculture Department for the fine work of the past year.

The entire student body is advised to keep an eye on the bulletin boards and the next issue of the SIDELINES. Great things are in store for all as a gala festivity broader in scope than anything ever tried by the Agricultural Clubs of the past are being planned. We think that almost every one of you will enjoy what we have coming up, and we hope that through this occasion we may have some part in removing the word "suitecase" from college.

No doubt many of you saw the recent column by Jess Safley in the NASHVILLE BANNER in which Mr. Safley praised the operations here on the College farm. Probably the highlight of the story was the part that practical farming is taught here, not only can we tell our Agriculture majors about how a farm can be operated for a profit, but we can show them. What other Agriculture school can do the same?

We were quite honored when our department head, Dr. Clifford Stark, was asked to contribute this saying of his to a national magazine. Think the quotation over and see if you don't agree.

YOU CAN CALL HER 'TOUR COUNSELOR'

NEW YORK, N. Y.—(ACP)—Dorothy Koehan, 20, of Baldwin City, Kansas, won a nationwide "new-word-for-chaperone" contest and $200 in Cook's Travelers Cheques. Her suggestion was "tour counselor." Other contestants sent in the same entry, but hers arrived first, the travel agency said.

Last summer the travel firm interviewed young people returning from chaperoned tours of Europe and learned that, while they liked to travel abroad with a chaperone, they'd prefer to call her by a modern name.

Hence the contest. Entries ranged all the way from "secretary" and "tourmate" to "vigil auntie."

MTSC Inches 7-6 Win Over Western; Locke, Hurst Score

Middle Tennessee State college squeezed a 7-6 victory over Western Kentucky State at Bowling Green on the accurate toe of Jerry Hurst, a 6-7, 230 pound end from San Diego, Calif.

Playing their first Ohio Valley Conference game of the 1956 season, the Middle Tennesseans scored their touchdown on a 76 yard march in the second quarter. The Raider drive was actually 81 yards, including 20 yards in penalties against the Big Blue and a 15 yarder against the Hilltoppers.

Jimmy Dunlap's passing to Bobby Locke and Tillman Harris accounted for most of the drive. Locke outleaped two defenders in the endzone to take a 10 yard aerial for the touchdown.

Joe Cunningham's interception of a MTSC pass on the midfield stripe and returning it 26 yards, set up the Western score. Nine plays and 24 yards later, Carroll VanHooser carried over from the one for the tally. With six minutes remaining in the third period, Jerry Brantley's try for extra point was wide to the right.

Middle Tennessee came roaring back with a 54 yard march but lost the ball with a fumble on the Western 11 yard line. For the night, the Raiders gave Western the ball five times on fumbles. Another MTSC drive was halted in the fourth quarter with a bobble on the Western 19 yard marker.

Travis Akin, starting left halfback for the Raiders, was injured when the ball game was 11 minutes old. The 5-8, 155-pounder from Columbia, received a leg injury that will keep him out of action for an indefinite time.

Tillman Harris, substituting for Akin, was leading ground gainer for the night. The Sparta senior gained 93 yards in 11 tries. He also had a 23 yard pass reception on MTSC's touchdown march.

Jimmy Dunlap completed 7 of 11 pass attempts for the night. He had completed his first seven tries before missing a target.

The game was a revenge win over Western, who beat the Raiders by the same 7-6 score at Bowling Green two years ago. Middle Tennessee outscored them on Jones field last season 25-13.

Lt. Howard Roy Enjoys European Leave While On German Duty Tour

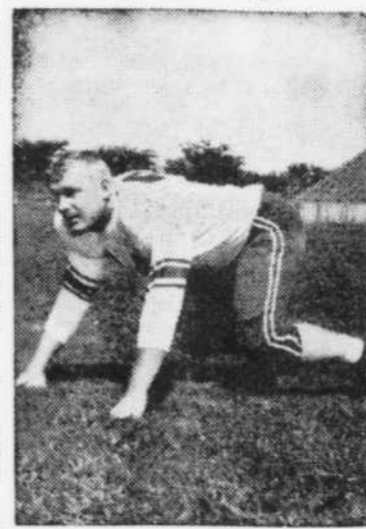

AUGSBURG, GERMANY—Army 1st Lt. Howard Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Ray, 508 E. Grizzard St., Tullahoma, Tenn., recently spent a leave in Europe.

Lieutenant Roy, 26, is regularly assigned as an ammunition train commander with Service Battery of the 11th Airborne Division's 675th Field Artillery Battalion.

The lieutenant, who entered the Army in September 1954, was a commercial pilot flight instructor and a 1954 graduate of Middle Tennessee State College. He arrived overseas last February. His wife, Betty Marie, lives in Augsburg.

'Player of Week' Selections Recognize Varied Talents

Sports writers, radio announcers, and coaches voted Jerry DeLuca, Jerry Kemp, and Terry Sweeney as the Players of the Week against Austin Peay State College.

Jerry DeLuca

G. E. McCormack

DeLuca was voted as the outstanding lineman in the Governor contest. The 6-3, 230-pounder played great ball on both offense and defense. He hails from Peabody, Mass.

Terry Sweeney

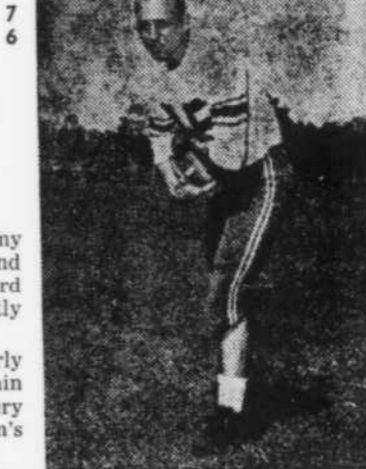

Jerry Kemp

Sweeney and Kemp were voted to a deadlock as Back of the Week. Sweeney turned in some good running and excellent blocking, while Kemp scored two touchdowns, and gained 85 yards in 6 tries. Both Kemp and Sweeney are seniors. Sweeney, who is captain of the 1956 Raiders, is a 6-3, 205 lb. fullback from Lawrence, Mass. Kemp is a 5-11, 185-pounder from Nashville.

Tillman Harris and G. E. McCormack were voted as the outstanding players against Western Kentucky.

Harris came into the game late in the first quarter as a substitute for injured Travis Akin in left half. He gained 93 yards in 11 tries for the night, and caught a 23 yard pass in MTSC's touchdown drive. The senior halfback is from Sparta.

Miss Davis, Riel Represent College At HPER Meets

Dr. Riel and Miss Buleah Davis spent October 4-5 at the University of Tennessee attending the elementary schools teachers health and fitness clinic. They, with other health and physical education leaders in the State, will act as consultants and advisors for the meeting and in a critique following the clinic will evaluate the work done with a view of adapting portions for teaching elsewhere in the state.

Next week, October 9-13, Dr. Riel will be at the Southern Regional Outdoor Workshop at the Rock Eagle Four-H Camp, Eatonton, Georgia attending the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation southern states workshop on hunting, fishing and camping.

Julian Smith, one of the foremost exponents of outdoor education, will be at the workshop, which is one of a series that are scheduled for New England, the mid-West, the Southwest, and California.

Dr. Poole Appointed To Welfare Post

Another faculty member has been honored by the State of Tennessee. Dr. Finis W. Poole has this week received an appointment to the Citizen's Advisory Committee of the Tennessee Department of Welfare. The appointment was announced by Christine C. Reynolds, State Commissioner of Public Welfare.

Lt. Commander Jesse L. Smith, a member of the MTSC math department staff, spent his "break" between the summer and fall quarters at the Fleet Training Center, Norfolk, Va., Naval Base in Reserve training in the tactical use of radar by the fleet.

Training Meet Hear Faculty Members Speak

Middle Tennessee State college faculty members will be speakers for a training meeting for representatives of all offices of the State Employment Security department Oct. 18-19, on the college campus.

Dr. Q. M. Smith, president of the college, will welcome agency employees from all sections of the state at the opening session of the institute on human relations. He has been working with members of the Tennessee Chapter of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security in planning the program to be co-sponsored by MTSC and the IAPES chapter.

Dr. Norman L. Parks, head of the social science department at MTSC, will speak on "Employee Motivation" during the opening session and James A. Martin, instructor in education at the college, will discuss service ratings as a factor in building employee morale and promoting efficiency of operations.

Dr. Robert Corlew Writes 4 Books; History Volumes, Workbooks Ready

First of four books that will be published by Dr. Robert Corlew of the MTSC social studies department was released by the publishers this week. "Student's Manual for a Short History of the American People," Volume I, was prepared by Dr. Corlew in collaboration with Dr. Oliver P. Chitwood and Dr. Frank Owsley whose two volume "Short History of the American People" is used in some 28 colleges and universities in the United States.

Volume II of the series is now in the page-proof stage. A third volume, which will be suitable for the single volume Chitwood-Owsley college history textbook is in process of development by the William C. Brown publishing company.

Dr. Corlew also has "A History of Dickson County, Tennessee" in the galley-proof stage. This volume will likely be released by the publishers late this year.

All Are Urged to Enter Reader's Digest Contest

College students from coast to coast are testing their editorial judgment in the current $41,000 Reader's Digest contest and college presidents hail the scholarship fund feature of the competition as a contribution to higher education. The contest closes October 25.

As contestants list in order the six articles which they consider the most interesting in the October issue of the magazine, the event is of special interest to journalism students and teachers.

Current Reader's Digest College contest offers five thousand dollars first prize plus five thousand dollars to college scholarship fund. Also scores more prizes. Most colleges are piling in entries but we have received few entries yet from your campus. We suggest you refer our ad and prepare editorial urging students enter this simple contest immediately to help selves and college.

First prize is $5,000 in cash with another $5,000 to the scholarship fund of the winner's college. Second prize is $1,000 cash with an equal amount to the school's scholarship fund. There are ten $500 cash prizes with an equal amount to scholarship funds. There also will be 100 prizes of $10 in book credit from local college book stores. The best entry from each college will receive $10 additional book credit.

Dr. Grayson Kirk, President of Columbia University, praised the scholarship fund awards. "This is an interesting and novel feature which I am sure will be met with the warm reception which it deserves."

Dr. Roland R. Renne, President, Montana State College, said: "The cash prizes for scholarship funds for the institution of the individual and the book credit from the local book store are very fine features."

Other comments include:

Dr. William E. Stevens, President of Oberlin College: "This manifestation of the Reader's Digest interest in higher education . . . is to be commended. I hope Oberlin has many contestants."

Dr. George W. Starcher, President, University of North Dakota: "It will be the means of helping many worthy boys and girls to secure a college education."

Dr. J. Earl Moreland, President, Randolph-Macon College: "I am sure it will produce benefits for all of the students who will be competing."

Dr. Harold O. Voorhis, Vice President, New York University: "I commend the arrangement where by you afford the institution which accommodates a prize-winning scholarship a grant matching the award to the student."

Diddle Takes Over . . . Here Is New Look Into MTSC Basketball For 1957; Frosh To Play Full Slate

(Editor's Note: This excellent story appeared in the Murfreesboro News Journal last week. Written by staff writer Lee Sadler, it outlines the plans for the 1957 basketball squad at MTSC as they looked on October 1.

Followers of Middle Tennessee State College basketball will hardly recognize the Blue Raiders when they open the season with West Texas State late this fall. The reason, of course, is that only four players from last year's squad are around to participate under the direction of the new coach Ed Diddle, Jr.

Those returning include Frank Davis, Jim Burks, Chester Adair and Marvin Jinnette. However, there is one other, Teddy York, who may be a member of the squad. York played some ball with last year's team.

Practice under the NCAA regulations will begin October 15. However most of the boys are working out in the gymnasium at different times on their own, and all are expected to take part in the college cross-country race, the preparations for which will start next week.

The varsity roster includes:

Frank Davis—(6-5) Forward from Donelson, Tennessee. "Slim" averaged 10.9 last season for the Raiders, playing in all 21 ball games.

Charles Manar—(6-6) Forward from Alton, Illinois. Charlie is a sophomore transfer from Southern Illinois University.

Superintendents Have Meet Here

(ACP)—Oklahoma Daily writer Ed Turner has come up with a new way of college living which, in keeping with the times, he calls "classmanship." Briefly, he says, it means the knack of frustrating a well-meaning professor to such an extent that he will want to quit his chosen profession as an educator and go to work for a munitions factory. Here are some of his rules.

"First of all: always be late to class. Upon entering NEVER look meek or apologetic for disturbing the class. Appear surprised as if this section was scheduled to meet at this time or even look hurt that they could go on without you. Many an accomplished classman has caused the professor to thumb quickly through his class bulletin to see if perhaps they should have met at 8:35 instead of 8:10.

Disagree openly with the professor. An economics instructor says in his most profound and sonorous tones: "The theories of Adam Smith are the foundations of our modern system of economics." You say in an audible whisper: "But that's so passe" . . . making him look as if he had an old pair of plus-fours and was shouting 23 skidoo instead of delivering a lecture.

Leavemanship is another effective gambit that will add sparkle to every class room. About 10 minutes before the class is over slam your book shut, zip up your notebook, tuck your pencil neatly in your pocket and begin tapping your foot spasmodically, whistling to yourself, if you are a poor whistler. At five minutes before the hour, scoot up on the edge of your seat, alternating your gaze between the wall clock and your water, shouting "X minus five, X minus four, X minus three" . . . right up until the end of the hour."

On October 11 at 11:00 A.M. the Sophomore Class was called to order by its president, Leland Hewgley.

A committee was appointed to be charge of the Sophomore Float for Homecoming November 3. Miss Nancy Willis, a sophomore from Nashville, was elected to be sponsor for the Sophomore Class in the Homecoming activities.

Jesse Safley Salutes Farm Achievement

By Jesse Safley
Banner Farm Editor

It is generally agreed showing a profit from farming during the past four years has been difficult. Some say they have lost money.

Everyone knows it is always hard for an institutional farm to break even and thereby give little thought to a profit. But during the past four years the farm at Middle Tennessee State College, Murfreesboro, has showed a profit. And a big one when all factors are considered.

The annual gross income from products sold from the 200 acre farm has been around $25,000. The average annual expense has run just a little more than $23,000 leaving a net cash income over expenses of between $7,000 and $8,000 today.

That's only a part of the story and might be considered a minor part. The increase in inventory includes grain and hay on hand or ready for harvest, farm machinery and equipment, enlarged herd of dairy animals, fall seeded crops large enough to pasture and improved soil, improved pastures, new fences, and acres of quality alfalfa. To say this all amounts to $50,000 would be conservative when a $100,000 estimate might be nearer correct.

What has been back of this phenomenal progress? A man—Dr. C. N. Stark, head of the college's agriculture department who operates with the full support of President Q. M. Smith and other college officials; who says "this farm can be a wonderful asset to this school and the area" and who has the desire, determination, confidence and ability to make it so.

He is proving this not only dollar wise but also through the increased interest in agriculture among the students studying agriculture there.

200 Enrolled

When fall enrollment was completed more than 200 boys and girls were taking agricultural classes. This is double the number four years ago. The farm is visited by scores of farmers but Dr. Stark would like to see this number increased.

How have such accomplishments been possible?

Unlimited funds? No. The farm spends as income permits.

Irrigation during drought? No irrigation available.

Free labor? All labor, including student help, is paid for at prevailing wages and from farm income.

Very fertile soil? No better than the average but like most soil it responds to good management.

Actually such success comes from man's application of knowledge attained through research, trial and error, observation, conscientious study plus a philosophy that "a job worth doing is worth doing right." So there you have the basis of successful farm operations and masterminded by Dr. Stark. This plus his conscientious efforts in public relations has made the retired professor of bacteriology at Cornell and a native of Dickson County one of the better known agriculturists in the area.

Lets take a back glance at present conditions on the farm where drought has been the same as other places. There we find 65 acres of oats and crimson clover planted in August and in need of rain but still growing and would provide some pasture now. The oats were planted where oats were harvested in the spring. Immediately after harvesting the grain, the soil was bogged and then plowed. It was disked several times during the summer to control weeds and moisture and was ready to plant in mid-August. This resulted in all the fall planting being completed now when others are wondering if they will have sufficient rain to plant before it is too late.

In the 60 acres of improved pastures are more than 80 dairy cows, heifers and calves. In the barns are more than 150 tons of bright alfalfa hay. Three silos are filled with more than 400 tons of silage. The grainery contains 4,500 bushels of oats. More than 1,000 bushels of corn left from last season and there is more than 1,700 bushels of corn in the field ready for harvest.

More than 75 tons of straw was saved for bedding. In the spring this stray will go back on the soil in the form of manure.

Dr. Stark along with other members of his department, B. B. Gracey, Jr., Dr. Frank Himes, Eddy Thompson and the newest faculty members, Dr. Clarence Chestnutt are considering adding beef cattle to the farming program. "We would do this by purchasing feeder cattle to use up surplus grain, hay and seasonal pasture," Dr. Stark said. The farm is not considered large enough to include two breeding herds and dairying is the major enterprise.

The department head believes that when a farmer sells a load of feed he is selling a part of his farm. When he sends beef, pork, milk or eggs to market—produced from seed grown on the farm, he is farming the correct way.

"We don't want to leave the farm. If you have even a small impression we are operating this farm for the sole purpose of making a profit but we hardly feel we have done our best when we train to be alive and moving. You would boys to farm on an unprofitable basis," Dr. Stark said.

He hastens to explain the Col lege farm is not an experimental station but more of an experimental operation. We take the results of proved experimental work and try to make it apply in our operations. For example, there are no bulls on the farm, all dairy animals are bred through the Tennessee Artificial Breeding association. The farm uses hybrid corn and seed, certified varieties of alfalfa fertilized according to soil analysis.

Actually, I can't do justice to the program in operation on this farm. If you have even a small interest in farming you would get a lot of pleasure in visiting this place where everything seems to have done our best when we train to be alive and moving. You would be just as welcome as I was.
