LEAKING CEILING: The damage from the leaky roof is visible in a third floor bathroom's ceiling of Smith Hall.

Students say Smith unhealthy

SAM GANNON News Editor

Some residents of Smith Hall are angry about alleged unhealthy conditions in their facility and Housing's apparent inability to solve the problems.

Students have reported complaints about bathrooms flooding, roofs leaking and water dripping from the ceiling while they are in the bathroom.

"The more you ask them to fix something, the less likely they are inclined to do it," one of the students said. "Sometimes there is an inch to an inch-and-a-half of water on the bathroom floor."

Dan Sinclair, associate director of Housing for facilities management, said he had toured the hall three times within the last week and has viewed the damages from the roof.

"I'm aware of all these things repair it. At this point it would cost $61,400 to repair that roof," Sinclair said.

"I feel that the roof should be fixed soon. Hopefully Carlisle [the company that is under warranty to fix the roof] is going to stand behind their warranty," Sinclair said.

If not, Housing's documentation of the problems will be given to the state attorney general.

"The problem that Housing is faced with is that if we go out and repair the roof, then we're voiding the warranty," Sinclair said. The current asking price for the university's contractor is about $61,000, he said. "We're trying to work realizing that it is an inconvenience to the residents."

"We've talked to our RA and would like to jump out and [resident assistant], we've filled out maintenance things, and we've talked to Charles [Johnson] the Area II Coordinator," the student said.

> "The bathrooms have leaked off and on since I've been here, and this is the end of my third year," the student said.

> In addition to those complaints, students have said the lobby couches contain screws and nails, the air conditioners do not work, the first-floor fire door slams shut and the windows rattle.

> "Nothing gets fixed," another student said. "I know that door was broke all last year. They just come to fix it every now and then, and it gets broke again within a couple of weeks."

"I think that it would be hard if you have a metal door See SMITH, page 3

Alcohol Awareness Week begins Monday at university

GREG ADKINS Editor

Students should stop and think about responsible drinking when participating in next week's Alcohol Awareness Week activities, said Associate Dean of Students David Hays.

Hays' office will be sponsoring campus events during National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week.

"Students are like a lot of people. Sometimes they don't think before they act," Hays said. "When you do that with alcohol, there are serious ramifications."

"We're willing to work with them (Hays' office) to make the week a success," said Shawn Burgess, Student Government Association president. "We want people to have fun but clean fun."

Activities will range from different speakers on each day to a mock cocktail party sponsored by the Sigma Chi fraternity, said See ALCOHOL, page 2

Rosemary Cope, coordinator for substance abuse programming and chief organizer of the week at MTSU.

The first lecture will be held on acquaintance rape and the effects of alcohol on rape.

A subsequent lecture will inform students how to help a friend with a drinking problem.

Another speaker will be student Phil Shirley, who was injured by a drunken driver, Cope said. The student's lecture is being sponsored by the Baptist Student Union and will be held at 7 p.m. Oct. 17 in the Learning Resources Center.

A mock cocktail party will be held by the Sigma Chis and the Baptist Student Union. It will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Keathley University Center courtyard. Mai-Tai's will be served to people who bring Tshirts to be tie-dyed.

Housing complaints go unheeded, but not unannounced

A student came into our office the other day looking quite distraught. He was a dorm resident and was fed up with the living conditions in Smith Hall.

He said he had been through all the appropriate channels - resident assistant and the housing department - but nothing had been done to correct the problems. Smelling a story, a news writer and a photographer went with him to take a look.

What they saw was shocking. The bathrooms were filled with large trash cans to catch the leaking water, tiles sagged as a result of saturation and the room reeked of a damp, moldy smell. What's worse, anyone wanting to make use of the toilet had to do so at the risk of being pelted by water droplets from the one upstairs. Pretty scary, huh?

Unfortunately, we don't have the power to fix the problem. All we can do is run a story, make some calls and ask questions like "Should students who pay for a room be forced to live in these unfavorable conditions?" Then we have to hope that it troubles the administration enough to do take the appropriate action.

The truth of the matter is that problems such as these are intolerable. When a student pays for a dorm room, he/she has the right to expect, at least, decent living conditions. You have to wonder how long it would take to correct a leaky bathroom in Dr. Walker's house.

We hope that by making these kinds of things public that it will make a difference. Based on past experience, it will not.

SGA President urges involvement, speaks out on upcoming vote

The Student Government Association's goal for the 91-92 school year is Student Empowerment. We plan to achieve this by involving students in the decision making process on campus.

On Oct. 16 the SGA will provide you, the students, with an opportunity to have a voice in the changing of the name of the university to University of Middle Tennessee. We strongly support changing the name of the university based on the following reasons:

-Outside the Middle Tennessee area, MTSU is perceived as a small community college or "glorified high school."

-The university is seeking national prominence in athletics and academics, but it cannot achieve these without a powerful and positive image which is helped by a great name.

-Other universities such as North Texas State University, now University of North Texas, have all had positive results from changing their names, including more research funds, more prestige nationally, better quality students, and a larger student population.

-By the year 2000 MTSU

SHAWN BURGESS

In the Student's Corner will be the second largest universityin the state of Tennessee. With this in mind, the university will need a prominent name for the state legislature to consider giving us more funding for such a large population.

-Our goal is to put the university which we attend on the national map.

As you can see, we are very determined to have the name changed. We need you to help by voting YES on October 16th.

Another item in our Student Empowerment plan is a monthly Luncheon forum. The purpose of the luncheon forums is to provide an opportunity for you to voice your opinions, concerns, and ideas to the administration and get a response. The forums are intended to bring administrators and students together to form a bond that will enable everyone to work to achieve the goals of the University. The first forum held Sept. 25 was disappointing. Several administrators were present but virtually no students. We know that you have some concerns that you would like to see addressed. It is up to the students to bring these concerns to light. Students, we must cure our disease of student apathy. A democracy requires that the people get involved in the decision making process. Otherwise, we are asking for a dictatorship and unhappiness. The administration is willing to work with us, but are we willing to work with the administration? If your answer is yes, we'll see you at the next Luncheon Forum on Oct. 30 in the James Union Bldg. at a time to be announced later. The SGA is a government of the people, by the people and for the people. We will continue to bring the issues to the forefront.

We also ask that you vote for a Homecoming Queen, and 'yes' or 'no' on the referendums on changing the name of the university and switching of the smoking and non-smoking sections of the grill. In addition, that you attend the Luncheon Forum on Oct. 30. There will be a speaker to discuss the Master Plan, and to whom you can voice concerns. A meal will be provided at at cost of $3.45 per person.

We thank those students that signed the petitions on the gravel and grass parking problems and on the page 64 rule change.

Fellowship sponsors Haiti Adventure '92

REV. DAVID ROBINSON Campus Pastor

'How can you change the world when you've never seen up close the problems in the world?" So asks Brian Wildes, MTSU junior and co-leader of Haiti Adventure '92.

Sponsored by the Presbyterian Student Fellowship, and in celebration of the 500th anniversary of Columbus' voyage, a group of MTSU students will embark next May 1992 on the journey of a lifetime, a two-week Service/Study trip to Haiti.

While much of their work will be at the hospital doing manual labor, they are also planning day trips out to rural medical clinics and into the capital city to share a cultural exchange with university students.

Since 1988, Wildes has been sent out ten times by the PSF to do just that. He's served in a Mexican border town on six separate occasions, and has traveled with service teams to Africa three times - along with MTSU junior and co-leader, Cason Leffler.

Such international connections are surely nothing new to the PSF. In the past four years, this MTSU student organization has sent over 100 students out on short-term service trips to such places in the world as Eastern Europe, Austria, Zambia, Cameroon, the Mexican border, the Mississippi Border, and even right here in Scott County - one of the poorest areas in Tennessee.

Students have done everything from building houses with Habitat for Humanity to teaching English to Mexican school children. Always, the focus is on facing the needs of others, and in turn realizing the poverty which lies within each of us.

"Haiti is a great next step", adds Wildes. "It's a country with voodoo, with doctors, a strong military presence, different languages, different problems, different challenges."

One might ask, "Don't we have enough problems of our own right here in the States? Why go to Haiti? Why spend all that time and money to see such misery?" Good questions, however, no easy answers seem to surface. Although the benefits of students

STANDING IN LINE: Garth Brooks had quite a few friends in low places Monday when his upcoming November seventh show sold out in a time of 21 minutes, a record for both Brooks and Murphy Center.

Concert series presents renowned string quartet

The Middle Tennessee State University Concert Series will present the Orion Sting Quartet on October 17, 1991 at 8 p.m. in the Music Hall of Wright Music Building. This celebrated Quartet has established itself as one of the foremost quartets performing before the public today. Singled out by Isaac Stern as representative of the next generation of excellence in chamber music, the Quartet performed in April, 1991 at Carnegie Recital Hall as part of the Centennial Celebration's tribute to the next 100 years of music making.

In the past few seasons the Orion String Quartet has performed on two occasions at New York's 92nd "Y", Washington D.C.'s Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts and throughout North America, including the cities of Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Pittsburg, Seattle, Houston, Toronto, and Vancouver. The Quartet's festival credits include Spoleto (Italy and South Carolina), Finland's Turku Festival, and Lockenhaus Kammermusikfest in Austira. This season the Quartet will perform a series of concerts at Boston's Gardner Museum in addition to appearing in recitals throughout the country.

The members of the Orion String Quartet are each renowned artists who have received acclaim in their individual careers. Winner of the Young Concert Artists International Auditions. Daniel Phillips has performed recitals at Lincoln Center's Alice Tully Hall, the 92nd Street "Y" Antonio, as well as with the Bern Symphony Orchestra in Switserland. Mr. Phillips is currently violin soloist with the well-known Bach Aria Group. He has toured and recorded in quartet with Gidon Kremer, Kim Kashkashian and Yo-Yo Ma.

Sports Cheating doesn't pay Western Kentucky caught stealing Raider signals in 23-21 loss

TONY J. ARNOLD Sports Editor

Perhaps there is a reason why the favored Blue Raiders struggled against the Western Kentucky Hilltoppers Saturday night before winning 23-21 on a lastsecond field goal.

It seems that a former MTSU walk-on seated in the WKU pressbox used binoculars to steal play signals sent in by the Middle Tennessee coaches. He then was able to relay them to the Hilltopper sideline before the play.

According to a story released in Tuesday's Nashville Banner, Western Coach Jack Harbaugh admitted to the allegations that James J. Jewell, now a WKU walk-on, was spying on the Raiders.

Sidelines was unsuccessful in reaching Harbaugh by telephone.

"First off, the thing to remember is that (Jewell) is a former Middle Tennessee player who came to us," Harbaugh was quoted as saying in the paper. "He's one of our players now and he worked for us in the pressbox what they have to do to win. Saturday night.

"We did not benefit that much from what he was doing. Ninety percent of Middle's game is a checkoff game at the line of scrimmage anyway.

"Boots (Donnelly) is making a big deal of it when it's not a big deal at all. The worst thing Boots can do is point his finger at the kid."

But Donnelly doesn't appear do be doing such. In fact, the Raider coach has declined to make a big deal out of the situation.

"I think Western is pretty good," Donnelly said in the article. "They have a great deal more overall team speed than we expected. They play exceptionally well at home and they had a strong game plan.

"If Jack and them need that type of information to win, that's fine. I don't know if (Jewell) volunteered his services or what. I'd say it was pretty smart on Jack's and the team's part. I guess in this business everybody does

Governors hope to veto

Raider bill for victory

"I'm just disappointed in the kid. He lived with a players for a year. He ate with them. He slept with them.

"He lived with a lot of good people in that dorm a we felt enough about him that we gave him an OV championship ring. Now he has turned his back on t guys who earned that ring for him."

Harbaugh apparently isn't convinced with Donnelly statements.

"The whole thing is signals," Harbaugh said, "and Boots thought someone was stealing his signals, it seen to me he would do something to change those signals.

"I hope Boots is smart enough that he learns from it."

Middle tried to shield signals during the game having two people stand in front of assistant coach Ale Robins as he signaled the plays to Raider quarterbac Kelly Holcomb.

Campbell, Petrilli honored

MTSU tailback Joe Campbell and freshman kicker Garth Petrilli have been honored by the Ohio Valley Conference after their performances against Western Kentucky this weekend.

Campbell was the Offensive Player of the Week after he gathered 153 yards and scored one touchdown. He also caught two passes for 10 yards. He had a long run of 38 yards in the contest.

Petrilli was the Specialist of the Week after hitting three field goals, including the game winner with three seconds remaining, in Saturday's win. All three of his kicks were booted in the fourth quarter. He was also successful on both his point after touchdown attempts.

Blue Raiders Ranked 9th

MTSU's football team is ranked ninth in the recent Division I-AA poll. Nevada Reno remains the on top while OVC foe Eastern Kentucky is third.

BATTED AWAY: An unidentified MTSU player bats away a Western Kentucky pass as Adrian Owens (2) looks on. The Big Blue hopes it won't have a close call again this weekend when they travel to Austin Pezy.

TONY J. ARNOLD Sports Editor

In recent years when Aust Peay football was mentioned MTSU fans just chuckled an looked ahead to the next week.

This weekend is the Raider annual contest with th Governors, but the tables hav been turned. Instead of Pea struggling at the bottom of th conference, it has a 3-1 recon just like MTSU.

And in the Ohio Valle Conference standings, it is ahea of the Raiders with a 1-0 marl Middle is 2-1.

"I think we've improved, deal, and we'v great accomplished a lot for such young team," first-year Hea Coach Roy Gregory said. "W may be 3-1, but we've yet to fac some of our toughest teams, an we'll do that this weekend whe we host Middle Tennessee."

It is true that the Raiders a one of the OVC's best, yet if la weekend's 23-21 win at Wester Kentucky is any indication, Pea might give the Raiders a run fo their money.

In the opening week of the season, the Governors turne back the Hilltoppers 18-14 breaking a losing streak that ha spanned over two years.

"It was a positive win for ou

Blue Raider tennis quads heating up

TONY J. ARNOLD Sports Editor

Despite recent cold nperatures, the MTSU tennis gram is staying hot.

Both the Lady Raiders and ne Raiders have been looking pressive against some solid impetition in recent weeks, yet by'll be entering treacherous sitory this weekend when they th hit the road to meet some of nation's elite.

MTSU's men recently inpeted in the University of ntucky Invitational. Although y had no winners in the finals, e has to look at the competition by faced to realize why.

Nationally ranked teams like tre Dame, Kentucky and diana were amongst the mpetitors, and the Raiders wed that they could stand their ound, especially at No. 1 gles.

The Raider duo of Paul bebel and Keith Harrietha nost pulled off a big win. The o had match point against diana, which earlier defeated Notre Dame, nationally ranked No. 1, but with the help of a controversial call, Indiana found a way to pull it out.

The women won a preseason Ohio Valley Conference insight tournament that was at Tennessee Tech. Several schools that the Lady Raiders will face in trying to defend their OVC crown were participants and Middle faired well.

"We showed that we are the dominant team in the OVC," coach Dale Short said. "I was especially pleased with the doubles play of Lorinda Weiss and Yael Soresman. They've been playing really well and have the opportunity to go some places if they continue."

This weekend the men will compete in the Southern Intercollegiates in Athens, Ga., while the women are tossing their hat in the ring at the Furman Fall Invitational in Greenville, S.C.

"It will be very tough for both teams," Short said. "We're just going to strap them down and see how they do."

LADY RAIDER VOLLEYBALL: The Lady Raider volleyball team dropped to 2-3 in the OVC last week and now have a 3-15 overall record. Last week's losses were on the local court as the Lady Raiders fell to OVC opponents, Eastern Kentucky and Morehead State. Tonight, they host Tennessee State at the Alumni Memorial Gym. The home contest begins at 7 p.m.

club, but you must remember that it was here," Gregory said. "Middle had to play them at Western, and that's always a tough place to play."

The Raiders will continue to be guided by All-American tailback Joe Campbell, who leads the league with a 121.5 yards per game average. Kelly Holcomb also will be counted on heavily. The quarterback is second in total offense with a 163.3 yard average. Senior linebacker Scott Boykin continues to lead the defensive side of the Raider attack. His 47 tackles rank him sixth in the OVC.

Peay's main threat is junior quarterback Reggie Williams, who is averaging 133.3 yards of total offense. Kickoff in Clarksville is slated at 3:30 p.m.

10 SIDELINES, October 10, 1991 Co-workers turn wonder Massey's way as he picks Vandy once again

Maybe Greg Adkins was right last week when he said he was going to make his move.

The Sidelines editor boasted his best mark of the year with a 8-3 week. However, he didn't gain any ground on "On the Line" leader Dan Sturm. In fact, he lost a game.

Sturm continued his potent pace with a 9-2 week that increased his lead to three over Tony Arnold. Terry Massey you already.

"You guys need to start doing your homework. No forget that. It isn't going to help you anyway. A three-game lead for me is like eternity."

"Maybe not," Massey said. "You just remember that I've lost three games alone on Vanderbilt. One of these days the 'Dores are > going to start coming through, and I'm the only one who picks them."

Well, instead of worrying about Adkins' sanity last week, the rest of us have turned our attention to Massey. As long slipped to five back with a lackluster 7-4 mark while Adkins fell 10 back in the loss column.

"Let's see, how many do we disagree on this week," Sturm said. "Well, I see we don't agree on that one, so that's one up on as anyone picks Vandy, he/she has to be mentally sick.

Once again, we're running short on space, and we'll have to cut this week's OVC picks and just resort to the chart with everyone's picks
