Peace Corps Still Open For Seniors

It is not too late for college seniors to apply for the Peace Corps and enter training this summer, say Peace Corps officials.

The answer is that applications filed as late as June first could still be processed in time for entrance into one of the training programs beginning in middle and late summer. However, the sooner the better say Peace Corps officials, to allow for better planning on the part of both the Peace Corps and the applicant.

In addition to turning in a completed Questionnaire, an applicant must take the Peace Corps Placement Test. These aptitude tests will be administered nation-wide at Post Offices in principal cities throughout the United States on March 14, April 11 and May 9. The same test is to be given on many college campuses on a certain day between April 19-30. Interested seniors should inquire of their college Peace Corps liaison.

Mrs. Carole Shelton and A.W. Powell Chosen For Woodrow Wilson Fellowship

On March 12, 1964, ine thousand five hundred and seen college seniors in the United States and Canada learned of their appointments as Woodrow Wilson Fellows for first year graduate study next fall, Sir Hugh Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, announced. Among these were Alton Woodrow Powell, 1011 Scotland Drive, Murfreesboro and Mrs. Carole Lowery Shelton, 1711 18th Avenue S. Nashville. Both are seniors at Middle Tennessee State College.

"The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, which is dedicated to developing 'College teachers for tomorrow', is the largest private source of support for advanced studies in the liberal arts in North America," Sir Hugh said in making this announcement.

Among the 357 colleges and universities in the United States and Canda which produced this year's Fellowship winners, nine were in Tennessee. Eighteen Tennessee College Students shared in the grants.

Mr. Powell is a English major and Mrs. Shelton a history major. "A Woodrow Wilson Fellow is granted full tuition and fees for the first year at the graduate school of his choice, as well as a stipend of $1,800 and dependency allowances," Dr. Hans Rosenhaupt, the foundation's national director, said.

Winners in the competition this year were chosen from over 11,000 college seniors, representing a total of 904 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

"Candidates must be nominated by faculty members and are screened carefully by regional and national selection committees, composed of eminent college professors, deans, and presidents," Dr. Rosenhaupt commented, and added, "Our hope is that students elected as Woodrow Wilson Fellows will become college teachers, although the terms of our awards do not bind them to such rigid commitments. We request only that our Fellows seriously consider careers in college teaching."

Foreign Students Organize Club

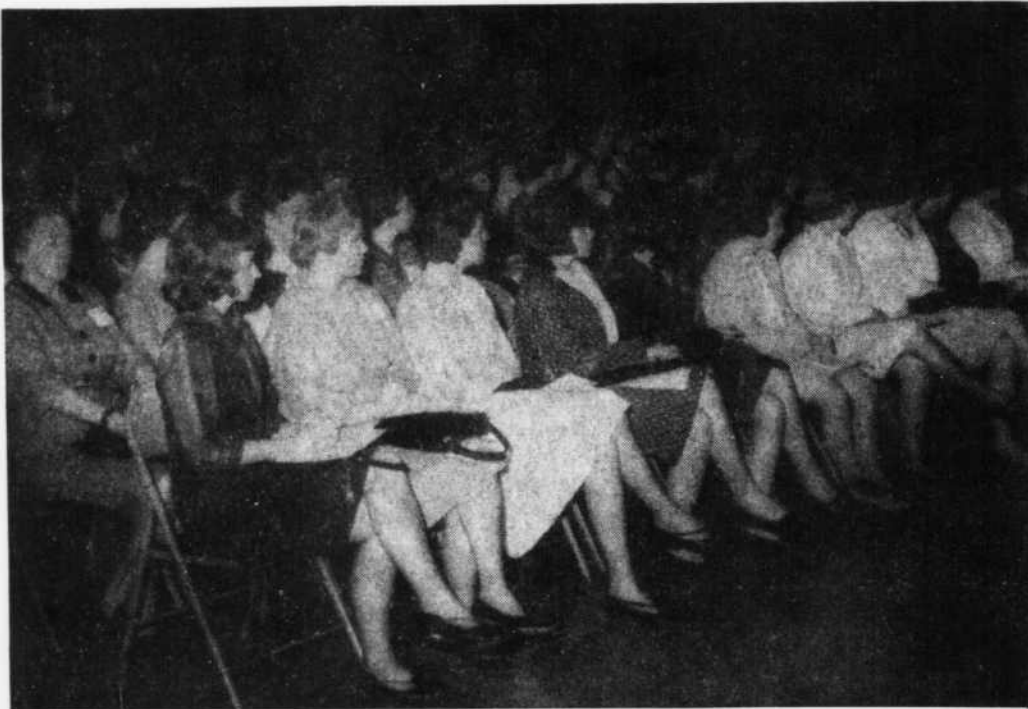

M.T.S.C. students from nearly a dozen countries around the world met Thursday night, March 12, to organize the International Students Club.

This newest club on campus intends to aid foreign students in becoming accustomed to this country as well as familiarizing local students to the custom of others.

Mr. Reza Ordoubadian, sponsor of the group, predicts that such an enthusiastic organization is sure to become active in campus affairs.

A committee for drafting the constitution and officers were named. Officers elected were: Mohammed Mostashari, chairman; Alan Rose, vice-chairman; Susan E. Shanfield, secretary; Janice Redfern, treasurer.

Over 250 girls were present for the annual Home Economics Career Day. Here they view a "Focus on Fashion" presented by Cecil Elrod's French Shoppe.

MTSC Home Economics Club Holds Career Day; Highlights "Focus On Fashion", Campus Tour

The MTSC Home Economics Chapter held its annual Career Day March 11 for girls from high school in the Middle Tennessee area who are interested in a college home economics major.

The registration of approximately 265 girls from 33 schools of middle Tennessee began at 9:30 in the lobby of the Student Union Building.

Carolyn Simmons, president of the MTSC Chapter presided over the program which began at 10:00 a.m. in the Tennessee Room. The devotional was given by Nancy Hammer. A welcome to MTSC was given by Miss Martha Hampton, Dean of Women.

The high point of the program was a "Focus on Fashion" presented by Cecil Elrod's French Shoppe in Murfreesboro. The narrator, Miss Jo Colter, was trained as professional model at Ben Shaw Studio in Oklahoma City and has worked as professional model, fashion coordinator, photographer's model and television commentator.

She has created and designed first class courses especially for teenagers to help them gain poise and develop charm. The self improvement studio courses are available in Murfreesboro under the direction of Miss Colter. The fashion models were all MTSC Home Economics majors. Included in the show were the latest fashions and fabrics for spring.

Following the fashion show, Miss Margaret Putman, head of the Home Economics department spoke on a welcomed topic, "The Home Economics Vision" after which Carolyn

Gwaltney, Miss Home Economics, concluded the talks with "Your Look at MTSC."

High school students and guests were then directed on tours of the campus. Those schools represented throughout the day were (on separate sheet).

After the tours, the girls were guests of the college far lunch.

The Home Economics faculty fulfilled various responsibilities in cooperation with Mrs. Lyndall McMillan, chapter sponsor to make Career Day a success for 1964.

P. E. Instructor, Sue Gunter, Displays Past, Present, Future Of Basketball

By Mary Dean Bigger

The past, present, and future of Miss Sue Gunter centers around basketball.

Miss Gunter comes from a little town in Mississippi called Walnut Grove, where she received her high school training. Her freshman year in college was spent at East Central Junior College in Mississippi. She then came to Nashville where she completed her B.S. and M.S. in physical education at Peabody College.

While at Peabody, she played on the Nashville Business College basketball team. In 1960, when her team won the National AAU basketball tournament, she was selected for the All-American team for her outstanding performance. Also, during this year, her team played against the Russian women's team. She felt that this was an unusual experience since neither team spoke four different languages.

Two years later, in 1962, her team was the guest of the Mexican Government for 10 days during which time they played the Mexican National team in Mexico City. She has travelled extensively throughout the United States and in many foreign countries. Miss Gunter has been, in some ways, a representative of our country through sports.

Miss Gunter came to MTSC in 1962. She now serves as a physical education teacher and sponsors the girls intramural sports and the W.A.A. She just recently attended the National Institute on girl's sports as a representative from Tennessee.

When asked about the growth of the P.E. department, Miss Gunter offered this statement, "I would like to see in the near future a wider participation of individuals in our intramural program and in addition, a wider range of activities in which our physically gifted girls can participate on an extramural basis."

Students Shun Obligations

In the past many students at Middle Tennessee State College have avoided their student responsibility.

By student responsibility, I mean that each person on campus has an obligation. This obligation is to himself, to the faculty and administration, and to the other students. True, this concerns both moral and social ethics, but the student also has a civic responsibility. The student should take part in the affairs of government on his campus. If he refuses to do this, how can he expect the administration or anyone else to treat him as an adult? In the past students have shunned their civic responsibility.

On Thursday, April 2, the ASB nominations will be held in the auditorium. Every student that possibly can should attend this assembly. Especially should the leaders and representatives of the different clubs and organizations be present. The ASB president candidates will be nominated, and each candidate will deliver a speech in which he will probably outline his plans as a campus leader.

Why is it important that each student take part? Because this campus is his home for one, two, three, even four years. Because the "goings-on" and affairs of government directly concern him. Because he has friends and relatives who will attend MTSC in the near or distant future. Because, and this is the most important reason, the candidate chosen for president will represent the voices and ideas of the students which choose him. Stand up for your own ideas; attend the nominations on Thursday, April 2.

ASB Seeks Blue Raider

Are you 6' to 6'2" tall? Do you wear a 39 or 40 (or pretty close to it) suit? Do you weigh 175-195 pounds? Are you a Sophomore or Junior who has a 2.0 cumulative average?

If so, the Associated Student Body is looking for you. Yes, it's that time of the year again to be thinking about a new Blue Raider.

You may nominate someone by writing his name and qualifications on a sheet of paper and placing in Box 2. There will be nominations for the Blue Raider the first two weeks in April, and all candidates will be considered for election.

On Thursday, April 16, 1964, the ASB Congress will select the new symbol of school spirit. In the meantime, be thinking about possible candidates for this position. Or better still, WILL YOU BE THE NEXT BLUE RAIDERS?

MTSC Students Desire Responsibility

During the past few weeks I have heard many students complaining of the "sad state of affairs" at MTSC. If I tried to list all of the complaints I have heard it would take a special edition of the paper. But in answer to the main question I have been asked in recent weeks, I am writing this editorial.

Question: Why don't the students have something to say about the rules which they live under?

I believe the main reason for this situation to exist is because the students do not know where they stand with the administration. They don't know what role they play as students or as Student Government. This is due in a great extent to the lack of communication between the administration and the student body. But perhaps it is directly related to the opinion of the administration toward the students and vice-versa.

The administration seems to view the students as a group of immature high-school students who are in their thirteenth or fourteenth year of high-school rather than in their first or second or fourth year of College. They feel that we are not capable of making decisions neither are we capable of living up to our responsibilities. You may be wondering why they feel this way but I believe it is because of "the Failure of some students in the past." However, this does not in my opinion give rectification for the punishment before the crime or the exercise of control which is presently being exhibited.

The view of the administration through the students eyes is just as faulty as the view of the students given above. For we have a tendency to believe that the administration is always against us; that they sit and dream up ways to campus the girls and put the boys on probation; that they are unwilling to compromise with the students on any issue; and that they are trying to make this a monastery instead of a college.

Although neither of these views are accurate, I will be the first to admit that these are the present views our administration and student body.

It is about time the administration replaced the educational philosophy of the fading forties and fifties with that of the soaring sixties. I feel it is also time a communication system is set up between our administration and our student body, after all if we don't have a voice in the rules before they are made, the least the administration can do is tell us of their new "opinions" before we break the silly things.

But in spite of the faults of the administration, it is time for the students to begin acting like adults instead of high school freshmen. Just because we are treated as such in no reason we have to continue to act like them. We, as students, must begin to think and act as well as talk. We must be able to replace rules with responsibility; apathy with action; and immaturity with adult initiative.

It is time the students assumed the role in college administration it was meant to have rather than just being a welcome mat for administrative officials. I feel the students are ready for the assumption of this new responsibility and they deserve to have a voice in what laws are needed to govern their community.

Seven of our Circle K members will attend the district convention at the Jenny Wiley State Park in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, on April 3 and 4. The purpose of the convention will be to promote the 1964 theme of Circle K International which is "Promote Individual Dignity." Delegates will include Sam Lewis, Terry Webb, Marty Pillar, Wesley Tomlin, Chuck Tomchey, Steve Renner, and Floyd Kephart. Floyd (better known as Skeeter) will be MTSC's entry in the District Oratorical Contest. The group will be accompanied by Dr. Robert L. Martin, club sponsor and local Kiwanian.

One of the club's projects for this semester is a "Grip, Groan, Get Something Done" campaign in which all students are invited to express their views about the rules and regulations of our college in order to improve the school as a whole and get done what the students want. All comments should be turned in to Box 394. Another project for the club is a campaign to promote interest in the upcoming ASB Presidential Election. Circle K urges everyone to choose their candidate, support him, and then vote on election day. Aside from the hard work of the club members, they take time out every once in awhile for social entertainment. This was recently accomplished by a dance at the Sportsman's Club in Murfreesboro on March 20.

A word of appreciation goes to the cafeteria management for some extra special work done lately. For St. Patrick's Day, the cafeteria was decorated in the traditional Irish green with candles finishing off the effect. A big hand goes to M. C. Casey and his student help for an enjoyable supper with the leprechauns. Also, many comments have been heard on the excellent food served at the Inter-Club President's Banquet of March 12. Our thanks go to Slater for these extra special efforts.

The P. E. Club sent delegates to the state convention in Chattanooga on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week. These students participated in a modern dance demonstration there.

French Club President Wins Extensive Training In France

Carole Pollock has achieved what all French students think about a trip to France!

She will leave for France in June and return in September. While there, she will spend six weeks of intensive training at the University of Grenoble in Grenoble, France. This training involves 15 hours of classes a week, all of which will be conducted entirely in French by qualified professors.

Carole Pollock

Carole will stay with a French family during this time in order to get an insight into French customs and habits. The host family has been instructed to speak only French to Carole, so as to facilitate her studies.

She will have an opportunity during the week to participate in any dances, parties, and meetings at the University that she desires. There will also be many lectures and cultural events of which she can take advantage. For the weekends, Classrooms Abroad, sponsor of her trip, has provided for some overnight trips to theatre festivals and touristic sights. At the end of six weeks of study, there will be a two weeks tour of France.

Carole is a junior English-French major from Tullahoma. She has studied French for five years and is presently serving as president of the French club. Versatile Carole has also been studying Spanish for several years. She hopes someday to go to the University of Hawaii for her Masters degree.

The same Lord is Lord of all, and is rich unto all that call upon him.

Bold prints create exciting fashions. Spring is here and so are gay, young modes of style.

Be economical in selecting your ensemble for wear on Easter Sunday. An outfit with that "anytime is the right time look" is definitely a good buy.

Modeled is a costume which with minor alterations can be worn almost anywhere. Worn as pictured, it is fashion-lovely for daytime, city or church wear. With the removal of the cotton tweed-textured straight-line coat, one has a dressy date or tea frock. A suggestion for classroom wear is to button the coat over a long-sleeved blouse that sports either a cocoon collar or the exceedingly popular pussy bow.

The hat is definitely sheik in a midnight black straw featuring a band of grosgrain ribbon. Perfectly styled for the tall girl, it dramatically completes this beautiful and practical ensemble.

Gayle Helton, a junior Math major from Murfreesboro, is this week's featured model.

In order to qualify for membership, these students had to participate in at least twelve intercollegiate debates.

This requirement was fulfilled by attending three or more tournaments during this or some previous academic year. Tournaments attended were those held at Emory University, Alabama College, Western Kentucky, Carson Newman, Middle Tennessee State College, Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, the University of Southern Mississippi, and Stetson University.

The debaters won second place at Carson Newman when they compiled an 8-2 record and lost first place by three speaker points to Vanderbilt.

Meyillan Judd won first place in oratory at the State Tournament in Cookeville, won the poetry reading contest at Southern Mississippi, was a finalist in oratory at Southern Mississippi, and was second best debater at the Carson Newman Tournament.

Ernie Cioffi won the award as best novice judge at the Middle Tennessee State College Novice Debate and Judging Tournament, was a finalist in extemporaneous speaking at the University of Southern Mississippi, and debating with Bob Freeman compiled a four win-one loss record at the State Tournament, and Debating with Betty Walling achieved a four win-one loss record at Carson Newman.

Smiley Recovers Fumble For Victory In Annual Intra-squad Football Game

When sophomore end David Smiley snatched a fumble out of the grasping hands of Teddie Morris to race 48 yards for a touchdown and freshman Jim Gill booted the extra point early in the second quarter the White team took a lead that the Blue's never seriously challenged in the annual intra-squad football game Saturday.

The cold, breezy afternoon marked the end of spring drills for the veterans on the squad, but the newcomers will spend two or three more days on fundamentals of the Raider attack.

Coach Charles Murphy, watching the play from the press box, was high in his regard for the defense of both teams. He complimented the offensive effort of Louis Alford of the White squad and Bill Robertson of the Blue team and the blocking work of Jim Violette, the sophomore transfer from U.T.

Robertson gained 52 yards in 15 attempts, Bob Hloan (pronounced Lodau) gained 36 yards in 14 attempts and Jerry Broadbent got the major gains of the day with runs of 15 and 18 yards. The passing was poor by both quarterbacks due to the tremendous rush put on Morris and the failure of Alford's targets to shake free.

Jim Wilhite sustained a broken leg in the game. He joins a whole corps of injured who did not see game service. These include Larry Whaley, David Petty, Scotty Yeaman, Larry Dotson, Billy Warren, Mickey George, Gary Hill and freshman Bud Branum, Jack Smith and Butch Vaughan.

The White squad was coached by Don Lear, assisted by Roy Hall, David Blair and Jackie Pope. The White starting line up had Jerry

Smith and Ken Carpleanor at ends; Jim Wilhite and Tom Fiveash at tackles; Keith Atchley and Jim Davenport at guards; Clark Maples at center; Louis Alford at quarter back; Mike Jones and Jim Harvey at halfbacks and Bill Robertson at full.

Terry Sweeney handled the Blue team, assisted by Bob Kerr, Calvin Short and L. E. Claiborne. He started George Claxton and Ray Neal at ends; Jack Armstrong and Ron Camp at tackle; Duane Brown and James Donnelly at guards; Bubber Randolph at center; Ted Morris at quarterback, Bob Hlodan and Jimbo Pearson at halfbacks and Jim Violette at full.

Two Gridders Sign Grant-In-Aid

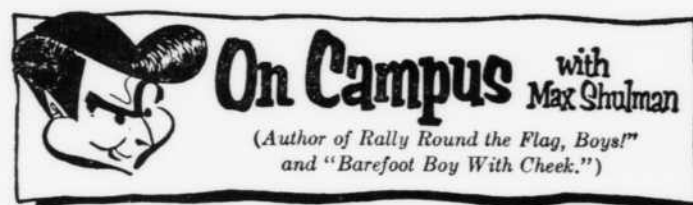

Two outstanding Castle Heights Military Academy gridders have signed Middle Tennessee State College grants-in-aid.

Inking with the Blue Raiders Thursday morning were linemen Wayne Clendenen and James (Zeke) Hickman. Both were stand-outs with Nashville Overton High School prior to their year of prep play with CHMA.

Hickman, a 6-1, 210 lb. tackle, was All-AAA during his senior year at Overton, and also lettered in basketball and baseball.

Clendenen, who plays end and tackle, stands 6-2 and tips the scales at 215 lb. He too is a basketball and baseball letterman, and was honorable mention All-Mid-south for his football play at CHMA.

Coach Charles "Bubber" Murphy said of the signing, "We feel fortunate to get both of these boys. They have had good coaching in high school and at Castle Heights, and we feel both are real prospects for college ball."

WELL-KNOWN FAMOUS PEOPLE: No. 1

This is the first in a series of 48 million columns examining the careers of men who have significantly altered the world we live in. We begin today with Max Planck.

Max Planck (or The Pearl of the Pacific, as he is often called) gave to modern physics the law known as Planck's Constant. Many people when they first hear of this law, throw up their hands and exclaim, "Golly whiskers, this is too deep for little old me!"

(Incidentally, speaking of whiskers, I cannot help but mention Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades. Personna is the blade for people who can't shave after every meal. It shaves you closely, cleanly, and more frequently than any other stainless steel blade on the market. The makers of Personna have publicly declared—and do here repeat—that if Personna Blades don't give you more luxury shaves than any other stainless steel blade, they will buy you whatever blade you think is better. Could anything be more fair? I, for one, think not.)

But I digress. We were speaking of Planck's Constant, which is not, as many think, difficult to understand. It simply states that matter sometimes behaves like waves, and waves sometimes behave like matter. To give you a homely illustration, pick up your pencil and wave it. Your pencil, you will surely agree, is matter—yet look at the little rascal wave! Or take flags. Or Ann-Margret.

Planck's Constant, uncomplicated as it is, nevertheless provided science with the key that unlocked the atom, made space travel possible, and conquered denture slippage. Honors were heaped upon Mr. Planck (or The City of Brotherly Love, as he is familiarly known as). He was awarded the Nobel Prize, the Little Brown Jug, and Disneyland. But the honor that pleased Mr. Planck most was that plankton were named after him.

Plankton, as we know, are the floating colonies of one-celled animals on which fishes feed. Plankton, in their turn, feed upon one-half celled animals called krill (named, incidentally, after Dr. Morris Krill who invented the house cat). Krill, in their turn, feed upon peanut butter sandwiches mostly—or, when they are in season, cheeseburgers.

But I digress. Back to Max Planck who, it must be said, showed no indication of his scientific genius as a youngster. In fact, for the first six years of his life he did not speak at all except to pound his spoon on his bowl and shout "More gruel!" Imagine, then, the surprise of his parents when on his seventh birthday little Max suddenly cried, "Papa! Mama! Something is wrong with the Second Law of Thermodynamics!" So astonished were the elder Plancks that they rushed out and dug the Kiel Canal.

Meanwhile Max, constructing a crude Petrie dish out of two small pieces of petrie and his gruel bowl, began to experiment with thermodynamics. By dinner time he had discovered Planck's Constant. Hungry but happy, he rushed to Heidelberg University to announce his findings. He arrived, unfortunately, during the Erich von Stroheim Sesquicentennial, and everyone was so busy dancing and duelling that young Planck could find nobody to listen to him. The festival, however, ended after two years and Planck was finally able to report his discovery.

Well sir, the rest is history. Einstein gaily cried, "E equals mc squared!" Edison invented Marconi. Eli Whitney invented Georgia Tech, and Michelangelo invented the ceiling. This later became known as the Humboldt Current.

© 1964 Max Shulman

Mr. Shulman is, of course, joshing, but the makers of Personna Blades are not: if, after trying our blades, you think there's another stainless steel blade that gives you more luxury shaves, return the unused Personnas to Box 500, Staunton, Va., and we'll buy you a pack of any blade you think is better.

Five Members Of Athletic Teams Make Dean's List

Who said athletic teams are more brawn than brains? Middle Tennessee State College coaches can proudly say that the Blue Raider teams have both brawn and brains.

Five members of the two major sport teams were on the Dean's List for the Fall semester. To qualify for the Dean's List, a student must have a cumulative quality point ratio of 3.500 (B plus) or more.

Included were: Bill Boner, Nashville, Basketball; Barry Jackson, Belleville, Ill., Basketball; Ronnie Wilmouth, Bardwell, Ky., Basketball; Larry Leahon, Largo, Fla., Football; and Dewayne McCamish, Chattanooga, Football.

Also included on the 142 student honor list were Mike Murphy (son of head football coach Charles M. Murphy), and Norma Stokes (wife of head basketball coach Bill Stokes).

SIGMA CLUB

World Welcomes Spring Spirit

The Ides of March have again been weathered by the world whose winter-weary inhabitants anticipate the celebrated joys of spring.

In this edition of the Sidelines we of the Sigma Club present a collection of poetry which endeavors to capture the spirit of spring. As we become aware of awakening nature we respond with praise and supplication to Him who has showered us with the hope and blessing of the season of regeneration. Symbolic of the cleansed rebirth of Man, the Easter season brings with itself the reviving rain with its consequent bursts of vernal glory.

For some spring is a lonely season—in their attempt to consolidate themselves with this new Nature some try too hard and are disappointed; some underplay their part and receive no applause. Yet it is a season of love, unmoored perhaps, but love which searches for its direction as well as its source. This spring-love seems to be an agent which quickens the fibre of us all—but especially of the poet. Our poems this issue examine the glory of Nature and Her Creator, the vivacious and and somber aspects of rain, the multifaceted mysticism of love, and (as we consult our expert zoological affairs, Jere Don Hookey, the marvelous regenerative qualities of nature. We hope that you enjoy the selection.

We welcome contributions of material from every student and encourage you to send yours to Box 1262, MTSC. Those of you who are interested in creative expression are most cordially invited to attend an informal meeting March 30 at 6:30 in Dining Room A of the SUB.

If you have written material we urge you to bring it to this small "literary circle" and participate in what promises to be a stimulating evening. If you haven't any written material but are simply interested in creative writing please do not hesitate to attend—we welcome all students and hope especially that those who have had their work published in these pages will make every effort to come and share their art with others.

GOD'S PRESENCE

In a towering thunderhead far out at sea,
Or in a rollicking brook,
In the topmost reaches of a redoak tree,
Or in some hidden nook.
In the gossamer radiance of my darling's hair,
Or in a spray of goldenrod,
In the laugh of a child at the county fair
—There I often see my God.
And if I with my paltry wisdom can see
My Maker in each of these,
I wonder just what he can see in me
—And if he I please.

J. D. Austin

UMBRELLAS ON CAMPUS

Umbrellas walk to and fro among the buildings.
Like mushrooms they appear from nowhere
During the rain.
Red mushrooms suddenly popping out of doorways—
Black mushrooms sedately marching down the sidewalk—
Dotted mushrooms gayly tripping across the campus—
Checkered mushrooms disappearing into buildings—
Dripping with rain.
All along the sidewalk colors blossom
As students scamper into the buildings.
I love to watch the couples huddle
And hold close together 'neath one umbrella
So wrapped up they fail to notice
It's stopped raining.

Martha E. Gervin

THE CAMPUS ON A RAINY NIGHT

The black night clouds hung like a wet cloak over the earth,
Invisible drops filled the air
and cast their toll on the earth.
The earth; wholesome mother—
Now mud!
Mud that sucks and pulls against the night traveler.
The campus felt the rains
and shivered in the cold darkness;
But there were lights—
Lights beamed forms into the night
One single lamp seemed to reflect and multiply itself in the set, mirrored surfaces,
Then reflect again and again
Lights of Science—Language—Truth
Lights of red—blue—green
Lights from busy dorms
And dim, waning lights
from deserted classrooms and empty offices
Each reflecting and multiplying together—
Until at last
From under the black veil of the wet clouds
There appeared—or was created
On this one spot
a light
A light that sparkled and shone,
So that even the wet, sordid air seemed to glow—
Or did it glow?

—C. W. Allen

PRAYER

Father, my heart is ill-beset by love that pounds not in the veins, nor leaps nor rages
love that breaks through music or lingers above our sleep. Here is a voice that has moved for ages
among the leaves. The rising shadow—whir
of wings that dip above a century's fears,
and all the worlds that menace cool or stir
are dwindled by its psalming
through the years.
I kneel within an ancient sacristy dull in the shadow of cassock and cord—the night's vast pulse beats out a litany
and I am bent beneath a grief,
my Lord,
compounding the world's resurgent cries—
I see a whip, a storm, and dream-shocked eyes.

A. W. Powell

(UNTITLED)

I awoke.
I opened my eyes and looked,
And the beauty of the day rushed wildly toward me.
It pressed against the window pane.
It seeped in and filled my very soul with gladness.
My heart sank, and leaped for joy,
I feasted.
My heart wondered at what my eyes beheld;
Old Sol in all his glory hung suspended
Just above the blue-green mass of forest.
Surely could be no accident
This wonder I beheld.
Who dares to think that God is not Lord of all?
Nature.
Ah! Nature.
Sister of my soul.
Created by the God who brings forth all things good.
The rose,
The most perfect of all things,
The symbol of true love sent from a loving father
To his children,
Pressing against my window pane,
Nodding as if to say,
"Are we not one? Did we not spring from the same source?"
And my heart sings all the more.
Happy songs!
Merry songs, and wild.
Songs of praise to Him, the father of beauty.
Ah, listen heart,
Be still!
Do you not hear your sister's call?
Her merry laugh?
She waits.
And we must go out and join her in her play
Beneath the watchful eye of the Father
Of us all,
Who created and made as one
All man
And Nature.

Carlos White

OF LOVE . . .

I am dark and light.
I am cold and warm.
Love is like the light of a candle.
It is always flickering in the breeze of life.
I am love. I flicker in the life.
Why is love destructive? Why is love wonderful?
Love is me and you. You are love that flickers in the breeze.
I try to stop the restless moving. I cannot.
I am the breeze: I am your love.
Keep me as love. I make the flickers, but I will stop.
If not for you, I will stop now.
Let me burn to the end of my wick.
You are love. Love is life, life is love.
I am love. Let love live.
Take me as love. Flickering I will always be.
Flicker with me. I am the candle's light.
I will flicker.
Love me.

Butch Berry, rodeo clown and bull rider from MTSC, demonstrates the form he will use during the MTSC Rodeo Club exhibition Friday and Saturday, April 3-4 in the arena back of the baseball field.

First MTSC Rodeo Held April 3-4; A. W. Powell Heads Events On Byahma

A. W. Powell, president of the Associated Student Body at MTSC will ride a Byahma bull to kick-off the first Middle Tennessee State College Rodeo Club presentation April 3-4.

The essay in the new field of entertainment for Murfreesboro residents will employ several students as riders and performers, including two "rodeo clowns" and bull fighter, Butch Berry of Nashville and Bill DuVal of Kissamee, Florida.

New York Post Mag. Features Carol Tyler

Miss Carole Tyler, (B.S. 1960) was featured in the New York Post magazine last week as "The Woman in the News."

In an article somewhat sympathetic to Miss Tyler's dilemma in the Bobby Baker Senate investigation Helen Dudar describes Miss Tyler's high school life at Lenoir City, her college career at MTSC and her subsequent job-hunting efforts in Washington.

In commenting on her work at MTSC Miss Dudar said, "In 1956 she went to Middle Tennessee State College where she did well without scoring memorably. She got to be a sponsor of an ROTC unit, an honor shared by ten other beauties. Out of school she won the title of Miss Loudon County in 1957 that carried her into the finals of the State Miss America contest. She sang in the college chorus and played oboe in the band.

Her college grades were a respectable B. Enrolled as an education major, Miss Tyler switched to English with a speech and drama minor. In her senior year she served a teaching apprenticeship at nearby Lascassas.

At least three coeds, Elner Hamner, Nashville, Margaret Robinson, Nashville and Fran Davidson of Lawrenceburg, will perform in the show. They will work in the barrel racing and goat hair pull events.

Other events scheduled include bareback riding, steer wrestling, calf roping and bull riding. Preston C. Foulks of Franklin will furnish the stock for the rodeo.

The arena, complete with bleacher seats, has been set up near the dairy barns just back of the MTSC baseball field. The show will start at 2:30 each afternoon, Friday, April 3 and Saturday, April 4.

Other MTSC students who will perform include Albert Pewitt, Franklin; Jim Forbes, Huntsville; Tommy Foutch, Murfreesboro; Corky Stone, Mansfield, Texas, and Tom Yates, Nashville. Dr. Bob Alexander and Professor J. E. Young of the agriculture department staff are sponsors of MTSC Rodeo Club. The members have been on the Southern rodeo circuit for the past two seasons with unusually good success for amateurs.

Dr. Meyer Speaks To Packed Theater; Says German Govt. No Stronger Than US Municipality

"We have a real friend in West Germany," Dr. Herbert C. Meyer, former policy officer for the United States in Germany told an audience that packed the Arenat Theater Wednesday night.

Dr. Meyer had spoken at 11 o'clock to an overflow audience in the college auditorium on the threat of Communism. Today he speaks to classes and clubs and concluded his public appearances with an 11 o'clock speech on "The American Club."

Prior to his Wednesday night speech Mrs. Ortun Gilbert and members of the college German Club entertained at dinner for Dr. Meyer at Mrs. Gilbert's home on Greenland Drive.

Dr. Meyer attributed Germany's friendship of America to the aid and interest shown immediately after World War II. He feels that Germany's post-war regeneration can be expressed in the single word, "Work." Thrifty, industrious West Germans, disgusted with Nazism and Hitler, looked towards the American concept of government and economy as a way of life.

Dr. Meyer said that while he was serving in the American Military Government he and his associates reviewed 168 drafts of the West German governmental plan before the present strong Lower House (Bundestag) type of government was approved. The German president is little more than a figurehead and there is no Supreme Court with the power of review over acts of the Bundestag.

The recent series of articles in Der Spiegel and Quick, reviewing the Hitler personality and cult, will have little effect on the youth of Germany. "There are still Nazis in Germany. For the most part they are aging and dreaming of the time that was." Few are able to secure jobs except the most menial tasks. The average German dismisses the Nazis with the equivalent to "They deserved what they got—let's forget them."

Dr. Meyer does not anticipate a union of East and West Germany in the foreseeable future. There are three good reasons for this union not being effected according to Dr. Meyer. These, he stated, are (1) conflict in political ideology between the Western Christian and the East German Social Democrats; (2) the fears of Poland of a re-united Germany and (3) the desire of Russia to preserve a satellite buffer zone.
