Sidelines Receives First Class

The Sidelines received a "first class honor rating" last week in national competition.

Associated Collegiate Press commented in their evaluation, "A lively, interesting newspaper. The Sidelines is a newspaper you, your staff and your college can be proud of."

The paper was scored "Excellent" to "Superior" on headline schedule, printing, inside news pages, editorials, front page, nameplate, running heads, masthead, and copyreading. The paper was scored as "Very good" to "Excellent" on news coverage, style, story leads, sports coverage, faculty coverage, photography and advertising makeup.

Many People Think God Cosmic Santa Claus States Rabbi Falk

"Too many people expect God to be a cosmic Santa Claus" Rabbi Randall M. Falk, spiritual leader of "The Temple," told his audience at a three-day "Spiritual and Moral Values Week" at Middle Tennessee State College Tuesday.

In his message Rabbi Falk emphasized the common background of the Juduo-Christian religion and outlined some of the challenges it faces in the accomplishment of the task of establishing "justice, mercy and love, in establishing the principles of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man in an effort to combat the world of evil and darkness."

He pointed out to the Christians present that Jesus was a Jew, that during his life he observed the Jewish feast days and Sabbath and that many of his teachings were directly from the Old Testament Scriptures.

Wednesday he spoke on the separation of church and state and race relations.

"All of us," the speaker emphasized, "need not only to learn to earn, but to learn to live a life in which we can believe there is a sun when it is not shining, to believe in love when it is not felt and to believe in God when he is silent."

Weems Announces No Pre-registration

Dean John Weems has announced that we will not have pre-registration for either the Summer Session or the Fall Semester for students presently enrolled.

The only pre-registration for the Fall Semester will be for beginning Freshman students and this will take place during the summer.

Prospective Teachers Consult Catalogue

Your attention is called to a statement which appears in the new 1964-65 catalogue, page 104. The statement is as follows:

Students with marked physical or health impairments should consult with the Head of the Department of Education before formalizing plans for entering the Teacher Preparation Program. Students who exhibit behavior indicative of mental or emotional disabilities may be required to have a complete psychological examination before being allowed to enter the Teacher Preparation Program or to remain in this program.

Applications for directed teaching should be made one year in advance. The prospective teacher is assigned an appropriate school in the service area with which the college has a working agreement.

Students who have reason to question their acceptability into the Teacher Education Program should follow the instructions given in this statement.

We seek to avoid situations in which students have made advanced plans only to find they may not be permitted to pursue the Teacher Education Program.

ASB President Owens Sees Great Honor, Responsibility

Jerry Owens has been elected ASB President for 1964-65. Jerry is a friendly young man from Doraville, Georgia. Doraville is a suburb just eight miles outside of Atlanta.

While in Doraville, Jerry attended West Gwinnett High School and was voted Most Likely to Succeed. He was a three year letterman in track and football, and lettered in baseball one year.

Jerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Owens. Mr. Owens is an attorney in Atlanta, which possibly explains why Jerry is an emphasis major in social science. His minors are English and history, and after graduation, Jerry plans to attend law school, possibly in Georgia.

Jerry came here right after graduation from high school. While at MTSC he has held the following positions: Sargeant-at-Arms for the Soph. class, President of the Jr. class, member of the Circle K board of directors, and he was an officer in the Pre-law Society until he was forced to resign because of advanced ROTC.

After the election Jerry said, "This is the greatest honor I have ever received. Today is the happiest day of my life. There is a lot of responsibility involved in trying to live up to the confidence which all

Tommy Knowles Plays May 1 For Prom

The Junior Class, in conjunction with the Faculty Social Committee, will present the Junior-Senior Prom as a part of Holiday Weekend.

The prom will be held on Friday night, May 1, in the Tennessee Room of the Student Union from 8:00 pm until 12:00 pm. The featured group for the evening will be the Tommy Knowles orchestra from Nashville. This popular group is well known throughout the state and has previously played for MTSC dances. This dance is in honor of the Seniors, but all students are invited to attend. The dance will be Semi-formal, and flowers are otional. There will be no admission charge.

Chorus Changes Practices To Accomodate More Students

College Chorus has announced that Chorus practices have been changed from night sessions to 10:00 O'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

This will enable many students who commute to participate whereas they have not been able to attend the night practices that have been scheduled for the past eighteen years. These newly scheduled practices will be fifty minute periods.

Originally the night rehearsals were instituted because there were no conflicts in the evening. However, with the growth of the school and the advent of so many night classes and labs it was felt that the ten o'clock hour would present more possibilities of scheduling with multiple sections than the old schedule would permit.

Students who plan to participate in the choral program should plan their schedules with this change in mind when registering for the fall semester, calling it to the attention of their advisor if necessary.

It is felt that the new plan will open choral participation to as many as 1500 more students.

Betty Jane Graham Chosen ASB Veep

Betty Jane Graham was elected vice-president of the ASB for the coming year.

Miss Jacqueline Paschke, Fayetteville, defeated Wanda Smith of Nashville in a runoff election for May Queen Thursday.

Judy Gillespie, Columbia and Carol Sanford, Lebanon were other nominees. The May Queen will preside over festivities for the ASB Holiday weekend May 1-3.

Three significant findings were reported in Dr. Spraker's article. These indicated there was no significant difference between group and individual problem solvers in terms of creativity; that significant differences do exist between creativity at different levels of intelligence and that there is a moderate positive relationship between creativity and I.Q. and achievement in arithmetic.

Vets Club Recognizes Need; Initiates Fund For Veterans

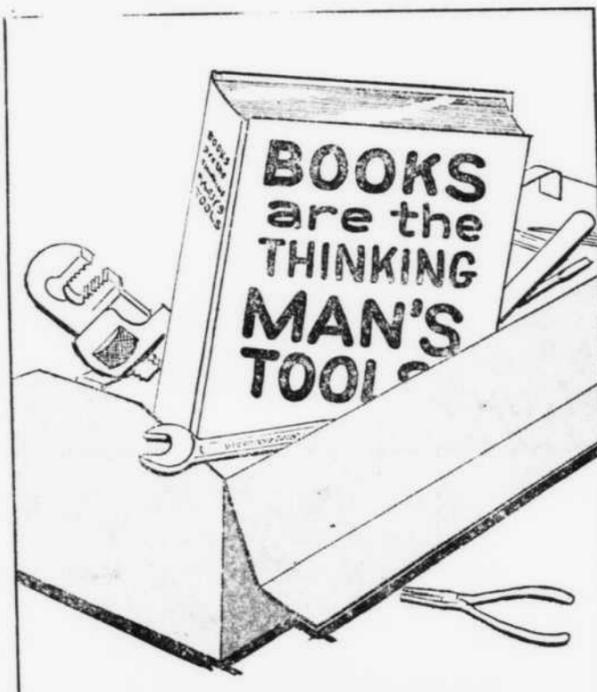

Veterans Club, recognizing that many veterans need financial assistance in order to receive a college education, has delivered to Dean N. C. Beasley the first installment of its newly initiated loan fund.

The initial amount delivered to Dean Beasley is made up of contributions from individual club members supplemented by funds from the Veterans Club Treasury. This fund is an effort to counteract the effects of the expired G.I. Bill on young veterans who have decided to enter or re-enter college following their discharge from the armed services.

The Veterans Loan Fund will be available to any former serviceman who (1) has served a minimum of one hundred eighty days on active duty, (2) has been released under honorable conditions, (3) is a full-time student at MTSC or is planning to enter MTSC as a full-time student the semester following application for the loan, and (4) has a justifiable need for money to use in any situation essential to his home or school welfare.

Congress has failed to do anything but half-heartedly discuss proposed legislation that would aid or supplement former servicemen in their quest for higher learning; therefore, the members of the Veterans Club have assumed the responsibility of helping each other as well as any other veteran who meets specified requirements.

Sex: Yes or No

In the April 4 edition of Newsweek the cover story featured quotes about the descriptions of the moral revolution that has engulfed Ivy League Colleges.

Although the article centered around the older, more exclusive schools, it is evident that a definite trend is being established for the nation. The crux of the "new morality" is premarital "sex with love."

Such quotes were found in the article as:

"Premarital sex doesn't mean the downfall of society, at least not the kind of society we're going to build."

"It's a load off my mind losing my virginity."

"I don't think anybody anymore figures they've got to marry a virgin."

"There are many adults who insist there has been no real change, that it's all talk. I insist that there has been a change, a real change, even though you can't prove it statistically."

"I imagine I have gone to bed with some boys just to see what would happen. I know there is nothing rational about this, and I probably wouldn't do it again that way. What everyone says about it being wrong is true — I felt guilty."

"Stealing food from the dormitory refrigerator would be more condemned around here than fornicating on the living-room couch."

These are statements of college students presented for consideration. Will these concepts be the moral code for tomorrow?

Please address any remarks to Box 464. Letters will be printed without names if requested.

Wide Interest In Election Causes Questions

Mandy Gentry

Worthy candidates, excellent campaigning, and wide participation were a few of the many elements which made the 1964-65 ASB elections so spectacular. Many questions have arisen concerning the unusual number of voters and the campus-wide interest in its future leaders. Some of these questions were: "Did the work of the Circle K Club influence voters?" "Were the question and answer sessions heartily received?" and "Did the contest with Tennessee Tech influence the number of votes cast?"

In recent interviews, some interesting and noteworthy opinions of the elections were recorded. Bob Mason, ASB official, believes that the overall support given by the Circle K Club was a leading factor in making students aware of their duties and their privileges. Hanna Romans also declared that the efforts of the Circle K Club were beneficial to the students, but she further commented that the questions and answer sessions gave the students the opportunity to learn additional qualities, beliefs, and plans of the candidates. When asked whether the contest with Tennessee Tech had a pronounced effect upon the voters, Judy Steagall answered that she did not. It was her opinion, as well as that of Sandi Hows, that too few people knew about the rivalry for it to have influenced them.

Either the awakening of responsibility within each individual or a wholeheartedly executed campaign won the favor of the majority of students and led them to "earn their right to gripe."

Mr. Vaught Parallels Wide Scope Of Business; Strives For Excellence; Indorses Campus Life

Business education covers a wide scope of knowledge and so do the thoughts and teachings of Mr. William Vaught.

Mr. Vaught began his higher education at Indiana State College in Terre Haute. Before he finished, however, he joined the marines for more than 10 years. His leadership ability is shown in the fact that he went in the service as an enlisted man and came out a Captain.

At the end of this tenure in the Marines, Mr. Vaught went back to school at Indiana State where he received his B.S. and M.A. in business with a minor in music. Because of his desire for increased knowledge, he went to the University of Tennessee to work on his doctorate in education. He is still in the process of completing the requirements for his Ed.D.

With a background of teaching at Indiana State and at the University of Tennessee parttime, Mr. Vaught came to MTSC in 1961. He has become a member of many honorary fraternities, a few of which are Delta Pi Epsilon, Phi Delta Kappa, Phi Mu Alpha (Sinfonia) and sponsor of Pi Omega Pi here on campus.

Mr. Vaught has set before himself the goal of being the best teacher there is. Not only does he strive for teaching excellence, he also is very concerned and interested in student life on campus. This is shown in a comment he offered concerning the subject. "Campus life is one of the most important aspects of a student's college career. Students should be active in campus life in order to promote proper attitudes and the proper spirit toward both the educational and social activities of the institution. I believe this to be true because the graduate is a representative of four years work and play and what he has done during those four years will be reflected in his attitudes and spirit toward his future employment. He is a salesman, good or bad, for the institution from which he graduated. He should be able to look back with confident pride in his activities, his successes and failures of four years of study.

Regardless of the education obtained in college, the words of J. P. Senn should be remembered. "The wisest man may always learn something from the humblest peasant."

English Lit. Class Celebrates 400th

On April 17, the English Literature class of Mr. Lewis Rosenthal celebrated the 400th anniversary of Mr. William Shakespeare. Attending were Lewis Rosenthal, Judy Alexander, Martha Campbell, Bill Nation, Bev Bobish, Penny Fletcher, Carole Derryberry, Kaye Maddox, Carolyn Allred, Hank Holderfield, Gayle Timcher, Jack Pope, Howell Goss, Charlotte Willard, and Jerre Hookey. The English class regrets that circumstances did not permit Mr. Shakespeare to be present, but reports that all seemed to have a good time.

Refreshments, served in the Blue Raider Birthday Room, were coffee, devil's food cake with white icing and a green fence. Activities included eating, intellectual discussions, such dramatic events as blowing out the candles, and fun and games.

The class reports that the party was conducted in an atmosphere conducive to learning, and that casualties were few.

Apr. 23, Shakespeare's Birthday

April 23, marks the four hundredth anniversary of William Shakespeare.

Shakespeare, an English playwright, was born in Stratford-upon-Avon. He died exactly 52 years later, on April 23, 1616. The events of his life are unimportant when compared to the contribution which Shakespeare made to the world. During those 52 short years, Shakespeare wrote 17 comedies, 10 histories, 10 tragedies, 7 poems and 154 sonnets.

His best play is King Lear; the most well known is either Romeo and Juliet or Hamlet, and the most effective and possibly the one that has been most written about is Macbeth.

Through Shakespeare's contributions were not in the field of science, mathematics or medicine, he has left a great and beneficial treasure for all of mankind.

His work was constructive and creative, but few men have shown more genius in such a short period of time.

Macbeth's Lighting, Sound Effects Nominated For Academy Award

By Jerre Hookey

On April 14, the Buchanan Players presented William Shakespeare's most effective play, Macbeth.

The academy award for special effects should certainly be given to Bob Crowder for his arrangements of lighting and sound. As I sit and stared the three terrible and ugly witches in the face, I felt as if any moment, their magic would bring the Dramatic Arts building crumbling about my very head.

Meyillon Judd, who was cast in the role of Lady Macbeth, did a remarkable job as she presented a most realistic, believable and evil woman. A. W. Powell was almost as successful in his portrayal of the protagonist, Macbeth.

In the latter part of the action it seemed as if Macbeth depended upon the lady of the house a little more than Shakespeare had originally intended, but possibly I was probing too much into the philosophical side of the play and not paying enough attention to the acting and overall effect.

I was surprised to find that the Players had created so much tension in the play. This was relieved in part by Allen Walton's comic portrayal of the porter.

Anyone that missed Macbeth missed an hour and a half of good entertainment. As a sidelight, it was common in Elizabethan tragedy to have a messenger relate all cumbersome details of action.

Mrs. Tucker has displayed even more genius than Shakespeare by presenting only the highlights and having a narrator to supply the less entertaining parts of the play.

MEMORY

There is no finer gift I know,
Than that of memory and so
I often recall again and again
Folks I know and places I've been.
The things I recall both happy and sad—
Of boy-friend, and girl-friend, and Mom and Dad.
And foot-ball games, movies, and dances too—
Friends I've made both old and new.
Hours at a time with friends I've sat—
Recalling past experiences about this and that.
Yes, there is no finer gift I know
Than that of memory and so
The memories we shared will remain dear,
Today, tomorrow, and year after year . . .
Thank God there is a memory—an ability to recall—
The many things we did both large and small . . .

LONELINESS

The heart is empty of all sound
The mind is empty of all love
The eyes no longer see
The hands have lost touch
The arms no longer hold
The legs have forgotten to walk
The sun has forgotten to rise
The moon casts a pale shadow
The earth is a wandering form
Lost in time, in space
Not a whisper stirs on the air
Thoughts have retreated to the crypt of the mind
The world is cloaked in disillusion
All wisdom hath fled
Leaving behind a land barren and broken
The heart has lost its rythm
Life almost stops
The body becomes a twisted, bewildered thing
Without form or wish
Nothing disturbs
Because there is no will.

I walked in the fields today
They kept me company
I whispered to the wind
They carried my words away
I laughed at the languid clouds
They drifted far into the sky
I shook my fist at the trees
They merely bowed and sighed
A tear fell along my way
For this was a lonely day.

The blue clouds are massed against a winter sky
And the river stretches forth ahead.
The grass is brown on either side
In the distance the mountains hover beneath the clouds
The trees stand stark against the cold
The windows of the housed are hollow with dark
The people are omitted
And the river stretches forth ahead
The desolation of earth is exposed
And I in my corner
And you in yours
Are filled with it all
One day when death looms upon the river
We will remember this moment

MTSC Flash-on Shots

By Ernestine Harris

What's new for fashion this spring? Everything old is new with a modern flair.

The colors are loud and dramatic. Vividness is the principle to follow in fashionable color schemes. Examples of some unusual color combinations are purple and aqua and green and orange.

The A-line is more prevalent than the straight shape in all types of clothing. The waistline is bouncing up and down—it is even disappearing! Believe it or not, the hem line is finally beginning to drop in the fashion capitols. Will this be accepted by the college coed?

The jumper style is breezing right into summer with the sling-shot model being the most popular. The over-blouse effect is being featured in all leading magazines and is a come back from the gay twenties. One may now purchase sportswear that is reversible—this can add to the versatility of your wardrobe.

"Easy-to-care-for" is the key to all fabric selections. Cotton ser-sucker, arnel knits, and dacron "Whip cream" are among the care free fabrics presented.

The snipped-toe shoe with the stacked heel for casual wear and a medium heel for dress wear are definitely on the fashion walk. Don't forget color here—it is "alive" and in both patent and smooth leather.

Jewelry is worn moderately with accents on the unusual. Metallic fruit and flower pins are noted on the best-dressed coed. Colorful beads are "the thing" in accessories for dress-up in the summer and spring seasons.

Have fun with fashion and enjoy being just you"

Witness Views ASB Candidates

By Jerre Hookey

There was a run-off in the election. This was not to my surprise for everyone had said that there would be.

I seated myself, along with nearly a hundred other people, in a much too hot and stuffy room of the ad building and prepared to watch the counting of the votes. Denny Welsh called them out.

It is unnecessary to go into detail describing exactly how the tallying is done; however, let me assure you that the whole affair is handled with a very great deal of accuracy, and in such a way that there is practically no chance of a mistake.

Roger Engels sit slumped in his chair. He looked dissappointed as he gradually fell behind in the race, but not bitter or unhappy, or any other adjective which would insinuate that he was a "broken man." He seemed to be taking the defeat simply as a defeat, and not a failure.

Bookstore Progresses From Annex To Full Scale Center

Noted in passing this year is the fifty-third anniversary of the MTSC Bookstore.

At the heart beat of the campus life, this busy center had its inception at the birth of the Normal in 1911. Very unpretentious in its beginning, it was operated by Mrs. Betty Murfree, the first Librarian. A few textbooks comprised the total stock during the early days. These were dispensed from the library headquarters located in a large room on the second floor above the front entrance of the Main Building.

In 1917, the book store was moved to a room in the northwest corner of the basement. George Davis, biology instructor, was assigned to its operation along with his teaching duties.

In 1927, new quarters were found in one of the rooms now occupied by the business office. Adjacent to the west was the postoffice. Both of these were operated by Thomas Britton Woodmore, a former superintendent of schools in Sumner County and at that time a student at the college. Throwing caution to the winds, this very year the stock of textbooks was supplemented by a supply of candy and girls' gym suits.

In 1929, Mr. Woodmore received his degree and was employed as full-time operator of the bookstore and postoffice. Students help was utilized to assist Mr. Woodmore.

In 1947, the bookstore was moved north across the hallway to the quarters now occupied by the Education Department offices. During this year Charles "Whicher" Phillips was named as the first bookstore operator at the college. Mr. Phillips, graduating in 1947, B.S., MA, '53, had been a Raider athlete and, in his spare time had gained invaluable experience as student assistant to Mr. Woodmore. He immediately began an expansion of the store inventory, adding among other items, the amazing innovation of the era, the Rocket Ball Point Pen, retailing at $15.00.

In 1954, Mr. Phillips moved the bookstore to the north basement of the Student Union Building. Increasing college enrollments soon dwarfed the bookstore sales and storage space. This provided extra space for shelving and display for the bookstore. This relief proved to be only temporary. Steadily climbing enrollments are not straining operational efficiency at the present location.

The bookstore operates under policies set jointly by President Quill Cope and Mr. Phillips, the manager. A member of the National Association of College Stores, it is operated primarily to serve the student body, the college personnel, and the various departments of the college. Its prices are such that it will not bring it into unfair competition with commercial enterprises that offer equal or similar merchandise. Because it is college owned, it is managed as such and is self-supporting.

In summary, Mr. Phillips has this to say about this true heart beat of the MTSC campus:

"The Store's principal objective is service to the students and faculty and commercial profit shall not be its objective. It is my purpose and that of the staff to develop this into a model operation of its kind. Nothing short of this would add to the image of a growing, influential institution."

The Middle Tennessee State Normal School Library as it appeared in 1911. The double-tiered shelving was designed by Horace Jones, first secretary to the president at the institution and now a retired faculty member. Mrs. Betty Murphree served as the first librarian and bookstore operator. The bookstore was located in one corner of the room from which point a few textbooks were dispensed.

A scene in the present Bookstore.

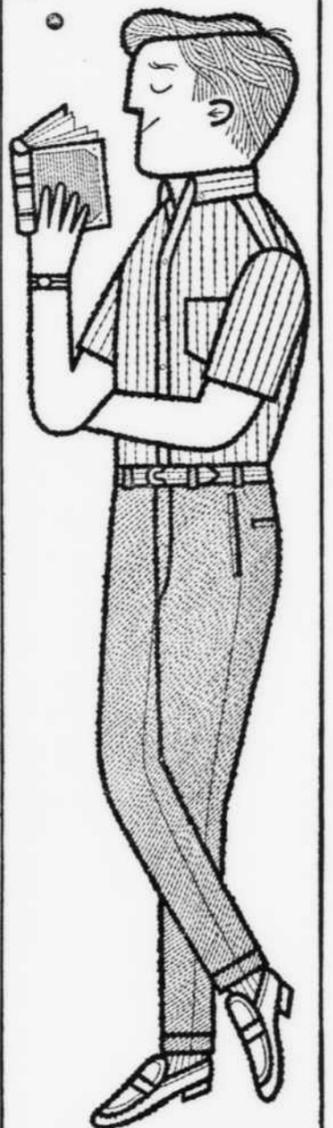

Charles "Whicher" Phillips, operator of the College Bookstore since 1947. He is now assisted by a staff of five full-time employees and ten student assistants.

Wesley Retreat Plans Election, Freshman Aids

The Foundation enjoyed a planning retreat at Hi-Lake Camp the weekend of April 10-12. At this retreat plans for freshman orientation and election of officers was the major business at hand. These officers will be named after they have been installed.

Last Wednesday night Dr. Leander Keck, Associate Professor of the New Testament at Vanderbilt Divinity School spoke to the group on "Self and Salvation." Tonight he will be the guest speaker again at 7:00 in 302 of the Student Union Building.

Dr. Keck was previously an instructor of Biblical History, Literature, and Interpretation at Wellesley College. He received his Ph.D. from Yale and has entered special studies at Kiel and Goettingen, Germany.

Raiders Bomb Vandy 7-3

Middle Tennessee scored one run in the fourth inning yesterday and bombed Vanderbilt for six more in the seventh to beat the Commodores 7-3.

The Vandy club rallied vainly in the top of the ninth, picking up three runs, but it was not enough to stop the Blue Raiders. MTSC is now 6-2 for the season and Vandy has one win in 10 tries.

MTSC didn't get its first hit until the fifth when Larry Jones broke up Vandy's Bunny Richardson's no-hit bid with a single.

Billy Walker collected the mound victory while Richardson was charged with the defeat.

Billy Martin sparked the winner's big inning, driving in two runs. Jay Katz had two hits for the loser and Vandy's Jerry Geshke got the only extra base hit, a triple.

Middle Tennessee will host Austin Peay in a doubleheader today at 1 p.m. Rod Miller (2-0) and Riger Hendrick (2-1) will get the mound nod for MTSC. Vandy plays at Sewanee today.

Forrester Raiders Salute Leaders For Hard Work, Long Hours

By Edward Alexander

Upon becoming a member of the Armed Services of the United States, a man incurs a lasting obligation to cherish and protect his country and to devote within himself that capacity and reserve strength which will enable him to serve its arms and the welfare of his fellow Americans with increasing wisdom, diligence, and patriotic conviction.

Each Forrester Raider has become fully aware of these facts more than ever before during the past several months.

A large part of the success of the Forrester Raiders during its first year in existence is due to two members of the cadre who have spent many, many hours hard at work in order that we, as future officers, might gain a better and more thorough insight of leadership and the Army as a whole.

The two men of which we speak are Maj. John L. McConnaughey, Infantry Raider Adviser, and Specialist 5th Lanny Holmes, Assistant Raider Adviser. With the deeply-appreciated help of the Military Science Department, these two men have helped the Forrester Raiders, among other things, gain a new sense of responsibility, morale, Esprit de Corps, discipline, military bearing, and pride.

Maj. McConnaughey and Specialist Holmes haven't undertaken the job as leaders of the beret team merely for recognition or personal gain. The only reward for which they strive is seeing the members of the Forrester Raiders build self-confidence in themselves and completing a job successfully.

No words can describe how grateful and deeply indebted we Forrester Raiders are to our leaders. So, Maj. McConnaughey and Spec. Holmes, we, as Forrester Raiders and future officers, salute you on a job well done.

Ogg Receives Gold Leaves

By Capt. Higgins

The adage that history repeats itself was proven out this week with the promotion of Major Robert D. Ogg, Assistant Professor of Military Science.

Lt. Colonel Robert J. MacLean, USA, retired, who organized the ROTC Department at MTSC in April 1950, pinned Second Lieutenant bars on newly commissioned Lt. Ogg in January 1953, and this week, assisted by Mrs. Ogg, pinned on Major Ogg's gold leaves in a ceremony in the office of Major James E. Price, Jr., Professor of Military Science.

In January 1953, Major Ogg was the first cadet to complete the ROTC Program and the first cadet commissioned in the Regular Army at MTSC. At the end of the spring semester, Major Ogg will receive the Master of Arts degree, with academic honors, earned while assigned at MTSC. He is being re-assigned to Viet Nam.

Mrs. Ogg, the former Fay Parsons, is the daughter of Mrs. Myla T. Parsons of Murfreesboro, Tennessee. Mrs. Parsons is on the Library staff at MTSC.

Lt. Colonel MacLean is now Administrative Assistant to Quill E. Cope, President of Middle Tennessee State College.

Golfers Seek Tenn. Title For Sixth Straight Year

On April 23, 24 the Raider golfers travel to Sewanee to defend the Tennessee Introcollegiate Championship.

For five straight years they have held the title and would like to return with it this time. Jack Haley will be defending his low medalist.

Middle Tennessee State's golf team chalked up its 41st victory in a row by trouncing Tennessee Tech 22-5 on April 10. Dan Lewis (Soph.), making his start this year, was low medalist with 69.

Previously the Raiders had beaten Tech at Cookeville with a score of 26½ to ½. The Raiders' Jack Haley and Larry Gilbert tied for medalist honors, each with a 71 over the Cookeville golf and country club course.

Coach E. K. Patty and his team haven't lost a match since 1958. Coach Patty has been honored the past two seasons by being named "Coach of the Year."

Netters Go Undefeated

A new sport has moved into the winning circle at MTSC. Under the coaching of Buck Bouldin, a local attorney, the '64 netters have moved to the front. Thus far the MTSC netters have faced four opponents and gained four victories, which is a little bit unusual in Blue Raider tennis history.

The Blue Raider netters started off their season by stealing the Florence State match 5-4. They followed victory with victory by ending the Birmingham Southern match 5-4. On Friday, April 10, they again beat Birmingham Southern, this time with a score of 6-3. On Tuesday, April 14, they insured their winning streak with their fourth victory of the season in which they defeated Florence State 7-2.

In the game against Birmingham Southern on the 10th, Richard Burch, the son of coach Bill Burch of the Birmingham Southern team, led the MTSC netters to victory by winning both his single and double match.

Coach Buck Bouldin's undefeated team remained in form by halting Florence State 7-2. The next outing will be in Cookeville against Tennessee Tech.

Raiders Split Doubleheader

The Blue Raiders split a doubleheader with David Lipscomb in a 6-4, 5-6 afternoon.

The Raiders gained their fifth win and received their second loss from David Lipscomb College at the Raider ball park on April 9th. The score of the opening game was 6-4 with the victory going to Roger Hendrick of the Blue Raiders.

In the second game, the loss went to Miller of MTSC with Lipscomb taking the victory 6-5.

MTSC's biggest inning in the first game was the third when the Raiders scored four runs.

The Raiders got three in the sixth inning of the second game, but could never generate a rally sufficient to offset the Bison efforts.

The Raider 3rd baseman, Ken (Coon) Victory was on base nine straight times in the double header. He drew bases on balls seven times, and banged out two singles for a perfect day at the plate.

Gridders Elect Armstrong, Petty, Harvey, Captains

Middle Tennessee State will have three football captains for the 1964 season. The Blue Raider gridders have elected Jack Armstrong as captain, with David Petty and Jim Harvey to serve as co-alternate captains.

Sevierville. He was honorable mention All-Ohio Valley Conference during both his freshman and sophomore years, and was named to the second team All-OVC squad last year.

Petty has led the team in rushing for the past two seasons from his full-back position. As a starter for two years, the blockbuster from Gainesboro, has gained 732 yards for a 4.1 yards-per-carry average. He was the leading scorer last season with 36 points.

Harvey, a halfback from Lenior City, has a 4.9 yards-per-carry average in three years of varsity play. Last season, the "hardnose" was on the receiving end of 11 passes for 74 yards and two touchdowns.

Blue Raider coach Charles "Bubber" Murphy remarked of the selection, "The boys have elected three fine boys as Leaders for next season. We have been very fortunate in past years to have excellent captains, and I think Armstrong, Petty, and Harvey will be outstanding leaders."

MTSC Thrashes UC With 6 Point Lead

Dr. Patty's golfers won their 42nd consecutive match Wednesday April 15, by defeating the University of Chattanooga, 16½-10½.

Dan Midget and Bob Wolfe tied for low medalist honors by shooting a low 70 each. Jack Haley, not unknown to the Raider fans and usually in the number one spot, was left at home due to an injured ankle.

Armstrong, a starting tackle for the Blue Raiders for the past three

Two Local Players Sign Grants-in-Aid

Two area gridders have signed MTSC grants-in-aid.

Ike Franklin, a 6-0, 225 lb. tackle from Gallatin, and Larry Cherry, a 5-10½, 175 lb. halfback from Cross Plains will report to the Blue Raider camp next fall.

Franklin played under coach Gene Windham (a former MTSC standout) at Gallatin Central, and last season finished his prep career at Gordon Military Academy where Joe Windham (both of Gene and also one of MTSC's past stars) is an assistant coach.

Cherry was coached by former Blue Raider quarterback Jerry Pearson at East Robertson High School.

Members of the Home Economics Chapter recently attended the Tennessee Home Economics Association Convention in Chattanooga. Official delegates from MTSC were Carolyn Simmons and Norma Carol Woodward. Ernestine Harris and Nancy Hammer were selected to run for the state offices of president and first vice-chairman, respectively. Nineteen girls, accompanied by club sponsor, Mrs. Miles McMillan, attended the convention.

A banquet honoring the graduating seniors will be held on May 4. The new officers will also be installed at this time.

Speaking of banquets, the yearly occasion which usually highlights the end of the year for our clubs, it is beginning to be evident that many of the clubs are now having theirs. The Sigma Club held their annual banquet April 18 with Dr. Harley Fite, president of Carson-Newman as guest speaker.

Circle K Excels At Convention

by Floyd Kephart

The Kentucky-Tennessee District of Circle K International held its annual convention at Prestonsburg, Kentucky, April 3-4.

At the convention, MTSC's Circle K, continued to make a name for itself and gain recognition from other schools as it has done on our campus.

The convention elected Sam Lewis, a MTSC Junior Secretary for the coming year. Sam ran on a better and more personal communications platform.

Floyd Kephart represented MTSC in the Oratorical contest and placed second.

The other members attending the convention were Marty Pillar, Chuck Thomchy, Russell Johnson, Roger Patton and Albert Postmack.

Dr. Martin Receives Colonel Commission

Dr. Robert L. Martin has been commissioned as a Colonel on the staff of Governor Edward T. Breathitt of Kentucky in recognition of his outstanding contribution to the youth of the colleges in Kentucky in the organization of Circle K Clubs on behalf of Kiwanis International.

Colonel Martin is head of the division of economics in the social science department. He is a graduate of MTSC and received the Ph.D. degree at Peabody College. He served with the United States Navy, Air Group with a retiring rank of Lieutenant Commander. He is a member of the Shrine and has served as chairman of the International Committee for Circle K clubs.

In an effort to promote better inter-club relations, the Circle K and Vet's Clubs are having a joint outing at Korn Springs on April 25. The affair beginning in the afternoon will include a picnic supper and softball games with a combo for the night. As the old saying goes, "Fun will be had by all."
