Students visiting the Terrace Room recently have discovered a "new look". As a part of the program to get a bit nearer godliness by more cleanliness the Art Department and Slater Service got together for this striking mural. Charles Massey and Edgar Smith listen to Joe Orze's commendation of their use of the Davis technique with Palmer base platis tempa in this interpretative study in shape and line displacement.

"SHE WAS ONLY THE DEAN OF MEN'S DAUGHTER"

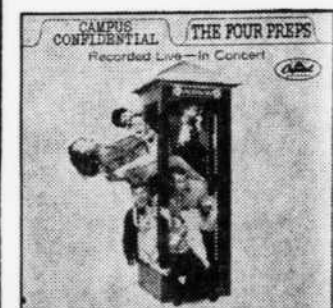

(But oh what a record she made)

The only trouble is, it's been banned. From the radio at least. In fact, the whole darn Capitol album, "Campus Confidential" by the Four Preps, has been banned. "She Was Only the Dean of Men's Daughter" and the other numbers, like "Princess Poo-poo-ly Has Plenty Papaya," are just a little too... well, colorful for air play.

This album was recorded during a Four Preps Concert at UCLA. Their performance was wildly appreciated by the students, and we strongly suspect it will be wildly appreciated by everyone who hears it on this new Capitol release. (With the sole exception of radio station owners who want to keep their stations on the air.)

So slip into your nearest record store for "Campus Confidential" on Capitol. (In plain brown wrapper, of course.)

(P.S. Look for the Four Preps in concert on your campus.)

What Is Accreditation?

"Accreditation is an educator's term, but the principle involved is widely applied throughout the United States as the laymen seek to find a motel, a restaurant or a dealer who is recognized as meeting certain definite standards," said Dr. Howard Kirksey, dean of the faculty at Middle Tennessee State College.

The statement was made in reference to a new bulletin prepared by the Staff of Commissions on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools released today. The bulletin was prepared that the general public might have a clearer understanding of the terms "accreditation" and "standards" when applied to colleges.

Accreditation should be distinguished from licensing and certification which are functions of the State to protect society from incompetent and irresponsible practice. Dr. Kirksey suggested that accreditation is the responsibility of educators. By it criteria is established by competent bodies to encourage institutions to improve its program, to facilitate the transfer of students from one institution to another and to serve laymen with some guidance in choosing a school he may wish to patronize, the MTSC educator pointed out.

There are six regional accrediting agencies in the United States. The one serving Tennessee is the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. It is a voluntary, non-profit organization composed only of accredited schools. The Association has set certain "Standards" which are not to be confused with "standardization". Standards of the Association are simply laws of academic activity which set certain minimum levels of organizational patterns of enrollment, expenditure per pupil, faculty training, academic freedom, scholastic integrity while permitting a high degree of institutional autonomy.

The basic functions of accreditation, according to the Southern Association Commission of Colleges, are, "to discover and propagate good educational practices, improve the educational process and to strengthen educational institutions".

To become accredited a college must establish certain criteria which is followed by an evaluation by the accrediting association. Periodic reviews are scheduled to ascertain whether accredited institutions continue to meet these standards.

Disillusioned Boy Symbolizes Of Individualist's Struggle

By Jean McDonald

J. D. Salinger's novel CATCHER IN THE RYE is a complex book which communicates on several different levels. It shows a symbolic rebellion of a teen-age boy, Holden Caulfield, against hypocrisy. He is at an age of disillusionment. He sees everybody as "phony", and he feels that it is necessary to escape this phoniness by nonconformity. He is so sensitive to the phoniness and conformity of the world that he strains too hard to be the opposites. He is trying to understand the perplexing circumstances of life, and he is striving to understand himself.

Salinger has not only told the story of the sixteen-year-old Holden, but he has also told the story of universal man striving to be an individual, not one of the herd. He has created not fiction, but life. He admits that sometimes he acts like a twelve-year-old, but he adds that sometimes he acts older — "but people never notice it. People never notice anything."

Murray Holds Derby Day

By Sarah Donna Black

As a take-off on the famed Kentucky Derby, Murray State College held its own Derby Day. Activities included a tricycle race, tire race, greased pig race, sack race, three-legged race, and a limbo contest.

In 20 years, — football and varsity sports will disappear from the athletics program — freshmen and sophomores will attend junior colleges moving up to universities their last two years — fraternities and sororities will be eliminated — and the library will become the true campus center — predicts the National Conference on Higher Education.

Perhaps the most admirable person on the Eastern Kentucky State College campus is an art major who was born without hands. In spite of this handicap, he drives a car, plays a trombone, types, ties his shoes, fires a rifle, and plays pool. This is living proof of "where there's a will, there's a way."

The Peabody Madrigals have been chosen by the Department of State to perform in the Far East in 1964. The 12 members will sing madrigals and Southern folk songs while touring Hong Kong, Korea, and Japan as cultural ambassadors.

A Bridge Tournament was held at East Tennessee State University for all those students who would rather make a Grand Slam than climb Mount Everest, be the first man on the moon, or solve the Cuban crisis.

CAROL AND EMILY

Fashion Shots

By Ernestine Harris

Even the rush at exam time is no excuse for a MTSC coed not to look her loveliest.

Carolyn is attired in a casual flared skirt typifying a note of high fashion. Homespun cotton is the fabric chosen for this "test-perfect" shirt.

This attractive look is further complimented by a pin-striped blouse with a burmuda collar while has been extremely popular this year.

Attention is drawn to the waistline by a straw stretch belt of a contrasting color.

This ensemble is beautifully coordinated for a young sophisticate.

Emily is noted for originality which is illustrated in this costume with the youthful and pretty look.

Smart, slim lines of the skirt are caught at the waistline by suspenders causing thoughts to stray to "faraway places," or "storybook fantasy."

Red and white checked gingham blouse with roll-up sleeves completes this design for a young-at-heart fashion.

Both of these ensembles may be described simply as easy-to-wear and easy-to-look-at fashions.

Egypt Shows Educational Progress; Much National Spirit, Dr. Cope Says

"Egypt plans to eradicate illiteracy by 1970," Dr. Cope stated in quoting from statistics prepared for the visitors. "In the past ten years they have increased the number of children in elementary schools from 30 per cent to 75 per cent, and by 1965 they plan to have every child in school. The people look healthy, happy and optimistic and due to the United States attitude in the Suez crisis have a genuine warm feeling for Americans."

He reviewed much of the history of Egypt with personal observations about its recent past.

"We visited colleges and schools, and I was amazed to find 45,000 students enrolled at the University of Cairo and another 23,000 at the University of Alexandria." He said that the Egyptians were intensely loyal to Nasser and that they were very proud of the fact that for the first time they are a free people. Nationalism is intense. Egypt is a socialistic nation, but according to those with whom he talked, will not become Communist because of deep seated religious beliefs.

"The state aids graduate students in study abroad," Dr. Cope pointed out. "They send students in social studies and agriculture to America, engineering and industrial students to Germany and some to Russia."

"You see evidences of intense national spirit everywhere. In the songs in the school rooms, in the business establishments, even among the agriculture people who plant and harvest three crops a year. While we were there a spontaneous holiday occurred when the third star was added to the United Arab Republic flag—now composed of Syria, Iraq, and Egypt," he concluded.

Working on next year's Sidelines will be Anne Turner, business manager; Ernestine Harris, copy editor; and Jane Francis, editor.

Wesley Director Leaves For School

By Joan Bates

Reverend Joel Underwood, and his family who have served as Wesley Director since 1959 will leave in June for Wilmington, Massachusetts. There Reverend Underwood will study at the graduate school of Boston University and will serve as associate minister of Wilmington Methodist Church. Helen, who is a graduate this year of MTSC, plans to teach in the city school system.

Reverend Underwood has been a great asset to the Foundation. He has seen the group acquire their own student center located at 607 N. Tennessee Blvd., given sermons of inspiration, held Bible study groups, and has been a friend to each college student who has had the pleasure of knowing him.

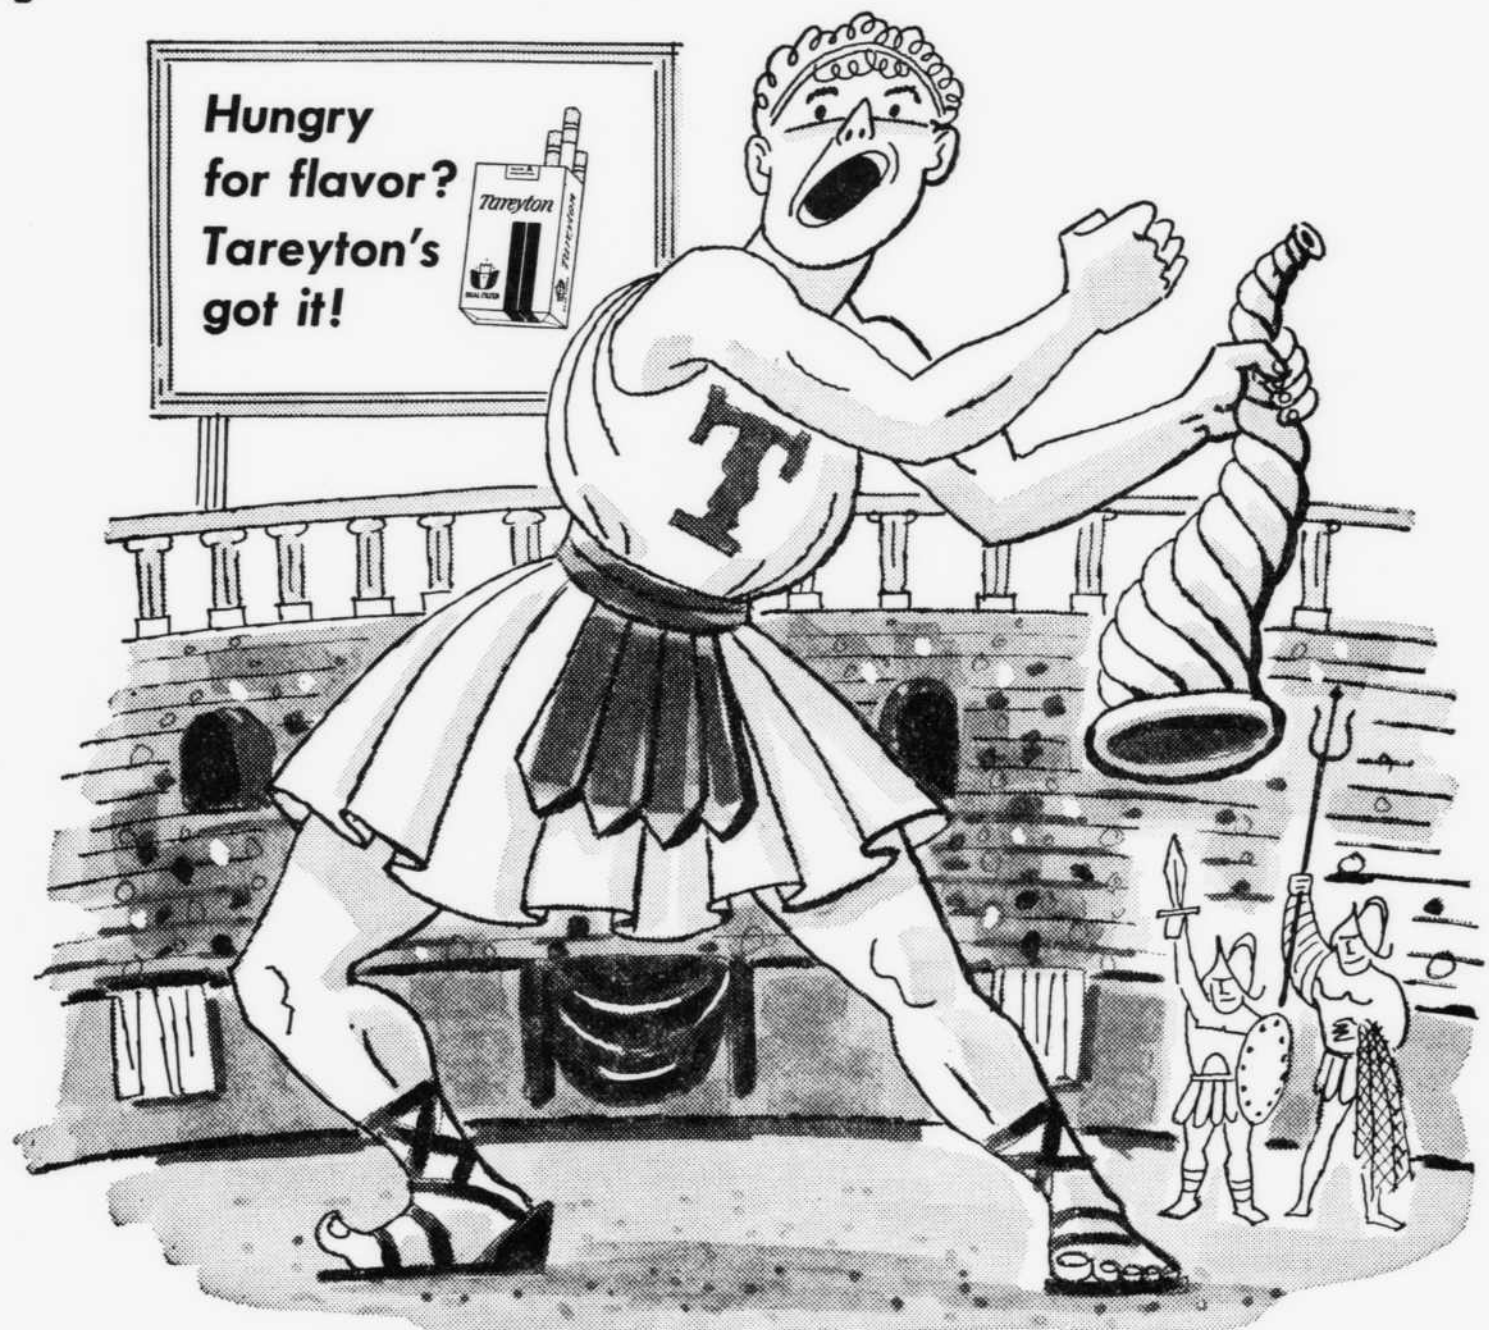

Besides serving as Wesley Director, Reverend Underwood has been pastor of Trinity Methodist Church in Murfreesboro. With the many contacts that the Underwoods have had, the students and community will feel the loss of his services.

Many Space Craft Will Be Displayed At June Workshop

Eighteen exhibits from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will be on exhibition at the Tennessee Aerospace Education workshop on the Middle Tennessee State College campus June 11-July 12, according to Dr. Bealer Smotherman, director. Dr. Smotherman has just returned from Washington, D.C. where final arrangements were made for the exhibits.

The exhibits coming from Washington include Explorer I-III-IV-VII-VIII, a nuclear propulsion panel, Pioneer IV and V, the Thro-Able and Sounding rockets. The Spacecraft center at Houston will provide ten exhibits. These are examples of industrial applications of Space study, flight path exhibit, manned space craft center site model, career opportunities in space work, a model complex, a saturn mural, a Gemini-Apollo capsule, a pressure suite assembly and Spacecraft No. 1.

Dr. Bealer Smotherman is director of the Aerospace workshop, which is being held on the MTSC campus for the fifth consecutive year. Frequently described by official visitors as "the best space workshop conducted in the United States," the work this summer will be done by 130 Tennessee teachers. Thirty of these are back for the second year and will make aviation tours of the State during the course of the program. One of the highlights of the frequent field trips of the six weeks session will be a two day visit to the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Wayne Whitt Addresses Pi Gamma Mu Banquet

Wayne Whitt, Nashville Tennessee reporter advocated controls for lobbyists in an address before the PiGamma Mu society fraternity at a banquet meeting Tuesday night.

"Lobbyists", said Mr. Whitt, "give a real service to the legislators during the press of legislative procedures. It is not the lobby, but the techniques that are used that need control", he pointed out. The reporter also stated that the committee system plays into the hands of lobbyists. He pointed out that the TEA, the truckers lobby, the State administration, liquor interests and the mayor and county judges had the most powerful lobbies and that rural legislators were especially susceptible to lobby pressures.

Roger Angle, Pikeville; Gordon Irwin, Nashville and Stephanie Brooks of Mt. Vernon New York were new members inducted into the society at the Tuesday meeting. Officers for next year are Kenneth Mott, Sparta, president; Ayne Cantrell, Lebanon, vice-president; Anne Lowery, Donelson, secretary; Gordon Irwin, Nashville, treasurer and Dr. Roscoe Strickland, sponsor.

Athletics Honored At All-Sports Dinner

Felicitating the members of the athletic teams at Middle Tennessee State the coaches reached a consensus at the annual awards banquet that 1962-63 was perhaps the best year in recent athletic history.

The football team was co-champions of the OVC. The fantastic golf team ran its string of consecutive dual victories to 36 and won the TIAC championship for the fifth straight year and the OVC championship for the fourth year. The basketball team won the Hatter's Invitational tournament and won four OVC games, completing the season with three victories. The track team established more school and conference records than any other. The tennis team finished fifth in the OVC and the baseball team compiled a good late season record.

Jerry Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Allen of Sparta, was chosen the outstanding athletic of the year. The athletic scholarship award went to Ronnie Allen Guess, a pre-med major from Murfreesboro. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Guess and also won the award for the most valuable tennis player for 1963. Other top athletic honors went to Bill Martin, Paducah, Ky., as the most valuable baseball player; Larry Stewart, Clinton Kentucky, as the best basketball player; Bill Rice, Nashville, best football player; Bill Gibson, Panama Canal Zone, best trackman and Gary Head, Springfield, as the best golfer.

Bob Brooks, college sports publicist, gave a brief review of the season in which he pointed out some of the outstanding achievements of the individual athletics in the several sports. President Quill E. Cope spoke briefly of his pride in the achievement of the teams and the fine sportsmanship displayed this year.

Letters were awarded as follows: Baseball: George Atwood, Richard Davenport, Roger Hedrick, Eddie Hobson, Jobe Martin, Larry Jones, Phil Jones, Bill Martin (alternate captain), Don Miller, Teddy Morris, Charlie Reeder, Ken Russell (captain), Morgan Schoch, Tom Sullivan, Ken Victory, William Woodmore.

Basketball: Jerry Allen, Fred Bugg, Bennett Jent (captain), Bill Martin, Dan Midgett, Bill Nickle, Larry Stewart, Ronnie Wilmouth, Freshman numerals, Dick Austell,

These boys were named the most outstanding athletes at Middle Tennessee State College during 1962-63. Holding their own trophies they look over some of the team trophies won by MTSC this year. Most prominent is the co-championship trophy of OVC football, the Florida Hatter's invitational basketball tournament victory symbol and the TIAC and OVC golf team emblems. The MTSC golf

MTSC Budget Boosted By $545,571

With the exception of East Tennessee State University and Memphis State University, Middle Tennessee State College's budget will be boosted more than any other state college next year.

The State Board of Education budgeted the income for the six state schools, giving Middle Tennessee State College an increase of 16.8 per cent.

The budget for next year will be $3,786,330 an increase over this year's budget of $3,240,759.

This compares to $2,125,994 for Austin Peay; $1,739,364 for TPI; $5,496,495 for Tennessee A & I.

East Tennessee State's budget was hiked from $3,864,767 to $4,666,324 and Memphis State from $4,804,199 to $6,314,683.

The average boost for the six colleges and for special schools, including York institute, School for the Blind, School for the Deaf and Tennessee Preparatory School, was 16.6 per cent.

The board also named Charles E. Barham to replace the late Joe B. Sills as superintendent of TPS.

We, who are many, are one body in Christ.—(Rom. 12.5).

By the light of the indwelling Christ we behold our kinship with all men and are healed of antagonisms and mistrust. We greet and bless the Christ in others, and they respond.

DORMS

RUTLEDGE HALL

By Julia Crowell

Excitement is running high in Rutledge Hall as the school year is drawing to a close.

Rutledge's Doris Anderson recently obtained the title of "Miss Murfreesboro." Rutledge must be known for its beautiful girls because the retiring "Miss Murfreesboro," Sandra Wynne, lived in Rutledge when she received this honor.

Baseball and other competitive sports were enjoyed at the recent barbeque — Rutledge was the first dormitory to enjoy this feast catered by Mr. Shacklett.

Beware all boys!! You may be forced into the dormitory to carry down luggage, typewriters, furniture, etc. as the semester is drawn to a close.

OLD MONOHAN

"Let's go get candied apples!" is the cry of many Old Monohan girls as the carnival comes to town. Even the fact that exams week is here does not stop the merriment.

Showers were being prepared last week for those receiving diamond rings. Those recently engaged are Sandy Anderton, Kay Voss Zant, and Carolyn Simmons.

Noted as traditional in the dormitory are the two dresses hung in the closet — one for classes and the other for banquets . . . signing of annuals . . . last minute gab sessions . . . spending last minutes with that special someone before departing for the summer . . . filling every moment storing up memories for the years ahead especially for those who will not return . . . leap of a heartbeat every time the phone rings . . . bare rooms with a deserted look . . . occasional glimmers of studying.

OLD LYON

By Perky Gregory

Moan—groan—It's that time again. Finals, picnics, parties, dances, and sun-tanning. This is how the girls in Old Lyon are spending their last three weeks at MTSC this semester.

All the girls find it hard to realize that in such a short time many of the girls will be Sophomores. Many will be getting married and many of them will just not be coming back.

Monday we have our dorm picnic and this is to be something great. Let's really rock at our picnic and make it the best one Lyon's had ever.

Not too long ago Tina Taylor was given a wedding shower. Now Tina's married and we all wish her all the luck and happiness possible.

Another member of our dorm is engaged. Congratulations to Terry Jackson—much happiness to you.

To all the girls in Old Lyon our President—Judy Smith, our Vice president—Mary Carter, and our Secretary-Treasurer—Sue McCushton would like to express their good-byes and best wishes. It's hard to realize all of us won't be back together next year. But I'm sure you all will agree with me when I say this was the best year ever for Lyon Hall.

Until next year I would like to express my appreciation to every one of my readers, perhaps I'll be writing again next fall. Everyone of you have a nice summer and I'll see many of you here at MTSC next semester.

NORTH MONOHAN

Exams will be here before we know it. This forces us to hibernate to our rooms with "do not disturb" signs on our doors!!

North Monohan sounds like an office building with the typewriters clicking 24 hours a day. Wilma Smith has calluses on her fingers!!

All of the seniors are sweating that "C" or "B" to graduate. You should have heard the screams of excitement when "Beo" Lynch discovered that she passed her geography course.

You can sense the tension in the long faces of the girls. It is so bad that the bridge club only plays 20 hours a day instead of 24 hours a day.

Congratulations to the three Senior class officers on third floor. They are Elmo Hammer, vice president, Carolyn Hale, secretary, and Hannah Romans, treasurer.

SOUTH MONOHAN

By Marcia Emmert

To quote a controversial but well-known phrase, the Southern Belles of South Monohan say, "All's well that ends well." This semester certainly is making a valiant effort to end well—with picnics, dances, picnics, parties, picnics, special programs, (you guessed it!) more picnics, and finals.

If one could be asked such questions as, "Describe the best method of politely devouring a barbecue sandwich," or "List the steps employed in winning a tug-of-war battle," instead of such questions as, "Describe the best method of procuring a specimen of Entamoeba histolytica," or "List the battles of the Hundred Years' War and explain the tactics used in winning each," passing might not prove so hard. But alas, college professors seem unaware of the merits of knowing just how to win a sack race, etc. It seems that as usual the masses must bend to the will of the intellectuals. So we Southern Belles have resolved to mix our work and pleasure.

NOTICE: to all boys, the girls of South Monohan are receiving excellent preparation for home life and are guaranteed by the NAAMP (National Association for the Advancement of Matrimonial Purposes) to make wonderful wives. In case you are wondering just what preparation we are receiving, our maid has had an operation and is unable to work. We actually have to help keep the dorm clean. Really we did borrow one of the janitors from another dorm, but it is feared that they may raise serious protests.

By the way, the last fad of this school year seems to be Chinese fire drills. Kitty Barker, Emily Nickelson, Carolyn Russell, and crew really are not crazy. They just like to stop the taxi and get out and run around it in the middle of the Murfreesboro square. So don't worry if you see six or seven people running around a car in downtown Murfreesboro. Fads are catching, and who knows to what this one may lead. Just think of the consequence if some of our Yankee friends should carry this new fad to New York City for example. It could be disastrous. Happy Chinese fire drills to you all until next fall!

SOUTH LYON

By Sandra Millsaps

"For he's a jolly good fellow," was the cry coming from South Lyon last week. This happy compliment was directed to Mr. William Shacklett, who had just been host at the SLH Dorm party. The food was delicious, and all of us (now overweight) girls want Mr. Shacklett to know how much we appreciate it. Thank you for a wonderful party!

South Lyon had a very unexpected guest last week — the Bell

Witch. It seems that Sandra Locke was frightened half out of her mind last week when Carla Rushing, South Lyons excuse for a witch, came tumbling out of the top of Sandra's closet covered in "ketchup" blood. What some girls will do for kicks is amazing!!!

Well, another year is almost over and everybody is trying to figure out how they managed to get all their clothes, shoes, plus the odds and ends in three suitcases at the beginning of the year.

Midnight oil flows freely as the South Lyonians cram for tests. Seriously though with only a few days left, I review the year with a tear in my eye. Actually when you weigh the ups, the downs, and the inbetweens, it equals a fabulous year that I hate to see end.

So with a sad smile on my face and a hopeful wish in my heart, I wish everybody a wonderful summer, and I hope to see each one of you back next year.

Summer's coming, get going!

If this isn't a great time to get yourself a new Chevrolet—well, we just don't know when is. Why, you'd almost have to be anti-summer not to let one of these four convertibles get to you. Or any of Chevrolet's sedans, wagons, sport coupes and sport sedans, for that matter.

And there are a lot of other buy-now reasons besides the season. Like the care-free feeling you get on a long vacation trip in a brand-new car. And it's a smart time to trade, what with your Chevrolet dealer all stocked up for a busy summer. Chances are, he has just the model and color you want—be it Chevrolet, Chevy II, Corvair or Corvette—ready to go right now.

So maybe now you're all wound up? Then spring into summer at your Chevrolet dealer's.
