MTSC Expansion To Cost $7,900,000

Murfreesboro — President Q. M. Smith of Middle Tennessee State College has proposed a $7,900,000 expansion plan for Middle Tennessee State College designed to accommodate an expected enrollment of 3,162 full time students within the next eight years.

Entitled "Middle Tennessee State College Master Plan", the proposal follows up his first 10-year expansion plan which will be completed next year with additions to Smith Hall to accommodate 200 additional men students and the enlargement of the dining area of the Union Building.

This first 10-year expansion plan has resulted in the addition of about 100 acres and several barns and other buildings to the college farm, the erection of a Health and Physical Education Building, a Union Building, the Todd library, The Natatorium, Monohan Hall for girls, Smith Hall for men, the Agriculture center, Forrest Hall (ROTC) building, Maintenance building, the College Infirmary, Tennessee Fire School buildings, family housing units, the conversion of the old cafeteria to a Music Building, the old library to a Language Building, a residence building to the home economics "Home Living Center", the enlarging by almost five times, the size of the Industrial Arts Building, the enlarging of the heating plant and Jones Field, and the complete renovation of all the older buildings on the campus.

As projected by President Smith in his detailed proposal to the State Board of Education, the new expansion plan would be divided into three major undertakings.

The first of these has passed the planning stage, and parts of it have already been authorized and will be completed early in 1959. This phase calls for additions to residence halls for men accommodating 400 at an estimated cost of $1,000,000; additions to the residence hall for women, accommodating 300 at a cost of $750,000; family housing units to accommodate 100 families at an estimated cost of $250,000. J. S. Holmes, First Student, Dies At 76

J. S. Holmes Sr., 76, Middle Tennessee State College Bursar for 38 years passed away this summer.

Mr. Holmes was the first student to be registered, at Tennessee State Normal college when it opened in 1911. The two-year college later became Middle Tennessee State College.

J. S. HOLMES, Sr.

He was a native of Carroll county, the son of the late Rodney and Utopia Holmes.

Mr. Holmes was made office assistant after registration and continued on as business manager at the college. Later he became assistant bursar, retiring from that position in 1951 after 40 years service to the college.

His wife, the former Ivie Graham and both his children J. S. Holmes Jr., and Betty Graham Holmes Bonhour, Denver, Colorado are MTSC graduates.

Miss Nolan Presents Summer Senior Recital

On August 15, Miss Jessica Nolan, Bassoonist, presented her Senior Recital at MTSC. She was assisted by Peggy Jernigan, soprano, and William Maggart, baritone.

Miss Nolan's selections were:
I Concerto, Op. 96—Mozart
II Mi Chiamano Mimi—Puccini
III Cappiccio, Opus 14
..... Weissenborn
IV Arm, Arm, Ye Brave...Handel
V Suite for Bassoon and Piano Starokadomsky
Mrs. Margaret Wright was the accompanist; and ushers were Shirley Vick, Mary Hefflin, Charlotte Turner, and Sara Chambers.

This recital was in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a B.S. degree with a major in music.

MTSC Contracts For Thermal Science Research

The Middle Tennessee State College Science Department has received a contract from the Office of Naval Research for the college to conduct research on thermal relaxation processes in gases. The work will be under the direction of Dr. Douglas Shields, assistant professor of physics at the college.

The contract is for $11,055. A part of this money will be used to employ outstanding students in science for work on the project.

The project calls for the construction of special equipment which will make possible the measurement of sound absorption and velocity in gases under carefully controlled conditions of frequency, temperature, and pressure.

Dr. Shields, in explaining the importance of the work, stated that, "It is hoped that these measurements will reveal the way in which energy is transferred between gas molecules when they collide. This information is important in predicting the behavior of shockwaves and the supersonic gas flow."

President Smith expressed his pleasure at the selection of MTSC and the recognition of Dr. Shields by the Naval Research in contracting for the research grant. President Smith also commended the efforts of Dr. J. Eldred Wiser, head of the department, in securing this recognition of the college.

Quality Point Count Changed

Beginning this fall, the quality point average will be determined by dividing the total number of quality points earned by the total number of quarter hours for which the student registered. This means that grades of "F" will accumulate a deficiency of quality credits. Formerly, grades of "F" have not been counted in computing the quality of a student's academic standing in terms of quality credits.

Under the present plan the fol-

Enlargement Of Faculty Boasts 19 New Members

President Q. M. Smith of Middle Tennessee State College has announced the addition of 18 faculty members. Two members of the faculty have retired, and a grant of leave of absence to two others for graduate study has also been made.

Among the new faculty members is Dr. Harris Dark, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. Dr. Dark has been head of the mathematics department at David Lipscomb College, where he has been a faculty member for 14 years. He received his A.B. and M.A. degrees at Randolph-Macon College and the Ph.D. from Peabody.

Dr. Harold H. Pierce is a new associate professor of agriculture. He received his BSA at the University of Georgia; the MSA at the same institution, and the Ph.D. at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Gertrude Van Zandt, B.S. Texas Christian, M.S. Tulane, and Ph.D. University of Texas, becomes an associate professor of chemistry at MTSC. She taught at the University of the South for several years, and for eight years was a research chemist with Eastman Corporation.

Dr. Robert E. Moore has been named assistant professor of education. He has an A.B. degree from Birmingham Southern; the M.A. University of Alabama, and the Ph.D. from Peabody. For the past two years, he has been dean at Athens College.

Dr. Robert Womack, an MTSC alumnus who holds the M.A. and Ed.D. degree from Peabody College has been named as an instructor in the department of education. Dr. Womack was formerly the principal of the Lebanon Junior high school.

Edwin S. Voorhies, who has been associated with the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Alabama, returns to the campus as professor of industrial arts. He is a graduate of Georgia Tech and has the M.A. degree from MTSC.

Miss Margaret Putman, associate professor of home economics, was most recently district supervisor of home economics for the State Department of Education. Previously she had served on the staff at Austin Peay State College. She received the B.S. degree from Tennessee College for Women, and the M.S. in home economics from the University of Tennessee.

Two additions to the music department are Horace Beasley and Joseph T. Smith. Beasley, an instructor in music, holds the B.S. and M.A. from Peabody College. For the past five years, he has been band director at Cohn high school in Nashville. Joseph T. Smith, B.S. and M.A. from Middle Tennessee State, will be another instructor in music. A native of Tullahoma, he has been teaching in Georgia.

Burns Phillips, former principal of the Central High School in Murfreesboro, has been named as an instructor in the department of mathematics. He has the B.S. degree from MTSC, and the M.A. from Peabody, where he is continuing graduate study.

Dr. Elmer Raper, instructor in the department of education, has been with the State Survey Staff on School Plants and Plant Utilization. He has the A.B. degree from the University of Chattanooga, the M.S. from the University of Tennessee, and this summer received the Ph.D. degree at the University of Tennessee.

Mrs. Lucile Estes, instructor in home economics, has the B.S. degree from Alabama College, the M.A. in home economics education, and the M.S. in textiles from the University of Alabama, where she has been an assistant instructor.

The third new faculty member in home economics is Miss Mary Carr Haynie. She has the B.S. degree from MTSC and the Master of Arts

Get Out And Join

Editorial

The beginning of the school year marks the time when our campus clubs are looking for new talent... namely YOU! MTSC's organizations offer many and varied activities. We are confident that you will find one which can help you both academically and recreationally. Extracurricula activities are not only fun, but employers always look for the well-rounded person. So, whether you're a Senior, Junior, Sophomore, or just beginning, look around and join at least one club in which you are interested.

The Sidelines staff offers an opportunity to further your journalistic tendencies; and if you want to build a lasting tribute to your school, apply for the Midlander staff. The Buchanan Players produce a play each quarter, and the Speech Arts Society trains its members in the art of public speaking. The Industrial Arts Club promotes the fact that a well-educated man can work with his hands, and the Beaux Arts Club welcomes all who love beauty. If you're a good swimmer, try out for the Aquatic Club; if you like animals, try Biology. The Chemistry Club frequently holds some big "blowouts", and the Agriculture Club is still "growing".

Don't forget to look in on the Home Ec., Athletic, and Phys. Ed. clubs either. Planning to be an engineer? Then join their society. And don't forget the Social Science Club. If you're a vet, you'll want to meet the many others who are in the same boat. If education is your major, you won't want to miss the interesting meetings at which they introduce you to your future problems and their solutions.

Here's How

When it's college time, it's extracurricula time. The two go together like salt and pepper. With one you receive the essential of a civilized and cultured life, and the other, the seasoning and well-being of a full and harmonious life in the society of man and pursuit of individual goals of success. This realization is emphasized by this college and accentuated by your future employers. Rare is the application that does not require an answer to the question, "of what organizations are you a member, and in what extra-curricula activities did you participate during your scholastic years?" This is the employer's way of asking, "are you capable of meeting and associating with your fellow man in a successful and creative manner?" It is with this in mind that our college has provided and encourages participation in creative and rewarding extracurricula activities. These will provide you with the opportunity of meeting new friends and enjoying the fellowship of a happy campus residence that will bring many pleasant and hallowed memories in your future years.

Here at MTSC, you will find honor societies, fraternities of nation wide scope and recognition. Some of these are based on scholastic abilities, other on invitation in recognition of achievement in various departmental fields and club work. Clubs and organizations extend a hearty welcome and an open hand of friendship to all who wish to join, requiring only the prerequisite that you wish to join for wholesome and clean fun. Some offer you the chance to show off your athletic and physical abilities in sports and other related fields; others provide the opportunities to demonstrate and acquire keen and alert mental ability in summoning logic and reasoning in daily contacts in the classrooms and on the campus. Understanding and appreciation of the arts is learned in still others, providing the rewarding opportunities to participate in stage plays, operas, and in the widely acclaimed bands and vocal groups of MTSC School of Music. All religious groups are recognized and provide for opportunities to meet and share in the devotion and beliefs of your own particular religion.

Of course, we aren't forgetting the music department with its many satellites. If you sing, prance, play woodwind, string, brass, organ, piano, or just like to listen, they have a place for you.

Our church groups are a must. No matter what your choice, you'll find an inspiring welcome awaiting you at the Wednesday night meetings.

Now's your chance! Visit around, and see where you want to make your home for your years at MTSC.

P.S.—Don't forget. If you make good in your club, you may be eligible for membership in its national honorary society, an honor of which to be proud.

This was a brief orientation to some of the clubs you will be interested in checking on between now and next issue of the Sidelines. In the next issue of this paper, it is planned to provide a complete list of clubs, time of meeting, and officers. This will depend upon the efficiency and co-operation of club sponsors and officers in getting such information to the Editor, Janet Lewis, or Club Editor, Bob Greeson.

Information should be mailed to Sidelines Office, or handed in at Publication Office. Presidents and secretaries of all clubs or organizations on this campus are requested to hand this information in this week. The information may be either typed or written and must contain following information: Name of Club, Time and place of Meeting, Sponsor, Names of all officers, and any other information, such as plans for social calendar, etc.

School Bells Change To Wedding Bells

Looking over the summer, we find that many of our members have joined the ranks of the ball and chain. Our congratulations go to:

- Natalie Siewert, 1955, and Dale Robling, who were married in Vincennes, Indiana;
- Fern Ingle of Chattanooga and Billy Dean Smith of Wayne, Michigan, both MTSC grads;
- Jean Frank and John Massey;
- Betty Johnson, Smyrna, and William Johnson of Memphis;
- Barbara Fay Smith and Robert J. Martin;
- Betty Jo Hyde and Lt. Allen Fox Welch of Old Hickory;
- Murl Jackson, President of BSU, and Owen Poyntor of Franklin;
- Marlyn Jane Dyer of Old Hickory and Robert Allen Burch also of Old Hickory;
- Margaret Sherrill and Bobby Lee Throneberry;
- Jan Maddux of Garden City, California, and Joe Sloan of Murfreesboro;
- Johnny Bass and Sue Richardson of Columbia.

Tennessean Features 2 MTSC Belles

Two MTSC co-eds received remarkable publicity through the pages of the Nashville TENNESSEAN magazine this summer.

The cover of a July issue had a picture of Sandra Sissom, sophomore from Chattanooga, posed as an Indian maiden talking with Fess Parker (of Davy Crockett fame). Both were in pioneer costume. Sandra was in the cast of a motion picture made this summer in the Hamilton County area.

A two page spread with color photos was featured in the August 25 issue of the magazine. The story concerned Betty Jo Hyde, who received her M.A. degree at the August convocation. It covers much of Betty Jo's life, who as a student here, paid her way through college and earned professional dancing offers while enjoying a varied extracurricula program.

Later in the summer, Betty Jo won a trip to Rome, a mink coat, and scores of other prizes while appearing on the Quiz Program, "The Big Pay Off" in New York.

ASB President Weds Most Versatile

Miss Lillian Sue Richardson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mark Schultz Richardson, of Columbia, and John Graham Bass, son of Mrs. John Bass and the late Mr. Bass, were married in impressive rites solemnized Saturday, August 24, at West Seventh Street Church of Christ.

Mr. Bass was ASB President at MTSC last year and Miss Richardson was elected Most Versatile girl at MTSC.

MISS STORY WEDS

Madison Presbyterian Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Frances Ann Story, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carter Story, to Harry Anthony Sudekum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Maxwell Sudekum.

Miss Rita Hampton attended the bride as maid of honor, bridesmaids were Miss Betty Daniel and Mrs. Paul Carroll, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. Alf Haynes.

Robert Corlew, III, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Corlew of Murfreesboro, was ringbearer.

Mr. Sudekum served as his son's best man; ushers were James Story, brother of the bride; John Moore and William Boyers.

Later in the evening, Mr. Sudekum and his bride left for a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, after which their home will be 1227 Eastdale Ave. For traveling, the bride wore a model of starlight blue and black accessories.

"Wedding Bells Are Breaking up That Old Gang of Mine." This is what some Murfreesboro students have been singing lately. It seems that some of the "old steadies" are either engaged or are "old married couples." Patricia Parker became the bride of Findley Robbins on September 7. Findley is back in school with us, but "Tricia" is working at Chromalox, Inc. Another Murfreesboro girl, "Bit" Jetton, has a new sparkler. She and "Wink" Bennett, alumni and past president of the Senior Class here at MTSC, are planning a December wedding. Congratulations to both couples.

Several people from Murfreesboro have transferred to MTSC from various colleges. Among these are Sue Scott and Beverly Matthews, transfers from Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Virginia, and Bill Moser from Vanderbilt. New students are always welcome on our campus.

Local students were not idle during summer vacation. Anne Holloway worked as a counselor at Camp Sequoyah at Bristol, Virginia. Tom Smith served as lifeguard and swimming instructor at a local pool. Mary Anne Shearin did not have a regular job during the summer, but she did seem to do a fine "snow job" on a certain good-looking Sigma Nu from Georgia Tech and vice-versa.

Murfreesboro has always been proud of our Raider football team but is especially proud this season of Ralph Massey, a local product, serving as co-captain.

Murfreesboro is well-represented in the Freshman Class by Joe Fulghum, Bob Kinney, and Barbara Beck, to name only a few. Freshmen, you all have a lot to which to look forward. Don't feel mistreated — "This too will pass" — just always remember that you can get revenge on next year's green freshmen when you all are no longer one of them.

See you all at the football game!

(The Sidelines provides a 'Letters to the Editor' column for letting off steam, praising campus life, and offering opinions on world affairs. Letters are encouraged from all students. Merely address your letter to: Editor, Sidelines, MTSC; or drop into box at Publication Office, Ad. Bldg. Letters are held in confidence by the Editor, pending publishing. All letters must be signed in order to be printed.) For further information on these clubs check with Janet Lewis, Student Editor, or Mr. Sloan, Director of Publications, Ad. Bldg.

Well, that time of year is here when all of us, especially freshmen, are low on dough. Those "back to school" outfits have stripped us of our ready cash. However, it shouldn't be too long before we're out exploring the vast metropolis of Murfreesboro, and we'll probably be wondering where to start.

On the feminine side of the fence Murfreesboro offers several good stores. Cecil Elrod's French Shoppe is an exceptionally fine place to buy sweaters, especially when they're on sale. Penny's has cute sports clothes, and Elizabeth Michaux's is small, but tasteful. All these shops are on or near the Square. A favorite "out of the way" spot is the Cotton Patch, which has a nice assortment of dressy dresses. It's out near the Nashville highway at 730 W. College St.

Our one department store is Goldstein's on the south side of the square. Here are articles for both male and female... everything from perfume to peashooters. There's also a little nook upstairs where shower gifts can be purchased for only a dollar (nice ones too.)

Men, you'll probably go for The Men's Shop and Fletcher's... veddy, veddy exclusive. Fisher's Sportswear is also very nice.

Two of the most popular shops in town are the Book Nook and the Music and Hobby Shop. The Book Nook carries all those crazy cards that you send for birthdays or not, and the Hobby Shop has all the latest records and booby traps.

The day of the big dance will probably find Linda's and Kitty's beauty shops jammed with girls getting new coiffures.

There are lots of good places to eat; just ask your date; he'll find the cheapest one.

Of course, you realize that these highly recommended shops of interest are only this lowly reporter's opinion; so look around yourself, and let us know if you find something new and different.

Meet Your Leaders

There are five people on the MTSC campus that should be known to each and every student. They are officers of the Associated Student Body, the largest group in number on the campus, for every student enrolled in this college automatically becomes a member of this organization. It is a governing body, patterned after the government of the United States.

The officers for this year are: Bert Vanoer, president, whose job is to preside over assemblies. He is responsible for all social functions on the campus, supervises the keeping of the records of the 57-58 school year, and acts as mediator between students and the Administration. His office is located on the third floor of the Student Union Building and is always open to students desiring information or advice on campus problems.

Bert's pleasant and friendly manner is well-known to upperclassmen at MTSC. As chief executive, his duties and responsibilities are almost innumerable, but as he put it, "I always have time to chat with any student who has a problem or just wants to know more about MTSC."

Our vice-president is Miss Jane Panter, a gracious and well-mannered person whose job is to assist the president in carrying out his duties and to act as Hostess at Fun Night and other various social events on the campus. Miss Shirley Pogue is ASB secretary, whose job is to publish a bulletin of all activities on the campus each week. This is a helpful and informative bulletin that is given to each student. All club secretaries should check each week with Miss Pogue in order that schedules and information pertaining to their individual clubs will be amply provided for in each bulletin.

Would this information be delivered to her office on the third floor of the Student Union Building.

The gal with the money is Miss Joanne Wright, treasurer of the ASB. It is she who keeps the books and prepares the financial re-

"Best Defense I've Seen Here"—Murphy Raiders Surprise With 26-0 Florence Win; Prep For Jax

Coaches were pleased with the rugged Raider defense against Florence State September 14, as they won the opening game of the 1957 campaign 26-0 against Florence State. Hard practice this week continues in anticipation of the first home game against Jacksonville State College Saturday night.

With an open date during registration week Coach Charles Murphy feels that his boys are in good shape physically for their second encounter with an Alabama team. Jacksonville State, always a power, last year defeated some of the best teams in their bracket. Twice, they stepped a notch above to battle teams of higher rating successfully. The game Saturday night should mean a real test of the MTSC offense as they prepare to defend their 1956 Ohio Valley Conference championship title in a home-coming game against Western Kentucky next week.

Western has a new head coach and is in the process of rebuilding. Fired by all the old grads returning to the campus, the Big Blue should be able to take the visitors October 4.

"I thought we played the best defensive ball we've played since I've been here", Coach Charles Murphy stated in summing up MTSC's surprising shut-out of Florence. Five times, the Raiders stopped the Lions within the 25 yard line after fumbles or other breaks had set up scoring opportunities for Florence. Jerry Hurst, Harold Greer, and Don Franklin provided a rough forewall that hounded the Lion ball carriers. The long arms of Hurst and the Raider tackles successfully throttled the Florence passing attack, which fired 13 times for only one completion and two interceptions. On the ground the Alabamians netted 52 yards.

Murphy was proud of the work of both his sophomore quarterbacks, Bobby Hallum and Bobby Tillman. The two Bob's teamed up with a slashing running and adequate passing-pitching game to score four touchdowns.

BOB GREESON

In a deluge of rain last week at the Stones River Country Club, Mr. Midgett of Middle Tennessee State College School of Business Administration drove home on the 20th green to win the championship match of the Stones River Invitational Golf Tournament, defeating Bobby Greenwood, Country Club Champion of Cookeville, Tennessee by a score of 7 to 4 on the two hole play off. The deadlock on the eighteenth hole was 74-74. As tournament champion, Mr. Midgett received a handsome set of matched Hogan woods.

Participants in the tournament consisted of entries from country clubs throughout Middle Tennessee of nine holes or more.

Raider touchdown of the season on one of his famous "sleeper" pass catches from Hallum for 35 yards; Tillman intercepted a Florence pass in the third quarter on the 11 yard line. A penalty moved it to the one, and from there the 195 pound, 6-3 quarterback bucked the score.

Buck Rolman and Ray Purvis sparked the third touchdown drive on an 80-yard march to put the ball on the four, where Tillman again scored. The final score came in the fourth quarter on a pass from Hallum to Johnny Moore.

by R. CRABTREE

To The Students:

Since this is our first issue of the Sidelines this fall, it is always a pleasure to let you, the students, in on the happenings that develop concerning the realm of sports.

Most of you know that the Raiders have already played their first football game this season and won it by a convincing score of 26-0.

This is just a sample of the treat you will have the pleasure of witnessing this Fall, so be sure and make arrangements to stay in Murfreesboro on the weekends that your team will perform.

In the past students, packed their suitcases on Friday afternoon and headed for home to witness a high school game instead of supporting the Raiders.

This shouldn't be the case, because when you enroll at this institution it becomes your home, and all its functions would concern you so much that nothing should interfere with their accomplishments.

DeLuca Ineligible

Not only a great football player, but a swell guy, was deprived the right to participate in competitive football this fall because of a simple infraction of NCAA rules.

This is true of Jerry DeLuca; 6'3", 225 pound tackle from Peabody, Massachusetts.

Jerry, while at the University of Tennessee, played in a "B" team game against Maryville College during his freshman year. This participation in this game caused him to use one year of eligibility, therefore making this year his fifth year of college ball which is not allowed by NCAA rules.

Raider Captains

MARVIN ROLMAN

The captain of the 1957 "Blue Raiders" is Marvin "Buck" Rolman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rolman. Buck was born in Winchester, Tennessee, but played high school ball at Lynchburg. He won 11 letters playing sports there: four in football and baseball, and three in basketball. In 1952, he was captain of the football team and was selected on the second team of the All-Midstate football team. During his senior year, he scored 121 points.

Buck will see plenty of action this year at his right halfback position. He is 5'11" and weighs 185 pounds. Buck has plenty of speed and is a very shifty runner, as shown from his 42 points scored last year, which was tops for the team.

RALPH MASSEY

The alternate captain of the 1957 "Blue Raiders" is Ralph E. Massey, Jr. Ralph was born in Nashville, Tennessee, on July 13, 1935.

His high school days were spent at Murfreesboro, where he played football and basketball for three years. In 1953, he was selected on the second team of the All Mid-State football team.

Ralph is 6'2" tall and weighs 220 pounds. He will anchor the right side of the "Raiders" forward wall from his tackle position.

Ralph is another of the married men on the squad this year. His wife, Nancy Woodfin Massey attended MTSC.

Starks Leave For India; Honored At Patio Party

A Patio Party held recently at the B. B. Gracy home, Tennessee Boulevard, North, honored Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Stark, who leave in October for India, and Dr. and Mrs. Harold Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young, who recently have moved to Murfreesboro and are members of the agricultural staff at Middle Tennessee State college. Additional persons present were Mrs. B. B. Gracy, Sr., B. B. Gracy, Jr., B. B. Gracy III, and Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Chesnut. A chicken barbecue supper was served.

School, directed the MTSC Science Education workshop which lasted two weeks.

Master Sergeant Leonard W. Hucceby of the department of military science of MTSC was awarded a commendation ribbon with medal pendant for outstanding service from 20 August 1947 to 22 June 1953 as chief clerk, enlisted section of the U. S. Army center Adjutant General's office. The award was made by Major Q. L. McNary, PMS & T at MTSC.

Dr. Homer Pittard received his D.Ed degree in the August convocation at Peabody College. He is a member of the education department faculty. William Beasley, son of Dean and Mrs. N. C. Beasley, completed his dissertation this summer and will receive his doctoral degree at the 1958 convocation of Vanderbilt University.

ASB President Appoints Supreme Court

Bert Vanoer, ASB President, has announced the appointments to the Supreme Court of the Associated Student Body for this year. They are: Robert Greeson, Chief Justice; Leland Hewgley, James Walker, Wayne Tipps, and Robert Stenson as Justices. This is the judicial branch of the ASB and is an appellate court which reviews any cases ruled on in the dorm councils and appealed by the defendant. It also makes rulings on discipline which will affect future students at MTSC. Mr. Bill Davis was appointed to the office of Attorney General of the ASB.

Miss Mary Cox Begins Home Demonstration Work

Two recent MTSC graduates who were majors in home economics have gone into Home Demonstration work this summer.

Miss Mary Will Cox, editor of the MIDLANDER four years, is the new home demonstration agent for Rutherford county. She says she is very happy to be back in Murfreesboro and recommends home demonstration work to home economics majors who are interested in that field.

Top Educators Spark 14th Annual Clinic, October 4

October 4-5 have been set as the dates for the fourteenth annual fall quarter educational conference at Middle Tennessee State College, according to Roy J. Simpson, chairman of the conference committee.

Expansion into new areas of teaching, which was undertaken three years ago, will continue this year with the conference theme being, "Teaching and Learning Processes". Until 1952, the conference had been concerned with improvement of reading. In 1950, mathematics was included. The year following, visual aids and science were studied. Last year music, art, and guidance were emphasized.

In announcing the 1957 conference, Mr. Simpson stated that the committee had decided health, physical education, and the social studies reading re-appear on the program.

Consultants for the conference who are slated for major speeches are: Dr. Del Oberteuffer, chairman department of physical education for men, Ohio State University; Dr. Henry P. Smith, professor of educational psychology, University of Kansas; Dr. Jack Allen, head of the department of history and political science, Peabody College, Nashville; Dr. Quill E. Cope, Tennessee commissioner of education, and the following members of the State Department of Education and State College staff: E. B. Eller, R. Lee Thomas, R. R. Vance, W. E. Turner, R. E. Brinkley, A. B. Cooper, Charlie Kerr, Dr. T. J. Farr, Dr. Harold S. Pryor, Miss Mary Florence Betts, Mrs. Maud Terry and Miss Willie Stevens.

Middle Tennessee educators scheduled to appear on the program include Q. M. Smith, president MTSC; Paul Turner, principal East Lincoln School, Tullahoma; Mrs. Darleen Bell Stephens, health co-ordinator, Davidson county schools; Bob Burkett, physical education supervisor, Murfreesboro; Bessie Lee Mason, Warren county supervisor; Dean Howard Kirksey, MTSC; E. A. Bird, superintendent Marion county schools; Firman Cunningham, professor of economics MTSC; Charles Oliver, principal Petersburg high school; Dean N. C. Beasley, MTSC; Miss Buleah Davis, assistant professor of health and physical education MTSC; Sara Reeves, English teacher Murfreesboro Central high school; Finis W. Poole, assistant professor of education MTSC; Dr. W. B. Bowdoin, head of the department of education MTSC; Dr. Robert Corlew, assistant professor of social science MTSC; Dr. Francis J. Riel, head of health and physical education department MTSC; James A. Martin, assistant professor of education MTSC; Dr. Edgar Beaty, assistant professor of education MTSC.

Bruce Hancock of MTSC was recently accepted for duty by the USAF. He is presently serving at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

REFRESHMENTS AT THE PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION

Jo Ann Wright serves Jean Davis, Buford Estep, Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Sharpe as Bert Vancer, ASB president make introductions at the President's Reception and Ball, honoring freshmen and new students last Thursday night.

Freshmen Leave 'Hotrods' Behind

Dean Belt Keathley has announced a new major regulation for Middle Tennessee State College beginning with the fall quarter, September 16. Freshman students living in residence halls on the campus will not be permitted to keep automobiles on the campus or "in the Murfreesboro area".

Letters were mailed to 316 freshman men and women students who had residence hall reservations. Members of the freshman football squad had been notified of the regulation by Charles Murphy, athletic director.

The regulation does not extend to freshman students living in private homes in Murfreesboro or to commuters. Sophomores, juniors and seniors are not affected by the action.

"This policy is rapidly becoming nation-wide in scope . . . observation over a considerable period of time indicates there is a close correlation between low grades and the possession of automobiles", the letter explains.

Officials at Middle Tennessee State College have revised their estimates of fall quarter enrollment upward from an increase of ten percent to an increase of fifteen percent over that of the record breaking 2076 in the fall quarter of 1956. This estimate is predicted on the assumption that commuter enrollment will continue as high as last year. There is a "waiting list" of more than 100 men seeking rooms in Jones and Smith Hall. All available rooms in the three residence halls for women have long been exhausted, and there's a "waiting list" of about 45 for any last minute cancellations there.

Mrs. Dorothy Tucker, instructor in dramatics, is an MTSC graduate from Columbia, Tennessee. She has had a year of study at the American Academy of Dramatics and has been active professionally in that field.

Mrs. Ivon Brown has been named as a library assistant. She holds the A.B. from Randolph College for Women and the B.L.S. degree from Peabody. She was formerly associated with the regional library program.

Joseph Earl Young, instructor in agriculture, has the B.S. degree from Southwestern Louisiana University, the M.S. from the University of North Carolina. He succeeds Eddie Lee Thomason, who has been granted leave to work on his doctorate at the University of North Carolina.

John Lawler, instructor in English, fills the position vacated by H. Clay Tucker, who is on leave at Vanderbilt to complete work on his doctor's degree. Mr. Lawler has the B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of North Carolina.

Ramon DeShazo, assistant professor of English, is a graduate of Memphis State College and holds the M.A. degree from Peabody where he is continuing post graduate study.

Miss Lillian Grey, A.B., M.A. University of Pittsburgh is a new instructor in economics. She comes from Athens College.

President Smith had previously announced the retirement of Miss Tommie Reynolds of the department of mathematics, and Miss Agnes Nelson, of the home economics department. Miss Reynolds had been a member of the faculty since the school was organized in 1911 and had taught in the physical education and mathematics departments. Miss Nelson had been associated with the college since 1937.

ASB Officers Greet Freshmen

Mary Carroll McConnell

The first freshman assembly of the year opened with Dean Belt Keathley's introduction of Jane Panter, ASB vice-president; and Burt Vanoer, president of the Associated Student Body.

Dr. Lane Boutwell presented a devotional based upon why we come to college.

The ASB president explained the purpose of the ASB and the activities of Freshman Week.

Dr. Robert L. Martin of MTSC returned from Chicago this week where he has been attending the annual meeting of International Committee Chairmen of the Kiwanis Club.

Art Instructors Receive Awards

At the Tennessee State Fair, David LeDoux won 1st place in oil painting with his "City Spectre Called Home." His pastel, "College Landscape", also placed first.

Fred Rubens exhibited his pastels at the Italian Fair in Nashville last week.

Mrs. Pauline Blankenship's picture, driving a tractor, was in the Sept. 19 "Tennessean." The caption was "Not just a man's field." She won 5th place in national contour plowing at Peebles, Ohio. She is a student at MTSC.

Max Goff and Billie Jean Rose were married this summer at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Murfreesboro.

Tennessee Grants Aid To Special Students

Tennessee is taking direct action to make professional training in Architecture and Forestry more available to citizens of the state.

Students from Tennessee in their second to fifth year in Architecture at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and the Georgia Institute of Technology this fall will receive $200 each from Tennessee to help pay their out-of-state tuition.

Students from Tennessee who are in their junior and senior year in forestry at API or the University of Georgia will receive the same aid this fall. The freshman and sophomore years in forestry are now offered at the University of Tennessee.

The students are certified as to their residency in Tennessee by the University of Tennessee, and application forms for certification may be obtained from the University through the office of Dean N. D. Peacock of the College of Agriculture.

The program is being inaugurated on an experimental basis by the Tennessee State Department of Education through the Southern Regional Education Board.

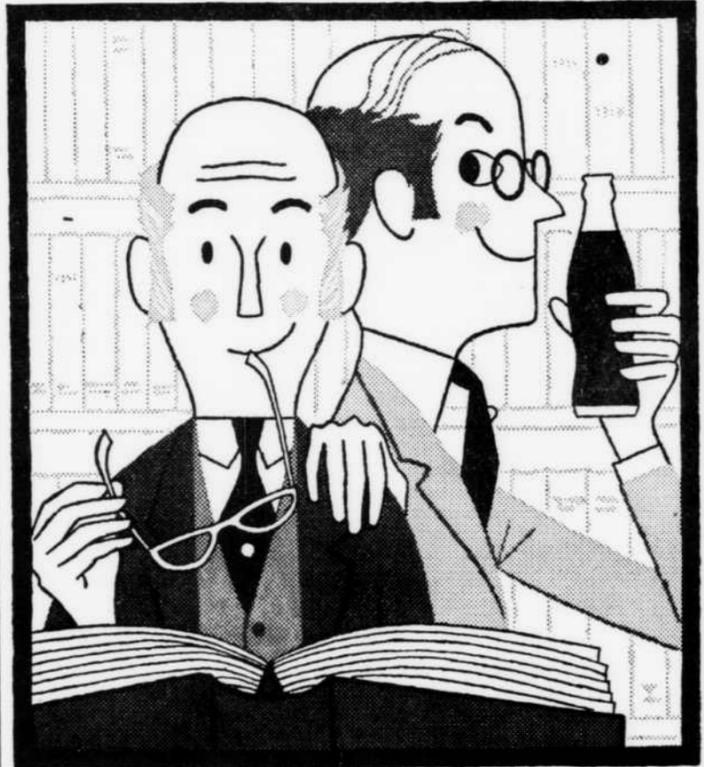

SHEB is an agency established through legislative action of the Southern states eight years ago to enable the states to share their educational resources. It administers the contracts between states and institutions in other states.

"Through these interstate contracts we will be able to offer educational opportunities not available in the state at the present time and give some assistance to students who we hope will return to Tennessee when they finish," Dr. Quill Cope said, "and we are delighted that we were able to make these arrangements through SREB."

Seventy-one and Back Again

Fortitude, Determination, Faith—any of these three could easily have been this woman's middle name. After 54 years of teaching, rearing a family, summer jobs, and a bank crash, Mrs. America Rankin was again on the campus of MTSC, working on a master's degree.

Mrs. Rankin is from Jasper, Tennessee, originally. This fall, she returns to Georgia, where she holds a teaching position in the Chattanooga Valley Elementary School. She taught for fifty years in Tennessee schools until state law forced her retirement and she moved over into Rossville, Georgia, and continued her teaching career in the public schools there. She has been quoted as saying, "When they no longer let me teach in Georgia, I'll go to Alabama. Then when they let me out there, I'll go to Mississippi." I enjoy teaching and there is no reason for me to stop as long as I am well and capable."

Mrs. Rankin's first ambition was, not to be a teacher but an artist. "I used to dream of painting when a child," she said, "and visioned myself as a struggling young artist in a garret before fame became mine, but Mr. Rankin came along and changed all that for me." She was married in 1905, and after ten years of marriage, Mr. Rankin died leaving her with the responsibility of reading four young children. She turned to the teaching profession to earn their living. Things went along pretty smoothly for awhile until 1933. At that time, she had two children in the second year of college at MTSC, and another working on a master's at Michigan University, and a fourth in Chattanooga University Law School. In that year, the bank crash came and her life savings were lost. "I lost everything I had," she said, as a note of sadness crept into her voice, "I didn't even have the money for a postage stamp." Then to top it all, she lost her teaching job during the depression. Not one to give up, but with fortitude and only comes from strong faith, she took a job as a janitor in the same school where she once taught. The children went to work. Gradually, things began to look up and she resumed her old job as a teacher. In 1937, she sat in a classroom with two of her children here on the campus of MTSC under a professor she fondly referred to as 'Mr. Judd'. Mrs. Rankin reminisced, "I was the hardest working student in that class; I guess it was a matter of pride, for I was determined to be a shining example to those two children of mine." She did pretty well, for all of her children now hold college degrees in graduate work. All four of her children received their bachelor's before she did, receiving hers from ETSC the same day that her oldest son received his Law degree from University of Chattanooga. During the Forties, she worked summers at Squibb Laboratories in New York. While there, she stepped from a bus into the path of a car and was seriously injured. She suffered fractures of the leg, arm, and collarbone and spent three months in a hospital. The day she came home from the hospital, her doctor told her she could do anything she wanted to do. So she took her crutches and went blackberry picking.

In 1955, she returned to MTSC, took photography, and spent her hours snapping pictures to reproduce in oils during the winter months. In 1956, she enrolled at UT Aviation Workshop, and upon its completion, she transferred to Baton Rouge for advance art courses at LSU. Then she returned in time to take a job as a saleslady for the World Book Co. and toured Marion County. "It was the most enjoyable job in a long time," she said, "I had so many friends in Marion that I just had the time of my life visiting." She was offered the same job this summer but declined in order to return to MTSC, where she took English 531, 541, and Advanced Educational psychology.

Mrs. Rankin is an acknowledged and accomplished artist. During the years, she has always found time to spare a few hours to her devotion to art. She taught art classes after her regular school hours and her paintings were exhibited last year at the Sewanee Art Show. She has also had paintings exhibited at Hunter Art Gallery in Chattanooga. Her scenes of the Tennessee countryside and mountains are beautiful.

Mrs. Rankin rose at four A. M., each morning to begin her studies for the day. An anecdote that Mrs. Rankin likes to tell, and actually happened to her, is that some time ago, she approached the president of another college about entering for graduate studies. The president told her, "Go home and relax and enjoy yourself you've earned a rest, besides, you would never get your money's worth out of it." To this, Mrs. Rankin replied, "I'm going to get my master's no matter what!" And that's just what she did. She said, "I'll have to confess, it takes a lot of study for me, not that I can't understand the subject matter easily enough, but sometimes on tests I just go 'blank.'" I guess we can all confess to that experience ourselves.

As the interview closed, Mrs. Rankin swung a Tennessee landscape under her arm and said, "You know, there's one thing I really enjoy about MTSC, and that is the people here are so friendly and wonderful."

Marshall McKissick, recent graduate of MTSC, has entered US Naval service at Bainbridge, Md.

lowing quality point system is used in determining averages:

- For each credit hour of A: 4 quality points
- For each credit hour of B: 3 quality points
- For each credit hour of D: 1 quality point
- For each credit hour failed: 0 quality points

Students will be placed on academic probation in accordance with the following:

1. Students who fail to pass half the number of quarter hours of work in subjects for which they are registered;
2. Students who do not have at the close of the freshman year a minimum average of 1.4
3. Students who do not have at the close of the sophomore year a minimum average of 2.0
4. Juniors and seniors who do not maintain a 2.0 average
5. Students who are on academic probation are allowed an additional quarter to achieve the required average. If they do not achieve the required average, they will be suspended for the next quarter.

Students are expected to maintain an average grade of "C" and a 2.0 quality-point average.

Summer Roundup

Over 250 regular, volunteer, and industrial firemen attended the week-long 14th Tennessee State Fire Service school at Middle Tennessee State College.

"Today's Children — Our Concern" was the main theme of the Tennessee Parents and Teachers Workshop held at Middle Tennessee State College.

One hundred girls and several members of the FHA's state advisory staff attended the meeting. The girls represented eleven FHA sub-districts.

"There are at least 15 suns for each person on earth!" "The North star will not always be the North star—in 12,000 years it will be Vega!"

These and other startling facts challenged the visitor at the Middle Tennessee State College science workshop which attracted more than 70 teachers on the lower level for two weeks on intensive study.

On Wednesday, July 24, a one-day workshop in music was held on the campus of Middle Tennessee State College under the auspices of Silver Burdett Book company.

Beginning Monday, July 1, a two weeks workshop was conducted by the music and physical education departments with Charles Hansford and Miss Buleah Davis in charge.

MTSC Expansion

ditions to the Union building will cost $250,000.

A Fine Arts and a Music Building to cost $500,000 would be constructed on the old baseball field, directly opposite the parking area adjacent to the ROTC building. The final item in this program designed to be completed by the fiftieth anniversary of the college suggests the extension of the campus to Main St., (Woodbury) road.

As outlined in Smith's recommendation to the State Board this project has been given "much thought by the administrative staff, faculty, architect and friends of the college." "There is now no way to approach by street or road the college campus except by the "back door." The logical location of a "main entrance" should be in front of the administration building which faces St. Mark's church on Woodbury Road."

The plan points out that approximately ten acres of land needs to be acquired and suggests that several of the 10 residences on this property could be rented to faculty members, maintenance personnel and students. St. Mark's church and annex could profitably be used as a campus religious and cultural center.

The unkept trees and undergrowth in the undeveloped lots would be removed, and the area landscaped. The map accompanying the "Master Plan" outlines two access drives off Main Street and passing in front of the present buildings on either side of the campus. Eventually faculty and family housing would be constructed on these streets facing the sweeping quadrangle from Main Street to the administration building. An alternate plan would provide for the music building and auditorium to be constructed between St. Mark's church and the old library in the center of the quadrangle.

The second phase of the operation from 1963 to 1966 provides for the building of an Agriculture-Home Economics Building (500,000) to replace the present frame "agriculture center" at about the same location. Jones Hall would be converted to offices and class-rooms ($300,000) while Rutledge Hall would be converted to an "Education Building" to house the offices and classrooms of that department (300,000). This period would be climaxed by the rehabilitation of the Administration Building ($500,000).

BSU Plans Big Year At Inspiring Retreat

On Friday, September the 13th, the B.S.U. retreated to Cumberland Mountain State Park for a week-end of planning, inspiration and fellowship. Sessions of inspiration and planning were built around the B.S.U. theme, "In His Steps". Planning with the group were Miss Pitts Hughes, associate in the Student Department, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Palmer of First Baptist Church in Murfreesboro.

On Saturday night, Rev. Wendell Price, of First Baptist Church in Crossville, spoke to the group. The group attended church services in Crossville on Sunday morning and returned to the campus Sunday afternoon.

Students attending the retreat were Murl Jackson, president of the B.S.U. and his wife Gwen, Mary Lou Giyan, Ronald Barrett, Wanda Davenport, Barbara Wassom, Mildred Dorris, Thelma McCant, and Mary Frances Wright.

The third phase, 1965-1969, provides for the building of a new laboratory school and education building, the construction of a biology laboratory, a physics and electronics laboratory, a business administration building, a 24-bed brick infirmary; the expansion of the athletic field and parking area, enlargement and rehabilitation of the heating center and the conversion of the present Training School to a junior high school.

This final phase of the growth of the college would cost $3,250,000 based on 1957 cost of labor and materials — the basis for all cost estimates in the improvement program.

President Smith documents his recommendations with conservative estimates of enrollment of from 10 to 12 per cent annually, but cautions that the Service Committee of the American Association of College Registrars estimates that "barring some unprecedented national catastrophe", there will be approximately twice the number of young people of college age in the United States by 1970 as there were ten years ago."

Basing his own estimates of the growth of the college enrollment on a normal population increase of the area, Smith predicts "Middle Tennessee State College enrollment estimates should be 3,000 full time students by 1965. A conservative estimate of the equated part-time students would add ten per cent to the above enrollment."

Joe Smith, a graduate of Middle Tennessee State College, appeared in the final production of the Corning New York Summer Theatre, "The Mikado."

Smith was cast in the chorus of the full scale professional production of the famed Gilbert and Sullivan operetta. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Smith of Christiana.

Bob Martin and Barbara Smith were married in August.

Sammy Kaye Sponsors MTSC Beauty On "Big Payoff"

What girl hasn't dreamed of a mink coat and a trip around the world?? For an MTSC Co-Ed, this dream came true this summer. The talented Miss Jo Hyde of Old Hickory and Murfreesboro is now the proud owner of said mink and holds tickets for TWO, round trip, all expenses paid, to any place in the world.

It all began when two of her dancing students wrote a letter about their favorite teacher to Burt Parks of the famous TV program, the "Big Pay-Off." Their letter, along with her talent and outstanding back-ground, was ample enough reason for Betty to be chosen above all others as a candidate on Burt's Big Pay-Off.

Those who are familiar with the program will remember the candidate for the fabulous pay-off of prizes is represented by some one who answers questions leading to the Pay-Off. Betty's "Knight In Shining Armor" was none other than the famous band leader, Mr. Sammy Kaye. With pretty Betty to cheer him on, Sammy's answers were quick and true, winning her not only the two mentioned prizes but many other wonderful prizes to thrill the heart of any girl.

This industrious 23-year-old (brunet, 36-23-37) is well known on the campus of MTSC where she earned her MA and BS in four years and one summer. While at MTSC, Betty was active in Tau Omicron, honor society for women, Future Teachers of America, the Aquatic Club, an ROTC Sopsnor, organist and pianist for the college Baptist Student Union.

Off campus, she taught at Vacation Bible school, worked as an unpaid switchboard operator for the Rutherford County Hospital one night a week, helped entertain at the Veterans hospital near Murfreesboro, and was a soloist with the Sewart Air Force Band. In addition to college and extra-curricular activities, Betty found time to spend 25 hours a week teaching dance classes in Murfreesboro, Woodbury, and Smyrna. In her studios, pupils ranged from small children to adults with ballet, tap, acrobatic, ballroom, and popular dances making up the curriculum. The success of her teaching has been evidenced by the success of her students who have appeared as entertainers throughout Tennessee and have auditioned for Arthur Godfrey's TV program.

With all these activities, she still found time for dating, and on Sept. 14 of this year, became the bride of Lt. Allen Welch of the U. S. Army.

Betty's path to fame has not been an easy one, but the result of hard work, concentration, and determination. There were times when tempting offers were made that would have made most girls forget college, such as the time when she received an offer in her sophomore year at MTSC to join the nationally famous Rockettes of Radio City, N. Y., and again when she was offered a job as branch manager of the Fred Astaire School of Dance. Betty's wisdom in refusing quick success has paid off with big dividends; she is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, holds an MA and BS degree, and can proudly say she worked her way through college with the success of her dancing studios. With such an enviable record, she certainly deserves the proud 'Well Done' she has received from her family, friends, and Alma Mater.

Billy Cunningham and Ruth Besy were married in August.
