Readmission Policies Released By College

Dean of Admissions John E. Weems has released a student exclusion policy for the Spring Semester. Students must meet the requirements set up by the admissions office in order to return for the Fall Semester. "However," Mr. Weems points out, "Should a person be ineligible for readmittance at the end of this semester, he will be allowed the opportunity to bring his work up to the required level during our summer session."

The exclusion policy for the Fall Semester, 1962 is as follows:

1. Freshmen failing to pass a minimum of one half of the semester hours attempted for two successive semesters will be denied readmission.

2. Students having been in attendance for two semesters and have attempted between 24 and 59 semester hours whose cumulative ratio is less than 1.5 will be denied readmission.

3. Students having attempted between 60 and 83 semester hours whose cumulative ratio is less than 1.65 will be denied readmission.

4. Students having attempted 84 or more semester hours whose cumulative ratio is less than 1.8 will be denied admission.

5. First semester transfers who presented less than a 2.0 q.p.r. (C average) on college work taken elsewhere, making less than a 1.8 q.p.r. will be denied admission.

Note: 1. Any student who makes a 2.0 q.p.r. on the work taken during the Spring Semester will be readmitted at his request regardless of cumulative quality point ratio.

2. Any student that is excluded at the end of the Spring Semester, 1962, will be given the opportunity to attend the summer session with the intention of raising his q.p.r. to meet the minimum eligibility standards.

Superlatives Named As 450 Go To Polls

In an all-campus election held last Wednesday, with run-offs Friday, Charlie Harrell, Linda Sue Reeves, Charlene Bentley, Sally Baker, Porter Maxwell, and Eddie Newton, were named 1962 Superlatives. They were honored, respectively, as most versatile boy, Miss MTSC, most versatile girl, most popular boy, and bachelor of ugliness.

Some 450 students exercised their voting right. Mr. Harrell, math major from Woodbury, polled the largest majority of votes with 339. Miss Reeves, Murfreesboro, an English major, received 242 ballots. Students cast 238 votes for Miss Bentley, a mathematics and home economics major from Lebanon. All three are Associated Student body officials and all have been active in various campus circles during their years at MTSC.

Miss Baker, a business administration major from Jackson, was a homecoming attendant and is a member of Pi Omega Pi. Mr. Maxwell, a Franklin economics major, is captain of the Raider track team. Co-captain of the basketball team, Mr. Newton is a business education major from Somerset, Ky.

Nominations were made in a student assembly, and the winners will be honored with full page pictures in the 1962 Midlander, college yearbook.

Those nominated included: Miss MTSC, Carol Baskette, Nashville; and Miss Reeves; bachelor of ugliness, Jim Nabors, Nashville; Eddie Newton, Somerset, Ky.; Mark Dotson, Nashville; and Terry Bailey, Hagerstown, Md.

Most versatile girl, Barbara Williams, Chattanooga; Miss Bentley; most versatile boy, Pat Gillen, Nashville; Billy Pack, Manchester; and Mr. Harrell.

See editorials, page 2, titled "We Ain't Doin' It!" and "Did You Flunk?"

Most popular girl, Sally Baker, Jackson; Helen Thomas, Hixson; Monte Callaway, Murfreesboro; Peggy Partin, Monteagle; and Betty Alexander, Woodbury; most popular boy, Billy Wood, Belfast; Richard Key, Gordonsville; Jerry Smothers, Huntingdon; Porter Maxwell, Franklin; Billy Wayne Dorris, Greenbrier; and Bobby Melson, Fayetteville.

Run-offs were held for most popular girl between Miss Baker and Miss Partin; for most popular boy, between Mr. Maxwell and Mr. Dorris; and for bachelor of ugliness, between Mr. Nabors and Mr. Newton.

Spiritual Emphasis Set Feb. 26-28

Spiritual Emphasis Week dates at Middle Tennessee State College have been changed from March 5-7 to Feb. 26, 27, 28, according to officials of the Student Christian Union, sponsors of the annual event.

An innovation this year will be the use of three speakers instead of one for each of three days. The speakers include Mr. Webb Folin at nine o'clock Monday, Feb. 26, Judge Sam Davis Tatum of Nashville, Tuesday, Jan. 27 at nine o'clock and Bill Wade, Chicago Bears professional football player, Wednesday, Feb. 28 at ten o'clock. "Spiritual and Moral Values" will be the theme of each of the speakers. Mr. Folin has long been associated with Webb School at Bebb Buckle. Judge Tatum's work in the juvenile court in Nashville has won national attention. Mr. Wade's consecrated religious work as well as his success as a football player at Vanderbilt and professionally with Los Angeles and Chicago is well known.

Best-Dressed Girl Will Enter National Contest

By Dorothy Harrison

"A co-ed from Middle Tennessee State College has been selected as one of the best-dressed college girls in America and in June will enplane for two weeks in New York City."

This story may now be merely a delightful day dream, but it could happen, because such a trip is in store for the winners of Glamour magazine's sixth annual "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America" contest. MTSC has been invited by the magazine to help find these ten outstanding young women by selecting the best-dressed girl on campus.

The judging standards used by the magazine—and the ones we will use—are: 1. Good figure, beautiful posture. 2. Clean, shining, well-kept hair. 3. Good grooming—not just neat, but impeccable. 4. A deft hand with make-up (enough to look pretty but not overdone). 5. A clear understanding of her fashion type. 6. Imagination in managing a clothes budget. 7. A workable wardrobe plan. 8. Individuality in her use of colors, accessories. 9. A suitable campus look (in line with MTSC customs.) 10. Appropriate—not rah rah—look for off campus occasions.

Photographs of the winner in a campus outfit, a daytime off campus outfit and a party dress and the official entry form will be sent to the magazine by March 1 for the national judging.

The winners will be photographed in the spring for the annual August College Issue and will be guests of the magazine in New York. Semi-finalists will be named honorable mention winners and will be featured in a fall issue, Glamour editors said.

Here's how we'll conduct the contest at MTSC. On a ballot, printed in this issue, students are invited to submit the name of the girl who in their opinion best typifies MTSC's best-dressed. These ballots are to be deposited in a box in the SIDELINES office in the basement of the administration building. After the ballots are counted, the ten girls receiving the most votes will be interviewed by a committee consisting of members of the SIDELINES staff, faculty, and student officials, and from these ten, the best-dressed entrant will be selected.

DOUG WILLIAMS

Williams, Marimbist, Will Play in Tomorrow's Assembly

The composer of the new Alma Mater, Douglas Williams, will be presented in a marimba concert tomorrow morning at 10:50 in the college auditorium, according to the public programs committee.

The new song was adopted as a part of MTSC's Golden Anniversary Celebration.

A 1953 graduate of the college with a major in music, Mr. Williams was a student of Margaret Wright, assistant professor of music. His graduate study was under the tutelage of Clair Musser at Northwestern University and the University of California at Los Angeles. For his finishing program he toured the music centers of Europe—Salzburg, Bayreuth, Aix En Provence, Rome, London, Munich, Florence and Vienna.

The marimbist, who presents a varied program, has performed in night clubs across the country and recently made his concert debut in Mexico. A native Nashvillian, he is a graduate of Isaac Litton High School.

Sloan, Former Editor Is Promoted To Major

The Tennessee Air National Guard has announced the promotion of Joseph W. Sloan, 1952 editor of the MIDLANDER, to the rank of Major. Major Sloan is attached to the 118th Air Transport Wing, Air National Guard at Berry Field as a communications-electronics officer. He is also Director of Membership Services of the Middle Tennessee Electric Membership Corporation.

In addition to the B.S. degree from MTSC, Major Sloan received the M.S. degree from Vanderbilt University. He is married to the former Jan Maddux, who also attended MTSC.

Scopes Trial Play Is Set

By June Vickery

"Inherit The Wind" is the magnificently explosive drama which has been chosen by the Buchanan Players for the first spring production. Playrights Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee have recreated in "Inherit The Wind" the historical events of the famous Scopes trial of Dayton, Tenn. One of the most outstanding of recent plays, Atkinson of the New York TIMES wrote, "The portrait it draws of an explosive episode in American culture remains as fresh as it ever was. One of the most stirring plays in recent years retains its folk flavor and spiritual awareness. Bursting the vitality . . . literature of the stage!"

We Ain't Doin' It!

To assemble, says Webster, means "to gather together into a group." Thus we conclude that for ASSEMBLY we are expected to group and man, let's just face it . . . we ain't GROUPING!

We ask you . . . what do you want for nothing? The entire Metropolitan Opera Company? Bo Diddley? Kindly review the assembly offering for the Spring semester. We have had John Kolisch, hypnotist, and the fine music of our own Midlanders; in the future we will hear Doug Williams, marimbist, winner of the Talent Scout program and composer of our new Alma Mater; the San Francisco Ballet; the Lucktenberg Duo (come on now, give 'em a chance), and our own Sacred Harp Singers and Chorus.

Can you honestly say that these programs aren't worth your time? They are carefully selected for your enjoyment. That extra cup of coffee can wait, can't it?

We beg and plead with you, students . . . make up your mind to GET WITH IT and GROUP! You'll like this new EMOTIONAL EXPERIENCE of TOGETHERNESS!

Did You Flunk?

You are a member of the basketball team, but you can only make 9 shots out of 64 tries at the free throw line. You could hardly be called an asset to your team, could you?

You are taking a physical science examination, but you are able to correctly answer only 14 questions out of 100 on the test. You flunk the course, right?

If you are one of the approximately 2750 students who failed to cast their votes in last week's superlative elections, you have flunked your college course in citizenship.

Of some 3200 qualified voters on the Middle Tennessee State College campus last week, a scant 450 went to the polls. That's 14.1%. That's 9 students voting of every 64. That's terrible!!

Curiously, those who have failed in their civic duties are often the ones who scream the loudest about some supposed injustice. Do those people really have a right to holler? We think not. Your vote is your voice in your student body, whether it be for ASB officials or for honors. Far too many voices are still when it counts.

It's an honor to be named Miss MTSC, most versatile, most popular, or bachelor of ugliness under any circumstances, but consider how much greater the honor when the the student body is adequately represented at the voting places.

Everybody complains about the lack of school spirit—and this is as much an example of a lack of spirit as attendance at athletic events and assemblies—but only 450 out of 3200 students seem willing to do anything about it.

A Hand For The Band

Bandleader Ben McClure and his Midlanders presented a program of exceptionally listenable music at assembly recently. Members of this talented group, along with Director Horace Beasley, deserve our applause for their hard work and our thanks for the contribution they make to campus life.

We would like to spotlight Brenda Sowell, the Midlanders' honey-voiced vocalist (and she IS a honey); Johanna Kemper—piano; Ben McClure, Roddy Byrne, Sue Murphy, Tommy McClannahan, and Frank Norcom-saxophone; Paul Ferguson and David Benzenhofer—trombone; Jimmy Harris and Ronnie Noll, trumpet; Don McClain, bass and Bill Skinner on drums. So who needs Ralph Marteriel!

Future Demands Female Minds!

The greatest amount of intellectual potential and unused talents in all the world probably rests dormant in the minds of American Womanhood. Some of the greatest contributions to science, art, and literature have been made by women of the past. Will the women of the future maintain the efficiency in the professional world as the few have in the past?

During the last few years, people say that women are beginning to take their place in the world. Women are beginning to speak out in politics and take an active part in civic affairs. Yet, while these things are happening, the proportion of girls in college has slipped from 47 percent in 1920 to 37 percent now according to a recent magazine article in TIME.

TIME went on to say that of the top-ranked high-school seniors who skip college, two thirds are girls. Of the Soviet engineers, 30 percent are women; and 75 percent of the Russian doctors are women. In this country only one percent of the engineers are women and six percent of the doctors are women. For every 300 women capable of earning a doctorate, only one does.

Many say the only reason girls go to college is to get an educated husband. Many girls drift away from technical subjects because they think they will never need them. Marriage and children seem to be the destiny of most all girls. What will these women do when their children are grown up or their husbands die at an early age? Women need to study for a career for the years in which a woman may need to work or just to give them something to do.

Some women find it easy to pursue a career and have a family at the same time. If America continues to grow, women are needed in all the professional fields. How can women prepare for a career if they do not graduate from college? Some colleges report that 90 percent of their girl graduates marry within three years. Only half of all college girls get a degree.

An education can help any girl if she plans to spend the rest of her life with her family. Subjects in home economics, business, and psychology can help any girl to make a happier and more well-rounded home. We need a maximum use of female brain power to make a better America.

NO STRINGS ATTACHED

(ACP)—Gifts with strings attached concerning race, color, or creed will no longer be accepted by the University of Wisconsin.

The decision by university regents came after nine months of consideration triggered by a bequest last spring of $100,000 to aid worthy and "needy Gentile Protestant students."

The regents' statement declared: "... the availability of funds from any source cannot be permitted to outweigh educational considerations . . . nor should the University accept gifts which call for its departure from its traditional concern for human rights."

(ACP)—Headlines in the TECHNIQUE, Georgia Institute of Technology: "Intellectual Atmosphere at Religious Centers Sparked by Entertainment, Socializing, Girls."

★ Question of the Week ★

If you could bring about a change on this campus, what would it be?

Hershell Hixson, senior from Whitwell: "Put a slight charge on the games in the Rec room so they would be more readily available for all."

Betty Duggin, junior from Nashville: "Students should take more pride in keeping the coffee shop clean."

Pat Porterfield, sophomore from Nashville: "The parking lot behind Monohan needs desperately to be expanded and paved."

Jo Nell McCollum, junior from Loudon: "I would like to see a project started whereby group discussions on current events were led by a qualified person so that the students of MTSC could keep abreast of the events that may affect us now or in the future."

Tommy McClannahan, freshman from Murfreesboro: "I believe this campus needs a place where the students can go at night to study. A place that remains open all night and furnishes the proper atmosphere which one may learn and profit through knowledge."

Norma Shelton, junior from Shelbyville: "Please put a sidewalk from the Ad building to the Fine Arts—where the path is worn so heavily!"

Bob Nipp, junior from Donelson: "There should be more planned activities on the week-ends, and girls who live in the dorm should be allowed to stay out later."

Ken Forte, junior from Winchester: "I would change Fun Night to Tuesday nights. Originally it was scheduled on that night, and it gave the students something to look forward to during the week."

A SCHOLAR

A scholar smelleth somewhat like a book,
And hath a slightly imbecilic look.
He lists a bit to leeward when he walks,
And rustleth like a paper when he talks.
He rummages forever in the past,
And mourns that Grecian candles could not last.
If Helen, naked, poked him in the side,
He'd turn away from her . . . preoccupied.

Ouija Fad Strikes!

By Joan Bates

Fads strike every college campus and MTSC will not be left out. Do you know what will happen to you tomorrow? Ask Ouija (pronounced We ja)—if you believe in him.

In South Monohan, one girl and another she had never met asked Ouija five questions. The next day every answer was verified.

Even the teachers have commented on Ouija in class but are they justified in believing that a board and a triangular object plus the light touch of the fingers of the players will answer any questions?

The manufacturers of Ouija claim that it is a scientific method of fortune telling that takes concentration and should be used respectfully. They even suggest that if a lady and a gentleman work it, better and more accurate results will appear.

Ouija is an unexplainable Hindu magic which is not surpassable in mind reading and second sight. The question of belief is up to the people playing. Try Ouija and see if he can mind read; you may be amazed or you may feel silly in believing in him. At any rate Ouija has sure produced some puzzling opinions. Do you believe in Ouija?

CORREK SPELLIN?

(ACP)—There seems to be a discrepancy between misspelling on campus signs and menus, and professors' stringency with students' writing. Columnist Leora Wynn asks in THE COLLEGIO, Kansas State College of Pittsburg: "Is correk spellin unnisary outside the classroom?"

Will Advertising Aid Departments?

If there are any academic departments at MTSC suffering from a lack of student registration, they might follow the lead set by Brooklyn College. According to Associated College Press, the college newspaper recently ran the following ads in an attempt to step up interest in the lagging departments.

1. "Men never used to look at me . . . but last night I dreamed I went walking in my biology lab coat, when a man stepped out from the shadows, kissed me and said, 'I love you madly, passionately—for the only way we can beat the Russians is by furthering our scientific program!'"

2. Do you have trouble relating while others project? Do you feel You're not identifying with your peer group? You just can't manage to get oriented to society? Be sociable — Try SOCIOLOGY — watch your image rise!

Father-Son Battle Stops Raiders In Close Game

Noble effort by nine men in Blue failed to stop eight big men in Red who ran to Daddy Diddle in the father-son battle Tuesday night as the Western Kentucky basketball team jostled MTSC 87-81.

Two factors and two men spelled Raider failure. The factors were Western's control of the boards and MTSC's failure at the foul line. Bobby Rascoe meshed 26 points and Harry Todd sank 18 points and caught 25 rebounds for the Hilltoppers. Three nights before at Morehead the Raiders cashed 30 of 33 fouls to win. Tuesday they hit only 21 of 33, including the first try of two important one-and-one. Meantime Western hit 19 of 25 efforts from the free throw lane, and hit for 39.1 per cent from the field.

The phenomenal shooting of Rascoe is best illustrated in the fact that he hit six straight field shots and five fouls without a miss midway in the second half. This gave the Hilltoppers a 13 point lead that the Raiders were simply unable to whittle down, particularly when four key foul shots were missed in this interim.

Scoring by the Raiders was fairly distributed with Paul Holland hitting 19, Bennet Jent, Ed Newton, Bill Nickell and Jack McCauley rolling eights. Dailey scored 10, Baker 4, Jones 2, and Peek 2.

Representatives for the Bell Telephone News, a trade publication, were down to make pictures of Ed senior and Ed junior for a feature story arranged by the college's publicity departments. Mr. Diddle seemed well recovered from his mid-winter illness. This marked the eighth time the father and son-coached teams have met. Only once has Junior topped his famous father's team.

Sparked by Sam Busby's 199-196-566 the Geezenstacks of the MTSC mixed couples league whitewashed the A.A.A. quartet despite the 1661 shot by the triple "A's". The 1690 tallied up by the Geezenstacks, runner-up team high for the season, topped the team series for the day and topped the A.A.A. team from first place.

The Tikis were able to register a trio of wins with a 1479 against the Alley Oops which allowed them to move up into the top slot. The third place position remained in the hands of the Sports who dropped three to the Struckouts.

Seasonal highs for the coed league are Henry Adler's 610, Jim Schenk's 235, the Sports' 1707 series and the Tenn-I-Sce's 624 single game. High averages are Fred Sutterlin's 180 and Henry Adler's 179.

A record of six wins and eight defeats does not sound very impressive, but let's look at the record a little closer. Of the nine games lost, only two of them were by more than ten points, and only three by more than four points—in other words, in five games lost the total difference in points has been 13, an average of less than three points per game. Taking all things into consideration, the conference is fairly even this year, outside of Western Kentucky. The Raiders have had some bad breaks, but there is no doubt that they do have a good basketball team.

At a basketball game in Cookeville a couple of weeks ago the Tech students were ribbing MTSC followers about the Tangerine Bowl. These students failed to mention that in TPI's last two Tangerine Bowl appearances, Tech failed to score. Their opponents scored 65 points.

The MTSC track team will participate in the Jaycee Indoor Meet at Memphis on Feb. 24.

Dan Midgett, a local boy, leads the freshmen with a 15.7 shooting average. He is followed by Lamar Holland, 12.0; Norman Sain, 11.8; James Graves, 10.1; Bob Reneay, 7.9; John Fuqua, 6.6; Robert Venanzio, 5.3; and Richard Holland, 5.2.

MTSC travels to Johnson City to meet East Tennessee, a team they beat in Murfreesboro, 58-55. A win against the Eagles would push MTSC out of the cellar.

Blue Raiders Sign Jernigan

Tullahoma halfback Bobby Jernigan has signed a football grant-in-aid with Middle Tennessee State College.

Jernigan, a 5'11", 165 pounder, proved himself as one of this area's hardest running backs during his play with Tullahoma. The triple-threat tailback for the Wildcats was an All-Midstate selection last season.

Raiders 'Hot Shots' In Morehead Upset

Phenomenal accuracy at the free throw line gave the Raiders the biggest upset of the current round-ball season when they beat Morehead State 72-69 on the Eagles' new court. Emulating the footballers of last fall Ed Diddle's quintet came from way back in the hollow to notch this important decision.

Down 18 points with 10 minutes to go in the game, the Raiders covered Williams so effectively that the Morehead All-American (who had scored 25 points to that point) canned only one more goal. Meantime the Blue started chipping away, two points here and three there until they pulled up to within four points with two minutes to go. Then a foul and a field basket left it standing at 69-68 with 55 seconds to go. Ed Newton hit a long field goal shot and a hurried Morehead shot went awry and Holland moved up across the mid-court line where he was fouled. With 16 seconds left the Raider playmaker laid two fouls through the net.

Foul shooting, which has been very weak all season, was the salvation of the MTSC team. Jack McCauley hit seven for seven. Jent got five for five, Holland five for five, Dailey three for three, Newton four for four, Peek three for three and Jones made one of two and Baker two of four. From the field the Eagles outscored the Raiders with a 36.3 per cent to 30. On fouls the Eagles hit only 15 of 25—their lowest home percentage of the season.

Ed Newton led the Raiders with 20 points while McCauley notched 15. Morehead outscored MTSC 45-33 the first half but faltered in the last canto being able to hit only 24 points while the Raiders counted 39.

Coach Ed Diddle was elated at the fine play of his entire squad, particularly of some of the boys who have previously been sitting in a reserve status.

RUTLEDGE HALL

Feb. 3 was fast drawing to a close when a group of Margie Bolton's friends surprised her with a birthday party. It was Margie's nineteenth birthday. The girls who stayed in the dorm that weekend attended the party.

On Feb. 5, Ernestine Harris was given a party to celebrate her nineteenth birthday. Those attending the party were Sandra Millsaps, Sandra Wynne, Anne Collier, Earlene Erwin, Sharon Lee, Freida Jones, Olga Balko, Gail Gray, Janice Smith, Pat Harris, Nancy Aycock, and Margie Bolton.

Some of Kaye Vanzant's friends gave her a birthday party on Thursday afternoon Feb. 15. Those who helped Kaye eat her birthday cake were Sandra Cowser, Winston Moore, Judy Tipples, Suzanne Lee, Jean Stenson, Faye Richardson, Katherine Anderson, Pat Harris, Carolyn Luna, and Marilyn Mayo.

Last Saturday night, Linda Brannum was given a surprise birthday party by Kay Atkins, Sharon Lee, and Suzanne Lee. Everyone who was there enjoyed Linda's party.

SOUTH MONOHAN HALL

Valentine's Day has come and gone but South Monohan was one dorm that didn't allow it to pass by unnoticed. Wednesday night found a rip-roaring punch and cookies party going on in the lobby.

Herbie Wheeler was in charge of the entertainment and games while Jo Ann McBee and Carolyn Panter prepared the devotional.

Preparations for the annual stunt night presentations are rapidly underway. Heading the skit direction is Barbara Ann Vaultri. Others who are participating are Elaine Maggart, Cheryl Reynolds, Brenda Bigger, Faye Ward, and Nina Witherspoon. This year the dorm is presenting "College Life in the Roaring Twenties," a three-act presentation.

More birthdays were on the agenda for this month. The first was a surprise party for Jane Dillard given at Cook's restaurant by Kris Strahley, Vonda Foster, Gayle White, Veta Harvey, Rita Warden, Bunny Eskew, and Doris Davenport.

Nancy Dever was feted on her birthday by Judy Carlton, Angie McFarlen and Dianne Suddeth.

LYON HALL

"Where the coke runs freely," describes Lyon Hall on the night of Feb. 13. It was not an early Valentine Party. Pat McEntire just put a nickel in the coke machine and treated the entire dorm to free cold drinks for about 30 minutes. Because the machine would not stop flowing, the drink company is out a few hundred nickels.

But coke wasn't the only thing that overflowed. So did the shower

Lyon Gets Valentine Talk from Dr. Martin

By Jean Massey

"The next best thing to cupid" entertained the girls at Lyon Hall for a Valentine party, Feb. 14. Dr. Martin, head of the psychology department, said, "when I was asked to speak before the girls I was led to believe it was a pajama party, so I brought my pair of silk pajamas and happy coat."

Dr. Martin told about how Valentine's Day began, and read two love sonnets. The first was by Elizabeth Browning, "How Do I Love Thee," written to her husband. The second was the answer to the first, "You'll Love Me Yet."

"Girls once used the eve of Valentine's Day to discover their future husbands and to see if marriage was possible," Dr. Martin explained. "The girls peeked through a key hole and if they saw two objects, they would be married. They wrote on paper the names of boy friends and rolled the paper in clay balls and dropped them in the water. The clay ball that floated to the top first was it. Then the mother and the daughter started making future wedding plans."

The party was concluded with refreshments and group singing.

—right on top of Pat Simmons' head. Congratulations, Pat, on your engagement.

It seems that Lyon has a special interest in keeping her money safe. At a recent house meeting, Margaret Robinson and Pam King were elected co-treasurers for the dorm.

Did you see Mary Smith in that dive—that is the Triton club swim meet? She displayed some good diving.

All the girls are really excited about the "big date"—Feb. 22, which is stunt night. They are all working hard and enjoying it and also hoping to win.

MONOHAN HALL

Attention! Girls of Monohan Hall. Beware of low flying golf balls. This notice may appear on the bulletin boards next week following an attack on an exit sign by Sarah Halliburton. We all agree that Sarah should get an A for practicing outside of class, but watch the direction that the club swings, Sarah.

We are all proud of Wanda Chitwood who took first place in the Women's After-Dinner Speaking in the State Speech Tournament held here last week.

A Valentine house meeting was held Wednesday, Feb. 14 at 9:30. The meeting was called to order by the president, Veda Ann McClendon; and the devotion was given by Emily Saunders. New monitors announced were: Johnnie Reynolds, Mary Frances Cass, Geneva Reed, Sandra Irwin, Wilma Jordon, Willie Mae Pendergrass, Nadine King, and Dale Carter.

Ann Turner and her committee are making plans for the entry in stunt night from our dorm.

Episcopal Youth Attend Conference

Members of the Episcopal Youth Group attended the Tennessee Canterbury Conference at DuBose Conference Center in Monteagle, Feb. 9-11.

College students from all over Tennessee were present. The Rev. Cham Canon of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Murfreesboro accompanied a group of students to the conference. They included: Mary Kidd, Sunny Stalker, Martha Blake, Judy Mooza, Hank Lancaster, and Frank Norcom.

Father Dunstan, a professed member of the Order of St. Francis, was the principal speaker. His subject was "The Prayer Life." Three lectures periods were given and followed by individual group discussions concerning the subject.

He explored the different kinds of prayer and the reasons for prayer. Father Dunstan stated, "We pray in order to know His will, to believe His truth, to do His work. Pray at any time, at any place, with anyone, for anything."

Communion was held each morning, and each night there was church service. A guided tour of the All Saints Chapel at Sewanee revealed to the group the beauty of the chapel and the history behind its origin. During the last day of the meeting, new state officers of the Canterbury Association were installed.

College In Government Association

By Johnny Stoddard

MTSC has been accepted as a member of Southern Universities Student Government association. The purpose of this organization is to promote better student government, to provide for greater cooperation and exchange of ideas among member colleges and universities and to better resolve their common problems. Each year they hold conference for representatives of the schools to talk over their common problems.

Two bills have been recently passed by the ASB Congress. The first one pertains to the election of ASB officials. It is a rewording of a previous bill in order to clarify matters. This bill states that all candidates must plan to graduate in June or August at the end of the year they will serve and be a senior by the end of the preceding spring semester. At least 90 semester hours are required to be classified as a senior.

All nominations must be made in an assembly designated for that purpose and nominations will be closed at the end of that assembly. No open campaigning will be allowed prior to the nominations. The polls shall be in a designated area in which there shall be no campaigning and order shall be kept by the ASB officials conducting the election.

The second bill passed by the Congress provided for the controlling of absentee votes. It states that only those students who are away on official business from the school will be allowed to vote in ASB and class elections.

All persons desiring to vote absentee must contact the Attorney General or the ASB President before leaving the campus and place a ballot or statement stating the names of candidates that they wish to vote for, along with their ID card in a sealed envelope.

These votes will be opened at the first counting of the votes. They will be used in a runoff if the candidate that was voted for is in the runoff. The attorney general will check the names of people voting absentee by a list secured from the Dean of Faculty's office. This is an official list of students who are away on official business.

Currently the ASB is working on a plan to devise an Inter-President's Council to better coordinate organizations on campus.

The ASB social committee met and decided that movies will be shown on the weekends as long as there are enough people wanting to attend.

Versatile Father George Was Also Poet, Dancer, Math Whiz

By Jean Massey

Who can guess the birthday of the month? Two-hundred and thirty years ago, a famous man was born. He had a special gift for mathematics. He had a liking for marathons dances as well as a talent at military figures. He wrote poems. He had a serious case of smallpox which left his face much disfigured for life with pock marks. He became a surveyor. A Roman nose, heavy brows, deep-set eyes, and a powdered wig help make up his appearance. He is associated with the cherry-tree story.

Of course, it is George Washington's birthday. When the cherry tree is mentioned, everyone immediately thinks of George Washington.

But why is there a tendency to laugh a little scornfully when this great man's name is mentioned? The cherry-tree story has probably done more than anything else to implant an instinctive contempt of its hero in the hearts of four generations of readers. The story has had few rivals in publicity and the fictitious nature of it brings on a laugh when mentioned.

The life of George Washington offers a challenge more fascinating than any modern mystery story. His public career is one of the best documented in history. Although he is truly a great man, Washington "remains an unknown man," according to one historian. Most people know a certain number of facts about his public life, but very little is known about his private life. He wanted it that way. Except to his intimates he was an uncommunicative man.

George Washington truly obtained immortality. For the 167th year after his death, Americans again remember Washington's birthday and his long-lasting fame.

Freshman Placement Program Is Approved

An advanced placement program for entering freshman at Middle Tennessee State College was approved by the State Board of Education at the February meeting, according to Dr. Quill E. Cope, MTSC president, who submitted the request on behalf of the college. The plan will enable superior freshmen to complete degree requirements quicker.

The program, as outlined by Dr. Howard Kirksey, dean of the faculty, provides for the introduction of the Advanced Placement Test plan in effect for several years in several colleges and universities and the addition of an alternate arrangement by which the exceptional student may start his college program in the summer after his junior year in high school.

This alternate plan for attaining advanced standing with credit is designated as the Pre-freshman Admission Plan. It provides for superior high school students to come to the college campus in the summer and take regular classwork in certain freshman courses in lieu of the Advanced Placement Tests administered during the senior year in high school.

Under the Pre-freshman Admission plan a high school student who has completed his junior year and who ranks in the upper one-fourth of his class may, upon recommendation of his principal and guidance counselor, apply for admission to certain freshman courses at Middle Tennessee State College for the summer session. Then, upon graduation from high school and admission as a student to MTSC he will receive college credit for the pre-freshman courses satisfactorily completed.

"This plan," Dr. Kirksey pointed out, "is different from the acceleration of students at the University of Chicago several years ago. Under our plan the student would not be admitted to full status too young and become a misfit socially and otherwise. Under the Middle Tennessee State College plan the student will remain with the high school social group, enjoying the association with classmates in the senior year."

The administration at MTSC will also admit to advanced standing with credit those high school seniors who have successfully passed the Advanced Standing Placement Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board. These tests are given by participating high schools each spring. However, there are few participating high schools in Tennessee. While it is not impossible it is highly unlikely, Dr. Kirksey indicated, that a superior high school senior who had not taken the special advanced placement courses would be able to qualify for college credit by passing the Advanced Placement Test.

Further information about either of the programs may be obtained from Dean John Weems.

Lewis Scholarship Aids Freshmen Math Students

Vivid memories of the dark depression years and the financial difficulties that plagued many of the students on the State Teachers College campus, has caused one former student to react in a generous, heartwarming way. This student is Charles Lewis, class of 1932, and now assistant professor of mathematics at North Carolina State College.

Since in 1956 he has provided an annual scholarship of one hundred dollars to the outstanding freshman in mathematics.

The recipient is chosen by the mathematics faculty at the beginning of the second semester. Assistance from the Charles Lewis Scholarship is not continued past the freshman year. It is the opinion of the donor that discouragements—finance not being the least—are more pronounced the first year of college. Further, assistance at the threshold is frequently the one factor that determines whether a deserving student continues in higher education.

Those who have benefited as freshmen from this scholarship are: Joan Startup—1956; Lester Paul Sands—1957; Clifton Thompson—1958; Robert Pettus Hay—1959; Ralph Willis—1960; Judy Johns—1961.

While at MTSC, Mr. Lewis was a member of the Manual Arts Club, Rural Life Club, and the Sigma Club. He has also been a generous contributor to the scholarship program sponsored by the Sigma Club.

Aeronautics Workshop Is Planned Here

Final approval of Middle Tennessee State College as the site of the 1962 Aerospace Workshop for Tennessee teachers for the fourth consecutive year has been received by Dr. Bealer Smotherman from the Tennessee Aeronautics Commission. Dates for the 1962 workshop have been set for June 11 through July 12.

There will be 100 regular scholarships and 30 "advanced scholarships" available for the workshop next summer. This is the first time any Tennessee campus has been chosen for four consecutive years to present this important training program for Tennessee teachers and is a personal compliment to the work of Dr. Smotherman and his associates.

The course next summer will carry the usual four hours graduate or undergraduate credit. The scholarship aid is limited to in-service Tennessee teachers.

Last summer the workshop was described by objective visiting dignitaries as "the most enthusiastic," "the best" and "the most carefully planned" of all such efforts in the United States. Several aerial field trips are a regular feature of the workshop which also brings to the MTSC campus some of the nation's greatest personalities in space work.

Teachers may make applications immediately for the 1962 summer scholarships to Dr. Bealer Smotherman, MTSC, Murfreesboro, or to James Martin, director of the Tennessee Aeronautics Commission, Berry Field, Nashville.

Club Invites Members

P. E. Intramurals on the MTSC campus encourages girls to engage in team sports of various types, and promote sportsmanship and physical conditioning. Ambition, enthusiasm, and good will are displayed by the performers in their athletic exhibitions.

Elected to lead and direct the effects of the club are: president, Gayle Tipps, Tullahoma; vice-president, Carolyn Williams, Rockvale; secretary, Maryrnell Meadows, Nashville; treasurer, Elmer Hamner, Nashville; publicity chairman, Charlotte Crain, Greenbriar; intramural director, Veda Ann McClendon, Chattanooga.

The sponsor of these girls is Miss Buleah Davis.
