Graduate Students File Intent Form

Dean Howard Kirksey has announced that students at Middle Tennessee State College expecting to graduate in August should file an intent to graduate form by July 1. Those expecting to receive the Masters Degree should file their request with Dean Kirksey and those expecting to receive an undergraduate degree should file their applications with Dean John Weems.

Annual Watermelon Cutting Tuesday

Tradition takes over July 9 when the annual watermelon cutting for students and faculty will be held. This year there is a difference. Instead of the feast being spread in front of the Union Building the cutting will take place in the new recreational area by the picnic shelter just north of the football stadium. So park your cars and bring the carcass over (this includes the wife and children, too), at six o'clock.

Hospitality In Tennessee, Marvelous Says Dr. Smotherman, Workshop Director

Hospitality by the civic and educational leadership of the ten Tennessee cities visited by members of the Advanced Aerospace Workshop from Middle Tennessee State College was "simply marvelous" according to Dr. Bealer Smotherman, director of the workshop.

The failure of Tennessee residents to realize the economic advantage provided by the small city airports was a theme that was stressed over and over as the 58 visitors were greeted and fetted at Lebanon, Cookeville, Crossville, Rockwood, Chattanooga, Knoxville, McMinnville, Shelbyville and Lawrenceburg. Thirteen aircraft, all four-place or larger, made the tour, although the plane of Governor Clement had to leave the tour at McMinnville Sunday morning to make another engagement in Wisconsin.

Hammond Fowler, a member of the Tennessee Public Service Commission, speaking at a luncheon meeting at the mountain airport that bears his name, commended the college and the Tennessee Bureau of Aeronautics for carrying the message of Tennessee aviation advantages into the school of the State. At a breakfast tendered the group at Lakeshore Resort in Chattanooga Tarbell Patton started that many industries had been influenced to come to Tennessee by the well developed network of more than 70 airports and airstrips available.

The entire workshop group, accompanied by college officials, left early Monday by Tennessee Air National Guard transport planes for a two-day visit to the United States Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

This is the first year that the advanced workshop students, as a part of their practical flight training have made a long cross country flight. Aircraft and pilots were furnished by a number of firms and individuals. At each stop the group were greeted by civic, county, educational and business leadership. Civil Air Patrol members also were among the welcoming committee at several stops. Refreshments were served by all the airport managers.

Dr. Bealer Smotherman, workshop director; Miller Lanier, MTSC aviation division head, Dr. Quill E. Cope, president of MTSC, his son Jim Cope; Dean N. C. Beasley, Dr. Fran Riel, Dr. Sam Ingram, Jimmy Jackson, Charles Phillips and Gene Sloan of the college staff accompanied the workshop personnel on one or both of the tours.

Dr. Smotherman expressed his appreciation to the pilots of the Tennessee tour, all of whom volunteered their time and aircraft. These included Miller Lanier and Dan Summers of Murfreesboro Flying Service; Bob Bomar, chairman of the Tennessee Aeronautics commission; Buddy Martin, director of the Tennessee Bureau of Aeronautics, Elmore Meriwether and Richard Shirley of the Nashville Flying Service; Patten Tarbell of the Aromotive Service of Chattanooga, Bob Johnstone, flying Governor Clements aircraft, Bill Locke, Russell Pucket, flying the Jackson Shopping center plane, Bill Locke, Ruth Thomas, Ed Murray, Fred Bunning, Bill Whitmore and Carl Carrier.

Those on the Tennessee tour included Ruberta Bomar, Bell Buckle; Wayne T. Clouse, Manchester; Jerry Nathan Corlew, Ethridge; Eugene Roy Garrett, Kingston; Geneva Farris Gentry, Gainsboro; Gloria Gooch, Nashville;

Richard Hatmaker, Garyville; Evelyn Kellogg, Ethridge; Leslie Lee Kellogg, Ethridge; Margaret King, Murfreesboro; Mary Ella Kirkpatrick, Lebanon; Homer Knee, Watertown; Margaret Lee, Gallatin; Heloise Mader, Nashville; Anna Peal McNeal, McMinnville.

Spenser Messer, Lawrenceburg; Nellie Myers, Lebanon; Norma Peek, Cookeville; Julia G. Priest, Jasper; James Reynolds, LaFollette; Nannie Lou Simerly, Friendsville; Betty Ann Stokes, Camden; Lois Jennings Telford, Mt. Juliet; Miller C. Thompson, Chattanooga; Violet Thompson, Friendsville; Ruth Keltton Ward, Chattanooga; Copeland D. Williams, Murfreesboro; Mary Ruth Williams, Murfreesboro; Frances Winters, Goodlettsville and Margaret Wright, Mt. Juliet.

Summer Enrollment Tops 1,700; All Areas Show Increase Over '62

Two guidance workshops which are to be conducted this summer, registration for the first of which was June 24, is expected to drive the Middle Tennessee State College summer registration above the 1,800 mark for the summer session.

According to Dean John Weems the present first session of the summer semester has an enrollment of 1711, of which 188 are workshop students in Aerospace and Science Institute programs. Forty additional persons are on a geography tour of Europe under sponsorship of the geography division of the college. An extension course is also in progress at Chattanooga.

There are 228 freshman, 373 sophomores, 255 juniors, 454 seniors, 191 graduate students and 22 special students enrolled for this first session of the summer semester. Men outnumber women 833 to 690. Of the men students enrolled 210 are married and 230 of the women attending are married, with an additional 21 widows enrolled.

At this time last year a total of 1,388 students were registered.

Building Name Plates Appear on Campus

A long needed improvement has appeared on the MTSC campus this summer. Smith Hall, Todd Library, Jones, Rutledge, the Union Building, Lyon and Monohan Hall now boast large 8 inch, standard block aluminum letters spelling out a name-plate. The Fine Arts and Business Building have silver leaf paint in the incised letters already on the building.

Cummings and Company of Nashville made the installation.

Among the attractive features of the Aerospace Workshop for teachers that is conducted annually on the MTSC campus is the series of air tours. This group of Advanced workshop members and staff are pictured on the first leg of a tour of ten Tennessee airports. Other trips have been made to Fort Rucker, AEDC at Tullahoma, Sewart Air Force Base, Berry Field, Atlanta and Marietta Georgia. Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs and Wright Patterson Air Force Base.

PEACE CORPS SETS TEST DATE

Requests from 47 nations for additional Peace Corps Volunteers late this year have prompted the addition of a July 20 date for national administration of the Peace Corps Placement Test.

Dr. Ed Henry, director of the Peace Corps selection division, said the non-competitive test will be given by the Civil Service Commission in more than 800 communities on Saturday, July 20, and again on August 24. Both start at 8:30 a.m.

"In order to meet even the most urgent requests from Latin America, Africa and Asia, we plan to start training programs each month from August through December," Dr. Henry said. "I hope all interested college students who complete degree requirements during summer sessions will submit their applications and take one of the tests."

More than 2,000 prospective Volunteers will enter training during the last five months of 1963 to supplement the 5,000 now in the field and the 3,000 in training during the summer.

Students can obtain the location of the nearest test site by calling the local CSC. Only requirement for admission is that the applicant has already submitted a Peace Corps Questionnaire or brings his completed application with him.

The test, which can't be "passed" or "failed" in the traditional sense, includes one-half sections on general aptitude and modern language aptitude. Students who have had any prior training in Spanish or French take an additional one-hour test or proficiency in the appropriate one.

Survivor Of "Death March" Plans IA Teaching Career

There are many fascinating biographies on the Middle Tennessee State College campus that only need a tip to be revealing. Such a tip came recently from Dean N. C. Beasley, who in conversation with Antonio Casanova discovered a story of courage, achievement and appreciation for America almost unparalleled.

Master Sergeant Casanova was born in Portugal, the oldest son of industrious north Portuguese parents. His father emigrated to the United States in 1920. Some years later the mother made the trip to the new world, joining her husband in Massachusetts, where he was employed as a machinist in a ship yard. The two children remained in Portugal with their grand parents. In America a brother and a sister were born and in the mid-thirties Antonio and his brother came to join the family and to become naturalized American citizens.

As world War II approached Antonio joined the United States Army Air Force, a fighter squadron, and was sent to the Phillipine Islands. He was there when the Japanese struck. As a POW he endured the rigors of the notorious Bataan death march. His American born brother joined the American Army, the 117th Division. He was sent to the European theatre and there gave his life in the Battle of the Bulge.

Meantime Antonio and some of his fellow prisoners of war were sent to Japan. Some of these POW ships were sunk by American submarines and bombers. That on which Antonio was a passenger had a narrow escape from American torpedoes. Assigned to work in a Japanese steel mill his life until near the close of the war was a grinding routine of harsh labor, poor food and constant danger. These mills were the primary target of the American bomber which hit Nagasaki (the secondary target) on August 9, 1945. The same day these mills were turned into a holocaust by incendiaries.

Pollard, Nashville; Marion Joyce Poyner, Columbia; Orlenas LeRoy Rice, Jr., Murfreesboro; James Luther Roberts, Murfreesboro; Martha Ann Robinson, Murfreesboro; Lee Douglas Ross, Tracy City; Claudia Springer Russ, Loretto; Henry Siemers, III, Murfreesboro.

Russell Stormy Stamper, Murfreesboro; Ernest Winston Stoddard, Murfreesboro; John Aayon Swafford, South Pittsburg; Malcolm Glenn Sweeney, Cornersville; Walter Edward Sweeney, Murfreesboro; Katherine Young Tarzi, Tracy City; James William Tate, Lewisburg; Buford Ray Wagner, Winchester; Jessie Henley Warren, Decherd; Vernon Lynn Williams, McMinnville; and Lynn Alexander Williamson, Lenoir City.

Sergeant Casanova is now an instructor for flight engineers at Sewart after having spent the post-war years in MATS. On occasion he has been used as an interpreter. He has attended college in the Azores, in Japan and at Great Falls, Ontario before coming to MTSC. He is majoring in industrial arts and would like to be an industrial arts teacher.

Miss Haynie Announces Plans For Wedding

The announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Casper Clay Haynie of the engagement of their daughter, Mary Carr, to Austin Dean Parker, son of Mrs. Orman Parker and the late Mr. Parker of Manchester.

The wedding will be an event of the late summer. Miss Haynie is at present a member of the MTSC home economics faculty.

FORT BENNING, GA. (AHTNC)

—Army 2d Lt. John M. Machen, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Machen, Route 2, Goodwater, Ala., recently completed an eight-week officer orientation course at The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

Lieutenant Machen was instructed in the duties and responsibilities of infantry platoon leaders.

The lieutenant was graduated from Sylacauga High School in 1957 and Middle Tennessee State College, Murfreesboro, Tenn., in 1962.

M/Sgt. Antonio Casanova describes some of his experiences on the Bataan Death March to Dean N. C. Beasley. Now an MTSC Junior, the native of Portugal plans to teach Industrial Art.

Geometry, Spanish and Aerospace education are among the "elementary" studies of the first and second grade pupils at the MTSC campus school this summer. Mrs. Lane Boutwell is one of the teachers in the "enrichment program," being conducted for the first time this summer.

Howard Directs Local Play; Boutwell and Dill in "Pygmalion."

Dr. C. Edwin Howard, Professor of English at Middle Tennessee State College will direct the first Murfreesboro Little Theatre production of the current season. The laugh filled "Pygmalion" by George Bernard Shaw will be given in mid-August. Dr. Howard, who is the acting chairman of the college English Department this summer held his tryouts during the past week.

Dr. Howard received his Ph.D from Vanderbilt University in 1959. Before becoming a teacher he served as a successful radio announcer until he joined the Air Force in 1940.

Dr. Howard's acting experience is wide and varied. Most little Theatre members will remember his excellent performances last year in "The Anniversary Waltz" and "The Country Girl". He is currently filling a key office for the Murfreesboro Little Theatre . . . that of Vice-President in charge of Production.

Prof. Bill Wilson of MTSC was director of the last Little Theatre production.

Mrs. Charlotte Dill, an MTSC student and Loue Boutwell, MTSC director of speech, are in the cast.

Campus School Summer Program

When J. Howard Warf, Tennessee Commissioner of Education, told visitors at the Aerospace Workshop on the Middle Tennessee State College campus that, "This is the first generation in which the knowledge and skills of the father are not appropriate for the son", he might have known of the experiment in "enrichment" in progress at the MTSC campus school this summer.

Among the first and second graders such subjects as geometry, geography, Spanish and space education are a part of the daily program. Mrs. Lane Boutwell is pictured here examining a copy of "Geometry for Primary Grades". With her are Kathryn Gilbert, Nathan Coates, Charles Beaty, Mark Smotherman, Mrs. Boutwell, Susan Glaze, Robin Alexander, Mary Lee Arnold and Mary Hooper.

Mrs. Dora Bennett, one of the college secretaries, has sacrificed her lunch hour all year to teach Spanish to the first graders, Now Mrs. Boutwell says she has learned enough to carry on the Spanish lessons.

Re-education Of Youth May Become Accepted Pattern; Warf Tells Group

Fifty three Tennessee Superintendent and School Board Members spent the day at the Tennessee Aerospace Workshop at Middle Tennessee State College.

While here the visitors heard addresses by Howard Warf, Tennessee Commissioner of Education, Dr. Quill E. Cope, President of Middle Tennessee State College, Miss Anna Bell Clement, representing her brother, the Governor, Paul J. Rodgers, Vice President of Ozark Airlines and Dr. T. Charles Helvey, Biochemist and former associate of Albert Einstein.

Mr. Warf said, "We are fortunate to have several hundred teachers in Tennessee classrooms who have had the experience of training in Tennessee Aerospace Workshops at MTSC." Commissioner Warf said that the world is in the midst of a "knowledge explosion" which might require the re-education of boys and girls now in schools two or three times during their employable years. Commissioner Warf stated that this was the first generation in history in which the knowledge and skills of the father were not appropriate for the son.

All of the campus School group this summer have been visiting the Aerospace workshop and enjoying the programs presented on the Space Age Education.

Two Sewart Airmen have been selected to attend college for two years under the USAF Operation Bootstrap in preparation for training for Officer Candidates School.

One of these, A2C Ken Coleman, completed his minimum college work at MTSC and will study industrial management at Ohio State University.

This he said would require a genuine assessment of current educational programs to determine future school curriculum. The Commissioner concluded his address with an outline of the significant science studies now in progress in Tennessee schools.

Miss Clement said that she was pleased to represent the Governor on such a significant occasion and that the effort here was vital to Tennesseans and was among the most outstanding such projects in the nation.

President Cope reviewed the progress of the Aerospace Workshop and the need for it. He stated that he was glad that as Commissioner of Education he had a part in initiating the program ten years ago and that as President of Middle Tennessee State College he could continue to encourage the work of training people for fuller service in the space age.

Mr. Rogers pointed out the progress being made toward producing a nuclear airplane and predicted fantastic speeds for air travel within the next five to ten years. He also outlined the progress in safety in air travel declaring it to be less hazardous than highways and pleasure boat experiences.

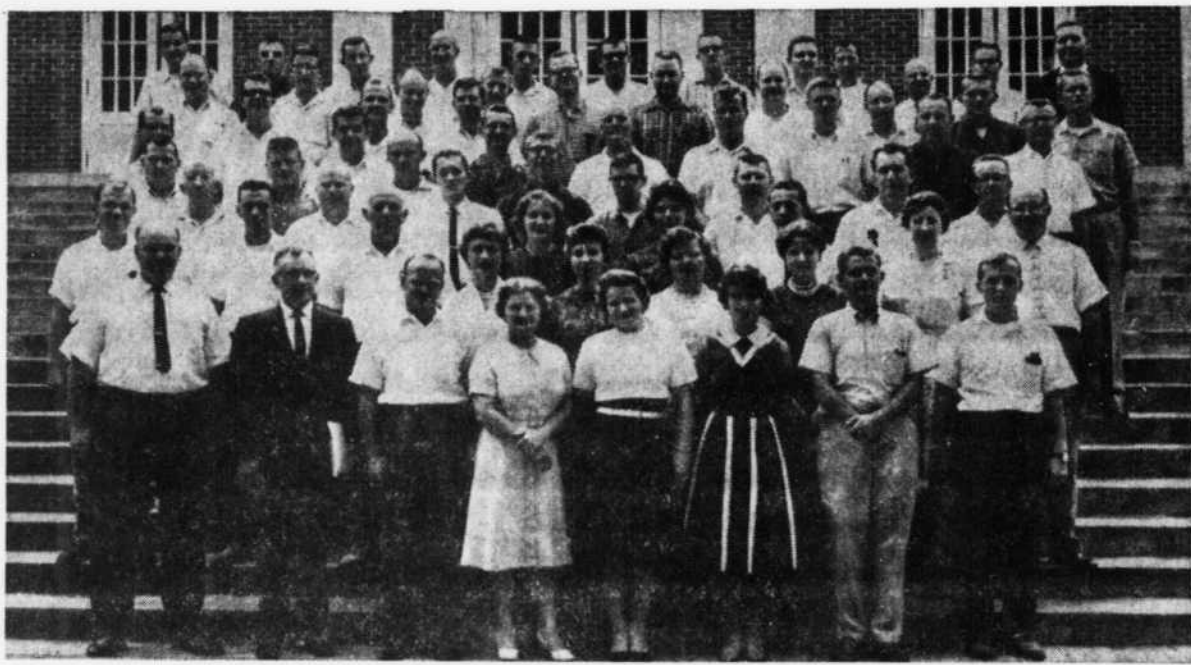

Dr. Helvey said that we need "a different kind of man from test pilots for space pilots. He outlined the program for the selection and training of 35 new astronauts expected to be incorporated in the American Space Program.

Mrs. Evelyn Felder concluded 17 years work with Middle Tennessee State College when she turned the keys of the Student Union Building over to Mrs. Alma Bass on May 31. Mrs. Felder's association with the college covered a period of more than 50 years as she came to the college as a grade school student in 1911 when the college operated a preparatory department. A native of Smyrna, Mrs. Felder is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dickson. Her husband, the late T. Carisle Felder was a claim adjuster for the N.C. St. L. railroad. A daughter lives in Florida. Before returning to MTSC in 1946 Mrs. Felder had studied at Ward Seminary, Peabody College and Columbia University. She was employed, prior to her marriage, by the Methodist Publishing Company. During World War II she worked with the U.S.O.

Nine States Represented At Drum Major Camp

Miss Dorothy Carrier, O'Keefe High School, Atlanta, Georgia and Robert Kisabeth, Newport High School, Newport Tennessee were selected as the outstanding girl drum major and boy drum major at the third annual drum major workshop conducted on the Middle Tennessee State College campus in June. A. R. Casavant, director of the school, made the selection on the basis of posture, carriage, voice of command, hand signals and a routine studied by each camper. Sixty eight students from nine states participated in the workshop-camp. Joe T. Smith, director of marching bands at MTSC, assisted with the camp.

Alumnus Is Named Biology Teacher of Year

James Kemp, who holds the B.S. and M.A. degrees from Middle Tennessee State College, has been chosen as Tennessee's outstanding teacher of biology. He will now enter regional competition. Kemp, a teacher at Tullahoma high school since his graduation from MTSC in 1959, is a native of Smith county. He was chosen "Teacher of the Year" while serving as president of the Tulla-

Miss Putman Among Select Few At Workshop Now Teaching At U.N.C.

Miss Margaret Putman was one of a selected group of 25-30 persons in the United States who has been invited to participate in a home economics curriculum workshop at Oklahoma State University. This workshop is sponsored jointly by the U. S. Education Branch of the Department of Health Education and Welfare. Home economics specialists and home economics educators will work together to identify the basic concepts and generalizations that can serve as organizing threads for home economics curriculum. This workshop is part of a project on developing guide-lines for home economics curriculum at the secondary school level. Persons participating in this workshop will represent different regions of the United States and will consist of different types of home economics education positions. Miss Putman, Head of the home economics department at MTSC left Sunday, June 9 to attend the workshop. She is currently serving as chairman of the Program Committee for the Southern Regional Home Economics Education Division. She was chosen as chairman of this group in February of 1963. Miss Margaret Putman, Head of the Home Economics Department at MTSC has accepted an appointment to teach a two-weeks summer session at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, N. C., June 24 through July 6, 1963. The course "Problems in Home Economics Education" will be for in-service teachers and will carry two hours credit. Dr. Naomi G. Albanese, Dean of the School of Home Economics at the University of North Carolina, invited Miss Putman to teach the Home Economics education workshop. Miss Putman left June 23, for Greensboro, N. C., and will return to MTSC on July 15.

Guidance Clinics Holds 2 Sessions

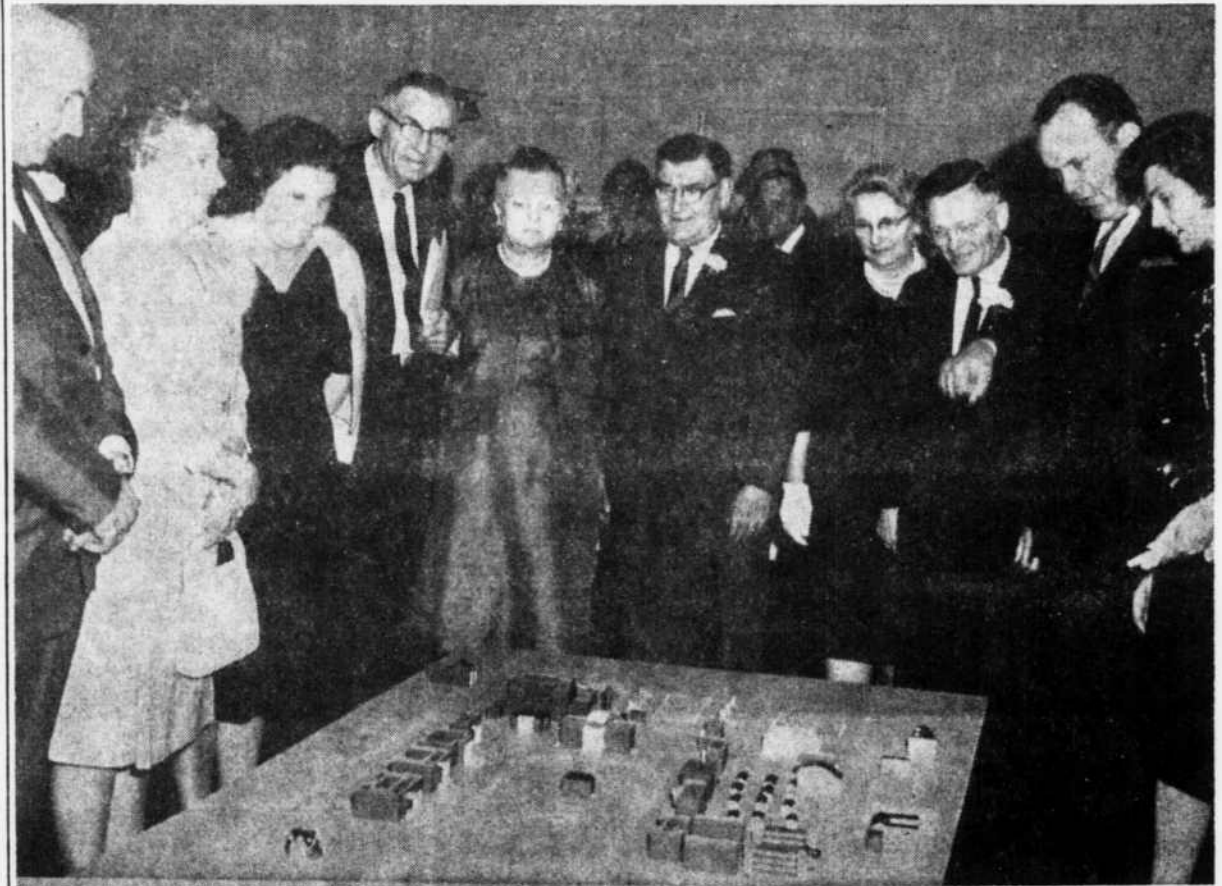

Dr. John Lovegrove of the State Department of Education has announced two workshops for Testing and Guidance, sponsored by the State Department in co-operation with Middle Tennessee State College. The first will open July 8 and run through July 12. The second is from July 15-19. A third such workshop will be conducted with the same personnel at Memphis State University July 27-August 3. Middle and East Tennessee principals, supervisors, co-ordinators, psychologists, and high school teachers will attend the two workshops. Forty three are registered for the first workshop and 45 will be here for the second. Dr. Lovegrove will be assisted by Finis Poole, MTSC, Dr. John Hooker, University of Tennessee, Jack Mays, UTMB and Ed Cullum of Peabody College in conducting the workshops.

Miss Tipps Is Chosen As "Woman of Achievement"

Miss Lillie Brown Tipps, a Tullahoma School teacher, has been chosen "Woman of Achievement" by the Tennessee Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. Currently she is teaching a fifth grade class at East Lincoln School and received the B.S. degree from MTSC in 1952.

Atlanta Area Summer Alumni Organize Clubs; Name Clark, Burrum

Harvey Clark, Jr., was elected president of the Atlanta Area MTSC alumni club at a recent meeting. Lynn Bradshaw was named vice-president and Mrs. Imogene McElroy Rick, secretary-treasurer. Twenty six alumni from around Atlanta attended the organizational meeting held at the Decatur Georgia Federal Savings Building. Dr. Homer Pittard, alumni secretary and Dean John Weems, represented the college. Dr. Pittard reported that the group showed much enthusiasm and planned to have a much larger dinner meeting this fall. This is the fourth out-of-state alumni clubs. Others are functioning at Washington, D. C., Dade county (Miami) Florida and Huntsville, Alabama. Hugh Burrum was elected president of the newly formed Summer country club. Mrs. Elisa Birdwell was named secretary-treasurer.

Officers and honor guests at the MTSC alumni banquet view a scale model layout of the college campus following the annual dinner at the June commencement. J. Howard Warf, president-elect and Lucy Hale, secretary-treasurer, were not present when the picture was made. Gary Head Wins National Golf Title

First in MTSC History

Gary Head's triumph in the NCAA golf tournament at Springfield, Mo. recently marked the first time in the history of the school that an MTSC individual (or team) has claimed a national title.

The Springfield senior golfer's sub-par 69-73-67-70-278 beat out his nearest opponent, Larry Fryer of Hardin-Simmons by three strokes.

Although Head was ten under par for the four rounds, he had his work cut out for him.

Fryer shot the final day's best round, a 4-under par 68, and Head had to finish with par to win the title.

But, pressure golf was nothing new to the Springfield, Tenn. senior. During his four years of play for Coach E. K. Patty's MTSC team, the Blue Raiders never lost a dual match.

They also captured the Tennessee Intracollegiate and Ohio Valley Conference championships all four years that Gary was a member of the team.

Head's final round of 70 brought the first NCAA title to a Blue Raider golfer. He was the only MTSC entry in the big tournament this year.

Springfield State came behind to beat out Aquinas and Chico, Calif. State for the team title.

Gary will graduate in January with a degree in social science.

Dr. Elbert K. Patty, who this year was again selected as the Ohio Valley Conference "Coach of the Year", gives Gary Head a pointer on driving. Head shot 10 under par in 72 holes to win the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship in the college division at Springfield, Mo. recently.

Coach Stokes Announce 21 Game Schedule

Middle Tennessee State basketball coach Bill Stokes has announced a 21-game schedule for the 1963-64 season.

Newcomers to the slate will be Transylvania and Georgia Southern, both meeting the Blue Raiders on the MTSC court. Transylvania will be the season opener for Coach Stokes' squad on December 2.

Fourteen games will be against rugged Ohio Valley Conference foes, including home and home battles with Morehead, Tennessee Tech, Western Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky, Murray State, East Tennessee, and Austin Peay.

In addition, the Raiders will have home and home clashes with Florence State and the University of Chattanooga, and a single game with MacMurray (Ill.) on the MTSC floor.

The complete schedule:

Dec. 2	Transylvania (Home)
Dec. 7	Morehead State (Home)
Dec. 9	Florence State (Home)
Dec. 14	Western Kentucky (There)
Dec. 16	Austin Peay State (Home)
Dec. 19	Georgia Southern (Home)
Jan. 2	MacMurray (Home)
Jan. 7	Murray State (There)
Jan. 11	East Tennessee State (Home)

Earl Hinton, instructor in music will be studying at Peabody College with some college help.

Richard L. McCord, assistant professor of mathematics will be studying at Peabody on grant and aid.

Hans Muller, instructor in social science will be studying at Vanderbilt on his own.

Joseph Orze, associate professor of art will be studying at Syracuse University on grant in aid.

Mrs. Roberta Payne will be studying at Peabody College on study. She is an instructor in library science.

William Shell, assistant professor of business will be studying at Ohio State on his own.

E. S. Voorhies, professor of industrial arts will be studying at the University of Tennessee on a grant and aid.

Those who will be away for the full year include:

John Dillingham, assistant professor of social science will be studying at Vanderbilt University on his own, for Ph.D.

Wade Gilbert, assistant professor of chemistry and physics will be studying at Harvard University on Study Grant in Physics.

Jack Sutter, 6-1 Guard Signs MTSC Grant-In-Aid

Jack Sutter, a 6-1 guard from Galatia, Ill., has signed a grant-in-aid with Middle Tennessee State College. Blue Raider basketball Coach Bill Stokes announced today that Sutter will enter MTSC in September and remarked, "We feel that Jack will develop into one of the OVC's top guards."

The former Galatia star played freshman ball with the University of Missouri last year, but dropped out of school at the end of the Spring semester. He will sit out the 1963-64 season to become eligible for play in the Ohio Valley Conference.

While playing for Galatia, Sutter was one of the most sought after boys in the state of Illinois. He was All-conference for two seasons, Evansville Courier All-Area, "Outstanding Player" in the league for two years, All-Egypt, All-Southern, and All-State.

Sutter will join two other outstanding boys from that area who previously signed Middle Tennessee State grants-in-aid. Coach Stokes reported earlier in the Spring that 6-7 Ed Cannon, the star center for Harrisburg, and guard Greg Samuels, a 6-1 Tresler award winner from Terre Haute Garfield had signed with the Blue Raiders.

Geography Tour Members See Queen; Will Leave Paris Today For Spain

Forty MTSC students and others on the annual Geography Department tour are in Gay Paree today. While on a three day visit to Paris they will visit Versailles this afternoon, the Renault automobile factory and the Sevres Porcelain works. Yesterday the group visited several of the outstanding museums, galleries and other attractions on Paris.

Dr. Ed Baldwin, director of the tour, says they will spend the rest of this week in Madrid and Lisbon Portugal, enplaning for New York after breakfast on Sunday morning, July 14.

Lt. Robert Parker, an MTSC alumnus, greeted the tour in Amsterdam. In London the group witnessed a parade of the royal family and were "in about five feet of the Queen, who turned and smiled just as she was passing us," a member of the group writes.

Sixteen European nations were on the itinerary headed by Dr. and Mrs. Baldwin.

The course offers six semester hours of credit.

Joe Orze Breaks Tradition With Current Parthenon Show

Joe Orze, head of the MTSC art department broke a long standing tradition at the Nashville Parthenon this week.

Orze's work—18 pieces of wood, plaster, fiberglass and wire—are displayed in the naos of the main floor. Here-to-fore the two story central section of the Nashville landmark has served little purpose, but Parthenon director Henry Clifton believes that Orze's works in juxtaposition with the Elgin fragment casts in this large open area, will be on striking interest.

Clara Hieronymus, feature writer and art critic of the Nashville TENNESSEAN, gives exceptionally fine space in her lead article in the July 7 edition of the Nashville newspaper to Mr. Orze's work, his college success at Syracuse as a football player, boxer, baseball and tennis star. She points out several of the major art honors accorded the "pleasant quiet-voiced" magna cum laude graduate of Syracuse who is this summer completing his Ph.D. work.

Among the illustration for the article is "Portrait of Ann," "Black Bull, Shorn," and "Stabile Fish in Steel and Brass." The photographs for the article were made by Terry Tomlin.

Mr. Orze will have a special show at Cheekwood later in the summer.

FORT BLISS, TEX. (AHTNC)—

Army 2d Lt. Casper D. Dixon, a 1963 graduate of Middle Tennessee State College in Murfreesboro, is scheduled to complete a nine-week officer orientation course at The Air Defense Center, Fort Bliss, Tex., July 26.

During the course Lieutenant Dixon is receiving instruction in the duties and responsibilities of a newly commissioned officer in the Army Air Defense Command (ARADCOM).

The 23-year-old officer is a 1957 graduate of Hendersonville High School.

The third generation of Wood family registers at MTSC in the person of Linda Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Wood of Los Angeles. Mrs. Wood (nee Lois Henry) and the famous recording company executive graduated from MTSC in 1941. Mr. Wood father, a Warren County school principal, also attended MTSC. Miss Martha Hampton, Dean of Women, is reviewing with Mrs. Wood and Linda registration procedure.
